Poplar Springs

Our services over the past week end were very good beginning with the Youth Rally on Saterday night which was real fine. A wonderful message and some good singing enjoyed by some thing over 250 people.

We want to thank Martin's Funeral Home for the loan of the chairs we used. Mineral Springs and Samaria won the banners. Congratulations.

Christians when your church doors are open you are expected to be trere unless you can make an excuse that is acceptable to God, not man.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

BARNETT DeRamus went fishing the other day. You know what he hooked? Well, it's an enitrely new species, and Mr. Barnett said it was the fightenest fresh water "fish" he had ever laid a hook into. It weighed 180 pounds (dressed) and it made the darnedest noises he had ever heard. After checking with experts he found that the "specie' was not edible, so his fishing trip turned out to be a flop. Oh, the name of the "fish" we think he said it was a "John DeRamus"! And he's got a hook in him to prove it.

TO bad Mr. Barnett can't mount his "catch". Guess he'll just have to tell it as "the one that wished he'd got out of the way"!

TOOK in the "new look" down at Western Auto Tuesday morning. Claud Craig says it will be several weeks before they are ready to show it formally to the public, but you can take it from us: there's never been anything like it around these parts!

SURE hate to be that fellow who "didn't win" that set of tires down at Goodyear last week. The whole idea was a tremendous success, according to Manager Ray Hall, but the person with the number chosen for the set of tires never did show up. Better watch that Goodyear ad in next week's News. No telling what you might miss if you don't.

CONGRATULATIONS to Miss Edith F. Royster of Stanton and Miss Mary Lou Traywick of Clanton on their graduation from the University Hospital's School of Nursing in Birmingham. Miss Royster is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Royster and Miss Traywick is the daughter of Mrs. Zora L. Kendricks. These young ladies are to be commended for this achievement. Now they are equipped to make their mark in the world of helping suffering humanity.

ACCORDING to a report, Chilton County is behind in Savings Bond Sales during the first six months of 1963. Chairman of Bond Sales in Chilton County C. O. Jones reports that $121,427 has been invested in bonds in this County this year, but that is only 4..2 per cent of our goal which is $285,000 in 1963. Let's go, you guys with the money!

TUESDAY of this week tragedy struck the abode of yours truly. Our cat, who was originally named "Mr. Boots" (since changed to "Mrs." for obvious reasons), was struck and killed by an automobile. "Mrs. Boots" was young enough that she had just had her first litter of kittens, totaling two, a male and a female. They are somewhere in the neighborhood of three weeks old now and fat, cute and cuddly. The tragedy is: Mamma decided, while the family was away last week, that the original box we had furnished wasn't good enough and she moved the kittens elsewhere. Since Saturday evening we have been searching for them, to no avail. Now, with Mamma passed on, we've got to find the kittens and we don't know where to look. "Mrs. Boots" first concern was her kittens; but now she has fixed it so nobody can help them. Maybe they'll turn up. We hope so!

ACROSS THE EDITOR'S DESK —

What About The Liberty Amendment?

Now pending in the Alabama Legislature is a resolution endorsing the Liberty Amendment. This controversial measure takes the Federal Government out of competition with private enterprise. It also abolishes the personal income tax. When it has been adopted by the Legislatures of thirty-four states, a national referendum election is required to let the people vote on it. The resolution has already been alopted by the Legislatures of several states among them Wyoming, Louisiana, Nevada, South Carolina, Texas and Georgia. Here is the text of the Liberty Amendment:

Sec. 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in th Constitution.

Sec. 2. The Constitution or laws of any State, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement wrich would abrogate this amendment.

Sec. 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

Sec. 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the sixteenth artirle of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafted Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and| or gifts.

The hundreds of businesses the Government engages in costs about 43 billion tax dollars yearly. Sale of these businesses to private enterprise will make them tax-paying instead of tax-consuming. Since these businesses eat up 43 billion dollars and the Federal income tax brings in about 43 billion dollars, the Federa Income Tax can be eliminated and still leave about 9 billion dollars that can be applied to the National debt. Other normal tax sources open to the Federal Government will pay for national defense and all the government the Constitution calls for. Elimination of the income tax will add a minimum of 22 cents of every taxabe dollar to your spendable income, an increase of about fifty cents an hour for the average industrial worker.. Batification of the Liberty Amendment will do more to curb Federal encratchment on local responsibiities than any other legislation imaginable since it removes the machinery and the money the Feeral Government uses to exercise control, Write your State Representative and Senator and ask him to add Alabama's voice to those calling for a national referendum so the people can vote on adopting this Amendment. Address either in care of State Capitol, Montgomery, Alabama.

STRIKE A BLOW FOR FREEDOM!

Yesterday - Today - Tomorrow--

THERE are two days in every week about which we should not worry, two days which should be kept free from fear and apprehension.

One of these days is Yesterday with its mistakes and cares, its faults and blunders, its aches and pains. Yesterday has passed forever beyond our control.

All the money in the world cannot bring back Yesterday. We cannot undo a single act we performed; we cannot erase a single word we said. Yesterday is gone.

The other day we should not worry about is Tomorrow with its possible adversities, its burdens, its large promise and poor performance. Tomorrow is also beyond our immediate control.

Tomorrow's sun will rise, either in splendor or behind a mask of clouds-but it will rise. Until it does, we have no stake in Tomorrow, for it is as yet unborn.

This leaves only one day. Today. Any man can fight the battles of just one day. It is only when you and I add the burdens of those two awful eternities. . . Yesterday and Tomorrow that we break down.

It is not the experience of Today that drives men mad - it is the remorse or bitterness for something which happened Yesterday and the dread of what Tomorrow may bring.

Let us, therefore, live but one day at a time!

It Finally Happened--

WE have received bulletins from the State Chamber of Commerce and the State Industrial Board for many moons proclaiming new industry in first one town and another in the State of Alabama.

It has almost gotten to the "complex" stage with us, that we just never did see Clanton and Chilton County mentioned in the "chosen few".

„Well wonders will never cease! We have it right here before us in black and white: "Chilton - Clanton: Camp Town Togs, Garment Mfg."

And we quote again: "New industries announced during the first half of 1963 are in 44 different counties and in 48 cities and towns. These new industries will offer 4,684 new job opportunities for Alabamians."

This represents an investment of 126 million dollars in the State of Alabama. Chilton County has finally hit it's stride. We can already feel that complex leaving by the side door.

The Newspapers And The P.O.--

DO you, of little faith, have any idea how many daily troubles a Postmaster has on his hands. They are monumental. He not only has to resolve all the problems of his local folks who use the U. S. Mail, he also has to try his darndest to please those fellows in the postal service who seem to make it a routine practice to harass, to change, and to otherwise confuse a situation that is, when left alone, a tremendous task.

We are fortunate here in Clanton to have such a Postmaster as Russell Sutley. We have never been in a situation or spot of trouble when Mr. Russell wasn't more than willing to help us out of it. . . and he has usually done it!

Working closely with the mails the way we do here at the News, we have found that it is rare that a postal employee is unwilling to cooperate on a reasonable request by a patron. All tolled, we think the postal service in Clanton is excellent.

when you consider the fact that they

And it is certainly commendable have to try to please everybody. . . the maler, the receiver, and the "boss man" in Washington!

The Liberty Amendment--

WE urge you to take note of the "Across The Editor's Desk" piece on this page, concerning the controversial issue of "The Liberty Amendment". This information, if it is correct, is most definitely food for thought; and though the first impression of most of the people whom we have asked is one of "it can't be done"; they take on a new thought pattern after they have considered it a few minutes.

May we repeat a tired old phrase, but one which has moved many a man, and nation, to greatness: "You don't know what you can do, or what can be done. . . until you have first made an effort!"

Like we said, it is food for thought; and in our opinion, could mean much more than just food for thought.

The Fourth Estate--

YOU know, the News has won three awards in recent years in the Alabama Press Association's annual Better Newspaper Contest, and we prize these honors greatly.

It was with much regret that we "missed out" on the entering this year. The plain and simple fact is, we just didn't have time to get down with it, and send in our entries. It takes quite a bit of research, and though we had planned to get into the running, old Father Time simply refused to allow us the minutes and hours necessary to do the job.

Though we regret having missed out on the fun this year; we hereby acknowledge those who did "find the time" to enter . . . and who wound up in the winners circle. We here at the News are nearly as proud for our brother newspapermen as we would be if we had brought the bacon home to Chilton County. And next year we intend to do just that.

Congratulations you fellows; we know how much work it took, and we are proud of your accomplishments, as we know you must be.

The Fair Is Coming--

KEEP your eye on Bo Littleton, local Jaycee, and this year's general chairman of the Chilton County Fair, which will take place here on August 26 through 31.

Bo is a personable young fellow who has taken on a tremendous job heading up the plans for the big Fair this year. Unless you have experienced it, in person, you cannot imagine just how much work and sweat this job demands.

We have it directly from the Chairman himself: "We are going to do every thing we possibly can to make this year's Fair just like it was last year. . . only bigger, better, and more fun for everybody."

And you know what. . . we believe sincerely that Bo and the Jaycees will do just that!

Growing Pains--

AN unusual and to some, unknown malady is presenting itself in Clanton and Chilton County. It's good for growth, but it doesn't seem to be too good for personal relationships.

It is apparent that this County is in need of a permanent Fair Grounds where County events can be held for the people of this community, without the added confusion of "who's gonna do what. . . and why can't we. . ."!

The people have a right to question. . . we suggest someone consider the advisability of an answer!

The Tennessee River, which runs acrohs the northern part of Alabama, is truly a giant among rivers and it provides Alabamians and the thousanls of tourihts to this State the finest recreation to be found anywhere.

Decatur, located on this huge water artedy, is an industial city almost unique in the way it has combined industry and tourihm. While making a concerted drive to acquire new and expanded manufacturing it has not neglected those who might wish to vacation there.

Tourists have found Decatur offered a most relaxing atmosphere where one can forget the worries of the day and reallp get a "new lease on life".

At this "Northern Gateway to Alabama" you'll find all your heart desires for a truly interesting and relaxing vacation or weekend. The Tennessee River has been developed as a fisherman's paradise. In fact the largest small-mouth bass ever recorded in Alabama was hooked just down the lake from Decatur.

At Decatur you will find one of the finest boat harbors in the State from which you can set sail for all types of water sports; swimming, motor boating, water skiing, sail boating or a river barge party--all in a day's enjoyment at Decatur.

There is also ample room to play 18 holes of golf in case you're a land-lubber and don't care for water activities.

Whatever your choice the Tennessee River water and the vigorating North Alabama air will certainly make you glad this year's vacation was spent at Decatur.

Now, if you're interested in history a visit to Mooresville will certainly be rewarding. Locatel just six miles eact of Decatur this charming little town is rich in Alabama history. Here two former Presidents of the United States once lived and Alabama's first governor called thih his home. There are also old antebellum homes to visit and look at.

ALABAMA LOSES A GREAT STATESMAN

One hundred years ago this week, the state of Alabama mourned the death of one of its most outstanding Civil War statesmen, William L. Yancey

A few months before his death Yancey had taken part in a fiery debate with Benjamin H. Hill of Georgia in the Confederate Congrss over the creation of a Confederate Supreme Court. Yancey opposed its creation because he feared the centralizing tendencies of such an odganization. During the debate, Hill hit Yancey on the face with a heavy ink well, splattering his face with ink and blood. Later, Hill's critics charged that Hill killed Yancey, but Yancey's death several months later seems to have had little to do with this encounter.

When the Congress completed its spring session, the Alabama senator returned from Richmond "utterly exhausted and greatly emaciated." Shortly before his death, Yancey became engaged in another debate with President Davis over military appointments and the appointment of governmental officers in Alabama.

A hot tempered yet sensitive man, Yancey was a strong states rights' champion who remained at loggerheads with President Davis during most of his Confederate political career. The ill health of both parties and the personality conflicts between the two added to the conflict.

Having suffered from an incurable kidney disease for some time, Yancey succumbed to the infection on July 27, 1863, in his home near Montgomery. He was 48 years old.

An editorial appearing in a Montgomery newspaper shortly after his death termed Yancey a political "Stonewall" Jackson and stated, "The cause has lost its ablest and truest supporter in the councils of the Government."

Warm sun and every conceivable entertainment attraction are the visitor lures of southern Florida. Save your first peek at Miami Beach until the early evening hours when Collins Avenue becomes transformed into a fairyland of color along the unending chain of strikingly modern hotels.

Across blue Biscayne Bay is Miami, home of the Orange Bowl, and itself a top tourist target. Highlight attractions are the startlingly modern University of Miami campus where students study under the palms; Vizcaya, an Italian style palace now an art museum whose perfection of gardens and beauty of fountains is matched only by the Renaissance art treasures within.

The Magic Circle auto tour out of Miami is past Hileah Race Track and over the Tamiami Trail (U.S. 41) that leads through the mysterious Everglades. There are glimpses of thatch-roofed Seminole Indian huts and the airboats that traverse this land of water and man-high sawgrass.

Tops in fun is Sanibel Island, a tropical gem in the green-blue Gulf of Mexico, long heralded as a shell collector's paradise. A "must" stop is in Fort Myers at the winter home of Thomas Edison whose gardens contain tropical trees and flowers of amazing variety and beauty. His 1898 swimming pool, barn-like laboratory and home are exactly as the great inventor left them. The return is via Lake Okeechobee, a fisherman's paradise, and Clewiston, starting point for Audubon Wildlife Tours into the primeval Corkscrew Swamp Sanctuary.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

In a recent letter to Secretary of State Dean Rusk, I urged that he recommend to the Department of Justice the prosecution of those U. S. citizens who are presently on an illegal Communist-subsidized tour of Cuba.

The American group now visiting the island of Cuba is serving as an effective propaganda tool for the Communist cause. On Friday of this week they will be joined in Havana by Communists from all over the globe to celebrate the 10th Anniversary of Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement.

Propaganra Gimmick

Though predominately composed of students but also containing a number of professiona people, the group publically announced their intention to g to Cuba several months ago. I the first pubicized mass defianc of U. S. laws forbidling trave to Cuba, they arrived in Havan June 30 via Communist Czechoslovakia. Although in seriou financial trouble, the Castro regime saw fit to finance the tri because they believed the mone would be well spnt in providin pro-Communist propaganda well as Communist indoctrination of these young American Presently, the Communist sponsors of the Cuban tour are reaping their propaganda reward Havana Radio and the Cuba press are devoting top coverag to the students' Pro-Castro view

The students trip was planne and sponsored by the Fair Pla fod Cuba Committee, which ha been citel as a Communist fron organization by the Senate Internal Security Committee. Thei host in Cuba is the Federatio of Univedsity Students in Havan which is headed by uniforme Castro agents.

Clearly, tris is not an innocent trip by curious, imparti students. It is a brain washin operation and propaganda gimmick. In addition, this defianc of U. S. laws comes at a tim when our government is attempting to persuade our Latin American neighbors to set up roa blocks to quarantine Cuba fro hemispheric travel.

Prosecution Urged

In March after extensive hearings, the Subcommittee on Inte American Affairs, of which I a chairman releahed evidence tha Cuba serves as an indoctrinatio and staging area for a wave o Communist sabotage and su version. My subcommittee--an later the Organization of Ame can States-recommended that a Western Hemisphere countri forbid travel to this hemisphere beachhead of communism. Al this spring, the Central Amer can heads of state joined wi Presidents Kennery at the meeting in Costa Rica in agree ing to curtail Communist traff and funds from Cuba to othe nations of the hemisphere.

It may prove difficult, however, for the U. S. to influen other fovernments to enact ba on Cuban travel if our ow restrictions are not adequate enforced. The language of ou law is clear, and under this la each students upon his retu to the US can be punished b imprisionment od fines, or bot

These students, in my opinio should be prosecuted for wh they were clearly warned wou b a violation of our laws. Fai ure to prosecute would not o lead to similary trips to Cu planned by pro-Castro orga zations, but our efforts to s cure the cooperation of oth Latin American countries to fig Communist subversion and i filtration would be greatly ha nered.

YOUR HEALTH

CONTACT LENSES

Most contact lenses are worn for cosmetic reasons. Many high school and college girls become somewhat self-conscious and withdrawn because they are wearing strong, thick glasses. With a change to contact lenses, they are likely to feel happier; and life takes on new meaning.

The large majority of patients who are wearing contact lenses between the ages of 14 and 35 are myopic or nearsighted. Athletes who have poor vision without glasses find contact lenses important in their athletic life. People in many fields welcome contact lenses, especially actors and others in the public eye.

There has been abuse in the promotion of contact lenses which has done much to bring this useful product into disrepute. Contact lenses can be safely worn with proper supervision, but they can also damage the eye. The contact lens is a foreign body and capable of producing injury, inflammation, susseptibility to infection, and scar formation.

There is the necessity for constant medical follow up and the patient must devote time to deveoping skill in handling the enses and adapting to them.

A careful examination of the eyes should be made by an oph thamologist to determine whether or not the patient is a suitable case and free of contraindications. The lens must fit properly, must be kept clean, must not be worn 24 hours a day, and must be kept free of bacterial infection.

For those who can wear them contact lenses are remarkably satisfactory.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

Let patience have its perfect work. —(Jas. 1:4).

We should exercise patience in everything we do, particularly in our relations with others. Patience should be the constant benchmark of our attitude toward those with whom we work or associate with.

Still Room For Your Contribution

A REPORT from "Skeeter" Stokes Tuesday informs us that the Industry Drive, which was undertaken some three weeks ago, lacks only $7,354 to complete obligationh on the new industry setting up in Clanton.

This means that a lot of people have contributed a lot of time and money already in this drive. "And we've still got just a lot of folks to contact," said Stokes.

The News has been publishing a list each week of contributions which have been made to date. This week we are publishing the entire list, as of Tuesday afternoon. If your name doesn't appear, let us know. If you have contributed since Tuesday, however, your name will appear on the list next week.

The "Industry Bandwagon" is growing, folks!

NEWS OF—
REFUGE

We had very good attendance at both services last Sunday. The pastor brought the message at the usual hour Sunday morning, and his son, Stanley brought the evening message.

We were glad to have Mr. Donald Parker and family at church Sunday morning. They live in west Birmingham.

The time for our summer revival is rapidly drawing near. It begins the second Sunday in August, and will continue throughout the week with two services daily. The Rev. G. H. Carroll will bring the messages.

The church is being challenged to read the entire book of Acts between now and the time for the revival. A re-newal of Bible reading interest and sincere prayer on the part of the church membrship, will bring about a revival any time. Ezra and Nehemiah took the lead in one of the greatest soul stiring revivals in old Testament history when they challenged the people of Israel to gather themselves together when they spent many long hours reading the Word of God. The people became so interested that they did not want to leave. They would take turns in reading the scripture and the people would cry out, "Amen, Amen."

Maybe if we would take a little more interest in the word of God and not be afraid to add an "Amen" here and there, we would have better services in our churches. Not too long tgo, a person said to the pastor: "I wanted to say "Amen" so badly that I did not know hardly what to do." The pastor replied: "Why didn't you just go ahead and say it?" The reply was: "Well, you know we've not been in the habit of saying "Amen" now in a long time." The Phalmist said: "Rejoice; and again I say rejoice."

Mrs. Junior Minor has been ill for the past few days. Mr. Earl Johnson was transfered to the Chilton County Hospital from Birmingham recently. Mr. Dewey Minor plans to enter a Birmingham Hospital this week for surgery. The purpose is to have a growth removed.

URGENT APPEAL

It matters not where the fault lies, it is a fact that Chilton County is pitifully behinl in reaching its quota for Cancer Crusade. Only 45% of it has been reached. The "Indigent Patient Service" in Chilton County is alarming and not one has been turned down. Let us ask ourselves this question, "Will some citizens in our county be turned down for this urgent help for cancer because it was not asked of, for various reasons failed to contribute"? Surely we will make a greater effort. Let our stumbling block be stepping stones. Perhaps those who have contributed will go the second mile. The strong must help the weak.

Your generosity will be rewarded. Any one anxious to help please contact Mrs. Hugh Jones or Mrs. Charles Moore.

Summer Coolers

Happy surprise! Both the frosty summer drinks and the cool fruit-filled salad are penny-wise and calorie-wise besides being deliciously cooling. What makes them that way? A no-calorie sweetener which flatters the other flavors, and is a boon to weight-watching. Current market prices make this the economy sweetener as well. All of which means that it's possible to luxuriate in wonderful eating and feel smugly virtuous at the same time. Here's how it's done:

Fruit Medley Salad: Sprinkle 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin over ½ cup water in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat. Add ¾ cup water, ½ cup unsweetened orange juice, 1¼ teaspoons liquid Sweet*10 and ½ teaspoon salt. Chill until thickened, but not set. Stir in 2 cups cut fresh fruit (oranges, strawberries, bananas, grapes, pears, peaches or melon balls). Turn into 3-cup mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Makes six ½-cup servings.

Lemon-Lime Sparkle: Freeze 1 pint bottle (2 cups) sugar-free lemon-lime carbonated beverage in ice cube tray. Combine 1 quart cold water, 1 pint chilled sugar free lemon-lime carbonated beverage, 1 tablespoon liquid Sweet*10 and 1 package lemon-lime flavored beverage powder. Serve with frozen carbonated beverage ice cubes.

Note: Other flavors of beverage powder may be substituted.

155 Families Receiving Aid To Dependent Children Here

In Chilton County 88.1 per cent of the children receiving aid to dependent children through the Department of Pensions and Security are legitimate and 66.9 per cent are white, Joyce Clements, Director, revealed today. She said these findings were based on a study of the 166 cases aided in March. (Current data show 155 families receiving ADC in this county, including 628 recipients of whom 456 are children. Average payments were only $10.77 per recipient last month.)

The Director compared these figures with data for the State as a whole which showed 73.7 per cent of all children to be legitimate, and 31.8 per cent of the children to be white. She said in nine counties 90 per cent or more of the children were legitimate (Blount, Cleburne, Cullman, DeKalb, Jackhon, Fayette, Marion, Marshall and Winston) and in three fewer than 50 per cent were legitimate (Dallas, Lowndes and Wilcox.)

There was also considerable difference among the counties in percentage of white and Negro recipients. In Winston County all recipients were white wheras the figure in Greene County was only 1.1 per cent of the total ADC families and 1.3 per cent of the children.

The Director said one condition of eligibility for ADC is loss of support from one parent (usually the father) due to death, disability or absence. Actually, however, only about a third are dead or lisabled and nearly two-thirds are absent, having deserted, been divorced or separated, not married to the mother, or in jail.

Failure of these absent fathers to support their families and the ineffectual non-support laws in Alabama anl elsewhere combine to create a terrific problem for the ADC families receive no said. More than 92 per cent of the ADC families receiv no support at all from the absent fathers. The support received from the few who contribute is inconsequential, Miss Clements pointed out.

DEAR 4-H JANES

Would you like to win a Caribbean vacation and visit Jamaica, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico? You can by winning the "Make It Yourself With Wool Contest." This contest is a home sewing competition for girls 13 through 21 feads of age. All the work must be done by the girls and the garments must be made of 100 per cent wool, knitted, felted, or loomed in America. Each contestant will model her gorment before judges at a District Contest, which will be held October 26 at 9:30 a.m. in the Normandale Auditorium in Montgomery. The contestant will be competing with girls in their own age group. Juniors and Seniors who win at the district level will compete at a State Contest, which wil lbe held October 28 in Birmingham. The state winner will then be entered in National comeptition.

The "Make It Yourself With Wool" promotion began in 1944 in Utah. In 1947, the National Wool Growers Association accepted the contest idea as part of their wool promotion program. The first National contest was conducted in June, 1947, and the first National Fashion Show was held in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1948. In 1960, the American Wool Council, a division of the American Sheep Producers Council, took over active sponsorship of the contest in cooperation with the Women's Auxiliary. In 1961, the contest expanded form 21 states to a nation wide contest.

Today, wools, the natural fiber is decognized everywhere as the fabric of fashion and quality. Not only does it help a girl to show herself, but aso it is the fabric which has the most dependable response to the needle arts. To make the young American girl increasingly appreciative of the undisputed fashion appeal of American loomed wool, students and young seamstresses are invited to participate in the "Make It Yourself With Wool" promotion.

If any girl is interested in entering this contest, please contact the Home Agents office and I will be glad to help as much as possible.

LAYING THE CABLE THAT CARRIES YOUR VOICE ACROSS THE OCEAN FLOOR to telephones in other parts of the world is the job of C. S. Long Lines, the world's newest, most modern cable-laying ship. Her first assignment, scheduled this summer, will be laying a cable between Tuckerton, N. J., and Cornwall, England. The ship carries enough cable to lay 2,000 nautical miles, and plans call for putting down 16,000 miles of cable in the next three years. Comfortable quarters are provided for a crew of 90 and for Bell System technicians. And it isn't all work. There's a recreation room aboard, a library, and a dining hall with moving picture and hi-fi facilities. After the Atlantic cable is laid, next assignment for C. S. Long Lines . . . a cable between Hawaii and Japan.

AND SPEAKING OF "LONG LINES" did you know that commercial telephone service between the U. S. and England began back in 1927? Today, we can reach telephones in more than 165 countries and territories.

* * * *

ANOTHER DEVELOPMENT IN OVERSEAS TELEPHONE SERVICE is Intercontinental Dialing which began recently between overseas operators in the U. S. and the United Kingdom. Under the system, operators dial direct to telephones across the Atlantic. Next country to follow suit was West Germany, and this fall, France, Italy and Switzerland will join the group. The new system even includes a solution to language problems. If an operator anticipates any language difficulties, she simply presses a key to bring in an operator trained to handle such calls.

* * * *

THE NO'S OF TELEPHONE REPAIR — Modern conveniences are wonderful! . . .until they breakdown and you call in a repairman with the anticipation of an over whelming service charge. Your telephone is one convenience that puts your mind at ease, for there is:

NO unexpected bill due to a sudden breakdown.
NO sending parts away for repair.
NO being told "We don't make that model anymore.
No depreciation of your original investment.
NO "It will cost you less to buy a new one."
NO need to buy a lot of auxiliary equipment.

. . . Because there is NO additional charge for telephone repairs. Telephones seldom get out of repair, but when they do, a telephone call to your Clanton Repair Service brings quick service at NO extra charge.

Vo-Ag Teachers Attend Workshop On Landscaping

Vocational agriculture teachers, from each of the 15 vo-ag areas in Alabama, attended a workshop on landscaping and home ground improvement put on by the horticulture department of Auburn University last week.

R. M. McGee, vo-ag teacher at Jemison high school, Chilton County, represented this section of the Central Alabama vo-ag district. He was accompanied to Auburn for the week long stay by Mr. Thornton, vo-ag teacher at Montevallo, Shelby county.

During the study workshop on landscaping McGee, and Thornton were shown the proper lay out for home lawns. The landscaping plan, they were taught, will depend on the type of house soil and climate conditions, the position of driveways and other buidings on the lot, and the kinds of flowers and shrubs desired or available in their area. They produced a complete home landscaping drawing, with shrubs, hedges, flowers and trees indicated in their proper places.

They also renewed their knowledge of the care of ornamentals prunning, trimming, budding, grafting, insect and pest control and plant food requirements.

Mr. McGee and Mr. Thornton will use the above information and will direct a workshop at the Clanton High School three days. August 6, 7, 8... All of the vo-ag teachers in this section will attend. After the workshop is completed, these teachers will return to their schools better informed for teaching landscaping to their students and adult farmers.

Thieves Clean-Out Cash At Holiday Inn Restaurant Here

THE County Sheriff reports that thieves broke into the kitchen of the Holiday Inn Restaurant Monday night or early Tuesday morning, making off with a sum of cash believed to be in excess of $600.

The burglars, entered through an exhaust fan in the rear of the kitchen and pried a door open with a bar to gain entrance to the place where the money was kept.

Officials believe there were at least three persons involved in the theft; and they also feel that those who entered were very familiar with the lay-out of the building and the area from which the money was stolen.

Nothing but cash was taken, according to the Sheriff. and the thieves apparently made a clean getaway. No one saw them come in or leave.

On duty in the Motel end of the building was Harold Pierce, night bookkeeper for Holiday Inn. He reported to the Sheriff's forces that he did not hear anything unusual and was completely unaware of what was taking place.

Owner of the Holiday Inn is Roscoe Williams. The Restaurant is owned and operated by J. E. Easterling, who also owns the Dixie Cafe in Clanton.

Clanton's Swimming Champs!

By BOB TUCKER

IN the event there are any regular readers of this here column, we wish to make an announcement: "We found the kittens!" Now all we gotta do is worry about what to do with them now that we've found them!

COUNTY Agent John Sellers asks us to announce that if there are any folks who want to work with the Peace Corps in India or Pakistan, to get in touch with him at the County Agents office in the County Courthouse. If you think that's an unusual item for reference, consider the times we are living in.

MOST of us have asked ourselves: "Why don't we have more industry in Chilton County?" But, how many of us have asked: "What have I done to attract industry to Chilton County?" Usually, we have a ready answer to the first question. but that second one is a bit harder for some of us. If you can't answer to your own satisfaction, why don't you contact one of the following, and find out just what YOU can do for industry? You may call on R. L. "Dick" Scott, Jon Will Pitts, Judge J. C. White or J. H. "Skeeter" Stokes. Any one of them will be happy to explain what you can do for industry in Chilton County.

EVERYONE seems to have pretty much the same opinion about "Taxes"; but there is a growing concern over the fact that the answer to our industrial woes in this County may well be found in an ad valorem tax earmarked for industrial development. What do you think?

FRED Thompson is convinced that 99.94 (sorta like soap) percent of the people can take a practical joke. Guess he hasn't met some of our customers yet. He has a "Mongoose" down at the laundry which, to say the least, is a rare "specimen". If Fred comes up with a black eye in the near future, we may want to rearrange that percentage we quoted, just a bit!

TIMES have changed! An employer in the 1870's said: "Any employee who smokes Spanish cigars, uses liquor in any form, gets shaved in a barber shop, or frequents poolrooms and public halls gives me good reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty." In 1963 that would put just about all of us out on the street wouldn't it? He also said: "The employee who has performed his duties well, etc., for a period of five years and if he has been thrifty, religious, etc., he will get a five cent per day raise. . . providing a just return in profits from the business permits it!" Like we said, times have changed!

A NOTE of interest to everyone: Sheriff Hugh Champion informs us that on the 2nd day of July a 1963 air conditioner was "spirited away" (stolen in other words) from the Liberty Hill Baptist Church. A reward of $200.00 has been posted for the arrest and conviction of the guilty party or parties. Any information on this matter will be held in the strictest confidence, said the Sheriff!

CLANTON has again made history! For the first time our fair City has representatives at the State Swimming Meet in Birmingham (on August 2nd) and credit goes largely to one Mrs. Janie Lou Bates. She has been the "spark" which has kept the project alive over the past few years, and she due recognition for her devotion and faithful service to the youngsters of this community. We tip our flippers to her and commend her for her efforts. Now, you guys and gals get in there and win that State Meet tomorrow! Last one in is the first one out.

Swimming Team Enters State Meet

SEVERAL members of Clanton's swimming teams will represent the Third District in the Alabama State Swim Meet. Winners for Clanton in swimming events were Janice Hardy, Jim Rockett Powers, Mike Rosenfield Chuck Calloway, Tommy Powers and Gary Williams. Also Ricky Wyatt won in diving events. District competition was held in Selma, Alabama on July 25th. Winners there were entitled to enter the State Meet.

The Alabama State Meet will be held in Birmingham, Alabama on August 2 and 3 at the at the Homewood Swimming Pool.

Alternates who will represent Clanton are: Ann Hardy, Pam Wright, Karen Smith, Don Williams and Warren Miller.

George Hurt To Fill Pulpit At First Baptist

IN the absence of the pastor, Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson, Mr. George T. Hurt, associate in the new industry which recently came to Clanton, will supply the pulpit in the evening service next Sunday, August 4th.

Mr. Hurt comes from a background of outstanding Baptist preachers. His father, John Jeeter Hurt, was president of Union University, Jackson, Tennessee, and his brother, John Jeeter Hurt, Jr., is the editor of "The Christian Index" which is the Baptist paper of Georgia.

The people of the First Baptist Church of Clanton welcome this outstanding Christian layman to their pulpit Sunday night.

Man "Breaks Jail Here

BUDDY Crawford, being held in County jail on a charge of Forgery, escaped early Tuesday morning, according to reports.

About 7:30 a.m., Crawford "ran right over" the jailer on duty, and took off. Reports were that he wanted to see his family in another county. About 7:30 Tuesday evening Crawford had been captured, and is now back in County jail.

This is the second time he has escapd from jail, according to the report.

Tradin' Time Is Here at Home!

If I Had A Mind To...

"A favorite expression around these parts is: "If I had a mind to. . ." I'd do this or that!

"If you had a mind to. . . you could boost Chilton County by saying good things about it. . . instead of bad!"

"If you had a mind to. . . you could greatly increase the economy of your community by "Trading With Local Merchants"!

A lot of folks, who "have a mind to. . . are very careful about trading at home before they try anywhere else.

That's what makes our own wagon go. . .

And while we're on the subject: "If you've a mind to. . .. look through this issue of your News and see what bargains and what values are offered right here at home!

"If you've a mind to . . . you can save yourself a pile of dough and trouble!"

Sherff Busy Chasing "Hot Leads" This Week

ACCORDING to Sheriff Hugh Champion, hot leads are keeping him hopping this week. The Sheriff was up all night Tuesday night of this week, investigating a large illegal operation, which, it is reported, originates in Chilton County, although there are other counties involved also.

The Sheriff seems to feel that with the help of the Federal men and the State and County law enforcement officers, this illicit operation will soon come to an end. He is certainly "burning the midnight oil" attempting to solve this one.

'Dief' to Take Chamber Post First

Pitts Resigns As Secretary

AS of the first of August (today,) the Chilton County Chamber of Commerce has a new Executive Secretary.

He is L. E. Diefenderfer, long-time businessman in Clanton and Chilton County, and one of this community's leaders in economic and civic development.

"Mr. Dief", as he is known around Clanton, has a background of experience in this type of work, and his practical knowledge of business makes him ideal for the job of handling the Chambers business affairs.

Mr. Pitts has had to resign because of business conflicts. You will find a letter from him on this page.

Temporarily, Mr. Dief will have an office in the City Hall.

L. E. DIEFENDERFER

Since we are not losing Mr. Pitts completely, the News feels free to say we are very happy to have Mr. Dief on the Chamber team. He will be a decided asset to our efforts to attract new business to this County.

Pitts Writes Chamber Members

To the Membership
Chilton County C Of C

"It was my deep regret, that for business reasons I was no longer able to devote the necessary time and effort to my post as secretary-treasurer of your Chilton County Chamber if Commerce. Therefore I turned in my resignation last month effective August 1.

I have worked for your Chamber of Commerce for more than three years as its secretary. It has grown each and every year. The experience, in working for industry, for better commerce, the fair, and on dozens of other projects, has been most enjoyable.

Workng with you and your fine officers has been a pleasure. Skeeter Stokes and your outstanding Board of Directors are some of the most dedicated and energetic men I have ever worked with. They have our Community's best interest at heart and the drive and fortitude to see plans for economic progress, become a reality. I will work with them and support them in their efforts in every way that I can and I hope you will do likewise.

My sincere thanks to you, each and all, for the wonderful cooperation you have shown to me in the many projects of the past in which we have been associated."

Let There Be Light--

AS Robin Hood was the hero in the days of Sherwood Forest, so is George Wallace the Knight in Shining Armor to people who are tired of bickering, and long for peace and understanding and freedom once again.

If we but had the authority, we would convey to him a Knighthood, as of old; and he would now, henceforth and forever more be "Sir George--the Champion of the People"!

As a Southerner, it is not merely a "me-too" situation, or "hero worship" that prompts us to feel thusly about Governor George Wallace. Though it seems "the order of the day" to praise him; it is rather that we need a good man; a good leader in the South today; in fact, in the nation today; and George Wallace fills that need to a "T"!

John F. Kennedy has let us down. As one American to another, we sincerely feel that he has let us down. He has not done right by the people of this nation, and we think he knows it. But he is not man enough, it appears, to admit he is wrong; and to seek to rectify the hell he has wrought. . . and is raising.

What is it that God has put into the fibre of mankind, that though everything points to chaos and disaster, he feels he must still persist and resist.

John F. Kennedy and his army of bureaucrats persist. . . and we, an individual American citizen resist. We resist with all our might and mind, the forcing upon our nation and our Southland, decrees which are wrong, and which can only bring misunderstanding and confusion. We resist with all the strength that is in us, the Federal Government telling us "we must do this" and "we cannot do that".

The Federal Government is "of, by and for the people. . ." We are one of those people; and we do not like the monster that has been created to turn upon the very people who are supposed to rule it.

We are tired of excuses; and weary of the prospects that our nation is going downhill with respect to the relationship of the individual to his government. We want action! We want the men of sound mind, and solid reasoning to stand up for justice, to raise the flag of deliverace and to put the hand of freedom upon those who would snuff out the candle of Democracy. It is necessary that these men stand up; that they speak out for the cause of freedom, that they fly the flag of mankind high and that they deliver us from this evil which is abroad in the land.

The time has come to cease the bickering and squabbling over who eats with whom, and who sits next to me, or you, or the other fellow. The crisis now is: "where do we start to save our nation from ruin because of the radicals who have shown no mercy in tearing apart our society and who have done a marvelous job of pitting neighbor against neighbor and friend against friend.

We cannot help but feel that God Almighty looks down on this meager mess; in a world full of suffering and agony; and says: "what fools they be! They are like children playing games with human life. They have the power of Heaven within their grasp, and they are so busy arguing, blaming and finding fault with one another, they cannot see it!"

We are fools! We are all fools! And until we stop calling other people names; and until we cease trying to cure an ill which does not exist; we will remain fools!

God labeled the man foolish who hid his light under a bushel; and he frowned upon the man who buried his talents, rather than using them to further the cause of brotherhood and freedom. We are all hiding our lights; and we are wasting our talents miserably. It can only be that we will destroy what our forefathers died to build, if we persist in our folly. We must face the ills of humanity first; and then seek to find a solution which will benefit all; or hell will be full of "patriots"!

It is simple to do what is right. when you know what right is! Our problem is: we are trying to make too many "Gods", when there is only one God. And he looks down from his Heaven, and his heart is heavy, his mind is troubled; his children are playing the fool!

A Case In Point--

IN last week's LaFayette Sun, edited and published by former News employee Bonnie Hand, he said: " The purchase of voting machines went a long way toward cleaning up elections in our county." And he continued in his "Personally Speaking" column on the front page: "At least a man's vote is now counted as it was cast and the voter now has a secret ballet, something that every voter wants."

This is strong evidence that Chilton County needs, and should purchase voting machines -- the sooner the better!

During the most recent election in this county there were implications that "votes had been stolen." If that were the true case, it is certainly support for the fact that we need voting machines. We, of course, realize that voting machines are not magic; and they will not clean up crooked politics, nor crooked voters. They will, however, help to make our elections as clean and true as humanly possible, and that is most definitely something to be desired.

We recommend that the Board of Revenue and Control take the necessary measures to acquire voting machines for Chilton County. They are badly needed; and, we think, wanted by a majority of the honest citizens of this community.

A Big Fruit Crop--

WE understand that the peach crop was good this year. In fact; better than was hoped for during the early part of the season. There are those individuals in the county who make a convincing argument out of the fact that, had it not been for the good peach crop this year, many of our people would be on "relief". That my friends, is a pretty unstable economic situation.

Anyway, peaches weren't the only fruit to show their stuff in the county this year. Apples on our tree at home were large and unusually plentiful and our two pear trees were so overburdened with fruit that we have had to thin them out on several occasions. Last Sunday, the weight of the pears broke several large limbs on one tree at our house, and after we cleared the limb away from the tree, and thinned it again, we must have thrown away at least 250 pears that will never see preserves.

Yessir, peaches, apples and pears were abundant this year. Now if we could just make dollars as abundant, we would be sitting on top of the world here in Chilton County.

We already are doing that, in many many ways!

Think All You Want--

WE like what Democrat Ed Pepper, Chairman of the Alabama Young Democrats, had to say this week with regard to the 1964 Presidential Campaign.

Calling the thought of independent electors at this time "premature." Public Service Commissioner and President of the state's Young Democrats, Ed Pepper concluded, "We shouldn't do anything which might hurt our congressional delegation's fight against civil rights, and all this early talk of independent electors could seriously hamper their position in the Democratic party."

He figured "there will be plenty of time" after the civil rights fight was over in Washington and convention nominations cofirmed to discuss the third party issue. "It's much better strategy to back our congressional leadership in their civil rights battle at the moment than risk the possibility of weakening their party position with talk of how the state should vote in the 1964 Presidential election," Pepper said.

In other words: don't stop thinking about it; just don't DO anything about it just yet! There's wisdom in those words!

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

In an area of the Americas now pledged by the export of subversion from Cuba, a small republic-only half the size of Alabama and containing the smallest popuation in Latin America—may be the scene of future trouble for the United States.

The tensions that exist be tween the Republic of Panama and the United States are not new. Some date back to the beginning of the Panama Canal. But the strategic location of Panama on the isthmus between North and South America and the man made waterwav connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans make this a sensitive spot, and anything that happens there could have worldwide repercussions. In addition, the Communists never lose an opportunity in Panama to exploit anti-U. S. sentiments.

Having visited Panama several time, and as recently as this past April, I have had an opportunity to view firsthand anti-U.S. feeling among some groups. The average tourist will see few outward signs of such sentiments, but occasionally the feeling is expressed openly by demonstrations--like the mob that demonstrated last October or the 1959 mob that attempted to hoist the Panamanian flag in the United States-controlled Canal Zone.

Concessions Granted

In recent years we have seen the United States government bow to the continuous demands of Panama, thereby chipping away rights that are clearly guaranteed to the U.S. by the Treaty of 1903 and subsequent treaties. The last package of concessions by the United States was the Eisenhower-Remon Treaty of 1955, when the U.S. agreed to hike the annual annuity paid to Panama to $1.9 million; to give Panama over $25 million of real estate including railway yards and terminals; and to build a $20 million bridge across the Canal. President Eisenhower four years later signed an order to fly Panamanian flag in the Canal Zone as evidence of that republic's titular sovereignty. This action was taken despite the fact that the House of Representatives had overwhelmingly passed a resolution, which I had introduced, recommending that such action not be taken by Executive order.

Further Demands

This April, the government of Panama issued an ultimatum to the United States government, which they insist must be met before the end of this summer. These demands raise serious legal questions, which--if met by our government—would undoubt edly require a new treaty or a revision of the present treaty.

The ruling elite of Panama, a smal lgroup of wealthy families that controls government, news media and business enterprise, is using the national pride of their people to whip up anti-United States feelings. This diverts the attentions of the people from th shortcomings of their own leaders, who have been slow in initiating necessary reforms.

In a report isued this spring, members of the House Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee, of which I am chairman, strongly urged that the U.S. lend its assistance to the people of Panama in their efforts to achieve a better standard of living through the Alliance for Progress. At the same time, however, we urged our government to resist any erosion of its treaty rights and to insist that the Republic of Panama live up to its commitments.

With national elections again approaching in Panama, there is every reason to believe that this small republic will be increasingly in the news in the next 12 months.

Embassy Seized

This past week, Cubans commerated the 10th Anniversary of Fidel Castro's 26th of July Movement by seizing the United States Embassy in Havana, valued at over $1 million.

This unorthodox move is believed to be unpresedented in modern diplomatic history. Wednsday's expropriation is a further indication that Cuba's Castro respects no laws--including the time honored adherence to international law, which gives to all embassies immunity from seizure.

In retaliation, the State Department announced it would not confiscate the Cuban Embassy in Washington, but steps have been taken to freeze the property and prevent its sale.

As the encroachment of Soviet imperialism increases in Cuba, the celebration of Castro's bitter betrayal of the Cuban people should ssrve as a reminder to the Americas—both North and South of the Rio Grande—that the events of the past decade in Cuba can happen elsewhere in our hemisphere if we leave unchecked communism's grand design of subversion and sabotage.

DESERTIONS

One hundred years ago this week, Jefferson Davis addressed the people of the Confederacy asking all soldiers absent without leave to return to the army camps and promising an amnesey to all who reurned to duty within 20 days.

During the conflict, desertion and conscription on both sides posed a serious problem. In early July, 1863, rioting occurred in New York City against conscription Desertion reached such an extent in the South that on July 28, 1863, Brig. General Gideon J. Pillow, Superintendent of the Volunteer and Conscript Bureau for the Confederacy, wrote the assistant adjutant-general, Col. Benjamin S. Ewell, to suggest transferring captured deserters from the Army of Tennessee to the Army of Virginia so that they would be farther away from their homes.

"There are, I think, from 8,000 to 10,000 deserters and Tory conscripts in the mountains of Alabama," he wrote, "many of whom have deserted the sceond, third, and (some of them) the fourth time. They cannot be kept in the army so near their homes."

Many of the desertions were caused by such heart-rending letters from home as the following, reported by General Cullen A. Battle in a speech in Tuscumbia, Ala.

"I would not have you do anything wrong for the world; but before God, Edward, unless you come home we must die! Last night I was aroused by little Eddie's crying. I called and said, "What's the matter Eddie?" and he said, 'Oh, mamma, I'm so hungry!' And Lucy, your darling Lucy, she never complains, but she is growing thinner and thinner every day. And before God, Edward, unless you come home we must die."

However, even in the last months of the war when the South's manpower was almost completely exhausted and there was little hope of victory, nine or more soldiers fought on for each deserted who returned to his home and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilkins and family of Birmingham are spending a fews weeks at their summer cottage on the river.

They visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Tucker on Sunday and the L. R. Wests, who was here from California spent Monday at the Cottage with them for a day of boating, skiing, swimming and fishing.

Our Sunday School attendance was 188 this Sunday. Several are away on vacation, others were out due to sickness. Let's all work to put our Sunday School back over the 200 mark. We were happy to have friends from Texas worshiping with us in the morning and night services.

Rev. and Mrs. Peter Funk, missionaries to Hawaii, were with us for the Worship Hour Sunday morning. Rev. Funk made a most interesting talk on missions in Hawaii. We were very interested to hear that after December the Assemblies there will no longer be foreign missions but will be self supported.

Bro. White brought a wonderful message to us Sunday night. His subject was "No Statute of Limitations." He used as his text, Ecclesiastes 3:14-16.

Soil Conservation

By OLIN G. FIELDS

Wednesday of last week, supervisors R. O. Williams, S. A. Jones, Burton Mullins, Quinton Cummings, Ray McDonald, Clarence Moore and Hugh Champion visited the "Little New River" watershed project which has just been completed and turned over to the Marion County Supervisors for maintenance. The three large dams have prevented the bottom land from flooding. All who visited the above project were well pleased and are looking forward to a completed watershed in Chilton County.

Soil and Water Conservation farm plans were completed on the following farms: William Thomas, Cecil E. Giles' two farms and Thomas Strain.

J. S. Stewart has just completed 30 acres of timber stand improvement (woodland weeding) as called for in his soil and water conservation farm plan.

A. R. Taylor has had terraces pushed down on approximately seven acres and twenty-three additional acres cut with a heavy disc harrow, in preparation to planting coastal bermuda.

NEWS OF—

REFUGE

We had two more fine services over the past weekend with good average attendance. There is nothing that will give us spiritual vigor and vitality for the week ahead like good spiritual fellowship with God's people. Right on the other hand, there is nothing that will cause spiritual fatigue and grusome downcast like forsaking the Lord's house and Christian duty on the Lord's Day. In Hebrews, chapter 10, verse 25, we read: "Forsake not the assembling of yourselvs together as the manner of some is." So, we can plainly see here, that he is telling us that it is not unusual at all, for some to forsake God's house. But, let us not stop here. There are those who attend services of the Lord year in and year out, without missing one Sunday in attendance.

The writer remembers reading some years ago in a Christian magaine where one man attended services 30 years without missing even one Lord's Day. We were in a home just recently where the husband had just received a lovely citation for 5 years attendance from the church without missing even one Sunday.

According to our Treasurer's report, some two thirds of the pledges on our building fund are already in and others aer r-e sponding every Sunday. One lady said: "I have come to believe that we can do most anything that we want to do, if we want to do it badly enough."

We will meet Saturday, August 10 for the purpose of cleaning off the church grounds in preparation for our revival that will begin the 2nd Sunday. The Rev. G. H. Carroll will bring the messages. A complete census is also being taken.

Mr. Dewey Minor is in the St. Vincent Hospital in Birmingham. He is on the 4th floor, room 16.

The pastor and wife is on a brief vacation this week. They will return Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Littleton and children of Birmingham joined Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cox, Mrs Cecil Marcus at a picnic at Lake View.

Mr. anl Mrs. Calvin Pate and boys are spending this week at Martin Lake.

The Gospel According To John . . .

Now it came to pass that in those days there was a great King whose name was John. He was rich and powerful and was held in awe by his subjects who knew and feared his great power. And his Chief Soothsayer did proclaim "Verily, the King is Great, and hence forth must not be made to "anger" and "Do not in his presence mention Cuber or golden water, for thou will suffer disfavor in the eves of the King."

And there was in those days a Kingdom to the South inhabited by those whose support King John coveted but they were governed by a King named Martin.

So, to get their support, King John called in his chief soothsayer, who was named Bobby. And sayeth King John - "Bobby thou art the wisest of all my soothsayers and further thou are of my blood an thou comest with me from the same Mother. So thus I trust you and you alone. "So pray tell how can I get the support of the Ethiopians at harvest time next?" Replied Bobby - "I will consult the stars and omens and put my ear to the ground and further consult with the Great King Martin and inform you great King John."

Bobby entering the house of white prostrating himself sayeth: "I have solved the dilemma oh Great King John - you must proceed thusly.

There is no King as great as you and, as you know, there is great feeling of inferiority among the Ethiopians. They must be made to feel equal, nay even superior. By freeing them of these chains in their heads you will bind them by chains much stronger to thee and thus they will support and defend you to the end, oh, Great King John.

King John sayeth - Thy thoughts are good, my faith in you is well founded - go and do these things henceforth and to further implement your works, by my authority I give you leave to command in MY name, all my officers, judges, scribes, overseers, and armies to accomplish this. As without the support of the Ethiopians, I will fail come next harvesttime.

So, Bobby went forth cloaked with the anthority of the Great King John whom all feared and trembled before - for if his wishes were not obeyed, tax collectors on them swarmed and they were hauled into court and the King's judges did pronounce sentence upon them. And further the King said he would withhold monies and favors from those who would not eat and drink and sleep with the Ethiopians particularly at the many inns and public houses. Further they must be treated superior at the temples of knowledge

All this incnsed the people till none in the land could be found who would say they had supported Great King John at the last harvest. And further all this was contrary to the custom of the Kings and courts past, but having all power none would resist him in his evil ways.

One province was governed by a Godly man who believed in the laws handed down by his forefathers. And it came to pass that Wallace the Governor did stand at the gate of the Temple and said to the Ethiopians "Thou shalt not pass."

No King in the past ever dared to break the customs and laws handed down for more than two thousand moons, but the fear of opinion was not in King John. And he said to his Commander of Armies, "Take thou soldiers with arms and transport them hence and put the Governor aside and by force of arms you are to make way for the Ethiopians."

This the Commander of Armies did, and the Ethiopians did rejoice and march and demonstrate in the streets and overturn chariots and set them afire, and with sharp metal did cut and slash the goods in the shops and in other manners diverse did demonstrate their joy.

For now according to the Gospel of John the Great they were equal, nay superior. And they claimed they would march and demonstrate till they were made superior everywhere.

Other Kings seeing all this pondered - "is John the King ir is John the King possessed by the devil to bring to ruin such a great Kingdom?

Perhaps the people in the wisdom that is God's fight to them will rise up and depose King John and all of his tribe, harvest time next.

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Attorney General, AMEN.

County Agent Says Spray Now For Borers

By JOHN D. SELLERS

Peach growers of Chilton County are reminded that if they have not already done so, now is the time to start summer sprays for peach tree borers. Effective control of the peach tree bore has been obtained by spraying the trunk of the tree with one of the insecticides listed below:

THIODAN - 50% Wettable Powder - 1½ pounds per 100 gallons. Early varities: 1st application after harvest (but not before Julp 1). Second application 3 to 4 weeks later. Late varieties: Elberta or later, first application 30 days before harvest. Second application immediately after harvest.

OR

DIELDRIN - 50% Wettable Powder - 6 pounds per 100 gallons. First application after harvest (but not before July 1). Second application 3 to 4 weeks later. Do not apply to trees with fruit.

OR

PARATHION - 15% Wettable Powder - 3 pounds per 100 gallons. Apply July 10th, August 10th and September 10th. On Elbertas and later varieties the 6, 4 and 2 weeks before harvest application of parathion for plum curculio should suffice for the first borer application if trunks are thoroughly covered. Parathion should not be used closer than 2 weeks before harvest.

OR

PARATHION AND DDT - 15% Wettable Powder Parathion - 2 pounds per 100 gallons, and DDT 50% Wettable Powder - 4 pounds per 100 gallons. Apply July 10th August 10th and September 10th. Since DDT is used in this combination spray it should not be applied until after the fruit is harvested because of the residue danger.

DEAR 4-H JANES

Almost all of you have at least one pear tree near your home, or know someone who does. They are an excellent and economical fruit, and during most years they are plentiful. As I have ridden through the county I have seen many pear trees that are just loaded and some are ready to be picked. Most of the pears in this area are of the Kieffer variety. These are hard, coarse and lack characteristic pear flavor when picked. They will ripen after picked and gain more flavor.

They should be picked when about two-trirds grown. Then should be picked from the trees.

If you have a good many pears around your home, why not surprise your family by preparing some Pear Relish. This is an excellent relish and can be eated with meats and vegetables. The following ingredients are needed: 8 quarts of peeled and cored pears, 5 green peppers, 5 red peppers, 3 hot peppers, 5 large onions, 5 cups cider vinegar, 5 cups sugar, and 1 teaspoon salt.

Grind pears through coarse food chooper and drip until excess juice is removed. Grind peppers and onions. Combine all ingredients, bring to a boil and biil for 20 minutes. Fill jars and seal. Process in a waterbath canner (212 degrees F.) for 10 minutes.

Try this and you will be surprised how good it will be.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

WE hate the word "copied" like we aught to hate some of our bad habits; and, if you will note, we seldom copy anything in the News. It is usually "original" whether it's any good or not.

This week, we take exception to our rule, and "copy" something. There's a very good reason for it, too. . . it's just a heck of a lot better than we can do, and we think it's good. Got ahold of it via Mr. "Doc" Levine, one of the most original men in town. See the Editorial Page if you wont to look at some first class grade A, Number One "copying"!

KENNETH Weldon sprained his ankle rather badly some two weeks ago, and he's been laying (on the) floor in Morgan Reynolds office practically ever since. We could say that's the reason Ken doesn't have an ad in tihs issue of the News (. . .because we went around there twice and he was laying (on the) floor both times. . . but it ain't.

RED Fulmer says it's hot! Ditto for Paul Bennett, Bo Little ton, Ray Enfinger, Gerald Weed, Dave Norman, Bill Hicks, Bobby Lane, and about humpteen others! If they keep it up, they're going to brain wash us, and we're going to start believing it. Great Scott, it's hot! See, they've got us doing it!

UNDERSTAND that Bill Reid and L. H. Hicks are going into a White Auto Store business in Bay Minette this month. They say there's money in them flatlands south of here, and we sure hope the boys make their share of it. We wish 'em luck. . . and would like to remind them, that when they do make that dough, to bring it back to Chilton County to spend. We could use a little of that stuff around these parts! Anyway, this newspaper always advocates "Trading At Home"! And this is our home fellows!

BILLY Lawrence, our State Trooper hereabouts, has gone and bought himself a RariDelite business in Opelika, Alabama. If business down there is near as good as Billy says it is, we might move in next door. He and Nedra deserve a lot of luck, and we hope they have it! But, we can just see Billy waiting on a fellow who wants an ice cream sundae, and saying: "Let's see your driver's license, Mister!" Or "Hey Buddy, how fast were you going when you drove into my driveway?"

DON'T dare miss the big Rodeo this Friday and Saturday evening being sponsored by the Clanton Shrine Club. It promises to be a slam-banging big event and one the whole family can enjoy! We hope to see you there! With the whole family, of course.

GOT a letter from the Stanton community, in west Chilton this week, stating that the folks in that area surely did enjoy the Stanton News column, since Miss Ruth Hicks had started writing it again. We sure are glad to hear that; and we want those folks to continue getting their news to Miss Hicks, so she can get it to the News. Anything you enjoy reading. . . we enjoy publishing. . . well, up to a point anyway!

WE know of a building in town which cost something like $4,200 to build and has brought in some $45,000 in rent over the years. It seems to be the opinion of some that these folks, for example, could really contribute to the Industry Drive if they were so inclined. Personally we don't know! We never saw $4,200, let alone $45,000! We take that back; we did see $4,200 one time: it was when Otto Jones was trying to show us what the amount we owed him, looked like! You know, it didn't seem to help a bit.

Stick 'Em Up!

A very surprised night policeman checked the door at the First National Bank last Friday evening, and found it open.

When your reporter happened by about 10 O'clock, there were four City Policemen in front of the bank, waiting on someone to come find out what happened.

Wonder what went through that fellow's mind when he pushed on the door, and it opened for him. Nothing was missing we understand.. . . accept a possible heartbeat here and there.

Seven Jailed for Forgery

COUNTY Sheriff Hugh Champion reported to the News this week that seven persons were in jail Tuesday night on 24 cases of forgery and one more person was to be picked up this week.

Several persons have been charged with Grand Larceny in connection with stolen County property, taken on June 3rd. The Sheriff reported that all except two had been arrested on these charges, The equipment that was stolen has been recovered..

Three defendants were on the books Tuesday on a charge of stealing a man's produce here in Chilton County. Ten cases have been made on Petit Larceny, involving the theft of automobile tires and batteries. The defendants in these cases are out of jail on bond.

Sheriff Champion had this to say concerning the forgery ring in this and surrounding counties: "Please ask the merchants and business people to be more careful when cashing checks for people; especially people with whom they are not familiar."

The Sheriff said, "One of the men who had been hooked by the forgery ring, had already gotten his canceled checks back, and almost let the fact get by him, that he was paying something which he did not owe."

Another thing which the Sheriff emphasized was "Trading At Home". He said, "Ask the people to be careful about hiring transient laborers to do painting, carpentering, etc." He said many times these people were out to "fleece the public", and you would do well to check on them before you hire them.

Band Boosters Report Miami Trip Shaping Up

THE trip to Miami by the band to the American Legion Convention was the topic of discussion at the recent meeting of the Band Booster's Club. At the meetisg figures were presented which made transpartation less expensive than previous figures. The estimate for 72 people quoted by Col. Raymond Weeks was as follows:

Two busses	$2,000
Hotel for 3 nights ..	576
Meals for 3 days ..	756
Total	$3,332

This figure does not include meals while traveling which would probably be about $400 even taking box lunches for a couple of meals on the way to Miami.

The bill in the Legislature for $3500 is tied up in the fillibuster in the Senate; but it is not dead, and Mr. Jimmy McDow is working for its passage. We must match the amount appropriated; therefore, it is time for pledges to be paid.

Checks can be mailed to the treasurer, Mrs. E. G. Chism, 203 First Avenue, or any band member or band booster can be called to pick them up.

Band Boosters have not contacted all businesses. If you have not been approached and would like to see the band make this trip, your contribution will help make it a reality. $2000 will be an easier goal to reach than $3000; so let's get it into the hands of the treasurer. Thank you for the wonderful support you have given our band.

THE INDISPENSABLE MAN

Sometime when you're feeling important
Sometime when your ego's in bloom
Sometime when you take it for granted
You're the best qualified in the room;
Sometime when you feel that your going
Would leave an unfillable hole,
Just follow these simple instructions
And see how they humble your soul.

Take a bucket and fill it with water,
Put your hand in it up to the wrist,
Pull it out, and the hole that's remaining
Is a measure of how you'll be missed.
You can splash all you wish when you enter
You may stir up the water galore;
But stop, and you'll find that in no time
It looks quite the same as before.

The moral in this quaint example
Is do just the best that you can;
Be proud of yourself, but remember
There's no indispensable man.

Alcohol Money--

IT is the ideal for a human being to have the individual strength of will to "expose" himself to alcohol, and still not use it.

However, most of us must use the tried and true method of "avoiding temptation" in order for it not to get the best of us. In other words, if we have, or even suspect to have, a weakness for alcohol; the best way to combat it, is to stay completely away from it. That may not be the ideal; but it is the practical method.

Gov. George Wallace has proposed a three per cent sales tax on the gross sales of liquor in the State of Alabama. He is being taken to task by some of the distillers because of this "unfair" burden on the manufacturers; and they, in fact; say that he is "driving industry away from the State," rather than attracting it!

The distillers are quoted as saying: "A professional study and a control of legal alcoholic beverages" would prove Wallace's "everlasting statesmanship" and be a "monument to his Administration!"

His "tax idea" would "blight a brilliant career at its outset", they said.

Moderation has always been the basis of a good life, in our opinion. But, this gets back to our first paragraph with regards to temptation. Too many of us, when exposed to liquor, cannot control ourselves and moderation is as obsolete as the horse and buggy. So, rather than to tempt those; why can't we just do without it?

We are certain that astounding figures can be produced as to the benefits derived from the monies taken in from the sale of alcohol in all its various "legal" forms. But, can anyone produce figures showing any benefit from the use of the product itself?

Perhaps. We doubt it.

Untold thousands of persons are caused to suffer physically and mentallf because they, or members of their family, use alcohol as a beverage and do not know moderation from excess. Surely, they are sick; but does that change the fact that the alcohol is feeding their sickness; and is, in fact, the cause of it!

It may be contrary to "modern living", but it is our considered opinion that we can surely do without the revenue derived from sale of same! If we cannot; things have gotten into a pretty shabby condition.

We like the money; but we hate the product. Why can't we find other sources of revenue. . . or do without?

Somebody Else--

THERE is an old philosophy with which we heartily concur! that is: If you can't say something good about someone. . . don't say anything!

It is unhealthy for a community; just as for a human being to, more or less, "feed" on gossip to the detriment of a fellow human being. It grieves us to say it; but, on more than a single occasion, our community seems to attempt this.

What possible good can come from running down the character of another, regardless of how strongly you feel he "deserves" it? Can the community be made more wholesome? Can your children repeat the "juicy item" and still be the better for it? Can we actually say that it "helps" our community, to repeat slanderous gossip?

If your answer to any of these is "yes", then you need read no further! But, how can you live with yourself, if you have the "gossip habit?"

We do not know where gossip starts but we do know where it can end . . . if you have the personal strength of character to "knock it in the head" before it grows big enough to hurt someone.

"Gossip" as such, has never helped anyone, or anything. Remember that the next time you start to "repeat" something you heard for a "fact".

What is a "fact" anyway?

We're For Progress--

IT never fails to be refreshing when subscribers and readers of the News judge the paper by what IS in it; rather than what IS NOT in it!

We have received several letters lately commending us for one thing or another, and we appreciate it mostly for the fact that these people are measuring the paper by what it prints, and what it stands for, rather than the volumes of things which it does not print.

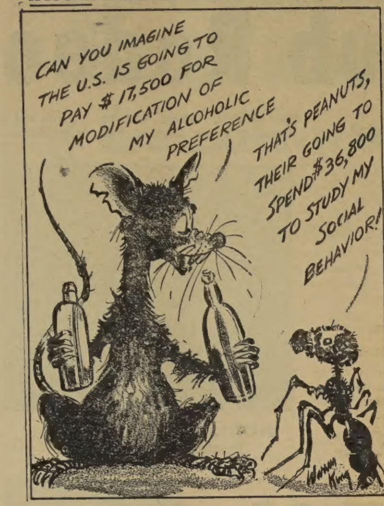
To be considered when measuring the value of your newspaper is the very important item of the area which the paper serves. There is no such thing as an "ideal" newspaper; just as there is no such thing as an ideal community.

The News feels that Chilton County, as a community, has made great strides in economic and social progress during the past five years; and it is our opinion that the next five will be the greatest progressive era we have ever witnessed in this County.

Thre is no question that this newspaper is a booster of this community; has always been; and we hope will always continue to be. As a fact, we know we have shortcomings. . . we know we do not measure up to just what everyone thinks their newspaper should measure up to; but (as a fact) we also know that we are making progress, and serving the people of this community to the very best of our ability.

As our abilities are expanded, so will our support and service to this community expand. We hope you will join with us in boosting your community, so that it will deserve and justify whatever progress comes our way during the next few years.

ACTUAL FEDERAL WASTE GETS A TOAST



CAN YOU IMAGINE THE U.S. IS GOING TO PAY $17,500 FOR MODIFICATION OF MY ALCOHOLIC PREFERENCE
THAT'S PEANUTS, THEIR GOING TO SPEND $36,800 TO STUDY MY SOCIAL BEHAVIOR!

FAR, FAR-OUT FEDERAL EXTRAVAGANCE—

If you believe that you have heard all the "far-out" wasteful expenditures of taxpayers' money by the federal government then consider these new examples of appropriations for studies which were cited recently by Rep. Homer F. Abele (R.-Ohio):

- $17,500 for modification of alcohol preference in rats.
- $15,200 for a study of society and demography in ancient Babylonia.
- $36,800 for social behavior of ants.
- $2,100 for behaviour patterns of the barren-ground caribou.
- $16,800 for social behavior of termites.
- $20,600 for communication signals in birds.
- $16,900 for revision of the classification of earthworms.
- $13,700 for social structure in Madagascar.
- $29,300 for mammal fauna of the highlands of Ethiopia.
- $65,400 for behavior and ecology of the wandering albatross.

Congressman Abele is to be commended for having ferreted out these truly shocking instances of wild extravagance. Anyone who has ever attempted to plough through the voluminous, intricate and "cover-up" phraseology of the federal budget knows that it really takes patience and expertise to spot the flagrant spending abuses.

It is to be hoped that Rep. Abele's labors will not have been in vain; that something is done to stop these giveaways, and fast.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

The limited nuclear ban, which would cal la moratorium on nuclear testing in the atmosphere, in space and underwater, was initialed in Moscow July 25th by British, American and Russian emmissaries. The treaty, signed this week, must be ratified by a two-thirds affirmative vote of the Senate before the United States is bound by its terms.

Already the issues has caused disagreement in Washington, and the debate transcends party lines. The treaty is receiving bipartisan support, since it exempliflies those objectives by the Eisenhower Administration, and it is also getting bipartisan opposition.

The treaty provides for a partial ban on nuclear testing and not for total disammament. Nuclear testing, even among the nations signing the treaty, will not be ended entirely undr its terms. While atmospheric, space and underwater tests are forbidden among signatory nations, under ground tests may be conducted legally under the treaty so long as the radioactive fallout from srch tests does not go ohtside the territorial boundaries of the country testing. Besides Britain, the United States and Russia, the United Arab Republic has indicated that they, too, may sign the nuclear palt.

The proposed treaty romes at a time when Red China's Mao Tse-tung has announred that his country will explode its first atomic bomb in the near future-adding a grave new dimension to the threat of a nuclear war. Also, French President Charles deGaulle, who has already conducted atmospheric atimic tests, has made it clear he wants no part of a test ban pact.

"Ease Tensions"

The proponents of the test ban pact point to the fact that the treaty agreement will ease the tension of an unsontrolled nurlar arms race and will also reduce the dangers of fallout from atmospheric tests. Even those favorinf the pact will admit that the treaty ends neither the threat of communism nor the realities of the Cold War. But, they say, it will serve to halt one area of th arms race. Treaty backers admit there is a risk to be taken in any avreement with Russia, and that the test ban is ni exception. They point out, however, that if the Soviets violate the treaty, our commitments to it are released immdiately. Th United States may lepally nd the treaty if our government decides it is against our national security.

The latter provision has led some Senatirs to be cautiously skeptical about the treaty. This "escape clause" provides that a signatory nation may end its obligations to treaty if they give three months notice. Opponents say this gives a loophile for cheating, but those favoring the treaty argue that some sort of ban is better than an all-out race to nuclear war.

Arguments Pro and Con

Members of the Senate opposed to the test ban pact point to the fact that the unpoliced 34 month moratorium on nuclear testing--begun in 1958 and ended in 1961 when Russia broke the agreement (which was not in treaty form) and began testing--gave the Soviet Union a grace period to shirten the nuclear weaponry gap. The treaty opponents point out that the U. S. is now the fronrunner in nuclear weapons, and the new test ban will enable the Soviet Union to catch up with U. S. nuclear efforts. The duration of the treaty, they add, could well influence the balance of power.

There are arguments on Capitol Hill that in a closed society, such as Russia, secret tests still coud in conducted. Counter arguments contend that the U. S. has strategically placed detection devices which can trace atmospheric and underwater tests almost anywhere in the world.

In any event, arguments pro and con will sion be aired through Senate investigation and debate. Needless to say, this debate will be followed carefully not ony in the U. S. but throughout the entire world.

YOUR HEALTH

HYSTERIA

Hysteria is sometimes characterized by exaggeration in sensory impressions.

Symptoms of hysteria include pain and tenderness in different parts of the body, choking sensation, dimness of vision, convulsions, fever, and hallucinations.

Hysteria is a fairly common condition. It occurs in emotionally unstable persons who deceive themselves, usually without conscious motive or design.

The person efflicted with hysteria often gives extravagant and bizarre explanations to demonstrate the unusual nature of his care. He desires to convince the doctor as to the intensity and variety of his misteries. He is in favor of examinations; and the more detailed they are, the more interesting for him. He loves hospitalization with its special care and treatment and the fuss made over him. His symptoms are usually amenable to psychoterapeutic treatment.

There is another condition that appears similar to hysteria, and this is malingering. A less frequent occurence is the malingering of a patient who is trying deliberately to deceive with some form of profit in mind. The malinger will fake a disease which he does not have, or he will unduly exaggerate or prolong minor symptims which he may have. Experienced malingerers sometimes throw simulated fits, imitate paralysis, complain of blindness or deafness that is not factual. Detection is often difficult, although the alert physician will eventually catch the maingere in a slip for his demonstrations are insincere and overdone.

Hysteria is honest and calls for care.

Reader Says Fee-System "Not In Best Interest Of The People"

Across The Editor's Desk—

It is interesting to note that steps are being taken which will let the people know more about their local government with reference to the cost of operating certain offices. I am, of course, referring to Sen. McDows - proposed legislation which will, if finally enacted into law, require all public officials who are prseently paid on the basis of fees and taxes collected to make known to the public just how much they are allowed under the old fee-base law to withhold for their services.

Sen. McDows proposed legislation should, in my opinion, receive state-wide support and since so many of our officials are allowed to operate under the old fee-base in Chilton County.

I have for a long time been of the opinion that the old fee-base arrangement of paying some officials was not in the best interest of good government. The fees which are collected should in my opinion be put in the County Treasury, a check written for the salaries of all officials and the balance if there be any used to support public services which benefit all the people in the county. In other words, I am saying there shouldn't be any secrets about the people business.

Every elected and appointed official in the Chilton County Court House should be put on a salary just as school teachers, school bus drivers and county road employees. These salaries should be a matter of public recorl and certainly in some cases they should be brought more in line with the ability of tax payers to pay. When this inequity in in the use of local taxpayers money has been corrected our present tax levies will more adequately support all public services.

Questions We Can't Answer??

EDITOR'S NOTE—The lady writing us below, is asking us something which we know nothing about. In the first place, we have never enjoyed the luxury of running to a storm shelter when the need arose so we are not qualifid to give instruction on same. However, since the questions of the reader seem legitimate, we are "passing the buck" on to some of our readers who have had more experienced in "running for covr" than have we.

If you have any factual information concerning the speed to use in running for a storm shelter; or if you can give us an accurate account of just how and when to "duck" we will be glad to publish it. . . in the interest of science, and also for the lady who was good enough to credit us with enough sense to answer such a question.

Thanks for your letter, Mrs. Bonds.

Would you be able to find out the true facts about the danger of being in a storm pit during a thunder storm?

I own the Jemison Beauty Spot and in a beauty shop all types of conversation is heard, from gossip to an intellectual decision about Freud.

One of the most frequent subjects especially now a days is storms. I must confess. I get into a panic each time a cloud appears, so I recend to my storm shelter.

All that I have talked with say they would not go near a storm pit during a lightening storm. I say that it is safe. Who is right?

When we built our storm pit there was quite a bit in the paper about Fallout Shelters. One day, whn I was in Birmingham, I went to the Civil Defense office for the phamplets thy wrre writing about. While there I asked about lightning and one of the men in Col. James' iffice said a Fallout Shelter would be safe from lightning as so much concrete acted as an insulation.

I thing if it could me ascertain which is correct, that an article about that in your paper would be of interest, especially to me, I cartainly don't want to be running out to a storm pit, if it is dangerous.

Another thing that puzzles me is laundry heaters in a storm pit. Would that attract lightning? Also, so many of my customers comment of the many times they sit out in automobiles during a thunderstorm? Would that be safer than a storm pit?

This is just a few questions, but it would be interesting to know the answers. I do hope you could find the time to write such an article.

Yours truly,
Mrs. L. M. Bonds,

Clanton, Ala.

Dear Commander Martin.

This letter is to express our appreciation of the kind assistance you and your post rendered by both yourself and Past Adjutant Donald J. Kiehler during his recent misfortune while traveling in your area.

The assistance and comfort rendered lby both yourself and members of your post by providing transportation, necessary phone calls and aid as needed is a kindness never to be forgotten by your fellow Legionnaires and the Koehler family.

During our last meeting Don expressed his thanks of himself and his family for the assistance given them following the tragic motor accident which claimed the life of his six year old daughter in June. Mrs. Koehler is recuperating from her injuries at home while Don and the two younger children, who were less injured, are doing fine.

The manner in which you and your post rendered assistance in this unfortunate cihcumstances is in the keeping of the highest tradition of the American Legion.

With warmest regards,

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

(This series of questions about Social Security is compiled from the questions sent to the Selma Social Security Office from Chilton County and answered by David G. Adams, Field Representative. Any questions that you want to ask may be sent to: Social Security, C|o Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala.)

Q. I'm 62 and get a social security check every month from my husband's social security record. He gets $40 a month, I get $15. I have two questions: If he passel away, could I get a lump sum? If I started baby sitting for $25 a week, would I be able to draw a check from my own social security in two years?

A. There would be a lump sum of $120 at your husband's death. It will go to you if you are living in the same household at the time of his death. You'd also get a monthly check for $40. A woman your age needs three years social security work to qualify for monthly checks from her own work record.

Q. What are legal requirements for a child to collect from his stepfather's social security work record?

A. First, the stepfather has to be drawing either disabiity or retirement payments from social security or be deceased. The stepson must either be under 18 or disabled. The stepfather must be living with the child or contributing one-half of the child's support.

Q. My 17 year old son has taken a part-time summer job at a super market. They told him they'd need his social security card so they could turn in social security on him. I thought you had to be 21 to come under social security.

A. There's no age limit up or down. The only time a child under 21 isn't covered by social security is when he works for a business owned by his father or mother.

NEWS OF—

Samaria

Don Graham, Pastor

Our pastor and boys have gone to the Smokie Mountains this week. They left Monday morning at 7:00. They plan to be back Saturday night in time for the Youth Rally.

The Youth Rally will meet this Saturday night at the Maple Springs Baptist Church. It will start at 7:30. We have a wonderful program planned. We want you to be sure to go.

The Juniors have planned an end of the summer weiner roast. This is going to be Monday night August 12, 7:30. Make plans to attend this.

The Young Married People have planned another of those famous ice cream suppers at the church on August 13 at 7:00.

The big event of the week is the river trip for the Young People. This is the last party for the summer. We plan to spend Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the river. This will be well chaperoned. Don't miss this

Last Sunday night during the worship service we recognized the ordinance of Baptism. We baptized the last of the people who were converted during the revival.

Due to the absence of our pastor, Brother Bruce Payton was in charge of Prayer meeting. He did a marvelous job and we are grateful for his willingness to help us.

Our pastor will be in revival the third and fourth weeks of August. The third week he will be with Brother Jon Will Wyatt at Mineral Springs. The next week he will be with Brother Wayne Smith at the Lomax Baptist Mission.

During the regular monthly business meeting Sunday, the church decided unanimously to build a pastorium. The first Sunday of October has been set aside as pledge Sunday. We hope to begin building soon afterwards.

Since the softball season is over, the men and boys of the church had to find somthing else to do. They found they could play the men from the First Methodist Church in a Volleyball game. Well, they started playing them every Monday night at 7:30. And by the way they have met with more success than with the softball games.

Local Youngsters Urged To Continue Their Education

Alabama's Wasted Human Resources Also Cause Waste of Natural Resources

45% of Alabama's youth fail to complete high school. Alabama high schools rank 46th in the Nation in holding power.

The State Committee within the State Department of Education is digging deeply into this problem. One phase of the study was the interviewing of students who had left school before graduation in four different sections of the State.

Specific recommendations to the schools of Alabama will be made at various times during the approaching school year which could help with the problem. x

One of the recommendations growing out of this committee's study is that lay people, civic clubs, ladies' clubs, P.T.A.'s, business, industry, or other organizations take some action to prevent this great loss to Alabama youth and the resulting loss to the State..

It is requested that every adult in the State of Alabama consider assuming some responsibility for helping to keep our young people in school until graduation from high school. Let each adult in the State of Alabama have as his motto, "Each One Contact One," and exert his influence toward encouraging Alabama youth to continue their education. YOU CAN HELP! Start now for the opening of school this fall — Enroll all this fall.

Every single day is fresh from the hand of God, wrapped in the shimmering glory of His presence. To get the most out of a day, one must give the most and be thankful for all the happy surprises God may grant.

If I Had A Mind To...

"A favorite expression around these parts is: "If I had a mind to. . ." I'd do this or that!

"If you had a mind to. . . you could boost Chilton County by saying good things about it. . . instead of bad!"

"If you had a mind to. . . you could greatly increase the economy of your community by "Trading With Local Merchants"!

A lot of folks, who "have a mind to. . . are very careful about trading at home before they try anywhere else.

That's what makes our own wagon go. . .

And while we're on the subject: "If you've a mind to. . . look through this issue of your News and see what bargains and what values are offered right here at home!

"If you've a mind to . . . you can save yourself a pile of dough and trouble!"

We had 196 present for Sunday School Sunday. We were happy to see an increase in our attendance. Let's all work hard for our Sunday School this week.

"The Church of Many Dreams" was Bro. White's subject for the morning worship. The scripture reading was Ephesian 5:23-27. He used the 27th verse for his text. He delivered a wonderful message Sunday night. The subject of this message was. "But There is A God in Heaven." This subject was taken from David 2:27-28.

We would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to the Temple if you do not have a regular place of worship.

Corny Chili Shortcakes

Try Corny Chili Shortcakes for one of your many backyard family suppers. You can prepare the chili in the cool morning hours and then, while the corn bread bakes just before serving time, heat the chili in a few minutes.

The corn bread is quick and simple to prepare with convenient self-rising corn meal. Pre-blended baking powder and salt in the corn meal saves you measuring time and assures you proper proportioning for successful baking. Self-rising corn meal is enriched, too, providing essential B-vitamins, food iron and calcium.

CORNY CHILI SHORTCAKES

Chili Mixture

1 pound ground beef
½ cup chopped onions
2 cups kidney beans (1-pound can)
2 cups canned tomatoes, mashed (1-pound can)
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon cumin powder
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
½ cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese

Brown beef in skillet. Add onion and cook until tender. Add kidney beans, tomatoes, chili powder, cumin and black pepper. Simmer for one hour or until flavors are well blended. Add cheese and stir until melted. Serve hot over hot Corn Bread Shortcakes.

Corn Bread Shortcakes

2 cups enriched self-rising corn meal
1 teaspoon cumin powder
¼ teaspoon black pepper
2 eggs, beaten
⅓ cup melted shortening or oil
1¼ cups milk

Combine corn meal, cumin and black pepper. Blend eggs, melted shortening or oil and milk. Add to dry ingredients and mix until dry ingredients are moistened. Pour batter into greased 8-inch square pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) for 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cut into 6 pieces. Split each piece and spoon Chili Mixture between layers and over top. Makes 6 servings.

Cook Indoors . . . Eat Outdoors

While outdoor cooking is fun, many times it's easier to cook indoors then take to the outdoors to eat.

Why not set up sandwich trays on the kitchen counter and let each one tote his own to the backyard or porch?

For the sandwich serve a popular combination of cheese, tomato and bacon, but give it a new twist. On split and toasted French rolls, arrange thin slices of tomato. Then, take a can of condensed Cheddar cheese soup and add cooked and crumbed bacon. Spread this mixture over the tomatoes, top with slices of green onion, and broil. It's mighty tempting.

While the sandwiches are broiling fix each tray with a glass of iced coffee and some chilled peach halves. They're all ready for the "come and get it" call when the sandwiches are finished.

Broiled Cheese and Tomato Rolls

1 package (10 ounces) brown and serve French rolls
16 thin slices tomato (about 3 tomatoes)
1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
6 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
Green onion, diagonally sliced

Prepare bread as directed on package; split and toast. On half roll arrange 4 slices tomato. Combine soup and bacon; spread evenly over tomatoes. Top with green onion. Broil about 4 inches from heat for 8 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

If you'd welcome chilling thoughts these overheated days, the mystery shelf of your public library may be the answer. If you'd be content merely to cool off, however, why not do it this luscious way: serve frosty parfait pie—to end a luncheon happily, to welcome guests to your patio, or to please the family. A quickly made iced tea drink is nice to serve with any of the Parfait Pie recipes you'll find now, packed with the flour. In all there are 4[illegible] flavors of cool summer eating. This one's for people who like strawberries:

Strawberry Parfait Pie: Soften ½ cup butter with 2 tablespoons sugar. Add 1 cup Pillsbury's Best All Purpose Flour. Mix just until a dough will form (with mixer use lowest speed). Place ¼ to ⅓ cup of the mixture in a small pan for crumb topping. Press remaining mixture evenly over bottom and sides of 9-inch piepan with well-floured fingers. Flute.

Bake at 375° until light golden brown: crumbs 10 to 12 minutes; crust 12 to 15 minutes. Cool.

Combine in large mixing bowl 1 cup (10-oz. pkg.) frozen strawberries, partially thawed; ½ cup sugar; 1 unbeaten egg white; and 2 teaspoons lemon juice, if desired. Beat with electric mixer at highest speed until soft mounds form when beaters are raised, 5 to 8 minutes.

Beat ½ cup whipping cream until thick. Fold into strawberry mixture. Spoon into baked crust. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Freeze until firm, 4 to 6 hours; cover.

Tea Garden Bracer: Combine and boil 5 minutes ¾ cup sugar, ¾ cup water, 1 teaspoon whole allspice, one 2" stick cinnamon. Combine and add ¼ cup actively boiling water and 8 rounded teaspoons instant Nestea. Cover and let stand 10 minutes. Strain. Add 2 quarts iced water, ¾ cup strained orange juice, fresh, canned or frozen; and ½ cup strained lemon juice, fresh, canned or frozen. Serve over ice in eight 10-oz. glasses.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
from The Bible

We, who are many, are one body in Christ.—(Rom. 12.5).

By the light of the indwelling Christ we behold our kinship with all men and are healed of antagonisms and mistrust. We greet and bless the Christ in others, and they respond.

FROM REFUGE—

Rev. M. Lockhart Says: "Each Is Superior In Some Measure"!

We are so thankful to the Lord for another day of good service like we had last Sunday. The attendance was good, but we are thinking mostly in terms of a spirit of cooperation which never fails to result into Christian fellowship. One is always made stronger in the Lord by having experienced being in a good spiritual service where people love each other. In fact it maks us love each other more.

It is always one of the first duties of a child of God to look for the best in the other person, because we usually find in him, or her, the very thing we look for. Some one has rightly said that there is no person in the world that is not our superior in some measure. That may not be too easily for some of us to digest, but we will do well to think it over. The writer was on his way to school in his early boy-hood days and met a man who was very un-mannerly dressed and un-shaven with shoes half unlaced. He asked the privilege of writing our name in the new school books which we were carrying. We got out the old pen stock and bottle of ink and gave it to the man and he gave two or three jerks at his shirt sleeve, and until this day, we have not seen a more legible and beautiful hand write. I said to myself, if that man can do that, I can learn also to do it. Well, I have never reached the goal, but it helped me to try. I couldn't see such in that man with his long beard, but since that day I have not doubted that there is some superior trait in a person regardless to how he is dressed, or how he conducts himself.

Our revival begins here Sunday with services at 10:30 and 7:15. Rev. G. H. Carroll will be with us Sunday night and will bring the messages throughout the week. You are cordially invited and urged to be with us.

There will be a pounding at the home of Mr. Dewey Minor this Thursday night. Come and bring whatever you desire.

Please do not forget the working at the church this Saturday morning.

Fiesta Treats

Make a fiesta of guest or family luncheons and suppers with a tray of Fiesta Treats—perky little muffins, colorful and tasty with corn, green pepper and pimiento.

Spoon Fiesta Treats onto a baking sheet, like drop biscuits, for easy baking. The muffins are crisp outside and have characteristic muffin moistness and tenderness inside.

Each tender muffin helps round out your meal nutritionally because you've made them from enriched self-rising flour. Enriched self-rising flour stirred into Fiesta Treats and used in all your baking is an economical source of three essential B-vitamins—thiamine, niacin and riboflavin—plus food iron and calcium.

FIESTA TREATS

- 2 cups sifted enriched self-rising flour
- 1 cup drained, cooked whole-kernel corn (8-ounce can)
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ to ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup melted shortening or oil

Sift flour into bowl. Stir in corn, green pepper and pimiento. Combine egg, ½ cup milk and shortening or oil. Add to flour, stirring just until dry ingredients are moistened. If necessary, add all or part of remaining milk to make dough of drop consistency. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

Makes about 1 dozen muffins.

Good Eating For Early Fall

To many backyard gardeners, summer has meant the end of their gardening efforts until fall or even next spring.

However, County Agent John Sellers emphasizes that it's not necessary to call it quits so soon. There are many chores which need doing around the garden this time of year - providing you can weather the showers and sun.

There's still time to get seed into the ground for late summer and early fall eating. Popular vegetables which can be planted now include bush, snap and pole snap beans, cabbage, collards, mustard, kale, broccoli, turnips, carrots and onions. Remember that good soil preparation and fertilization before planting is a must.

Folks who have already wrapped up their gardening for this year can probably look out the back window and see a healthy crop of weeds where the vegetables once grew. If you're in this category, here are some tips for closing up shop.

First, pull up and role the old plants and vines. Dispose of them by burning or burying. Along with this debris will go many of the insect and disease pests which would otherwise be on the spot and ready to do their dirty work next spring.

It's also a good idea to remove clean and store away wooden garden labels, bean poles and tomato stakes for future use. Finally, clean up and put away your gardening tools and equipment. Remove caked soil from rakes, hoes, plows, trowels and other soil-contact tools. Coat all metal surfaces, using an oily rag. Be especially mindful to clean and oil sprayers and fertilizer spreaders because they rust and corrode easily. Don't forget your soil may need special attention. Soil test for plant food needs and chemical treat for nematode and weed control.

Iris Dividing Time - Since iris plants have just about completed their growth for the season, now's a gool time to get on with the task of dividing them. Iris clumps that are anywhere from two to five years old can be divided now. Your County Agent lists some tips that should be helpful in that operation:

First, select a good, sunny location on well drained soil for the planting area. To divide, dig the whole clump, avoiding bruising or damaging the rhizomes. Wash away soil and cut the rhizomes apart with a sharp clean knife. Divide the large clump into smaller clumps to avoid dividing again in the sext coupe of years. If you want large clumps leave four to five rhizomes with a fan of leaves on each. Cut the leaves on each side to one-third of their normal height. After they are cut, dust the rhizomes with sulfur or any good fungicide to avoid rot. Thoroughly water and mulch the bed. To get the roots established, apply plenty of water during dry weather. Caution: Remove mulch before rains begin next spring. Excess moisture will cause flower stalks to fall over.

Banks Major Lenders To Alabama Farmers

Credit Neews Increasing Study Shows ;

Alabama banks were serving farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other lenders at the beginning of this year, according to J. F. Cobb, Exec. Vice-President, The Bank of Thorsby who represents the Alabama Bankers Association As Chilton Couney Key Banker. During 1962, the state's banks maintained their leadership in agricultural crelit services.

Based on the 22nd annual farm lending summary of the Agriculture Committee of the American Bankers Association, Mr. Cobb reported that at the beginning of the year, Alabama banks were helping farmers with $87 million in loans, 5 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $49 million in production loans and $39 mililon in farm mortgages. At this same time, $24 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $65 million by the Federal Land Banks; $23 million by Production Credit Associations; and $7 million in nonreal estate loans plus $46 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 61 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to Alabama farmers came from banks.

Mr. Cobb stressed the import- in Alabama ,as well as throughout the country, are taking a realistic look at agriculture, appraising it from the standpoint of its total contribution to the economy. Through the years the agricultural industry, as a part of the total economy, has remained relatively stable, with the 'off the farm' portion becoming increasingly significant. Bankers, therefore, are broadening their services and are alsc developing and promoting programs that consider the interwoven relationships between farmers and related businesses.

"Capital has become one of the main pillars in agriculture, with the total investment increasing fourfold during the past 20 years. Today farm families nationally have approximately $196 billion invested in their operations, with the average investment per farm estimated to be $47,632--twice the amount reported just 10 years ago."

Mr. Cibb stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that 94 per cent of insured banks throughout the country has agricultural loans outstanding at the first of the year, with 98 per cent of the banks in Alabama extending credit to farm people.

Paper Company Expands; Progress Brougrt To Alabama

Governor George C. Wallace and officials of Scott Paper Company last week ennounced an expansion program for the firm's Mobile plant involving more than $45 million.

The announced expansion brings the dollar value of new and expanded industries to $175 million since Governor Wallace took office in January.

The Scott expansion will offer 250 new job opportunities and will raise the firm's annual payroll to $15 milion from the present $13,250,000.

In addition, full time and part time employment should be provided for approximately 350 in harvesting an additional 175,000 cords of pulpwood a year.

"We are very proud and happy to make this announcement," said Gov. Wallace, "because it means more jobs for our people, and it is a sign of faith in the future of Alabama."

The Governor made industrial expansion one of the key planks in his campaign platform and between the time of his election and his inauguaration he made several trips out-of state to seek new industries. He frequently points out Alabama's effort to aid her citizens through industrial expansion.

Leonard Beard, director of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board, said the Board's goal is to help provide a minimum of 25,000 new jobs in 1963 through new and expanded industries in Alabama.

"With the fine industrial program of the Wallace administration, we should exceed the $200 million mark in new and expanded industries this year and therefore, I believe we will reach our goal of new jobs for Alabamians," Beard said.

He said the Board is working to nurture and assist industries in the State in their efforts toward growth and expansion. "Expansion of existing industry is healthy because it comes about when a business is successful," Beard said.

The expansion program by the Scott Company is expected to cause an increased expenditure for utilities and freight or more than a million dollars a year. The building program should provide employment for hundreds of construction workers, area suppliers and service firms.

"The expansion of an industry has far-reaching effects on the economy of the state, and is beneficial to a very large segment of our population," Governor Wallace said.

Clanton, Alabama

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

A FELLOW we know right well said last week: "Mentioning my name in your column on the front page is worth $40 to me!" Next week we're going to mention his name. . . and the first of the month he will receive a statement for $40 . . . for services rendered. Thanks for the plug. . . (we're not going to mention his name, since we found out the real value).

LEE Dixon, of Route 3, Clanton, on August 10, 1962 ginned the first bale of cotton with Planters Gin here in Clanton. On Monday, August 12, 1963, the same Lee Dixon, ginned the first bale of cotton at Planters Gin. He did likewise on Tuesday, the 13th, and he told John Deramus that he wauld rave another on Wednesday. The bale on Monday weighed (the first of this season) weighed in at 537 pounds. That's cotton pickin' fine cotton picking.

PLEASE take note, all you Red-Blooded American citizens of Chilton County: The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the First Methodist Church in Clanton on Friday, August 23. The time will be from 12 noon until 6:00 P.M. You probably have a fair to middlin' area what it will be there for.

IT says here: "Preliminary studies on the existing Lay Dam near Clanton are underway, and when this dam is raised 14 feet the installed electric generating capacity will be increased 96,000 KW.."

NOTE where our weather man has taken a vacation from the heat. That's not a very good boost for our morale. . . but in this kind of weather. But we still don't like last winter! Br-rr!

FOLKS in the Jemison area will be interested in an ad in this issue of the News concerning the purchase of textbooks for the coming school year. Look for it inside this issue.

AND Era Wyatt has come back home. She has been on vacation (out in west end) for some time; but has finally come back to her old stomping grounds at the Hotel Clanton (formerly the Willingham Hotel). Hope Era enjoys being back in town Here's one case where she "went west" and didn't like it a'tall See her ad in this issue, too! As Bill Hays woull say: "She needs your head in her business!"

REPRESENTATIVE Carl Elliott has introduced a resolution in Congress authorizing a "full and complete" Congressional investigation of the federal government's multi-billion dollar research. The administration has budgeted $12.2 billion for research this year. The research budget has climbed almost $10 billion in the last 10 years. It's time to say "whoa" fellows! Perhaps that editorial we ran last week about the social structure of Madagascar and the barren-ground Caribou along with the wandering Albatross had its effect. If it did. . . it surely was post-haste!

THERE'S a lot to be said against ridiculous spending also. We wish the Congreshman good luck is his attempt at curbing Federal extravagance!

SAYS a letter we received: "When I was 14 years old the Lord revealed to me that I had certain talents, Practice of Medicine, Farming, Running and saving the world. I made a success in Practice of Medicine, Farming, but I haven't done so well in running and saving the world, but I am spending most of my time and money trying to do so." We sympathize with the fellow and agree with his statement which follows: "The story of Federal aid is the story of the rise of federal bureaucracy. Year by year it has sunk its teeth deeper into local control, until now it is reaching into almost every activity of the priviate life of the American citizen." Amen, brother!

Mt. Nebo Revival Begins 18th

Revival services will begin at Mt. Nebo Methodist Church, on Sunday, August 18.

Services each night at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Cletice Ingram, pastor, will be preaching. Everyone invited to attend.

- Brothers 'Meet' Abruptly on Separate Errands -

TUESDAY afternoon late, Larry Headley, of the Mt. Nebo Community, started to the store to get something for his father Mr. Marion Headley.

On a dirt road Larry met his brother Jimmy returning home from Clanton after getting a flat tire fixed. The trouble was, both boys were driving separate automobiles, which were pretty well demolished in the "meeting" according to their Dad.

Larry sustained a broken nose and other lacerations and Jimmy got his head cut along with bruises and cuts. They are in the same room at County Hospital. Their Dad says, "They will probably be there for a few days."

Martin's ambulance brought the young men to the hospital The accident occurred between five and six O'clock on a dirt road east of Mt. Nebo church, near the home of Mr. Vance.

No one else was involved in the accident. The odds of such a thing ever happening again surely must be remote; but Mr. Headley told the News: "I heard Wednesday morning of a case like this involving three brothers, in three separate cars!"

We suppose this type of thing has its advantages. . . if such a thing must happen: at least Larry and Jimmy can keep each other company while recuperating!

Contract Let For Improving "65"

The State Highway Department reports a low bid of $83,487 for fencing, planting, and erosion control on 12 miles of Interstate Route 65 from a point northwest of Pine Level to U. S. 31. Low bidder is Thomason and Associates, Inc., of Montgomery. Highway Director Ed N. Rodgers said bids are now being reviwed for the entire seven million dollar letting held on July 26, and contracts are scheduled to be awarded within the next few days.

Boll Weevil Damage Increasing

County Agent John D. Sellers reports that boll weevil damage is continuing to build up to some degree, but is not to an alarming stage in the county as yet. However, Mr. Sellers urgers farmers to continue checking for boll weevils and boll worms, and carry out necessary sprays if needed.

Mr. Sellers also adds that yields look very promising this year, and some farmers might like to know what yield, or how many bales per acre they can anticipate making this year. To determine the approximate yield per acre use the table listed below.

A. Determine the average number of sound mature bolls from 40 feet of row - be sure this is done on an area that is an "Average" of the field. B. Get the average width of rows. C. To determine pounds of seed cotton, multiply the row width factor in the table below by the number of bills in the 40-foot row which you have selected as an "Average" row. D. Divide the result by number of bolls per pound. E. To get the pounds of lint, multiply by lint pecent. The factor for each row width is listed in the table below.

Factor ror each width

Width of row in inches	Factor
36	363.0
38	343.9
40	326.7
42	311.1

Coker 100 A — 72	38.1%
Auburn 56 — 72	37.2%
Plains — 66	37.0%
Stoneville 7 — 74	39.0%
Empire — 62	37.5%
Dixie King — 60	38.0%

EXAMPLE: Row width - 40 inches apart. Variety - Auburn 56. Average boll count (sound mature bolls) in 40 feet of row - 320. 320 x 326.7 (factor for 40" rows - 104544. — 104544 divided by 72 (Auburn 56 bolls per lb.) 1452 seed. Cotton per acre. 1452 x 37.2 percent (lint percentage) 540 lbs. lint per acre.

WARNING GAS USERS!

WHENEVER a person or firm desires to discontiue the use of liquefied petroleum gas and use another type fuel in lieu of such gas, or for any other reason desires a liquefied petroleum gas tank or facility disconnected or cut off, a licensed petroleum gas dealer should be requested to do the necessary disconncting or cutting off of the liquefied petroleum gas system in order that no hazard be created by the use of a person not experienced in working with liquefied petroleum gas systems. Such a hazard was recently discovered in the Monroeville area and this precaution is to prevent a recurrence of this dangerous situation.

EDITORIALS

The Truth Is...

WHEN a controvercial issue comes along, especially if it involves a majority of the people, the first thing many folks expect the "good" newspaper editor to do, is to "sit still"; to "be quiet"; assuming, we suppose that if we ignore the situation. . . perhaps it will go away and leave us alone.

It is perhaps unfortunate, in the light of this bit of logic, that we, your newspaper editor, disagree. We do not believe that anything will disappear, simply because we ignore it.

Members of the County Board of Revenue & Control feel strongly as do we that Chilton County needs, and should have, a place where each year a County Fair can be held. It is a point to ponder that this "oasis" should also be suitable for numerous other County-wide activities, thus making itself useful year-round, and not just once a year, at Fair time.

Chilton County, being a rural county, with farming being the livehood of County many of our citizens shuold have a County Fair each year. It is entertainment for many, and brings enjoyment of one kind or another to practically all of us.

We have been reminded, that if we felt the urge to write anything at all on this situation, that we "tell the truth".

The truth is: we do not have a Fairgrounds!

The truth is: we need a place to hold 4-H Club rallies; cattle shows, rodeos, Fairs, and a hundred other things that come along each year, which make living in a community worthwhile; and which are the very things that keep a community alive.

The truth is: there is animosity among the citizens as to what should be done about a Fairgrounds and/or a county coliseum.

The truth is: pettiness, bitterness and an uncooperative spirit among some of our citizens is making the road pretty rough for those who are giving their time and talents that we might have a County Fair this year. . . or any other.

The truth is: The County Fair should not be held at the County Airport; but since it is the only property large enough to accomodate same at present, then it should be used and used in such a way as to be in the best interest of the people of this County.

Economically we need a sound business community; educationally we need places of learning; spiritually we need churches in which to worship; industrially we need an airport for what we hope the future will bring to this County; socially and morally we need places of clean entertainment, such as a Fairgrounds.

That is undeniably what we feel to be the truth. What will be done about it remains to be seen.

The GOP Ostrich--

ALABAMA GOP chairman John Grenier speaks the truth when he says: "Use of the military as an instrument of social reform to force upon private citizens the dictates of the President in violation of their personal rights to freedom of association, property rights of private business, and, in many cases, of local laws is a dangerous and drastic departure from American principles."

But, Mr. Grenier says it as though he, or a GOP candidate for office, invented the idea.

In the same news release he says "Alabamians are deeply concerned by the silence of our senators and representatives on such vital issues." He says, "our own remain dumb and mute in their offices and in the halls of congress."

In the same mail that we received Mr. Grenier's "release"; we received not less than six pieces of correspondence from Alabama Congressmen in Washington! And, we refer the GOP'er to the "Report From Washington" column on this page by Sixth District Congressman Armistead Selden.

The only reason Mr. Grenier feels that our Congressman are silent, is that he reads only Republican propaganda. and has no time for newspapers whicr carry the reports of our congressmen.

He could propably get on their mailing list. . . if he'd ask them! z

Immortality--

IF we proclaim a belief in "the brotherhood of man" we are automatically branded "Nigger lovers"! If we say that "we believe in separate, but equal rigrts for Negro citizens and White citizens; then we automatically become "bigots", "hate-mongers"; "suppremists"!

And from these two simple opinions, how can we be "branded" anything? Certainly this is not enough information about an individual to form a concrete opinion of him.

History will record our time as "one of the most short-sighted eras in the history of mankind"! And we have brought it upon ourselves; for we can see no further than our own noses!

In our time; we can smell trouble, but we cannot see it; and thus we do nothing but grope and fumble about in the dark.

The teachings of Christ are professed by many; and rather than attempt to enumerate them, we refer you to a book of reference called "The Holy Bible"! If you cannot satisfy your questions there... they must be immaterial to life.

Running will not put out a fire; it only makes it burn the more. We, in our time, are running from each other and the flames which separate us, are also the flames that are consuming us.

Just as we are not "all good" or "all bad"; we are neither "all this or that"! We all are mortal human beings; and there are those of us (all races included) who are attempting the impossible by playing the immortal God.

And for those of us who would attempt these divine lofty heights of immortality, we refer you to the reference book we mentioned earlier: ". . . but whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister; and whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant: even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

"So Jesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes: and immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed him."

Federal Money--

MONEY which comes from a Federal Bureau is, at best, easy money. And we all know what "easy money" brings with it!

Whether by nature, or by evolution Federal Money means Federal control. It matters little who the culprit is, or why, the situation exists, that if a municipal body asks for, and receives, Federal monies, the Federal Government has the first say about how that money is used.

And after it is used; the Federal Government keeps a tight rein on its investment, to the extent that local control of whatever local project it might be, is completely unheard of.

We are being "prepared" to let go of all responsibility, and to look for the almighty Federal Government to hand out whatever it deems proper and fitting. Can you, a free American citizen, conscientiously allow yourself to become a "ward of the government"?

That's what you are doing, friend.

And it is alarming, just how many officials of our local government are leaning more and more to this idea. "If we don't get it from the Federal Government, where will we get it?"

We've got an idea for them: If we can't do some things for ourselves locally, what say we just do without!

1964-65 the amount apprapriated will be $1,441,000.

YOUR HEALTH

LOW BACK PAIN

There is always a lot of low back pain, and it isn't always easy to determine the cause. There was a time when low back pain was called simply backache. Later nimenclature for this disturbance included such names as sacroiliac sprain, herniated disk, and spondylolisthesis.

Low back pain may result from any one of several causes, and treatment is varied. Unquestionably some cases of low back pain originate in the mind while others are due to poor posture and muscular imbalance.

A patient with an actual severe injury to the back and a fractured or dislocated vertebra offers a simple problem to the physician. When low back pain is due to some constitutional or pathological condition located in another part of the body, the diagnosis and treatment become difficult.

When the physician first gets a case of low back pain of undetermined cause, he must delve into various factors. Is it psychogenic origin, or is it instead a physical fatigue reaction from monotony of employment or high tension work? There are also the anatomical or poor posture angles accompanied by muscle imbalance. Add to these the constitutional involvements which may aggravate the pain. Low back pain means misery for the patient and also taxes the physician's diagnostic ingenuity.

Soil Conservation Enters Goodyear Competition

Chilton County Soil (and Water) Conservation district has entered the 17th annual Goodyear competition to select the nation's top 52 conservation districts, according to R. O. Williams, Clanton, Ala., Rt. 1, district chairman.

Activities of the district will be weighed against the performance of other districts in the state in determining the outstanding district in the annual event sponsored by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio.

Key agricultural leaders will serve as judges and will select the state winner. Soil Conservation efforts from May 1, 1963 through December 31, 1963 will be considered.

Grand award for the 52 districts selected nationally will be an expense paid, work-study trip to Arizona in December, 1964, for one member of the district governing body and the outstanding farmer-cooperator in each winning district. The 104 men selected will be guests at Goodyear Farms, a 14,000 acre general farm operation near Phoenix.

Chilton County district has taken part in the competition 15 times in the past and was named the state's 1st place district in 1956. District supervisors are B .S. Mullins, Q. R. Cummings, S. .A. Jones, A. R. Taylor and R. O. Williams.

Williams said the district's outstanding cooperator will be selected from among 834 farm operators enrolled in the district program. Nationally, about 1, 800,000 farmers in 2, 900 districts will be eligible for the grand award trip.

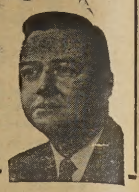
Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN



During recent weeks, we have witnessed a stream of racial directives and maneuvers emanating from our Military Establishment.

The latest and strongest directive from the Pentagon authorizes the commander of a military base, with the approval of the secretary of his service, to mark business establishments in neighboring communities "off limits" in cases of alleged discrimination.

Traditionally, off-limits restrictions have been made because of health or moral conditions. Under this Defense Department order, however, no service man or his family may enter a business establishment which the past commander has placed off limits because of segregation. The economy of a number of Southern communities including some in Alabama depends on the location of the location of the military bases in those communities. Thus, forbidding off base patronage of private business by service men and their dependents amounts to a Pentagon ordered economic boycott.

Gesell Report Threats

The recent directive of the Secretary of Defense is based on a recommendation of the Gesell Committee report. The committee composed of seven men, three of whom are Negroes was appointed by the Administration last June to investigate equal opportunity in the armed forces. The recommendations of this highly prejudiced report, if followed by our government would use our military as a tool to bring about total integration.

Some of the recommendations of the Gesell report include a suggestion that military base commanders appoint biracial committees in the communities in an effort to break down segregation practices; that more Negroes be placed on promotion boards; that special officers be appointed at each base to handle the complaints of Negroes; that more Negro girls be brought to base functions; and that work for desegration be considered in officer promotion.

The Gesell report also suggests closing military bases in communities where racial discrimination is particularly prevalent. Secretary of Defense McNamara has said he does not regard this as feasible "at this time." While this recommendation has not been implemented by our Executive branch, the threat that it might be is causing a storm of controversy on Capitol Hill.

Improper Function

In a speech on the floor of the House last week, I asked if the United States had reached the point where our national security and defense will be determined not by military and geographic effectiveness but by who is served in what restaurant. If the threat of closing bases in segregated areas is carried out, our armed forces would be employed as a massive political tool to attain social reforms. Clearly, this is not the proper province into which our military should move, for traditionally our armed services have remained aloof fom the political arena.

In view of these unprecedented developments, I introduced last week a resolution which calls for an investigation by a House committee into the formulation contents and appropriateness of the Gesell report. The resolution has been sent to the Commmitte Rules.

Such an investigation, in my opinion, would bring to light information which should be carefully analysized and considered by the Congress and by the American people.

100 Years Ago

THE ALABAMA ELECTION OF 1863

One hundred years ago this week, an editorial appeared in a small Alabama county newspaped, admonishing the people of the stat not to expect the impossible of their newly elected Govrnor.

Although returns were only partially in, they indicated a very large majority in favor of Colonel Thomas H. Watts, Attorney General of the Confederacy who was later to assume office as Govrnor of Alabama after winning the election at a vote of almost three to one over Governor John Gill Shorter.

Isaac Grant, editor of the "Clarke County Journal," a small county newspaper published at Grove Hill, was fearful that the people would expect too much of the new administration.

Election returns indicated a drastic change in policy as practically all the important secession leaders of 1861 had been voted out of office in favor of more moderate men who emphasized states' rights.

Severe conditions in the state, including Federal troops in North Alabama, the blockade of Mobile and subsequent high prices, a lack of manpower on the farms and a scarcity of foodstuffs, tended to depress the people and lessen support of the was effort.

Grant admonished the people to be "more charitable, more reasonable toward the able and patriotic gentleman" selected to succeed Snorter.

"Don't expect too much of him" the editor wrote. "Don't fall out with him for impressing your Negroes to work on the State defenses.-Don't get mad with him if Presidnt Davis commands him to call out the able bodied men for the defense of the state."

"Remember you cannot have peace prices in war times, and that your Executive is only a man and cannot please everybody if he wanted to do so. Do these things and Col. Watts will make you an able and Popular Governor, and be deserving of your support for re-election to a second term."

Chilton Cotton Growers Could Loss More Than $1 Per Bale

Cotton growers could lose more than $1.00 per bale if their lint is wrapped in sub-standard material, it was pointed out this week by L. L. Traywick, President of the Chilton County Farm Bureau.

Through the cooperation of gin ners, farmers and others in the industry, a drive is now underway to encourage the use of standard bagging and ties, which protect the bale and make for better grade and storage.

According to industry sources, an increasing amount of bagging weighing less than 32 ounces per yard has been sold and used in th cotton belt. Actual checks indicate bagging weighing 9 and 10 pounds instead of the standard 12 pounds has been used extensively in some areas.

He cited as an example the farmer who takes a four bale trailer of seed cotton to the gin He gets a total of 1,916 pounds of lint, or 479 pounds in each bale.

If each bale is wrapped in standard weight jute bagging (12 pounds) and ties (10 pounds), the gross weight of each bale will be 500 pounds, or a total of 2,000 pounds. Since this is a basic trade rule agreement, the price received by the farmer will reflect this 84 pounds of "tare" or wrapping allowance.

However, if 9 pound bagging is used, each bale will weigh 497 pounds. On 35 cent cotton, the farmer will lose $1.05 a bale or $4.20 on his trailer load. Light weight bagging also contributes appreciably to poor packaging, claims, and increased handling costs.

Governor Wallace Receives Letter From Cuban Pilot

Gov. George C. Wallace has received a letter from Capt. Eduardo J. Whitehouse, a Cuban pilot who was flying with the four American fliers from Alabama who were killed in the invasion of Cuba in 1961.

Capt. Whitehouse took part in the action on the morning of April 19 and was in radio contact with Riley Shamburger, one of the Alabama men who was killed, and quotes conversation which they had.

The Capt.'s letter to Governor Wallace:

Hon. George Wallace
Gov. of Alabama
Birmingham, Alabama
Dear Mr. Wollace:

I was very pleased to read in today's Miami Herald about the laudatory resolutions in behalf of the widows of the four American flier's who died in the Cuban invasion.

I am one of the Cuban pilots who took part in that action and during the morning of April 19, 1961 at exactly 7:01 was flying a transport plane dropping ammunition and supplies over Playa Giron. During that time I was on radio contact with the Americans who were fighting with B-26's. Riley Shamburger told me about the "heavy anti-aircraft fire" encountered and said "it is worse than Korea," suggesting that I turn back. Few minutes later he was cut off and I realized that he had been shot down.

Ray ,Baker, Gray, and Shamburger, volunteered in view that fe, in four days of fighting had already lost half of our Air Force. They were never ordered to fly that mission and for that reason their sacrifice is consedered by us as one of the most great gestures any man can perform.

I don't believe it is time to judge those responsible for the direction of that armed action. But, they are too blame for jeopardizing the prestige and honor of this great country. I can only say that FOUR AMERICAN PILOTS saved the honor ot fhe United States and will forever have the love and admiration of all the Democratic Cubans.

I respectfully request from you, to express to their widows and family the deepest gratitude of a fellow pilot, who was priviledged to fight beside them and listen to their words.

Your very respectfully,
SCapt. Eduardo J.
Whitehouse.

Advantages Of Cotton Defoliation Listed

County Agent Sellers states that farmers will soon have to make a decision as to whether or not to defoliate their cotton this year. In general, defoliation pays when yields are high and plants are tall, leafy, and succulent. The economics of defoliation is questionable under conditions where there is a lot of natural leaf-drop, and remaining leaves are tough and low in moisture content.

Advantages of Defoliation

1. Machine harvesting is, for the most part, more efficient in well defoliated fields. Plants are free of leaves that may clog the spindles. Good defoliation also, to some extent, eliminates a source of green stain and reduces dry leaf trash, often resulting in better grades.

2. In defoliated cotton, the increased sunlight plus greater freedom of air movements tends to cause more rapid opening of mature bolls and permit earlier harvest.

3. Defoliation aids in the reduction of boll dot.

4. Improved visibility in defoliated fields aids in more efficient use of mechanical harvester.

5. Defoliated cotton can dry out to a safe moisture level faster and allow pickers to get into fields earlier.

Use This Guide to Determine Your Need For Defoliating

1. Condition of plant: Top bolls that are expected to mature should be 30 to 35 days old at the time of application. At this stage bolls should be hard to slice with a knife, and the lint strings out. Results have been good when defoliants were used at the time about 60% of the bolls were open.

2. Timing for most efficient harvesting: It is best to defoliate at one time, only as much cotton as can be harvested by a picker in about a week. Otherwise, a second growth may start before the cotton is picked; and this is difficult to remove.

3.Weather conditions: Moderately high temperatures (85 degree F. to 90 degree F.) seem to give best defoliation results. Extremely high temperatures may cause leaves to die too rapidly and freeze the plants. Cool weather slows up defoliation; and where night temperatures are constantly below 55 degree F. poor results can be expected.

Dust defoliants should be applied when the air is still (usually in early morning or late afternoon) and when dew is present or expected. Dew is necessary to dissolve the defoliant.

Spray defoliants work best when no dew is on the plants. They seem to be more effective also when humidity is moderately high.

4. Boll rot: If rainy weather prevails after bottom bolls are mature on rank, succulent plants defoliation will usually reduce boll rot. It may sometimes be more profitable to lose some bolls because of immaturity than to lose mature bolls on the bottom due to boll rot. This is a decision that will have to be made based on the condition that exist.

Some research workers report that bottom defoliation shows promise of reducing boll rot while at the same time leaving enough leaves to mature top bolls. However, in work at the Tennessee Valley Substation, this practice reduced yields.

Recommended spray defoliants contain sodium or magnesium chlorate or organic phospate defoliants such as DEF, Folex, Telphos, Fos-Fall "A", and Deleaf Defoliant.

NEWS OF—
Poplar Springs

We're glad to report most everyone in good health, with a few exceptions. We are sorry to report the illnehs of Mrs. Anna McDowell. Most everyone is able to attend the pre-revival Cottage Prayer meetings this week.

Monday night we met at the home of Bro. and Sister W. C. Moore, we had a good crowd and a wonderful meeting as we always do when we meet there.

We met at the home of Mrs. Pearl Parrish on Tuesday night. Wednesday night at the church and Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Lena Minor and Friday night with Miss Ora Devaughn on Airport Road.

Our revival begins Sunday with Bro. J. R. Robinson as the Evangelist. Pastor Bro. J. T. Meank. Services 10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Bro. Lee Grant will be leading the singing.

WARD FAMILY GET-TOGETHER

Mrs. Allen Ward's visitors the past Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williams of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Calloway and five childres of Arab, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Childress and two children of Huntsville. Others from here who joined them were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Perkle.

Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews and two boys from Birmingham were also present. He is a grandson of Mrs. Ward.

NEWS OF—
REFUGE

The revival got off to a good start Sunday morning and Bro. Carroll is really doing some forceful preaching. We are having good attendance with visitors in most every service. The children are really enjoying the singing in the early part of the services which is especially featured for their interest. Little Dasny Mims and Wade Cleckler sung a duet Monday night, "In The Garden."

We have had several re-dedications, and our people seems to be very concerned. However, there are lots of things to call the attention of our people away from the better things of life, and it surely is high time that we put the best, and all that we have into serving the Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

The revival services are fast coming to a close and may we urge our own people to make the very best of our opportunities in order that we may see things happen that we have been paying for a long time. There is no greater potential force in anything than the unitel prayers of God's children. Queen Elizabeth said: "I fear the prayers of John Knox more than the armies of ten thousand men."

Our invitation goes out to one and all (who is not having services at their own church), to be with us in our revival. The services will continue through Friday night. Then, of course, we will be looking for you and all the family Sunday morning and Sunday night.

There were fifty people in the services Wednesday night of last week who read a portion of nearly 20 chapters in the book of Acts in preparation for our revival. There are 28 chapters in tre book, and 28 families chose a chapter each to read during the week. Some two thirds were present Wednesday night before the revival. Hope to see you soon.

FROM LUXURY TO NECESSITY . . . that's the kind of progress your telephone has made. Back in the late 1800's when telephones were first coming into use, a phone call anywhere at all was a big event! Today, phone calls are as much a part of life as going to work in the morning, or sending the children off to school. A telephone call is no longer a major project! It's simply an easy, pleasant, low-cost way to get things done, keep friendships warm, stay in touch with the world. Use your telephone . . . for all it's worth.

Tragedy Comes Close As "Old 98" Derails

THE Pan American passenger train from New Orleans Louisiana, to Cincinnatti, Ohio; L&N's Old No. 98 was derailed north of Clanton in Lomax, Alabama early Sunday morning around 7:00 O'clock.

It is non-stop from Montgomery to Birmingham and time of arrival at Clanton is 6:35 a.m.

Cause of the accident was said to be a broken "frog" on a switch at the crossing in Lomax.

The second car from Engine No. 795 was thrown completely from the tracks on the west side. The trucks (wheels) were completely ripped away, and observers said that the car turned end over end before it came to rest after plowing up several hundred feet of earth.

The third car from the engine was derailed by the trucks from the first car and it went off on the east side of the tracks toward highway 31. It did not turn over.

Ambulances were dispatched from Clanton; but miraculously the only casualties from the accident were two field mice alongside the tracks. The huge mail cars cleaned both sides of the tracks pretty well. The mice were within 100 feet of each other.

The crossties were chewed up for several feet along the tracks and spikes were torn almost out of the rails for a distance of some 30 or 40 feet. There were six passenger cars (counting diner and pullman) on the train and five mail cars.

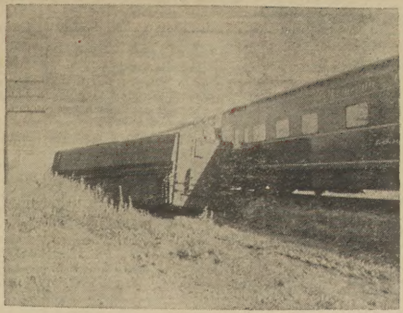
The only passenger involved directly was a mail clerk on one of the derailed cars. He was shaken, but apparently unhurt.

Literally every car on the train was damaged in some wav, but none of the passenger cars left the tracks. The truck which ran wild, apparently did considerable damage to the underside of the passenger cars; mostly in the area where the steps are let down to admit and unload passengers and baggage.

The car which turned over, came to rest almost directly under a maze of low-hanging power lines; but apparently did not touch them at all.

Broken spikes, bolts and large pieces of metal were strewn all along the tracks.

Part of the train was brought back to Clanton until the tracks could be repaired, and the passengers were taken on north to their respective destinations.



The crash must not have bothered the passengers too much. A man whose destination was Louisville said, "I thought we had hit a car!" Those on the train did not seem to be too excited; but none of them were sleeping after the accident.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

REGARDLESS of how unpopular it may be; we think it would be a sensible safety measure to require automobile drivers to take some kind of test, or submit to some kind of inspection every five years. There are too many persons on our highways and streets (of all ages) who are literally unfit to be "guiding a missile".

WHEN the rains come, 7th street, between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, becomes a "lob-lolly" and the water comes dangerously near to getting into stores and automobiles. When the City starts the improvement program which they have outlined; we hope they spend some of it on increasing the size of the drains, or buy a big mop. . . one or the other!

HOPE Bill Burnett gets as much good use out of our ball point pen as we did. What he doesn't know is, that when that pen realizes that a strange hand is upon it, it automatically unloads its supply of ink right in their hand! And by the way, Bill: it simply refuses to sign checks, bank notes and I.O.U.'S!

NEXT Friday, the Bloodmobile will take up a position at First Methodist Church in Clanton, for the purpose of collecting blood from those willing to give it. From 12 noon until 6:00 p.m. on Friday, the 23rd, Charley Corpuscle will be taking all he can get. You are invited to participate in this person-to-person life-saving effort. Free orange juice to etveryone!

TROOPER Huey Metts is the new State Trooper in Chilton County replacing officer William J. "Billy" Lawrence, who has resigned from the force. Young Trooper Metts has been with the State for only a short time. He is from Lee County; and if our information is reliable (no offense Herb), he is married and the father of two sons. We haven't had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Metts yet, but we look forward to it. Welcome to Chilton County, folks!

"PIG" Headley misunderstood us! He said to reserve him a spot in the "$25" column this week; but it's "$40" Lewis. You musta been thinking about some cheap, two-bit outfit!

SAW two old friends this week. Wallace Neeley, who is a Naval Lieutenant is home for a few days on his way from an assignmnt at Jacksonville, Florida to Washington, D.C. He's fat and sassy; a father one time with another on the way; and seems as happy as if he had good sense. Good to see him home. Also in to see us Tuesday was Bill Boyd, a former employee of the News, now stationed in Phoenix, Arizona. He likes the Air Force fine but says after about 22 more months he will probably be a civilian again. We shoulda warned him, but we didn't!

SOMEONE has written us to ask what we meant when we said: "Anything you enjoy reading - we enjoy publishing. . . well, up to a point, anvway!", The answer to that it: We cannot publish everything you enjoy reading, even though we would like to. Many times the length of an article confines our ability to publish it. We do have limitations; but we try to make up for that by giving you an inteersting paper. We know about the "road" that's paved with good intentions, and even though we try to steer clear of it; we still try to have good intentions. We appreciate your interest, your patience, and your subscription!

Governor Wallace Declares War On Deserting FathersIn Alabama

"All-out war" is being declared today against fathers who are deserting their families and leaving the children dependent on the Department of Pensions and Security Governor George Wallace declared emphatically today.

"I am sick and tired of irresponsible fathers who absent themselves from their families and then do not contribute one penny toward their support," the Governor said.

"Pensions and Security records show that fathers in 62 percent of the aid to dependent children families are absent - that is, divorced or separated, deserting, not married to the mothers or in jail. Fewer than eight percent of the absent ADC fathers are helping support their families."

"I am going to ask the Legislature to put on special order the measures now pending (H 1012 and S 375) which would make it a felony instead of a misdemeanor to fail to comply with a court order of support and would include a maximum penalty of three years in jail and a fine of $500. Already 76 House members and 25 Senators have signed the proposed bill and given their full support."

Further steps in the new war against deserting parents include three agreements completed by the Department of Pensions and Security and other State agencies. An agreement with the Department of Revenue will make it possible to locate fathers through automobile tag receipts. An arrangement with the Department of Industrial Relations to clear unemployment compensation records for the Department of Pensions and Security has also been effected. A third agreement with the Department of Public Safety will utilize drivers licenses to locate deserting parents. This should mean, according to the Governor, that those ADC fathers now numbering nearly 8,000 whose whereabouts are unknown as well as the more than 6,000 other absent fathers, will be more easily located and charged with non-support.

"We are going to place the responsibility where it belongs. We are going to save the State money, and we are going to provide more edequately for our other people."

NEWS OF— REFUGE

The revival which we have just had, or rather still having, is one of, if not the best in the life of the church which goes back 44 years. The children had the time of their life singing the revival chourses. There were at times narly 40 children singing.

It was a wonderful week of cooperation and fellowship together. Bro. Carroll brought some soul stirring, inspiring and informative messages which captued the interest of both young and old. Souls were saved and re-dedications were very evident throughout the series of services. Seven members joined, nearly all for baptism, through Friday night, and four more came during the regular service Sunday Morning. We are looking for more in the near future, There is no such thing as a revival like we are having here, ever coming to a close.

We will baptize here in the church baptistry this coming Sunday night, August 25th. If you have no plans to be in services elsewhere, why not come out and be with us. If you live in this vicinity and do not have a church home, we would like to extend to you a most cordial welcome to bring the family and worship with us and make this your church home.

Our biulding fund continues to grow and we plan to get started some times in the near future for a complete renovation of the auditorium both inside and out. If you live away and have an interest here and would like to have some part in the work mentiond above, you can mail your gift to our church treasurer, Mr. Lloyd Mims, Clanton, Route 1, or if you so desire, send it to the pastor, Rev. M. Lockhart, 101 Norfield, Clanton, Ala., proper credit and recognition will be given to any amount by any one.

We regret to give up the fine Edgeworth family who just recently moved back to their native Walker County. We learned to love and appreciate them very much.

The pastor, Bro. Lockhart will celebrate his 40th year in the ministry here next Sunday. He knows many have gone on since then, but he would especially like to see you in the services if you were present when he brought his first message on the last Sunday in August 1923.

Why Suicide?--

IT may not be good sense to listen to the likes of Premier Krushchev; but when he said that the Communists would not have to fire a shot to take over the United States, we listened with interest because we did not believe a fraction of it.

We still refuse to believe it as a reality; but the idea, when put alongside the trials and tribulations we are having in the U.S. today, makes sense!

A quiz; answered incidentally by students and teachers at a worksrop; recently indicated that in some 10 to 12 questions at least 104 persons "did not know" any answer to the questions; and at least 90 others "declined to answer"!

To this editor, this is indicative that we are becoming more and more confused about what we really do believe. What is right? What is wrong? What is good? What is bad?

It is high time we formed our opinions with more care; and stick to our guns when we are challenged! If we do not do something about our "wishy-washy" attitude about national and international affairs, the Communists will literally have little more to do than "bury us"!

If the Communists can kill our spirit and take over our nation; we obviously deserve it! But, must we commit suicide?

Savings Bonds--

CHILTON County is behind in it's annual quota of Savings Bonds to date. Of the six counties in District 10, however, Chilton is second only to Talladega County in the size of its goal for 1963; and percentage-wise, Chilton is ahead of Talladega. Chilton's goal for 1963 is $285,000. July sales were $19,282 and sales to date for the year are $140,709 which is 49.4% of the goal.

Coosa County, whose goal was $15,000 has already gone 149.7% of their goal. Other counties in the 10th District are: Clay, Randolph and Shelby Counties.

Chilton's Savings Bond Chairman is C. O. Jones.

Local Industry--

MANY times we overlook "industry" in our community, when it has been there all along, and it makes no great impression upon us. We learned this week, for example; that Southern Bell employs 41 in Chilton County. That, in itself, is a pretty good payroll.

In 1945 Southern Bell had 572 telephones in Clanton. Today there are more than 4100. That's progress! And the Company's record of service -- regardless of what you hear daily to the contrary -- has been outstanding, and improves with each new step.

Our Critics--

IF everyone criticized only those things which he knew something about; we would have very few critics!

Any institution or business whose primary concern and aim is public service, very often comes in for criticism from the very people which it serves mainly because those people do not know anything about it.

It is human nature to criticize; but, apparently it is not human nature to investigate.

If the political figure who represents you does not do exactly what you think he aught to how often do you try to understand why he did as he did?

If the City Park; or the public schools; or the County government is not run exactly the way you think it should be run; how many times do you give those responsible the benefit of the doubt?

When your newspaper does not print exactly what you think it should; how frequently do you question "why" they did not print it; and how frequently do you brand them "do nothings" and "unfair"?

A broad-minded view begats understanding; and the greater part of the time, the very people you are chastizing and complaining about, are the ones who have your best interest at heart.

It is extremely easy to criticize. It is far easier to condemn than to condone. Many times we are unreasonable in our impatience; and we usually wind up tearing down the thing that was built for our own protection, and representation.

American Legion Proclaims Stand For Prayer In Alabama Schools

The American Legion in Alabama stands with Governor George C. Wallace; Austin R. Meadows, State Superintendent of Education and the State Board of Education. At a meeting of the American Legion State Executive Committee held at State Headquarters in Montgomery on Saturday, August 10 the following Resolution was unanimously adopted and in adopting the Resolution the American Legion placed its full support in behalf of the movement as outlined in the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, members of The American Legion have, since its inception, urged upon all Americans a proper respect for the God of our Fathers, to the extend that the very first words of the preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion are, "For God and Country, we associate ourselves together", and

WHEREAS, members of The American Legion have so recognized their dependence upon the mercy and goodness and love of God that they have sponsored a "Back to God" program begun each by a nation wide television production introduced by leading citizens in business and government, to bring the Nation back to those eternal verities which have made us great, and

WHEREAS, the Alabama Department of The American Legion takes cognizance of the resolution introduced by Governor George C. Wallace, recommended by State Superintendent of Education Austin R. Meadows, and unanimously adopted by the State Board of Education, to strengthen the religious beliefs of our children by making the daily reading of the Bible a mandatory part of the regular curriculum of every public school in the great State of Alabama, thereby better insuring that the principles upon which this Nation was founded, may be preserved unchanged for all posterity, now

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Exective Committee of The American Legion of Alabama, assembled in Montgomery, Alabama, this 10th Day of August, 1963, express our appreciation to Governor George C. Wallace, Superintendent Austin R. Meadows and the entire Board of Education for this worthy and courageous stand for right, and pledge to them the full and whole hearted support of The American Legion in carrying out this eminently worth-while program

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

Slow starts are not unusual for a new Congress, but the first session of the 88th Congress has been unusually slow. In fact, there is a possibility that this session will adjourn later than any since the first year of the Korean War.

Although July 31st is the legal date set for Congressional adjournment, only once has Congress adjourned by this date since I have been a member. The tremendous backlog of legislation being pushed by the present Administration and an expected milibuster on civil rights has led many Congressmen to predict that they will be in Washington this year as late as Thanksgiving or even Christmas.

Low Batting Average

At mid-August, Congressional approval of President Kennedy's legislative requests is at an all-time low of slightly less than five per cent, while the number of requests is at an all time high of 403. Congress has approved only four major Administration bills--a feed grains program an extension of the debt ceiling, a draft extension, and an extension of corporate and excise taxes.

Approximately nine per cent of the Administration's bills has passed one chamber, five per cent has been reported favorably from committee but lack floor action, 38 per cent has undergone committee hearings but has not been reported, and another 38 per cent has received no consideration to date.

Several reasons are being given for the CCongressional lag, including the contention that the President is not pressing for passage of some of his programs for fear of jeopardizing his priority bills--tax cuts and reforms and civil rights legislation. Also, this year Congress again is faced with a formidable list of complex, controversial issues--medical care for the aged, tax cuts, nuclear test ban treaty ratification, Domestic Peace Corps, aid to education, unemployment reforms, and many others,

During the past week, however, legislative activity on Capitol Hill has gained momentum. Last Monday, the House passed an omnibus bill to strengthen the law enforcement and criminal procedures in the District of Columbia.

On Wednesday President Kennedy won a major legislative victory when the Senate approved by a slim margin a bill to create a National Service Corps, or Domestic Peace Corps. Also on Wednesday, the House overwhelmingly passed an Administration backed bill authorizing a five year "brick and mortar" assistasce program to public and non-profit colleges and universities.

This week, the controversial Foreign Aid authorization bill is scheduled for consideration.

But, despite this sudden spurt of Congressional activity, many additional weeks will be required if Congress considers even the most essential legislation. This, coupler with the possibility of a mammoth Senate fliibuster on the Administration almost certain.

We were happy to have an attendance of 200 for Sunday School last Sunday. I would like to urge every member of our Sunday School to do their part in keeping our attendance up to the 200 mark at least.

Bro. White's message for the worship hour was, "The Glory of the Big Book." He used as his text for this message Psalms 119:97-104.

It was with much sadness that we had to bid farewell to Bro. and Sister White Sunday night. The past six years have been the most wonderful years that our church has ever known. Our lives have been enriched so much through their ministry. Pray for them as they enter their new work. Bro. White's subject for his farewell message to us was, "I Shall Never Forget," Acts 20:16-38.

Our new pastor, Rev. Harold C. White and his family from Florida City, Florida, will be moving to Clanton on Friday of this week. Let's work hard and have a good attendance for his first Sunday.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

MONDAY morning, bright and early, a fellow came into a local business establishment, told the merchant how nice the place looked (especially the floor,) and then he proceeded to absent-mindedly spit all over the place. As a rule Monday mornings are bad enough without having to contend with this sort of thing! One of the many hazards of our profession as a newspaper editor, is dodging "spitters" on the street corner. Spitting is a bad enough habit, at best; but some of these "dippers" and "chewers" don't seem to care where they spit or who they spit upon! Where's your manners, fellows? (Probably same place our English is!)

WE know a fellow by the name of Comer who does a lot of bowling. In fact, this summer, he bowled on the Chilton County News team. He does handstands on the side. . . not too long ago he celebrated his 59th birthday by cartwheeling from one side of Fiesta Bowling Lanes to the other, and back again. He says: "I enjoy bowling but I do a lot of fishing, and this summer my bowling's been interfering with my fishing!"

It is our considered opinion that the Board of Education made an error in judgement when they dropped one of the "Coaching Suppiments" at CCHS this year. It is true that no other school in the County has but one supplement ($550) per year; but the timing of the decision left something to be desired, in our opinion. The Board reached the decision Saturday morning, August 24. School begins Friday, August 30. It seems that it would have been much more practical, for everyone concerned, if the Board had agreed to do this next year rather than this year. Or, they should have notified the coaches of their intentions quite a bit earlier, so that the men could have made plans accordingly, even though their plans may very well have been just as they are at present.

We realize full well the tremendous financial obligations of the Board of Education; but, this turned into a moral obligation which they should have met. We do not question the fact that they do not question that they had to cut expenses in this category, but measures should have been taken, to the satisfaction of all concerned, at a much earlier date; or their decision should have taken effect in September of 1964.

EVERYBODY'S lost but Tom and Hollis! Last Sunday, Tommy Tiffin and Hollis Jones decided to do some exploring up Walnut Creek from the Lay Dam Road, west. If you know the area, you know that it is about as wild and "thick" as any in Chilton County. And the reptiles number quite a few. Anyway, Tom and Hollis didn't show up at the appointed place, at the appointed time, and folks began to worry. Pretty soon, the Rescue Squad was called out. Dark descended upon the two before they had figured, and after wading the creek and seeing a few of the "king-sized" snakes in that area, they climbed out onto the bank, built themselves a fire and were cooking fish which they had caught when they were found.

We don't think they objected strongly to being "found", but as it turned out, everyone was "lost" except Tommy and Hollis.. they were doing just fine!

THE Hon. Jimmy Bell, Sr., was notified by the Governor's office Wednesday of this week that he is a "Lieut. Colonel (Aide de Camp) on the Personal Military Staff of Governor George C. Wallace". And he has a certificate to prove it! Talk about "90 day wonders", man, a Lieut. Colonel already. Congratulations to Mr. Bell; if anyone deserves the honor, he does!

Rescue Squad Cancels Meet

DUE to the fact that Labor Day falls on next Monday, September 2nd, the Chilton County Civil Defense Rescue Squad will not hold its regular meeting on that date.

Teachers To Get Salary Increase

15 Percent Over Last Year Is Scheduled

IN an interview Tuesday of this week with County Superintendent of Education, Gordon Conway, the News learned that the teachers in Chilton County's school system will get what amounts to approximately a 15% raise in salary over last year.

Football's Here

INSIDE this issue of the News you will find the 1963 football schedules of Clanton, Verbena, Maplesville, Jemison, Billingsley, Isabella, and Marbury. Thank the merchants next time you see them for their interest in our County schools and sports program.

The salary increase is computed on a "Step and Rank" basis (see accompanying chart) which means that those teachers with the greatest amount of college training and years of experience will receive the greater pay increase.

Your editor also learned that out of the 50 school teachers in Chilton County who have a Master's Degree, 42 of them have 10 years or more of practical experience. This category, for example, will receive $670 more this year than they received last year.

In the accompanying chart the "Rank I" column are teachers with a Master's Degree; "Rank II" are teachers with a BS or BA Degree (four year's); Rank III is three years; Rank IV is two years; and Rank V is one year of college training. Most of Chilton's teachers fall into the Rank I and II categories.

Also, on the chart, the first row of figures across represents the total salary a teacher will receive this year; the second row of figures represents last year's salary; and the third row in each "Rank" represents the pay increase.

Board Changes Coaching Supplement

In a meeting of the Board of Education last Saturday, it was voted for the Board to pay only one Coaching (sports) Supplement per year, per school, amounting to $550. Chilton County High School is the only school in the County with two coaches. They are Don Finlayson and Ray Scruggs. According to Conway, they have agreed to divide equally the Coaching Supplement paid by the Board of Education.

Ironically, both men fall into the category which entitles them to a $550 salary increase this year, over and above the coaching Supplement.

As for the increase of the State One Cent Sales Tax; the County Board of Education has not received any word whatsoever from the State as to how much the increased allocation will be, or when they will start receiving it.

Teachers will sign their new contracts, with the salary increase included Friday, August 30th, the first day of the new school year.

A Nation Of What?--

THE greatest thing a man can ever learn is Tolerance! And isn't it a bit disarming to note the way man is becoming more and more intolerant of other men?

Just the opposite of Tolerance, is selfishness! Why are people becoming more selfish and less tolerant?

Isn't it because of plenty? The more we have the more we expect; and soon we have come to the point where we can give nothing to others, because we fear we will not get anything in return.

Have we become, or are we becoming a nation of self-centered hypocrits; unable to condone the mistakes of others and unwilling to sacrifice our own comfort and well-being for a friend?

The only way you can tell about the nation. . . is to judge yourself!

The Way Money Talks--

LAST week a fellow came into our office and said: "My subscription will be out in a little while, and I want you to stop sending it!" We naturally inquired as to "how come", and he said, "Well, I've been a subscriber for about 12 years now, and last week. . ." It turned out we had charged about 20c more than he thought he aught to pay for a classified ad. We charged him our advertised rate, which is published on the Classified Page each week. We didn't "overcharge" him; he just found he could get it cheaper somewhere else. It's disheartening to lose a subscriber over something like that; but we do hope he got his money's worth "somewhere else"!

Fate Doesn't Drive--

MOTOR vehicle deaths over Labor Day last year were the highest in fifteen years. The three day casualties totaled 501, averaging 167 per day!

The Alabama Motor Club, Inc., reasons that relief from the daily business world seems to release a carefree feeling that results in carelessness behind the wheel. The highway patrol and local authorities will be laboring overtime to keep you safe during the holidays, but more is required than official enforcement of existing laws. Even with all their efforts extended last year, the law officers were unable to save the 501!

Those motorists, as you, faced a Labor Day weekend confident they would return to work on Tuesday. They, as you, believed accident statistics happen to someone else.

Don't delude yourself that accidents just happen, or can't be controlled, urges the Alabama Motor Club, Inc. The control is in the hands that control the wheel. Don't be a fatalist. Fate doesn't drive the car--you do. Fate doesn't cause the accidents--you do.

Whatever your plans for Labor Day plan to live--and plan to drive so that you will!

The Fruits Of Trees--

HOW far should we carry retribution? If we are wronged by someone, such as the now famous court case over in Atlanta, Georgia, is it right to condemn the one who has wronged us, and to exact punishment through vengeance?

Is a law suit ever right, in the eyes of God?

In the sixth chapter of Luke, the Bible says: ". . . and him that taketh away thy cloak forbid not to take thy coat also. Give to every man that asketh of thee; and of him that taketh away thy goods ask them not again."

It seems to us; that one of the greatest maladies of our times (and we mean right here at home) is seeking vengeance upon those whom we feel have wronged us; and persecution of those who have done us no wrong.

We, in our time, are quick to anger, slow to understand, and usually in too much of a hurry to stop and think about the 31st verse of the sixth chapter of Luke (look it up)!

If we profess to believe in the teachings of Christ and the Holy Bible, then we must certainly do our best to follow ALL the teachings of Christ.

Which of Christ's teachings do you take to heart, and strive to practice; and which do you discard as useless and unnecessary?

What kind of a tree are you?

Welcome To Clanton--

THIS week, on front page, you will meet Rev. and Mrs. Harold C. White and family, who have taken the place of Rev. and Mrs. Nelson White at the Temple Assembly of God.

"Taken the place of" is rather a harsh term; but that is the accepted expression when one steps out and another steps in.

Some six years in Clanton brought many new friendships to Rev. and Mrs. Nelson White and we regretted seeing them go. Time marches on, however, and it has been proven successfully that "time" is subject to change. We have met the Rev. Harold White, and we believe he will be a decided asset to this community. We are happy to have them and offer them the hand of friendship and cooperation as of this date. We hope that their lives with use will be happy, long and mutually beneficial to all.

Welcome to Clanton, folks!

Rumblings And Grumblings--

MANY persons are disturbed about one thing or another with regards to the Board of Education in Chilton County. Nobody seems to know for certain about anything. However, the largest area of complaint once again lies with the age-old problem of: "Where is the money. . . why don't we have enough. . . what are we doing with what we have?" And so forth.

The reason for continuous controversy within any educational system, seems to us to be because literally every one of us is closely connected with that educational system--in one way or another.

People naturally question what they do not understand; and if they cannot find an answer, they will pick up the first word that comes along, regardless of whether or not it is based upon fact. And then we have the situation of the "burden of blame", which is inevitable whether there are grounds for such or not. Somebody; preferably some individual, MUST be responsible for it all! The main reason for that seems to be that it is easier to criticize one person than it is a bunch of folks!

We have always contended, and still do, that the only way to improve our educational system is through the cooperation of the body designed to handle the administration of that system-- the Board of Education--and the patrons of the schools. Without this cooperation, it seems to us that we are only making bad matters worse when we criticize one another.

With as many "maybe's and "estimates" as the County Board of Education has to deal with from the State level, it is amazing to us that they do not throw up their hands in disguest. Because, the local board is made up of the individuals who will bear the brunt of the criticism down at the grassroots.

The State says: "We estimate that the money coming to any given county is so much". Then, if that estimate does not materialize, the county board must bear the obligation, the best way that it can. That is one of the reason's Chilton County is in debt today, with regard to its educational system; we literally do not know where our next school money will come from; we do not know for a fact how much it will be; and most of all, we do not know when we will get it!

If this is true; and we believe that it must be; then the criticism of the local County Board is unjustified. . . it should be aimed at the State level and the politicians who run the State government, and who allocate the funds for the educational system.

"If the shoe fits, wear it", is a saying with merit; but, be sure you are trying to fit the right party with the shoe, before you cram it on his foot, and insist that he wear it. . . whether it hurts his toes or not!

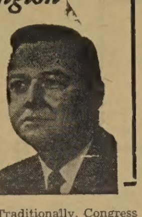
Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN



This week some thousands of so called civil rights marchers are to converge on Washington for a mass demonstration.

To assemble thousands of Negroes--abetted by bands of sympathetic movie stars, entertainers, and labor union officials--to demonstrate over as emotional an issue as iivil rights is lighting the fust of racial disorders.

Despite the numerous precautions and detailed preparations to prevent any outbreaks of violence in the march, tre August 28th demonstration leaders seem to have overlooked two major historical facts in holding this mass march. First, history emphasizes that mass marches usually have a negative affect on Congress. Traditionally, Congress has never been bulldozed--even by the most peaceful of demonstrations--into immdiate passage of bills sought by the demonstratirs. The first mas smarch on Washington by Jacob Coxey and his ragged "army" of paper-money advocates ended not in the enactment of fiat money, as Coxey hoped, but in a near riot and arrest for many of the marchers.

March Backfires

The "Bonus Marchers" of 1932 and again in 1933 streamed into to pressure Congress into passing a bill to make the payment of veterans' bonus effective immediately. Their purpose backfired, however, and Congress did not pass the bonus bill until much later. Even the 1923 march of the suffragettes caused more laghing than serious Congressional consideration of their cause. Women did not get the vote until seven years after the suffragettes' march.

Even the strongest advocates of civil rights have expressed doubts over the August 28th march. President Kennedy and former President Truman have said the march wil lhave no effect on the civil rghts package now pending before the Congress. Attorney General Robert Kenndy said the announcement of the march was "premature." and that the civil rights legislation should not be "discussed under an aura if pressure."

The second major historical fact that the march formulators have over looked is that all marches, no matter how orderly they may be, have resulted in some type of trouble. Some produced only small disorders, others violence.

Troops Called In

The 1894 Coxey march produced a near riot. In 1932, the first Bonue Army of about 20,000 unemployed veterans pitched camp in the nation's capital. Violence soon broke out, and two marchers were killeed and many injured. President Hoover ordered the Army to use tanks and cavalry to clean the marchers out of Washington. Since the Administration has warned that the march will not help their cause and since the demonstration is an effort to pressure Congress into enacting legislation that has not even been reported out of committee, those who have ordered the march also may find the yhave not helped their cause.

Foreign Aid Slashed

In the worst upset for the Kennedy Administration, the House Friday chopped $585 million from the foreign aid authorization bill.

The House aid slash triggered the strongest reaction to date from President Kennedy on an action of Congress. He scolded the House, calling the cut "short sighted, irresponsible and dangerously partisan."

After a last ditch effort Friday to force reductions, the House passed the amended bill setting a ceiling on foreign aid at $3.5 billion--$1 bililon less than the revised Presidential request. In January, President Kennedy asked for $4.9 billion but amended his request to $5. billiin after the Clay Committee urged a cut in foreign aid. The House Foreign Affairs Committee of which I am a member, trimmed another $435 million from the bill prior to the additional cut of $585 million made on the floor of the House.

YOUR HEALTH

COLOR-BLIND CHILD

The child wasn't backward or retarded, but color-blind. There are vairous types of deficiency in the ability to distinguish between colors. such a deficiency may vary in degree. Parents are often not aware of this condition in their child until he goes to kindergarten where the use of color is an important feature of training.

A child with a moderate or small amount of color blindness is less likely to disclose this fault than is the child with a marked defect. Those slightly affected demonstrate no real problem except when given a specified test.

Unrecognized color blindness in a child can have an effect on his performance and attitude. Personality difficulties in the school child should prompt color vision testing. Studies have shown that pupils referred to psychologists show an excess of behavior problems among the color blindness, it seems reason-compared with other pupils of similar sex, age, school, and grade.

In view of the fact that one boy out of 17 has some degree of color blindness, it seems erasonable that color vision testing should be a routine part of preschool examination.

Gov. John Gill Shorters Warning To Legislature

One hundred years ago today, outgoing Governor John Gill Shorter spoke to the Alabama Legislature, warning them of troubled times yet to come for Alabama.

"The present condition of the State presents a subject of momentous concern," he said, "and all the wisdom, energy and patriotic zeal of the General Assembly are invoked to secure its protection against the horrors and desolation of war, with which it is now most seriously threatened.

"Since the last session much has been accomplished by the construction of fortifications and other defensive works, but much yet remains to be done," he said.

"It has not only been my duty but my earnest desire to cooperate with the Confederate authorities in every purpose and undertaking looking to this end, and whether men or material resources have been called for in aid of the common cause, Alabama has ever cheerfully and promptly responded to the uttermost.

"I trust and believe that her patriotic people will not fail thus to respond, so long as our unnatural foe shall perserve in his unholy crusade for the overthrow and ruin of these Confederate States."

Only a few days after Shorter's speech, Maj. General Dabney H. Maury wrote to General Joseph E. Johnston from Mobile telling him of his anxiety over what he felt to be an insufficient number of men to guard the important government iron works in Selma.

Skirmishes in North Alabama increased the anxiety of the people of the central and southern part of the state. Much of the time the only defense which stood between the concentrated enemy troops north of the Tennessee River and Alabama was "the swamp fox of the Tennessee Valley," Phillip D. Roddey and his cavalry.

Shorter spoke with Streight's raid of May, 1863, in the background but Rousseau's raid of July, 1864, was almost a year away.

William T. Sherman sent Maj-General L. H. Roussea deep into Alabama in the summer of 1864 to cut the one railroad artery between Montgomery, Opelika, and Columbus, Ga., with the iron works at Selma as a secondary target.

NEWS OF—

R E F U G E

Last Sunday was probably one of the greatest days in the whole life of our church. The spirit of the people was wonderful and the attendance for the morning services high.

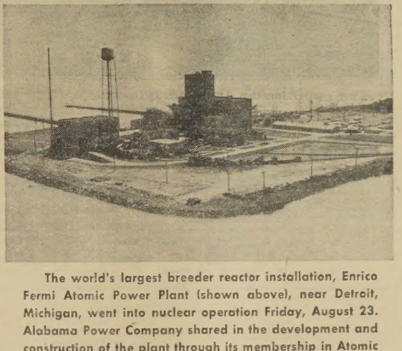
The pastor greatly enjoyed the response of the people relative to his 40th anniversary in the ministry, because it was here that he begun the ministry in the early twenties. He is now serving as pastor for the third time, and is now engaged in his 14th church building program, and the third one at this place. All the active leaders were very small children when he preached his first sermon here on the 26th day of August, 1923.

The pastor expressed his appreciation for the way that the old home church had stood by him through thick and thin and stated that he was now enjoying his pastorate to the fullest and expected more great things to take place at Refuge.

The church presented the pastor with one of the most beautiful electrically equipped pictures of Christ that any one has ever seen. Some one stated that when the picture was turned to the audience that something on the inside seemed to quiver within him. The picture was presented by surprise, by his son, Rev. Stanley Lockhart. A most beautiful card with a very touching sentiment was also handed the pastor.

The house was filled for the evening services and the people were grouped around the piano singing long before time for the services to begin. The lid was laid back from the built in baptistry and ten candidates were "baptized in the likeness of his death, burial, and resurrection." Mr. Jack Easterling was present and made pictures of the entire service with a moving camera. It was a most moving experience when we came to the time of church fellowship on behalf of the new converts.

We hope to see all of the new members at church Sunday, and of course all of the old ones. Children should be carried to church and not sent.



The world's largest breeder reactor installation, Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant (shown above), near Detroit, Michigan, went into nuclear operation Friday, August 23. Alabama Power Company shared in the development and construction of the plant through its membership in Atomic Power Development Associates and Power Reactor Development Company.

Initial operation and nuclear testing of the plant will be carried out at the one-thermal megawatt (1,000 kw) power level authorized earlier by the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). No electricity will be generated at this low power level. After an approximate six-month nuclear testing period, it is expected that the rate of heat energy output will be increased in steps up to the ultimate full-rated power of 65,000 electrical kilowatts (gross).

The Necessity Of a Newspaper

"Statistics have shown over and over again that the growth and prosperity of just about every town or small city is geared directly to the growth of the newspaper.

Without the continuous promotion and boosting given to local chambers of commerce, local business activities, Scouts, Red Cross, 4-H clubs, Merchants, local schools and churches, veterans and service organizations and the many other services provided by the local newspaper, a town will gradually deteriorate and die.

To provide such services to a community, a newspaper must have the wholehearted advertising support of the local merchants."

Marketing Cotton For More Money In 1963

By John D. Sellers

County Agent John D. Sellers announced today that the price support rate for 1963-crop Middling grade, 1 1|32 inch staple length cotton is 33.83 cents per pound. All cotton growers are urged to have their cotton classed by the U.S. Cotton Classing office so they will know the grade and staple of their cotton when they sell or apply for CCC price support.

Mr. Sellers suggests that you carry out good harvesting and ginning practices in order to turn out a grade and staple that will produce the highest dollar value per bale. This will help you get the greatest returns from this year's cotton crop.

"The drop in grade from Middilng to Strict Low Middling white cotton of 1 1|32 inch staple lowers the loan rate 1.70 cents per pound or $8.50 per 500-pound bale. However excessive drying and cleaning may reduce bale value," said Agent Sellers.

Remember, the way cotton is handied from boll to bale may be the difference between profit and loss on the 1963 cotton crop.

Understanding and following these production, harvesting, and marketing practices may help you get a better price for each bale and increase your farm income.

1. Pick cotton promptly after it is fully opened. Pick it dry. Pick it clean. Pick before weather damage in field. This will help turn out the highest grade when the cotton is ginned.
2. Be sure cotton is in good condition when you take it to the gin. Do not pack seed cotton in baskets when picking nor in wagon or truck bed when hauling.
3. Gin at a good gin, run by a good ginner, who will turn out a good sample in each bale.
4. Get each bale classed officially by the U.S. Cotton Classing Service. Plan to hold cotton until you get your green card returned.
5, Your classing card on each bale will help you get highest prices at the time you sell it or apply for CCC loan.
6, Group seed cotton at the gin according to moisture and trash content for efficient and quality ginning.
7. In harvesting and handling seed cotton, aim for Middling grade. The ginner may be able to assist in gin preparation by drying and cleaning, but he can turn out a better sample if a good job is done before bringing the cotton to him. Do not overdry or depend on excessive cleaning in an attempt to raise the grade. This may do more harm than good. Cotton millers report a considerable problem in some cases in handling cotton that has been overdried or excessively cleaned.

Stokes Attends New Car Showing In Chicago

Mr. James H. Stokes of Stokes Chevrolet Co., in Clanton was among approximately 7,000 Chevrolet dealers and dealership executives in Detroit recently to attend the largest convention of its kind ever held in the auto industry. He was accompanied by Mrs Stokes.

While in the Motor City, dealers previewed the spectacular new lines of 1964 Chevrolet cars and trucks to be introduced early this fall.

Citing Chevrolet's all time high rate if sales thus far this year, the two executives told dealers that the division expects to surpass in 1963 its record performance in 1962 when Chevrolet set new industry sales marks.

As a highlight of the convention program, dealers were treated to an advance look at the new car and truck models in a gala stage revue the equal of a Broadway musical comedy production.

A further feature was a display of the new vehicles and other specially designed enginering and auto show exhibits which fileld the mammoth two acre area of Detroit's Cobo Hall exposition center. An evening banquet with General Motors executives followed.

In addition to being the largest and most elaborate of its kind in industry history, the convention marked the first time since 1936 that dealers had been invited to Detroit for such an event by Chevrolet.

YOUR HEALTH

CRIB DEATH

Crib death is a term for the sudden and unexpected death of a baby in bed or crib. For many years it was surmised the baby had been smothered by bedclothes or from lying face down. Many parents whose child had died from what was termed accidental mechanical suffocation suffered the agony of self-blame for years afterward, being unaware that the infant may have died of sudden, severe respiratory infection.

Certainly infants have died from suffocation in crib or bed clothes or smothered by the body of a sleeping adult who usconscously rolled over on the infant. The nuhber infant death certificates recording the cause to be mechanical suffocation numbers over 1,000 each year However, a careful pistmortem examination often gives evidence that the cause of the unexplained sudden crib death was fulminating respiratory infection; and there is considerable doubt that these rapidly rising and severe infctions can be accurately detected prior to death.

In a recent survey of 81 cases of sudden unexpected death is infants under six months of age, only five were cases in which smothering could be demonstrated. Some 40 years ago, about one out of every ten infants born alive in this country died before its first birthday. Today, fewer than one out of every 50 dies during the first year.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Saul of Tarsus was quite a well known, efficient tax collector until one day he was struck by a blinding light and became Paul the Apostle.

* * *

Today over the land many emlyoyers are also seeing a light, and while not able to discontinue the role forced on them of being unpaid tax collectors, are becoming apostles of sanity.

* * *

Recently J. S. Kimel, Sr., president of the Republic Electric Company, a Davenport, a 50 year old Iowa firm paid his employees their full check with no tax deductions, accompanied by a letter which said in part:—

* * *

"I am letting you know this week how much you are really earning by paying you the full amount due you, not deducting the withholding tax or the social security tax. The extra amount given you this week will be deducted and spread over the next three week's checks."

* * *

A. G. Heinsohn, Jr., president of the Cherokee Mills in Sieversville, Tennessee, also recently brought home to his employees who pays for government extravagance.

* * *

He gave them their usual checks minus the deductions, but then handed them bags of silver dollars equalling the amount of the deductions, explaining this would be deducted from next three paychecks.

* * *

For about eighteen months, the Premier Photo Service in Parkersburg, West Virginia, headed by A. K. Summers, has been regularly paying employees their full checks three weeks out of the month, and then taking all deductions out of the fourth paycheck.

* * *

A $125 per week employee, under this system, finds the pay for the fourth week is $22.68. A $70.00 per week employee finds that on the fourth week not only is no pay forthcoming, but that actually $4.75 is owed in additional taxes.

* * *

"Most of our employees," Mr. Summers states, "now realize wild federal spending is coming out of their pockets."

* * *

Shortly after starting this plan, in one of those "Managed news" episodes, newspaper people informed Mr. Summers that the tax people had told them they would take action against him if this continued. But despite headlines, no move has ever been made.

* * *

The Baker Tool Company of Los Angeles, Coors Brewing of Denver, and many others are using variations of these methods to impress on employees who pays for waste.

* * *

So far, under the existing laws, this appears legal, as long as the employer pays government tax amounts due.

* * *

There may be a move to make a ruling that this "crusade of truth" is illegal.

* * *

If so, Congressman Edward J. Gurney of Florida has said he is ready to introduce a bill which will confirm employer right to continue educating employees on who supports governmental extravagances.

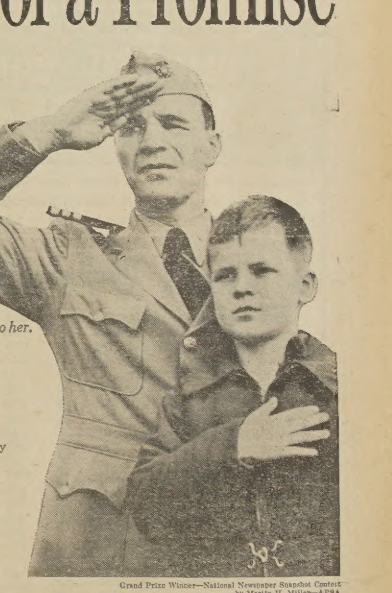
Picture of a Promise



Sure, she's a grand old flag!
That's why we salute her.
That's why we pledge allegiance to her.

That pledge, in its simplest terms, is another way of saying, "Count me in. You're my country and I love you and need you. Your problems are my problems, and I'm with you all the way."

Your country's biggest single problem is the perpetual responsibility for keeping the peace its people want. You can help with this problem by remembering this:

Peace costs money. Money for military and industrial strength. Money for science and education. And money saved by individuals — by you — to help keep the economy strong. Bonds provide this money.

131 In Chilton Received Disability Payments In July

"In spite of Alabama's strict definition of permanent and total disability, the caseload for Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled is execptionally high," Pensions and Security Commissioner Ruben K. King revealed today. The number of recipients per 1,000 population 18 through 64 is nearly double that for the Nation as a dhole. Only seven states have higher recipient rates. For Alabama the figure is 7.6 and far the Nation it is 4.5. Last month $620,633.92 was paid to 13,853 recipients of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled in this State.

In Chilton County in July 131 persons received this aid, totalling $5,349.00 or an average of $40.83.

Even though the recipient rate in Alabama is unusually high, the Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled program is not as liberal as the Department or the public would like it to be. Limited funds throughout the years have prevented the department from expanding the program to any great extent. Commissioner King said, however, that the agency is considering ways in which the program may be liberalized in order to serve more disabled, needy people should more funds become available.

Reiterating his concern for needy people ineligible for aid, King indicated that the category of Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled can never be as broad as a program for for general assistance which would reach most people ineligible for categorical aid but in desperate need of financial assistance.

He pointed out that Alabama does not have a general assistance program, as such, with the result that many people are in need and unable to work at regular jobs, yet they are not totally disabled and cannot qualify for any other type of aid either.

Often coming to the agency's attention are women past 50 but under 65 who have no work history, no marketable skills, and are "in poor health" also. There is no way for them to earn a living, yet there is no assistance program in Alabama to meet their needs.

Miss Joyce Clements, Director added to King's statement, saying that needy middle aged women in this area present real problems. "It is late in life to get your first job, if you could find one, at age 55 or 60. Yet, where are they to turn for help?"

For all persons applying for Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled a physician's statement regarding the disability and essential social information is submitted to a State review team, it was learned. This team, a physician and a social worker in the State Department, determines whether the applicant meets the agency's definition of permanent and total disability.

All facts are given consideration and every effort is being made to interpret the information as liberally as possible.

"Alabama's plan for APTD was the first one in the Nation to be approved for Federal funds after the category was added to the Social Security program in 1950," King said. Since Alabama already provided this type of aid from State-local monies, it had an existing caseload, a factor contributing to the current high recipient rate.

Alabama's APTD payments are next to the bottom among the states, higher only than those in Mississippi.

The Alabama average of $45.69 per month compares with $75.19 for the Nation. In nine states APTD averages exceed $100 per month, whereas only two states besides Mississippi and Alabama pay less than $50.

4-H'ers Find It Pays to Keep Electrical Equipment Tip-Top

Just as electricity revolutionized American industry before the turn of the century, it has within the past two decades revolutionized communication, recreation and housekeeping. Millions enjoy more leisure hours, better health and safety.

Meanwhile young and old have had to learn to use the hundreds of new electrical items. Knowing how to maintain and repair lamps, motors, appliances and power tools—to name a few—is a distinct advantage and money-saver. Families realize that electricity actually is a silent servant, and if properly treated will give dependable service 24 hours every day of the year.

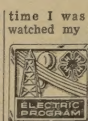
Learn About Electricity

Keeping pace with the growing use of electrical power and equipment are the nation's 4-H Club members. The national 4-H electric program was launched about the same time hundreds of new electrical items reached the market for farm and home use.

Now in its 28th year, the program covers up-to-date projects spelled out in an expanding series of why-and-how-to-do-it guide sheets. Subjects range from basic cord repair to complicated wiring systems and electronic devices.

According to 4-H boys and girls completing electric projects, what they learned and applied resulted in more utility, comfort and enjoyment in the home. Dollar savings or increased values also were reported.

Said a recent national 4-H scholarship winner: "From the time I was a little boy, I watched my father wire light sockets, put in receptacles and repair appliances. I wanted to know what electricity was; why it could only be seen in light bulbs; why it could shock a person, and answers to countless other questions about this mysterious servant."



Electric Medal

Offer $500 Scholarships

Sponsor of the 4-H electric program since its inception is the Westinghouse Educational Foundation. Besides helping to develop the wealth of educational material made available to electric club members and leaders, Westinghouse annually provides funds for county medal awards, trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for 50 state winners and six $500 college scholarships, an increase of $100 each over last year.

Current enrollment in all 50 states is around 160,000, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

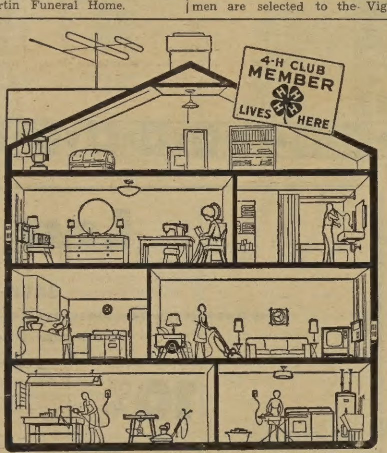
Scouts Honor Patterson; Order Of The Arrow

Charles Patterson, Jr., of Explorer Post 44 in Clanton was recently selected to the Vigil Honor of the Order of the Arrow. The Order of the Arrow is made up of Honor campers and in a Service Organization for Scouts.

There are approximately 300 members of the Organization in the 14 county Tukabatchee Area Council, Boy Scouts of America. Each year four outstanding young men are selected to the Vigil Honor. In order to be selected, a Scout must have been an O-A member at least four years, have been active in his Scout Unit and serve his local church, school and community unselfishly.

Charlie has been a Scout for ten years beginning with Cubs and continually participating even after entering the University of Alabama this summer. An Eagle Scout, he served on the local O-A Election teams, on Camp Tukabatchee staff for four years and has held numerous positions of leadership in his Scout Troop, Explorer Post, Church, and school.

Since less than 10% of all Boy Scouts are Order of the Arrow members and less than 2% of this select group are selected to the Vigil Honor, it is most significant that Charlie is the only Scout from Clanton to be honored for his service.



4-H CLUB MEMBER LIVES HERE

National 4-H Electric program sponsored by Westinghouse Educational Foundation

How many ways is electricity used in this picture?

How many ways is it used in your home? Do you ever wonder what happens when you plug into a wall outlet? Where does the power come from? You usually can't see it unless it is in a light. Why do fuses blow? Why should you NEVER touch an electrical object with wet hands? Scores of 4-H Club members could tell you the answers. They found them while working in the 4-H electric program. Through the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsoring groups, the young people have access to some of the best personal guidance and informative literature in the electrical field. Boys and girls interested in electricity should see the county extension agent.

Three Highway Deaths Mar Week-End In County

AT least three traffic deaths were recorded in Chilton County since last Thursday, but none of them occurred during the official hours of the Labor Day week-end.

Another death, just north of Chilton County on Interstate 65 occurred Saturday, but it was in Shelby County.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith were instantly killed by a "switch" train at Lomax last Friday afternoon when the late model car they were driving failed to stop for the whistle of the train a sit approached the crossing. The car was thrown several yards down the track by the impact and the Smith's, it's only occupants, were killed instantly it is reported.

Saturday, about 4:30 P.M. Jerry W. Harbor, 25 of Ft. Walton, Florida, was killed when his car went out of control some five miles south of Alabaster. He was the only occupant of the car it is reported. Spigener ambulance from Clanton raced to the scene, but an ambulance service from Alabaster had already picked up Harbor and taken him to Shelby County Memorial Hospital.

Tuesday, September 3rd, at 5:30 A.M. the car in which Don Taylor and James Bedsole were riding on Interstate 65, went out of control and crashed near Yellowleaf Creek in Chilton County. Taylor was killed, and Bedsole was seriously hurt but not critically injured. Spigener ambulance brought Bedsole to County Hospital. The car was headed north and wrecked just north of the Lay Dam intersection.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

SOME day, Chilton County will be a "deer" County According to the State Conservation Department, every County in the State will have enough deer in them to runt "bucks" in a few years. Don't load your guns fellows. . . the "dear" deer ain't ready yet!

WENT picking muscadines last Sunday, and it seemed that the most and the best looking, were right in the tip top of an old oak tree that was about 750 feet tall. (Pretty tall for an oak, huh). Hiking like that doesn't bother us a bit. . . it's the exertion that gets us!

MISS Peggy Murrah, Thorsby schoolteacher, has recently returned from a tour of the northern United State and Canada. She saw such places as Washington, D. C., New York, Boston, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Niagara Falls, and many others. Serving as conductors of the tour were Dr. and Mrs. Noble F. Greenhill of Montgomery. Miss Murrah should be much in demand during the coming months as an interesting speaker on "Yankee land"!

ABOUT 12:30 P.M. Tuesday D. H. Mims of Cooper, Alabama was driving a "hot" car, and didn't know it. An employee of the News, Winston Brooks, flagged Mr. Mims down and told him his car was on fire, and sho' nuff it was! The fire department was on the scene and everything was under control shortly. But Mr. Mims' "hot" car had a burned up engine to show for it. The accident occurred at the red light just west of the overhead bridge in Clanton.

WE fixed the boys a "Tarzan" swing. That's a single rope thrown over the highest limb you can find. And now, three year-old Mark can yell just like Tarzan. It's amazing what the power of suggestion,and a lotta lung can do! A-u-u-u-a-a h-u-u-a-h!

WE'VE been considering the possibility of grooming him for a career in "pitchers"! Moving pitchers. . . you know!

WE moved our belongings. . . along with all the youngsters and the "boss" last week into completely new surroundings. In the process we lost two kittens and thought we were the better off all the way around. But, we inherited three dogs, a cat (of unknown origin), a cow and calf, a pony, and about 25 assorted chickens and roosters. Everybody's having a ball. The dogs chase everything (they haven't caught us yet) the roosters are just learning to crow (that's an awful sound early in the morning), and all indications are that there will be another bunch of puppies around before long. Like we said, so far everybody's having a ball!

AND while we're in a serious mood; we'd like to express our thanks to Jim and Joyce Eiland for putting up with our clan while the above-mentioned moving process was taking place. We spent several days and night with them and thoroughly enjoyed it. Anyone who will take a family of six in for an indefinite time deserves some kind of public recognition for "above and beyond the call" in serving humanity. They win our vote as family of the year! Our deepest appreciation and sincere thanks to them.

MRS. Mary E. Sawyer Davis has completed 42 years of service in the educational system of Chilton County. She came to the County as a teacher in it's Negro schools in 1921 and served continuously through last year. She retired a principal of the New Convert Junior High School at Maplesville.

AND we thought Jeff Miller knew a lot about "bull!" No offense intended. A fellow asked Jeff how much the Jemison FFA bull would weigh and he missed it by about 900 pounds. The bull weighed in at 1200 lbs. We're not going to tell you whether Jeff was high or low, but if you know Jeff, you might be surprised! That's a lot of bull, huh Jeff?

Ginning reached peak operation in southern counties, and some sections of central counties. The use of mechanical pickers increase, over the area during the areas, and many growers in other sections have applied defoliants. Mechanical harvesting will increase ove rthe area during the next few days.

Market activity for current ginnings increased slightly, but is still light. Where Are We Going?--

WITHOUT boring you with a mountain of figures and statistics, let us tell you that Chilton County is on the population decline, along with some five other counties in Central Alabama, and the results are not too promising.

In the ten year period, from 1950 to 1960 Central Alabama (made up of the above mentioned counties) lost 65.1 percent of it's population between the ages of 20-24 years of age. That sounds amazing doesn't it?

In 1950 there were nearly 23,000 persons in these six counties between the ages of 20-24. In 1960 there were less than 8,000. And we didn't have a plague either; they just had to leave Chilton County to find work! Of course we always like to think that if they had stayed around, things might have gotten better. . . but then, not many of us can live on "mights" and maybe's".

Another thing that hampers the growth and industrial development of Central Alabama is that the total population is getting older. By that, we mean that the average age is greater today than it was in 1950. Why?

Because, the population lost in these ten years was totally in the 5-year to 45-year age bracket. The population decreased in nine age brackets from 5 to 45 years; and, it increased in eight categories of persons 45 years to 85 and older.

Top this off with the fact that our per capita income of about $1,000 is lower than the state as a whole; and it is about half of the national average.

Educationally, we can't brag too much! Only 14.6 percent of our total population 25 years old and up, have a high school education.

So, where are we going?

The above are not "a mountain of figures"! They are vital statistics pointing up the fact that Chilton County, along with sister counties in Central Alabama are in trouble population-wise and economy-wise.

This is probably the most pessimistic editorial we have ever written. We write it, not to increase your dejection; but to awaken all citizens of Chilton County that we must do something about our educational and economical situation, or we will die, as a community, and as a vital part of Alabama.

We are blessed with a potential. We made more progress in the years from 1940 to 1960 than we had in the past century, but we have been so far behind the rest of the nation, economically speaking, that, in spite of this tremendous progress, against all odds, we are still behind.

Vitality of mind and purpose, is the only answer to our problem of a better economy for our people.

We do not want our children to graduate from high school, and then have to go to the four corners of the states looking for gainful employment. But, isn't that what has been happening to the generations before this one? Our population has become stagnant. To put it bluntly, we are getting too old to move forward!

This is not a reflection on our senior citizens. They know, better than anyone, that it takes youth and strength to meet the trials of our times.

We have got to find an answer to our population problem; or the only future we can hope for will be our past.

"No", To Appointments--

WORD is out that a movement to "appoint" Democratic candidates for next year's primary elections is underway.

If this is true in Chilton County; then the Democratic process under which we have lived for so long; is deteriorating even faster than we had believed.

The only true Democratic process is obtained through the majority of the people expressing their opinion (at the polls). It is the only way the majority can express it's opinion in a legal, sane procedure.

Voting is a sacred privilege; and should be maintained as such. If a committee. . . or an individual. . . is given the power to "appoint" candidates to run for public office, then we can say goodbye to Democratic procedure, constitutional Government, America, and Freedom!

As an individual American citizen, the only freedom you have rests in the expression of your opinion, without fear of retaliation by any force; and without worry that someone will come along and threaten your security or your well being. Voting is an expression of the opinion of the individual; and thus, is important in our form of government.

We don't care who is doing it now; or who has done it in the past; election by appointment is out as far as we are concerned, and we believe the people should know of any such movement, and should act--individually and collectively in the best interests of Democracy and our freedom!

Dear Editor:

Enclosed is $1.00, please send me the News, until the dollar's worth runs out.

We have moved to Centreville and I was reporter for the Sardis community, and have been receiving the News as your compliments, and I have enjoyed the paper and since I am not reporter any longer, I still want the paper.

We like this little town, but it does not near measure up to our own City of Clanton. If all those Industries that you people are working on comes to Clanton and we could get employment in our own County where we were born and stayed 40 years, we would be returning so quick, you could hardly see us moving!

Please send my paper to the above address.

DEAR 4-H JANES

Many Winners In 4-H Competition At Fair

A good time was had by all who attended the Chilton County Fair held last week. There were interesting events taking place everywhere and everyone was sure to find something to interest them. There were community and commercial exhibits, dairy and beef animals, poultry on exhibit, entertainment each night and of course, we can't fail to mention the carnival part of the Fair.

Tuesday the annual Dairy Show was held. A total of 27 animals were exhibited by 13 boys and girls. Larry's cow won first place in the 3 year old class of the Jersey Division. It was also first runner-up to the Grand Champion in the Jersey Division. Congratulations!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

According to Greek mythology, the city kingdom of Troy was well night impregnable. The Trojan warriors were skilled and brave, the defense works well engineered.

* * *

But the Trojans, despite their bravery and engineering ingenuity, had some curious weaknesses. One was that in their highest government circles there was quite a fondness for good looking women, usually without benefit of clergy. The other weakness was a great gullibility.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Hence, when the Greeks built a great wooden horse and set it before the gates, the Trojans could not resist taking this horse in to get a better look.

* * *

There are many who feel that the location of the United Nation's headquarters in New York is working out to be something of a 20th Century Trojan horse. This belief is held by many who do not necessarily condemn the principle of the U N, but believe it should be in some place like Switzerland.

* * *

Largely due to the very vigilant work of the FBI, Russian spies are being picked up in the United States who are actually officially credited to the Russian delegation at the UN. There is also a bit of talk around that some of the more attractive members of the Russian fair sex have no qualms about accepting an invitation to "look at some etchings," as the polite phrasing goes, if there is a chance to latch on to some security secrets.

* * *

It seems quite fruitless to rail at any questions of morality involved. This is a matter on which attention has been focused since Adam and Eve, without too great an effect. Thus, from a standpoint of realism, it is to be recognized when there are a lot of well paid bureaucrats with little to do, and lots of leisure in juxtaposition with attractive and dedicated femmes fatale, things are bound to happen.

* * *

* * *

It remained recently for Congressman H. R. Gross of Iowa to really point up the silliness of the situation. The Congressman reports, due to Russian insistence, U.S. taxpayers pay major share of cost of operating a school in Moscow for Russian spies.

* * *

The United States pays, Congressman Gross says, 32.02% of the entire cost of operating the UN operations. Part of this cost is maintaining a school in Moscow to teach Russians the English language for jobs at U.N. in New York.

* * *

Thus, perhaps the American people are even more stupid than the long destroyed Trojans, as there is no record that the Trojans put up one drachma to help the ancient Greeks build their wooden horse. But today the American taxpayer is being forced to pay the major part of the cost to train Russian spies in methods of destroying the United States. This is somewhat akin to the condemned man being forced to pay a part of the hangmans fee.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

I was assured this past week by the Department of Defense that aerial surveillance flights over Comunist Cuba are continuing.

There had been many reports including statements in a nationally syndicated news column--that reconnaissance of Castro's island had been banned by a Presidential order. Following these reports, I asked for an official statement by our Executive branch on their validity.

Last Monday I released a letter written to me by a Defense Department spokesman in which he flatly stated that the allegation of a Presidential ban on surveillance flights of Cuba is not true.

As chairman of the House Inter-American Affairs Subcommittee, I have repeatedly warned that the lesson of the October missile crisis should not be forgotten. Aerial surveillance of Castro's island does not necessarily guarantee that offensive weapons will not be returned to the Caribbean, but it is a safety precaution we cansot dicontinue. In this nuclear age, the United States can ill afford not to employ every defense and safeguard at its disposal .

Rail Strike Averted

Congress acted with amazing speed last week approving legislation that provides for binding arbitraton of the two key issues in the four year old railroad work rules controversy.

The new railroad arbitration law was signed by the President late Wednesday, less than six hours before the nationwide rail strike was to begin.

The action of Congress to avert the rail tie-up is believed to be the first time Congress has passed legislation requiring compulsory arbitration during peace time. While some members of Congress pointed out in the debate on the measure that they feared this action could set a precedent for future labor dispute settlements, the great majority of the members recognized that the impart of a railroad shutdown would be so paralyzing to our economy that legislation was necessary. Also, most Congresmen believed that passage of the bill wa sthe only way to settle the dispute which dates back to 1959, and, generally, they believed that a settlement was of paramount interest to our economy and to the American people.

The threatened strike, scheduled to begin on August 29, would have been the third nation wide rail walkout of this century.

Far Reaching Effect

How much a strike by the nation's largest transportation network-- the railroad industry would have cost cannot be accurately established. However, Undersecretary of Commerce Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., estimated that a month-long strike would put 6.5 million Americans on the unemployment list, boosting unemployment to 15 per cent He further indicated that the strike would cost the nation up to $25 billion, and would affect our nation's defense posture, balance of payments problem, and domestic economic standing.

Removing the strike threat for at least the next six months, the new law requires the two main issues--elimination of firemen's jobs and the size and makeup of train and yard crews--be submitted to a sevenman arbitration board for a solution binding on both unions and carriers. In the meantime, collective barbaining would resume on other issues of the long rail dispute.

THAT'S A FACT

Ohio Governor Lauds Industrial Growth

A gold-plated bearing, symbolizing the one millionth Timken "AP" (All Purpose) railroad bearing, was assembled in special ceremonies at The Timken Roller Bearing Company's Columbus, Ohio, plant.

H. H. Timken, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Directors, and Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes, pushed the buttons on a closing arbor press as an audience of Company employees and guests watched the final assembly of one of two inner races of the one millionth bearing. The other was put together by Company President W. R. Timken and W. T. Rice, president of The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. The Atlantic Coast Line was the first railroad to equip freight cars with Timken "AP" freight car bearings in 1954.

Following the assembly, W. R. Timken announced a price decrease for "AP" bearings. He said, "Because of the wide acceptance of this bearing and the consequent full utilization of our two automated production lines, we are delighted to announce an immediate five per cent reduction on the Class "E" 70-ton and Class "F" 90-ton "AP" bearings." Mr. Timken said, "This is the best way we know of saying thank you to the American railroads."

Governor Rhodes stressed the importance of industrial growth in Ohio. He said, "This Company has grown and flourished in this state. I want to compliment and congratulate the Timken Company."

Erect Marker at Farm Birthplace of Henry Ford

HENRY FORD BIRTHPLACE

On the Centennial of Henry Ford's birth, a simple marker was dedicated at the southern Michigan crossroads where he was born in a farmhouse on July 30, 1863. Taking part in ceremonies were (left to right): Mrs. George W. Romney, wife of Michigan's governor; Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, Ford Motor Company and grandson of the company founder, and Mary Jane McKenzie, 17-year-old representative of Dearborn school children who contributed nearly $1,500 for the marker. It stands at Greenfield and Ford roads in Dearborn, Mich. The farmhouse (lower photo) was moved in 1944 to nearby Greenfield Village, the museum of Americana founded by Mr. Ford.

Canned Beans & Beef Casserole Is Delicious And Quick

When the children unexpectedly bring guests home for dinner, just how good is your "planning power". Some pretty fast thinking may be in order, particularly, when you've intended dinner for only the family.

Your store of canned foods now becomes the most valuable item in the kitchen. A modern homemaker always keeps plenty of canned foods on hand for just such an emergency.

The result of quick planning is this delectable looking casserole made from canned beans & ground beef in barbecue sauce. Young guests and father, too, will think you're a genius. Onion, green pepper, and bacon provide extra zest—process cheese melts on top. The combination is unbeatable!

A bowl of cole slaw and refrigerator biscuits are great accompaniments. For dessert — pineapple upside down cake, baked right along with the casserole.

Beans 'n' Cheese Bake

2 slices bacon
⅓ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
2 cans (1 pound each) beans & ground beef in barbecue sauce
2 slices (2 ounces) mild process cheese, cut in thin strips

In skillet, cook bacon until crisp; remove, drain, and crumble. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings; add green pepper and onion; cook until tender. Stir in beans; transfer to a 1-quart casserole. Top with cheese strips and crumbled bacon. Bake at 350°F. for 30 minutes or until cheese is melted. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

It's never too soon to put Faith in their future

KID STUFF... OR ROUGH STUFF?

Don't worry about these boys.

Pushing. Shoving. Relaxing in that strange, exhausting way boys relax. Pile-On. King-of-the-Mountain. Crack-the-Whip.

But half a block away may be a sullen little street-corner group where this kind of clowning is scorned as "kid stuff." Crack-the-whip through these guys and switch blades flash . . . razor-sharp belt buckles swing in a mutilating arc. Then the street is empty except for a crumpled form on the sidewalk.

What makes the difference between these two groups? A friendly cop can. A family can. A little Faith can. Faith can begin when a family plays together, works together, worships together.

Unspoiled and unsung mountain beauty is yours in a Magic Circle tour of the legendary Arkansas Ozarks. A good starting place is at Petit Jean State Park with its lake, waterfalls and burro surrey rides for youngsters. Nearby Winrock Farms, an experimental agricultural project, has a manicured appearance of groomed stock and laboratory-like feed mixing plant. A rewarding side trip from Havana leads to the 2,823-foot summit of Mt. Magazine, highest point in the state.

Fort Smith combines a lusty pioneer background with a peaceful present as thriving industrial and livestock center; top attraction is the restored courtroom where the noted Federal "hanging judge", Isaac Charles Parker, brought respect for law and order on the raw frontier. Van Buren is familiar to most Americans as scene of the late Bob Burns' humorous radio tales.

At Gravette we headed east for the new national military park at Pea Ridge, site of one of the biggest Civil War battles west of the Mississippi and whose landmark is Elkhorn Tavern, once an inn on the Overland Stage route. Next is Eureka Springs, an old spa beloved of artists and health seekers, whose unique characteristics include novel hilltop accesses down into some of the buildings.

Legend seems real at Berryville's Memorial Museum containing a remarkable gun display, the gift of the late Col. "Buck" Saunders. The return route (Ark. 7) is one of the most rewarding drives in the South where, from the many pullouts, you can view the rugged beauty of peaceful ranges and valleys.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

We have the mind of Christ. —(1 Cor. 2:16).

Because we have the mind of Christ, we have a clear unclouded mind. We should, therefore, think the thought, speak the word, and put into action only that which is like the Christ of God.

First Baptist Licenses Two To To Preach

The First Baptist Church ilcensed David Deaton and Wililam Norton to preach the Gospel on Wednesday evening, August 14. Both young men have been active in all the youth activities and the Royal Ambassador work of the church. More than a year ago these two young men indicated their willingness to be used in the Lord's work as He would lead.

David Deaton is a graduate of the Chilton County High School and has served for four years in the United States Navy. He is at present employed by A&P of Montgbmery. David plans to enter school as soon as possible.

William Norton is a 1963 graduate of Chilton County High School and plans to enter Alabama College this fall.

Dr. J. Gilbert Hutchinson stated "one of the great joys of serving First Baptist Church as pastor is the number of young people who through the years have dedicated their lives to the work of the Lord. Four other young people are now in preparation for the Lord's work. Rev. Glennis Askins who graduated this year from the Southern Baptist Seminary is now pastor in Adairville, Kentucky.

The enlongated waist line with bussel effect extended into a chapel train and her boquet was of glamellia, lillies of the valley and roses.

Mrs. Lawrence chose for her daughter's wedding a light blue Alencon lace sheath, matching pill box hat with a yellow rose and veil. Her corsage was a yellow throated orchid. The grooms mother wore a beige embroidered dress with a jacket matching small hat and veil. Her corsage was also an orchid.

Reception Followed

The bride's parents followed the ceremony with a reception in the church parlors. The decorations were white wedding bells with white flowers and greenery.

The brides table was spread with a yellow satin cloth over laid with white net. Bows of ribbon with white flowers were at the corners of the table. The three tiered wedding cake was placed on a mirror topped with clusters of wedding bells and lillies of the valley. The layers were decorated with yellow and white flowers divided with Grecian Column separators.

After the traditional cutting of the wedding cake by the bride and groom, it was cut and served by Mrs. William DeVaughn, assisted by Mrs. Charles Easterling alternating at the punch bowl were Mrs. B. L.McCary and Mrs. Carl Martin. Miss Mary Kate Tucker registered the guests in the brides book. Little Miss Ruth Mary Higgins gave out the yellow net rice bags. She was dressed with full skirt.

NEWS OF—

REFUGE

We are thankful for another good day here last Sunday. Both services were well attended, but not as much as it should have been. Maybe we are never satisfied relative to our attendance, and probably that is the way it should be. When we come to the place where we are satisfied with things as they are, then we are prone to become careless. As long as there is a lost person in the world, all Christians should be anxious about their salvation.

The evening services were very interesting with a large attendance. Mr. Jack Easterling and David showed the moving films of the baptismal services which we had here a week ago. These pictures will be cherished by our people as the years go by, and especially by those who were baptized.

Several were present at the Wednesday veening services last week. We just have to train ourselves to attend church services if we attend with any regularity. And, furthermore we have to make plans in advance, especially in the busy day in which we live now. Our church duty certainly calls for definite plans if we are going prove to the world that we love the Lord and His cause above everything else.

Our building fund continues to grow gradually, and it won't be long until we will get started on some church renovations. Just remember that you do not spend things in the services of God, but you make investments that will live on to bless the lives of your children and childrens children. and your neighbors children. Some one recently said that "you cannot out give God, not out take him." God will get what belongs to Him. Let's give it and be blessed instead of being cursed by what God has blessed us with.

We hope to see you and all the family next Sunday.

FHA Broadens Credit Aid For Water, Soil Improvement In County

Rural communities together with neighboring farmers may now obtain loans from the Farmers Home Administration to develop the water resources they need, according to Isaac C. Byrd, the agency's local county supervisor.

"Recent legislation has broadened this credit aid. Individual farmers and rural residents with water problems can team up to obtain a loan for securing a good water supply and distributing the water to their farms and homes," Mr. Byrd said.

"The construction of modern water supply systems makes rural communities more attractive, encourages the growth of rural industries and aids in rural areas development," Mr. Byrd added. 783 of Alabama's rural communities over 100population do not have water systems.

An association loan for water development or soil cosservation purposes may be made for as much as $1,000,000 if the funds are supplied by a private lender and insured by the Farmers Home Administration, or up to $500,000 if made from direct funds appropriated by the Congress, Mr. Byrd said.

The interest rate on a direct loan is 4½ percent. The interest rate on insured loans varies but may not exceed 5 percent. Loans are scheduled for repayment over periods up to 40 years.

Water development and soil conservation loans may be used to finance water supply reservoirs, rural water supply distribution systems, pumps, pumping plants, pipelines and other facilities necessary for an adequate water system.

These loans may be made to develop or improve soil conserving measures such as the construction and repair of terraces, dikes, ponds and tanks, ditches and canals for drainage, waterways and erosion control structures.

Loans may also be made for shifts in land use to grazing, forestry and recreational purposes.

Associations applying for loans obtain and pay for the technical help they need, but Farmers Home Administration engineers will see that proposed improvements are sound and that cost estimates and plan are complete. After a loan is made, the agency periodically inspects progress to see that funds are used as agreed upon and that construction meets approved standards.

An organization desiring to obtain an association loan or indivdals nterested in forming an association for the purpose of obtaining a loan may contact County Supervisor, Isaac C. Byrd.

The agency also has authority to make low interest rate, long-term watershed loans to organizatioss sponsoring plans to protect, develop, and utilize the land and water reources in small watersheds encompassing areas up to 250,000 acre. These loans may be made for periods up to 50 years and bear 3.046 percent interest for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1964.

Sun, Sand, And Canned Dry Soup Mixes Equal Fun And Good Eating

Sun and sand, combined with surf or a clear blue lake, are surefire ingredients for a good time . . . and what appetites they stimulate!

No worries about keeping food from spoiling under summer skies, when the meal is prepared on the spot . . . and the ingredients kept sound in cans. Canned dry soup mixes for example are sturdy litttle beachgoers. Not even a sloshing of water will disturb the sparkling flavor inside . . . and what a variety of flavors to build a meal around.

Canned noodle dry soup mix for example, forms the basis of a Beachcomber's Bowl . . . a meal in itself soup which can simmer on the coals as the sun goes down. Crab, canned tomatoes, and lima beans add their extra flavor goodness. To go with . . . a long loaf of French bread, hot and buttery. Mix several canned fruits for dessert, and open a box of crunchy cookies . . . hot coffee or your favorite iced beverage (if you have a cooler with you) . . . a perfect meal to end the day.

Beachcomber's Bowl

1 can (2 ⅛ ounces) noodle dry soup mix
1 can (8 ounces) stewed tomatoes
2 cups boiling water
1 can (6 ½ ounces) crab, drained and flaked
1 can (8 ounces) lima beans

In heavy saucepan, stir soup mix and tomatoes into water. Cover; simmer 7 minutes about 1 inch above glowing coals, stirring now and then. Add crab and lima beans. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Make A Splash With Canned Dry Soup Mix

Swimming and supper go hand in hand. Whether it be at the pool in your own backyard or a nearby lake, the final event is food on the patio.

A pool party doesn't need to be elaborate. "Soup 'n sandwiches" is a popular bill of fare and so easy to prepare . . . and so variable It can be adapted to the lightest, airiest luncheon menu, or to a hearty satisfying supper for swimmers.

Canned vegetables dry soup mix (the mix with old-fashioned soup kettle flavor) makes a great center of attention on the outdoor buffet table. Chopped pepperoni, basil, and tomato juice add extra spiciness to the old-fashioned homemade flavor. Shredded Parmesan cheese tops each bowl of soup for an extra tangy treat. For the sandwiches, offer platters of cheese, tomato slices, and onions for "make-your-owns" on big crusty rolls. Hot coffee is a surprisingly welcome way to end a hot weather meal.

Pepperoni Vegetable Tureen

¾ cup chopped pepperoni
Generous dash crushed basil
2 ½ cups water
1 can (2 ounces) vegetable dry soup mix
½ cup tomato juice

In saucepan, brown pepperoni with basil. Add water and soup mix; bring to boil. Partially cover; simmer 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Add tomato juice. Heat. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

THERE is such a thing as "snake bit"! Every now and then you'll get a regular customer for whom it seems you can never get everything just exactly right. The past two times we have published a classified ad for Mrs. W. A. Willis (who is a regular customer) we have goofed it up! The first time we had her house for sale when it was for rent; and the second time, we had her name as "Williams" instead of Willis. It's pretty darned good advertising though, when you can sell a house for Mrs. Williams; when Mrs. Willis is trying to rent one. . . and do it with the same ad! Our apologies to Mrs. Willis. If it were not for her patience, we'd probably have a busted skull.

OUR unreliable source of information indicates another ridiculous step in the march of "bureaucracy". It seems a government clerk received a paper which got mixed up in his basket. Though it wasn't "his business" he read it, initialed it, and put it into his "out" basket. Two days later it came back with this note attached: "This document was not designed for you to handle. Please erase your initials and initial the erasure."

MR. James Calfee is in the same boat we are in: He wants the fruit from the vine, but he can't get to it. He was out picking scuppernongs (in the Isabella community) the other day and fell from a ladder hurting his back. He was in the hospital about two days on account of it. Boy, those are elusive vegetables; but they sure are good when you get to 'em.

WE apologize to the CCHS football team for not printing the picture of the squad this week; if they apologize to us for losing the first game of the season. Seriously, we got the photo a little mixed up in the shuffle this week. We'll print the picture next week, fellers (after you've licked Bibb County)!

YOU can never tell who is going to stick their foot in front of you! We thought by this time next year we would be in the City Limits of Clanton, but the Alabama Senate threw a monkey wrench into the plan. Two local bills died in the Senate last week. See Senator McDow's Report From Montgomery on page two this week.

ACCORDING to our information, Donny Martin and his team of helpers, including Boy Scouts and the local CD Rescue Squad members, collected nearly $2500 last week-end for the Cerebral Palsy Drive. Donny increased the quota this year by $550, and they almost made it to the top. Better than $2,000 in two days is a mighty good percentage if you ask us. Congratulations and thanks to these fellows who worked on this project.

August 30, 1963

Mr. Gordon Conway
Supt. of Education of Chilton County
Courthouse, Clanton, Ala.

Dear Mr. Conway:

"At a meeting of the Clanton Quarterback Club held in Clanton, Aalbama, Thursday, August 29, 1963, it was brought to the attention of the Club that the supplemental salaries of the coaches of the Chilton County High School was cut in half which would necessitate the the salaries of Coach Finlayson and Coach Scruggs to be decreased $275.00 each or a total of $550.00.

We were further informed that these coaches were not notified of this salary decrease until three days prior to the commencement of football practice. Until this time they were led to believe and did believe that this supplement would be paid to them. The Clanton Quarterback Club unanimously adopted the following resolution:

RESOLUTION

"WHEREAS, physical fitness, community spirit, sportsmanship, and competitive attitudes are essential and desirable for the youth of our community, state, and nation; and

WHEREAS, Coaches Don Finlayson and Ray Scruggs have furnished their talents and have spent many strenuous hours to provide these elements to the youth of the Chilton County High School and to the community as a whole; and

WHEREAS, the compensation of these two coaches has been decreased without proper notice to them and at a time when their services are in great need to the Chilton County High School, and to the development of a vigorous community; and

WHEREAS, these salary decreases were made at a time of rising expense and increased school appropriation and is causing a lowering of morale among those participating in said activities.

NOW, THEREFORE, WE, the Clanton Quarterback Club, resolve as follows:

1. That the President of the Clanton Quarterback Club immediately write the members of the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Education requesting these supplements be restored.
2. That the President of the Clanton Quarterback Club make known the requests of the Club that in event greater economy is needed in education in Chilton County that these decreases be made on a different level of education.
3. That the President of the Clanton Quarterback Club request that the Board of Education hold a special meeting to consider this problem and that they be notified whether or not these changes can and will be made.
4. That the Board of Education be informed that representatives of the Clanton Quarterback Club will be available to meet with and discuss these problems with the Board of Education.
5. That a copy of this Resolution be mailed to each member of the Board of Education and to the Superintendent of Education of Chilton County requesting that some answer be made to them so that this vital issue may be resolved.

Unanimously adopted, this the 29th day of August, 1963.

"I would appreciate your consideration of this resolution and informing me as soon as possible of your decision thereon, so that a full report might be made to the Club."

Sincerely yours,
Clanton Quarterback Club
s. Kinyon Vinson, President"

cc: Mr. F. D. Nix, Maplesville
Mr. O. J. McGriff, Verbena
Mr. E. Span Jones, Maplesville
Mr. Luther Little, Clanton
Mr. C. W. Burnette, Jemison
(Members of the Chilton Co. Board of Education.)

Officers of the Clanton Quarterback Club are: Kinyon Vinson, President; Billy Maddox, Vice-President; Lally Bates, Treasurer; and Herbert Dennis, Secretary.

Clanton clobbered By "Wildcats"

THE Chilton County Tigers opened their 1963 Football season last Friday evening as they played host to strong and stout-hearted Columbiana, from Shelby County. Speed and elusiveness was the main factor that gave Columbiana a 40 to 7 victory over the Tigers.

A Tiger fumble early in the first quarter resulted in a Columbiana touchdown. Columbiana scored two more times in the first quarter, once on a 68-yard punt return, and later on a 60 yard touchdown run from scrimmage.

In the second quarter Columbiana scored on a run by Conrad Fowler, Jr. to lead the Tigers by a score of 26 to 0.

Rusty Harden scored in the third quarter for the Wildcats on a four yard plunge from scrimmage.

Mike Cox scored for Clanton on a beautiful 67 yard run in the 4th quarter. Cox also added the extra point. Fowler, for Columbiana scored again in the fourth quarter.

The Tigers never gave up in their spirit and determination, but they have a lot to learn this year.

Clanton will play Bibb Co. High, there, Friday night at 7:30. Go out and support the local team.

Three Local "Colonels" Stand With Gov. Wallace

THREE Chilton County men named to Governor Wallace's personal military staff as Lt. Colonels are:

W. T. Thrash, Business manager of the Operating Engineers Union in Alabama.

Dr. Joe Moore, Physician in Clanton, Alabama.

Lewis Headley, Business Man and Campaign Manager for Governor Wallace in Chilton County.

Weekly Cotton Report

PICKING and ginning was heavy and reached peak operations over the Montgomery Classing Office territory for the week ending September 6. The quality of the 50,515 samples classed last week was down slightly due largely to the heavier volume of machine harvesting in southern counties. Middling and higher grades accounted for 48 percent against 52 percent last week. Strict Middling Light Spotted and Middling Light Spotted totaled 17 percent, equal to last week, and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted and Low Middling Light Spotted increased to 13 percent.

Mechanical harvesting is heavy in southern counties and increasing in other areas. Ginning reached the halfway point in southern counties and from 20 to 50 percent in other sections.

Market activity is generally light. Demand is not heavy, and prices for Middling 1 inch and 1-1|32 inches range from 33.85 to 34.00 cents.

Demand for lower qualities is fair and prices for these lower qualities are generally from 20 to 30 points above loan.

Ninety-nine percent of the micronaire readings for the week ranged from 3.5 to 4.9.

Excerpts From Board Minutes

An excerpt from the Minutes of the Chilton County Board of Education, Volume 1962, dated August 24, 1963:

"Superintendent Conway submitted a proposed salary schedule for teachers an dother personnel of the Chilton County Board of Education for 1963-1964. After considerable discussion concerning the financial status of the Chilton County Board of Education, Mr. Burnette made the following motion:

In view of the fact that the Chilton County Board of Education is in a financial strain due mainly to the fact that pro-ration in recent years cost the Chilton County Board of Education in excess of $290,000, and whereas the County Board is not able at this time to continue paying coaches supplements to coaches and assistant coaches, which is not reimbursed o the County Board by the State Department of Education. I move that the sum of $550 be allotted to each high school in Chilton County for coaches supplements during the school year 1963-1964, to be used to supplmeent either one or more coaches, and that when the Board is in a better financial status that the Board consider allotting an additional amount to all high schools for coaches supplements. Brief History Of Thorsby Baptist

IN the fall of the year 1901, the First Baptist Church at Thorsby, Alabama, was founded by nine men and women.

First pastor elected by this membership was the Rev. S. M. Adams, who was active in it's founding. They met in a two story frame building, which they erected on Michigan Avenue, on the second Sabbath in each month at three P.M.

In 1902 they agreed to share their church building with the Swedish Lutheran Church of Thorsby. In 1922 also, they purchased their first bell to announce services.

These are the nine who formed this church: R. A. Rasco, Mrs. Edna Rasco, Dr. M. F. Parnell, J. R. Parnell, Mrs. Lizzie Parnell, B. O. Bice, S. W. Collins, Miss Annie Rasco and Mrs. Eula Carmichael.

In May of 1922, the church voted to have electric lights installed in the new building on Iowa Avenue and Jackson Street.

In September of 1938 the church voted its first full-time pastor and in 1951, in a new building, they voted to build an annex to the present main building, erecting a three story structure.

The present pastor, Rev. L. W. McReynolds made the following statement in a printed brochure concerning this history: "Churches are made up of individuals and families of a community. Histories like this are never complete because there is not enough space to name those faithful men and women who served through the years." Mrs. Grover Bice assisted in the writing and gathering of information for the brochure which was published in 1961.

The Turning Tide--

WE advocate giving Governor George Wallace a big "E" for effort! He is not only maintaining the peace in the State; but he is lending integrity and meaning to a cause which although just has been taking quite a beating in the minds of men during the past few months.

And now the legal minds of the State have stepped out and have given voice to the opinions of the people of this state in a manner yhich cannot help but be heard all the way to Washington and around the world.

Lawyers of Alabama with deep insight and strong conviction are finally "standing up for Alabama"; and without question, they will be heard.

The impression such lawyers as Jackson, Simpson, Meade, Kohn and Hare give us is one for which we have been looking for quite some time. That is: that the cause which the majority of Alabamians are supporting is not only a just and good cause; but also a legal one. These men, without a doubt, are clear thinkers, well-trained in the aspects of legal procedure and court action. If they believe we have legal ground upon which to stand in our fight for separation of the races, then our conviction that we will win out in the end, is strengthened the more.

Our Governor is making every conceivable attempt to get this situation into the courts. If he does, the South will have sound footing in the minds and actions of men such as those mentioned above. If he, and they, have the intelligent and calm support of the people of this State, the fight will be won, and law and order will prevail; as will the heritage and the traditions of the South.

The Majority Vote--

LAST week an editorial in the News referred to a "movement" to appoint Democratic candidates to public office next year, rather than elect them in Primaries, as has been the custom for many years; and, in fact; is the Democratic process under which we are supposed to be existing.

We didn't realize there were so many razorback Democrats in Chilton County ready with their bare knuckles. It is encouraging to know that there are plenty of Democrats ready and able to defend their local Party, even though the national leadership (of both parties) is making such a mess of things.

Let us also hasten to report that Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee George Smith; and Secretary E. R. Yeargan knew nothing of the above-mentioned "movement" until they read it in the News!

The appointing of candidates to run in a general election for public office, is another particularly Republican trait which does not set well with a Democrat.

If we tabulated the phone calls which we have received since last week on this subject it would be one hundred percent: the Democrats of Chilton County still maintain that the best way to good, sound government is the election of officials by a majority vote of the qualified voters!

The Peoples' Press--

ON at least two occasions recently we have had a citizen "complain" to us that we "had a newspaper wherein we could print our opinions," but they did not!

This attitude is discouraging. We preach consistently that THIS newspaper is YOUR newspaper; and it has a specific place set aside each week for comments and opinions of citizens, just like yourself, who have something to say, and want others to know of it.

A case in point: last week we editorialized on a particular subject, and the response from the people was truly unusual. They saw what we had to say. . . and they called to let us know of it.

However, we would much rather you would write us a letter, after you have called us, setting down in black and white just what you think on the matter. It is rather hard for us to publish a telephone conversation.

Either you believe it or you don't! If your opinion on any given subject is strong enough and is based on truth, we cannot see any reason why you shouldn't want to "put it into print" so everyone can know how you feel about it.

Our "Across The Editor's Desk" column on the editorial page each week is designed especially for the expression of the opinions of our readers. If you have something to say. . . say it!

And please, sign your name.

"Charging For. . ."--

SINCE a small misunderstanding with a subscriber the other day, we would like to re-establish a policy, and a fact, of this newspaper!

It has to do with "charging for. . ." and "not charging for. . .".

The News has a STANDARD rate for classified advertising and for Cards of Thanks, and such things as poetry, etc. If you want to sell, rent, buy, beg, borrow or steal something; and you want to advertise the fact in the Classified Section of the News, it will only cost you 3c per word, per insertion.

There is no charge for obituaries, birth announcements, marriage or engagement announcements, church notices, anything to do with civic clubs or organizations, school information, and publicity regarding non-profit efforts on behalf of the community.

We HAVE to make a small profit on something, in order to stay in business and serve this community. If you wish to run a classified ad, or any of the above-mentioned "charge" items, we would appreciate it if you will understand that there is a charge on such items when you place them—in advance if you please!

Other items (also mentioned above) that are of significance and interest to the community will be welcomed by the News, at no charge to the donor.

Thank you for your patronage; and remember: the Chilton County News is "Your Community Newspaper"!

IT NEVER FAILS
—BUT YOU SAID YOU WOULDN'T BE HOME FOR DINNER!
I KNOW DEAR, I KNOW—BUT I'M FAMISHED!! SO HOW ABOUT SLAPPING UP SOME STEAK AND JAVA, QUICK,—BEFORE I PASS OUT.
I'VE BEEN CALLING YOU FOR TEN MINUTES—YOUR DINNER IS ON THE TABLE, AND IT'S ICE COLD BY NOW—
ALL RIGHT, ALL RIGHT, CAN'T A GUY FINISH THE PAPER!!

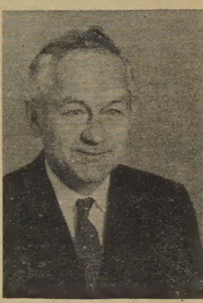
Chilton Resident Leads Delegation To Europe



Oliver O. Manning, son of the former Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Manning of Route 1, Maplesville has recently returned from a 12,000 mile, 23 day "Goodwill Tour" of Future Farmers of America to Northern Europe. The F.F.A. tour included 19 from North Carolina, 14 from Florida and 1 from California, 34 in all, and visited, Scotland, England, Denmark, Hungary, Czechosolvakia, East and West Berlin, France and Belgium.

The "Goodwill Tour" was made under the auspices of the People to People Travel Program which has been encouraged by former President Eisenhower, Secrtary of Commerce Luther Hodges for encouraging farm groups to visit farms and farmers in various parts of the world.

Manning, Leader of the North Carolina-Florida Delegation was recommended by officials of the North Carolina Agriculture Teacher's Association of 550 members to lead the delegation. He is a member of the American Vocational Association, the North Carolina Agriculture Teacher's Association, has served as President of the Sampson County Group of the North Carolina Education Association, and was selected as Master Teacher of North Carolina a few years ago.

The 34 members of the tour group traveled from country to country by commercial airlines, were met at the airports by guides, interpreters, and a bus in each country, which transported them to the farms, agricultural colleges, and on sight seeing expeditions. It required only six hours and 20 minutes for them tao fly the 3,500 miles from New York to Preswick Airport near Glasgow, Scotland, where they had an official welcome by a Scotsman bagpipe player in full regalia. The group visited the Edinborough University School of Agriculture before flying down to London, England, taking a two day bus trip up to the Agricultural County of Kent, known as the "Garden Area of England", before flying to Copen hagen, Denmark, where they studied Danish Agricultural Co-operatives.

From Denmark, they flew to Budapest, Hungary, their first visit behind the "iron curtain" where they were guests of managers of "Collective", State Owned and Private Farms. Over 90% of the farms are now collectivised under the requirements of the Communist regime.

In Prague, Czechoslovakia, the group visited many famous places, art galleries, and museums, and also some collective farms. They also visited the Berlin Wall, and went through Check-point Charlie in the American Sector into East Berlin and had a chance to compare life in that area with our own free country.

From Berlin, the group flew to Paris where they visited such places as the Louvre, seeing the Mona Lisa, the Eiffiel Tower and the Momart Section where artists practice painting.

The tour included a visit to Brussels, Belgium where they were briefed on the Common Market sitation and of the need for Siuthern Cotton farmers to improve the quality of their tobacco, cotton, soybeans, and other farm items shipped abroad.

Pictures and slides were taken all along the way which will be used in Mr. Manning.s school work and various places. He showed them to all his brothers and sisters and their companions in Anderson, S. C. immediately after his return home, when they all met there in a reunion.

Report From Montgomery

By

State Senator Jimmy McDow

THE 1963 Regular Session of the Alabama Legislature ended at midnight last Friday. Due to the fact there were 430 bills on the Senate Calendar to be considered by the Senate on this last day, the Senate went into session at one minute past midnight Thursday night in order to have a full twenty-four hour working day. There were 205 local bills on the Senate Calendar, as it had been several weeks since the Senate had passed any local bills; and 225 general bills.

Governor Asks Removal Of Succession Bill

Most of the general bills on the caelndar were of non-controversial nature, but extremely important to those groups which would be affected.

It was my feeling, and I believe the feeling of the majority of the members of the Senate, that we could only spend a limited amount of time on the controversial bills; and then, failing to reach agreement; we would move on to the passage of the non-controversial general and local bills. The so-called succession bill, which was a constitutional amendment to allow the Governor to succeed himself (limited to 2 terms), was the first controversial bill to be faced.

Governor Wallace, realizing the possibiilty of this bill being used to tie up the Senate this last day, sent a message to the Senate immediately after we went into session asking that this bill be removed from consideration in the interest of harmony. This bill was sponsored by friends of the Governor, but he had never personally pushed for passage of this bill.

Other Controversial Bills

There were some other controversial bills, however, which were being bitterly fought by a small group of senators and the use of the filibuster as a weapon against these measures was immediately brought into play.

It was only through the full force of Lt. Gov. Allen and the Administration leaders that the Senate was able to pass the general appropriation bills.

It was absolutely necessary that these bills be passed for the operation of the many state departments for the coming fiscial year. Shortly after the passage of these bills in the early afternoon, Lt. Gov. Allen received word of the death of his daughter and, of course, it was necessary that he leave the Senate.

Redistricting Bill Blocked

Most of the members of the Senate felt that it was extremely important that the Senate have an opportunity to vote on some type of Congressional Redistricting Bill, but as the day wore on it became more apparent that the small group of senators engaged in the filibuster were determined this bill would not be voted on.

Then the efforts of the majority were directed repeatedly toward bringing up local bills, but these efforts were blocked until the session was brought to a close at midnight. The only bills passed during this last day by the Senate were the General Appropriation Bills and a bill revising the benefits under the Workman's Compensation Law.

Anti-Water Pollution Bill Died Also

Among the more than 200 which died on the Senate Ca dar was the Anti-Water Po tion bill. Many of our pe have been extremely intere in th passage of this bill.

Chilton County Adversely Affected

Of the 205 local bills k by the filibuster on this last there were two affecting Chi County. One pertaining to extension of the city limits Clanton and one increasing pay of jurors.

I strongly believe the Se committed a disservice to people of the state in the fai to pass these local bills and controversial general bills, I have recommended to the G ernor that he give serious sideration to calling a sp session for local legislation o

REFUGE

Well, another week has gone by and the Lord has blessed all of us. It behooves each of us to fall upon our knees and give thanks to almighty God for all the blessings that are ours to enjoy.

We are thankful for the wonderful services which we had during the last Lord's Day. It is just as necessary to go out to the Lord's House for spiritual food as it is to go to the table for physical sustenance. No one can maliciously stay away from the house of the Lord without his or her spiritual life becoming droll. No wonder that we are admonished to "Forsake not the assembling of ourselves together" by the writer of Hebrews.

We were glad to have Mrs. Martha Headley come by experience and baptism last Sunday night. We will have another baptismal service in the near future. We are expecting others also to come.

Those whom we recently baptized were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Cleckler, Ralph and Ronnie Cleckler, David Maddox, Larry Minor, Billy Ross Mims, Jo Ann Minor, Martha Ann Mims and Mr. Samuel Ballard.

We will elect our church officers and leaders next Sunday for the next associational year. We will select messengers to the Association on the following Sunday as we are now rounding out another Associational church year.

We will be looking forward to seeing you and the whole family at church next Sunday.

The Necessity Of a Newspaper

"Statistics have shown over and over again that the growth and prosperity of just about every town or small city is geared directly to the growth of the newspaper.

Without the continuous promotion and boosting given to local chambers of commerce, local business activities, Scouts, Red Cross, 4-H clubs, Merchants, local schools and churches, veterans and service organizations and the many other services provided by the local newspaper, a town will gradually deteriorate and die.

To provide such services to a community, a newspaper must have the wholehearted advertising support of the local merchants."

SCHOOL'S IN . . . and that means the children will be out by the dozens, walking to school, riding their bicycles, getting on and off school buses. So, it's time again for all of us to be extra careful with our driving . . . especially around schools, crossings, and bus stops. Watch for the signs, drive slowly, and STOP whenever required. Our children are our most precious assets, and it's up to all of us to protect them.

THE WORLD'S FIRST TELEPHONE EXCHANGE celebrated its 85th birthday early this year. In 1878 the exchange, in New Haven, Connecticut, listed nearly 50 telephone subscribers. The switchboard itself was primitive to say the least. Among its fittings were teapot handles, and the whole thing was strung together with wiring from the frames of ladies' bustles!

MUSIC MASTERS

WOODY HERMAN: BIG BAND

Celebrating his twenty-fifth year in the music business, Woody Herman is very much on the 1963 scene with a big band that's both new and NEWS!

Woody Herman has assembled what critics judge to be his best band to date and with the most exciting new jazz sound to break the Big Band barrier. The brass is brilliant, the trumpets blast as one, the saxes are loose and easy and the rhythm section has a fantastic, contagious drive. The band has its live audiences stomping, and cheering wildly.

Solid bookings have kept the Herman Band on the move since it was formed less than a year ago and SRO audiences from the Metropole in New York to Basin Street West in Los Angeles are creating a great swell of enthusiasm from coast to coast for the new Herman sound.

A new legion of Herman fans has been caught up in the excitement of this big new band and the sales of Herman lp's for Woody Herman Philips Records reflect a market for his product far beyond the jazz buffs. His new album, "Encore: Woody Herman 1963" is enjoying outstanding action as have his other Philips releases scoring high on jazz and pop charts.

The man with the clarinet and business man's air has hit the eye in the needle in a climate known for its unfriendliness to the big band sound. In an era of trios and small groups, the big Woody Herman Band is blasting a happy music and cutting an explosive swath across the country gathering fans in its wake.

IDEAS for the Program Committee

by Frannie

Music Bridges Generations

Do you enjoy teenager's music — or cringe at the sound of it? How does your teenager feel about your music preferences?

Build a bridge of better understanding between generations by planning a "Meet You at the Bridge" program. Teens can tell why they prefer certain types of music . . . while adults impress teenagers with melodies of an earlier generation.

For this program, you'll need your own group, some young adults, a musical instrument and refreshments.

An electric organ with the harmonic drawbar system of mixing tones permits the player to choose from thousands of tones, and has both the instant response needed for popular music, and legato action for the smooth, lilting songs of yesterday.

Invite at least one teen who plays the harmonic drawbar electric organ and another who can explain why teens like heavy beat, dissonant songs.

Give the teens twenty minutes for their kind of music. Then let a member of your own group demonstrate your generation's favorite melodies.

The result will be a better understanding of each kind of music, a greater respect for each, and a closer relationship between generations.

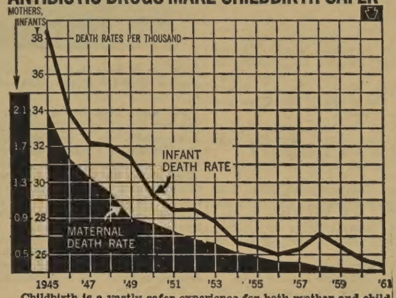
ANTIBIOTIC DRUGS MAKE CHILDBIRTH SAFER



Childbirth is a vastly safer experience for both mother and child today than it was as late as 1945, according to the National Health Education Committee which gives major credit to the introduction of antibiotic and sulfa drugs. From 1945, the year penicillin first became available in civilian hospitals, to 1961, the death rate for babies under one year declined 33 per cent. Maternal deaths declined by a startling 84 per cent in the same period. There are now about 25 major antibiotics in regular medical use. Of these all but three were discovered in the laboratories of the U.S. pharmaceutical industry. (Source: U.S. Office of Vital Statistics

New Flavors Spark Tomato Juice

You can retain the sun-ripened goodness of this year's tomato crop if you will devote a few hours to making and canning fresh tomato juice. It will taste mighty good come winter.

High in vitamins, low in calories, tomato juice can cost you as little as 6 to 12 cents a quart. The cost depends upon the source of the tomatoes.

Tomato juice is an excellent substitute for sweet, bottled drinks for children. Let them play at mixing, making their own choice of seasoning—and they'll learn to love it. Tomato juice is a boon to weight watchers, too, for a cupful adds up to only 50 calories.

Prepare your juice without seasoning, and stow it away. When you plan to use it, take down a jar or two several hours in advance of serving time. That's the time to add the seasoning, or combination of seasonings, your favorite taste tantilizers—dill, garlic, herbs or sauces. Then put into the refrigerator to chill while the seasonings mellow. Be adventurous—try curry, chili powder, mint or sage. It's fun to experiment, and variety, too, adds spice.

Tomato juice is easy to make at home. One bushel (53 lbs.) of sound tomatoes will make to 16 quarts of juice.

The principles are simple—wash, rinse, drain, core and quarter red-ripe tomatoes. Simmer in covered kettle until soft, then put through food mill or sieve to remove seeds and skins. Reheat juice almost to boiling and pour to within one quarter inch of the top of fruit jars. You may, if you like, add one teaspoon of salt to each quart. Put dome lids on jars, screw bands tight, and process in boiling water bath canner. Pints require 10 minutes, quarts 15 minutes.

PROUD PETE STRUTS AGAIN

This colorful peacock has resumed his status as the star of one of Chicago's beauty spots — the Olson waterfalls and rock garden. Caretaker Walter Busby shows Pete off to fair-haired young visitor.

CHICAGO— Once he was forlorn, but now Pete, a 25-pound peacock at the Olson Rug wild-life exhibit, Chicago tourist attraction, is happy again.

Last year vandals chased and abused Pete, pulling off his 5-1/2 foot feathered train and crest–the crown and feathered glory of a full grown male peacock.

Pete took it on the lam over a 6-foot fence, but was returned by police after spending some time in the pokey.

Adding insult to injury, Pete's return to the exhibit brought him the scorn of the two females of the specie at Olson Park, Hilda and Gertrude.

It took Pete until this summer to grow back his tail. Caretaker Walter Busby says the story has a happy ending. Both Gertrude and Hilda have given full approval to the rejuvenated Pete and his masculine plumage of burnished copper and gold, with the characteristic peacock blues and greens.

Pete struts again.

Atlantic City is still New Jersey's mecca for conventioneers, beauty queens, sun worshippers, tourists. In the gilded dens of the Old West it was simply "Name your poison, Pardner"; here you are entreated to name your pleasure by every device from barker to flashing signs. The famous Boardwalk, a phenomenon of beauties, blaring music, amusement parlors, lobster houses and night clubs, is backdropped with Gay 90's-type hotels, most of dubious architectural ancestry. A few years ago swank motels breached the barrier.

The showplace Convention Hall features everything from the Miss America Pageant to industrial shows, ice hockey and indoor football in late fall. Motels and billboards momentarily part for the Race Course, but if you pause here seal off a goodly portion of your wallet, for the goodies of Atlantic City have optimistic price tags. The only free things are the bracing sea air and kaleidoscope of brightly-clad tourists on the Boardwalk.

Highlights of the Magic Circle route south along Ocean Drive are Margate City's Elephant Hotel, a landmark since 1882; Ocean City's unltramodern Tabernacle; Stone Harbor's Bird Sanctuary where glasses have been installed in the parking area so that watchers can get a close-up view of the majestic Snowy Egrets; and Wildwood, marked by gaiety and bustle akin to Atlantic City.

Before the turn of the century Cape May, on the southern tip of New Jersey, was a summer White House. The rambling, genteel hotels have changed little since then. Visitors can watch candlemakers at work in the Country Store, whose rooms more nearly resemble a curio museum. At Cape May Point is the excavated frame of the British Man-O-War Martin, part of the flotilla that blockaded Delaware Bay in the War of 1812. The return is via the pastoral Garden State Parkway.

Sunday School 10:00 A.M.
Worship Service 11:00 A.M.
Training Union 6:30 P.M.
Worsihp Service 7:30 P.M.

The attendance for both services was down Sunday. Why? After the wonderful revival last week that was so well attended. Christians you are not letting us down but you are letting God down.

Our revival ended Friday night but we pray that it will continue in our hearts. We enjoyed every inspiring message that Rev. Horace Kimbrel brought during this revival. We are very thankful for the wonderful work and all the time that Rev. Kimbrel and our own pastor Rev. Forriester put into the revival. We had three young people to come as candidates for baptism. They were extended the right hand of Christian fellowship. We want to say welcome to Miss Uvala Christian, Miss Wanda Osborn and Billy Burt Osborn.

Rev. and Mrs. Forriester were the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lenoir, they visited Rev. and Mrs. Horace Kimbrell in Clanton, Sunday afternoon.

At this writing, we are sorry to hear that Mrs. Effie Perry is sick, we hope that she will soon be feeling better.

Mrs. Basco Chambers and daughter Myra, and Mr. and Mrs. Esco Lenoir visited Mrs. Effie Perry Sunday afternoon.

Remember our Wednesday night prayer service with choir practice following.

Pray for the sick and shut-in visit them when you can. Attend church Sunday if you don't have a home church or if you are visiting in our community let us extend a very cordial welcome to you to attend church with us. We will be glad to have you and God will too.

Kaye Lacey Becomes Bride of Alan R. Howard

Kaye Elizabeth Lacey became the bride of Alan Roger Howard in an 8 o'clock ceremony, Aug. 31 at the New Hope Cumberland Presbyterian Church with the Rev. J. M. Bright officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lacey of Helena and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Howard of Thorsby.

Miss Carol Howard of Dallas, Texas sister of the groom sang, "Because" and the beautiful, "Lord's Prayer" as the benediction, with Mrs. Fred Smith as organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. The bodice was designed with a portrait neckline etched with seed pearls and sequins, with a front panel of lace on the controlled skirt extending into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was held in place with silk organza roses. She carried a white Bible with a white orchid and lillies of the valley.

Mrs. Gene Game was her cousin's matron of honor. Other attendants were Miss Kathy Lacey, Miss Martha Rutherford, Miss Carol Bates and Mrs. Reed Smith. They wore identical dresses of embossed taffeta designed with bell shaped skirts and matching pillbox hats with circular veils. The matron of honor wore pale yellow, the other attendants mint green. Each carried a bouquet of pale yellow carnations.

Mrs. Lacey chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of rose lace with matching coif hat. The groom's mother wore a dress of light aqua embossed silk organza with matching hat. Each wore a purple throated white orchid corsage.

Thorsby Folks Home From Touring Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Plier of Thorsby packed their memory with the sights of the Old and New West while on their two weeks tour of 21 states. On the go but they managed to see much of the most interesting places in that two weeks they were touring.

Among the most interesting places they visited was Old Dodge City where they saw Gunsmoke Trading Post and rode in the old stage coach. Virginia City in Nevada where the town is the same as in the old days, also Mt. Rushmore in South Dakota is high on their list of interesting places, that's where the four presidents faces are carved on the Rocky Mountain side,, Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Jefferson; Yellowstone National Park, the great forests of Idaho Oregon, Washington, Mexico and other places. States toured were Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas Texas, Louisiana, Nebraska, South Dakota, California, Nevada Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Old and New Mexico, Oklahoma and others. They enjoyed seeing the statue of William Cody (Buffalo Bill) in Wyoming, the black hills of the great mountain areas and the most restful, beautiful sights were the cemeteries in Old Mexico where they are lovingly cared for. Wild deer, antelope, buffalo and prairie doge should abound in a number of these states.

Public Library In The Making In Thorsby

Thorsby Mayor and Town Council gave the go-ahead signal to the Chilton County Library Board to set up a modern library in the Thorsby Town Hall. Some shelving has been given by the Congregation Church Board still functioning here and Mrs. Idell Kincaid. As soon as the lumber can be obtained Orville Freeman in his public spirited move said he would build the shelves and give his time to do it. We deeply appreciate the gifts of both material and labor. The following women have been named on the Thorsby Board. Mrs. Akin Coillns, Mrs. Grover Bice, Mrs. P. F. Singley, Mrs. M. M. Lyell and Mrs. Idell Kincaid. Town Clerk, Mrs. Verlon Nelson will be chief librairian. We will tell you, maybe next week, the hours set up for the public library. This is an asset to any town and we congratulate Thorsby in making this historic move.

Bears, beauty and blossoms lure motorists to the Tennessee-North Carolina Great Smokies. Our Magic Circle started in bustling Knoxville, where a frontier heritage has been enshrined in the 1792 white frame mansion of William Blount, who established the state; another pride is the University of Tennessee, rich in Civil War lore and famed for its football teams.

Mountain folk and "furriners" flock to Maryville in June for the knee-slapping Hillbilly Homecoming; nearby is the log schoolhouse where Sam Houston once taught. Continuing south, the clear waters of Fontana Lake appear, alive with boaters, water skiers and fishermen. There is an exciting view from the observation deck of the gargantuan cement dam which towers above the highway.

History has had a fascinating reversal at the town of Cherokee, reservation headquarters where the white man taught the Indian lost handicraft skills. Top summer attraction is the outdoor drama, "Unto These Hills", a portrayal of Cherokee history cast with full-blooded Indians.

From here the route follows the Dixieland Trail into Great Smoky Mountains National Park, planted by nature in a bounteous way—and with the added attraction of panhandling black bears who mug and clown like veteran vaudeville performers. The observation tower at Clingmans Dome offers a spectacular panorama of this sea of mountains covered with a perpetual blue haze.

A side trip to Cades Cove will whisk you back to pioneer America; here linger log and frame dwellings isolated since the early 19th century. Gatlinburg, an exceptional resort town, has miles of shops and good motels. Five miles on is Pigeon Forge where the ancient mill still grinds meal from power supplied by a water wheel.

NOTICE OF COMPLETION

Notice is given that Patterson & Alred Contractors, have completed a contract for the construction of an addition to the Chilton County Hospital at Clanton, Ala., for the Chilton County Hospital Board. Oregon's dramatic seacoast offers motoring families a wide assortment of vacation delights. Driving down from Seattle, we started a Magic Circle tour at Astoria, where John Jacob Astor established a fur trading post in 1811, and which today is home base for a prosperous salmon and tuna fishing fleet. Landmark is the cylindrical Astor Column which records historic Northwest events and affords a panoramic view of mountains and coastline.

Glittering event of Seaside, a large resort town, is the annual Miss Oregon Pageant. Beaches here offer fine hunting grounds for succulent clams, but the scenic gem is Cannon Beach, named for a stubby cannon which was washed ashore. A familiar sight is horseback riders racing across the wide hard-packed sand; the towering 235-foot monolith, Haystack Rock, can be seen close-up by wading out at low tide.

Visitors can tour a cheese factory in Tillamook, which claims to be the world's largest, and are treated to free samples. Newport's quaint waterfront could be the setting of an old sea yarn, as shacks and drying nets fit in with the venerable docks of this lumber port. The route continues through coastal hills where the premium crop is the Douglas Fir. Tribute is paid to the region's big industry at the annual Timber Carnival in Albany.

The route curves north to Salem, whose modern state capitol is topped by a graceful round tower instead of the conventional dome. Other prides are the stately campus of Willamette University and Bush Park — still called Bush's Pasture. On the grounds is a perfectly preserved Victorian house, over 80 years old and complete with period furnishings.

Entertain With A Summer Salad Buffet

Warm weather is a delightful time to entertain but only when menus are thoughtfully selected. Food must be light and enchanting.

Crisp, cool salads are high on the list of favorites at this time of year. From small accompaniment salads to hearty main dish salads, the variety is great. But the success of a good salad is dependent upon the dressing.

Give that "seasoned to perfection" touch to your salads with a "souper" salad dressing. Use canned condensed tomato soup as the base for many tasty dressings. An especially good one is a lamaze-type dressing . . . a combination of the soup with mayonnaise, sweet pickle relish, and a bit of grated onion, mustard, and lemon juice. It's a treat served with cooked shrimp, crisp salad greens or used for a tempting main dish lobster and egg salad as in the recipe below.

LOBSTER AND EGG LAMAZE

Dressing:

1 can (10 ½ ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup India or sweet pickle relish
½ teaspoon grated onion
½ tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Blend soup and mayonnaise. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill. Makes about 2½ cups dressing.

Salad:

4 cups lettuce, torn in bite-size pieces
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 cups cubed cooked lobster (about 3 medium-size tails)
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper

Toss together all ingredients, Chill. At serving time, pour dressing over and mix lightly. Garnish with wedges of additional hard-cooked egg, 6 servings.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

GRADY Taylor has opened up his Discount Store in West End. He invites you to come by and see what he has to offer. Grady says he's got everything from A to Z. . . and if that doesn't cover it. . . he'll get it for you.

WORD from Alvin Ellison Wednesday morning was that the serious operation on his eye was a success Tuesday afternoon. Alvin got a bad burn on his eye from a torch with which he was working, and complications set in. Our thoughts are with him and his family, and we are certain that Alvin will appreciate your prayers. He is in Jackson Hospital in Montgomery.

SEMMIE Scott took some color pictures of the "Open House" activities at the Bank of Thorsby last Sunday. He says to tell anyone who is interested to come by and see what he has in the camera!

GOODYEAR is 65 years old this week! The folks at the local store are celebrating this event by offering you unbelieveable bargains in just about everything. See Ray Hall, Acie Mims, Herman Lecroy, Marie Shaw, Horace Burnett or Charles Payton. . . S'matter of fact, see their ad in this issue of the News!

MET two fine young gentlemen from Maplesville Tuesday. They are Ed Clapp, Jr. and Bobby Chambers. They were representing the Sr. Class of the school, and did an admirable job of it, too. We like to see the young folks showing an interest in free enterprise. It's good for them. . . and all the rest of us, as well.

MRS. Archie Taylor of Cooper showed us a "donkey" this week which she sold 25 different time for a dollar a time. She was really raising money for the Democratic Women in Chilton County; but if you didn't know that, you'd think Mrs. Taylor was a humdinger of a salesman! Come to think of it. . . she is a humdinger of a salesman!

L. A. "Leonard" Wyatt asked us to announce that there will be a Fox Hunt and supper next Saturday night, September 21st at the Buddy Ellison Lake, which is located 10 miles south of Clanton off Highway 22. Serving will begin at 5:00 and the affair is sponsored by the Chilton County Foxhunters Association.

THE Clanton Quarterback Club had a delegation which met with the Board of Education last Saturday morning, to request that the Board reconsider "three points" with regards to the coaching supplement at the local High School. Word from the Club Tuesday of this week, was that tre Board had voted against the request. The request was that the coaching supplement be reinstated. Word is that the Quarterback Club intends to pay an amount equal to the supplement so that both coaches at CCHS will receive the full amount of $550.

THE Mar-Creek HD Club cordially invites you to a Musical Variety program with Dr. Bill Parker and Singers on October 1st at 7:30 at the Marbury High School. Advance tickets are now on sale for 50c and 75c. Mrs. Colen Wright, Club president, extends this invitation to the public. Admission at the door will be 75c and $1.00.

MR. Farmer, did you get a "Report Card" in your mail today? The following routemen at Clanton P. O. ask that you be on the look out for one, so that you can participate in the annual acreage survey, which is now underway. They are: J. M. Mims Rt. 1; R. Z. Gray, Rt. 2; W. B. Crowe, Jr., Rt. 3; E. B. Allison, Rt. 4; and H. G. Thompson, Rt. 5. Reliable acreage estimates are needed to determine crop production. Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Little Michael Litz celebrated his first birthday Monday night, September 9th. His playmates were Barry Cleckler, Eddy Guy and their parents. Cake, ice cream was served and the parents enjoyed coffee and cake.

Open House At Thorsby Bank Big Success

TO say that the "Open House" ceremonies at the Bank of Thorsby last Sunday, were successful, would be the understatement of the week!

According to some estimates, upward of 1500 persons attended the gala occasion, including many persons from other parts of the State. Among the dignitaries present were State SSenator J. T. "Jimmy" McDow and family of Columbiana and Representative H. G. Heflin and Mrs. Heflin of Clanton.

Present also, greeting the throngs who visited the new building were the Board of Directors (see advertisement this issue), and Randal Marcus, cashier at the bank.

Special congratulations and thanks are in order for the five young ladies, who, according to Vice-President Joe Cobb, handled the entire affair, including planning and serving refreshments. They are Sara Benson, Joan Conway, Ann Wilson, Peggy Marcus and Rebecca Martin. "Without them," said Mr. Cobb, "we just couldn't have had the success that we did!"

Mr. Cobb also said, "If you haven't been by to see our new bank building please come by at your earliest convenience." "You're always welcome at the Bank of Thorsby," he concluded.

A letter was received by R. M. McGee, FFA advisor at Jemison High, on September 11, informing him that the Jemison Chapter has been selected to receive the Silver Emblem in the National Chapter awards program at the National FFA Convention, which is to convene at Kansas City on October 8.

This is an outstanding honor for one of Chilton County's home teams. They also won the State Gold Emblem at the State Convention, held recently at Auburn.

Tommy Shields, who himself will receive the American Farmer Degree at the National Convention, is planning to attend representing the Jemison Chapter. Possibly others will also attend.

You might be interested to know that the county has a little over 8,000 acres of cotton planted, and it is estimated that the yield will be approximately one bale per acre. At a gross of $200.00 per bale, you can readily see the economic value of cotton in Chilton County ($1,600,000.00). If we can eliminate, or reduce the cotton insect damage and or cost of controlling these insects, our net profits will be greatly increased.

LAST Thursday night, while everyone was in "Slumberville". thieves broke into three business establishments in Thorsby.

Church Praises Gov. On Constitution Stand

Alexander City, Ala.
September, 16, 1963

Dear Governor Wallace:

The Ray Baptist Church of Alexander City, Alabama, in Conference Sunday evening September 15, 1963, voted unanimously to write this letter of commendation to you.

At the outset we wish to state that we deplore the acts of violence in Birmingham and elsewhere, but we believe they are the direct result of the unlawful interference of the Federal Government in the lives of our people.

We commend you for your stand for constitutional government and defense of the right of the people of the State to run its own government. We deplore the dictatorial actions of the Central Government dictated by the Kennedy Klan and directed by the ruthless hand of Robert Kennedy. It it disgraceful, too, for the Federal Marshals to invade our Capital.

Our heartfelt thanks are extended to you for your dignified stand against the Central Government. We want you to know that this Church stands by you and supports you with our prayers.

We have made arrangements for this letter to be sent to the Alexander City Outlook, The Alabama Baptist, The Montgomery Advertiser, and WSFA-TV.

May God bless you is our prayer.

Rev. A. C. Hughes,
Pastor
Mrs. J. W. Trimble,
Clerk

EDITORIALS

The Right Oo Information--

THE suppression of news in any form, when it has a direct bearing on the welfare and general attitude of a majority of the people, is wrong!

Information which is fundamentally "public information", legally and-or morally is a basic freedom of the American way of life. If it is withheld from an individual because another person, or group of persons, feels that the information cannot be properly understood by the first party, they are voluntarily suppressing the freedom of that individual.

Who among us, is qualified in determing who can understand information, and who cannot? If you have grounds for believing that your neighbor cannot understand information which is public information; that, in itself, does not give you the authority to withhold it from him. Each of us must understand to the best of our ability. Some of us misunderstand, and some of us cannot begin to understand, but it is nonetheless our inherent right to be exposed to public information.

It is crystal clear to this editor, that if one person feels he has the right to withhold information from another; then it is logical that we all have the same right. If that is the case, where does the censorship and suppression cease?

It does not cease. It only leads to the oppression of a people and a nation, and finally complete control of those people by whatever few individuals feel that they are intelligent enough to determine who can understand, and who cannot.

Our entire system of Americanism and free enterprise is threatened by those who set themselves up as judges, and who thereby decree to all mankind that he may or may not "understand" what is rightfully his to determine.

It is true, that in many cases public information is "misunderstood by some of the public; but it is still public information!

It is by far a lesser tragedy for public information to be "misunderstood" by some; than to have it withheld from all of us because of that fact.

Pursued to the end; this idea could only serve to enslave the minds of men; and create confusion and doubt among those who "can understand"; and finally be the destruction of our way of life.

Your local newspaper is your most vital link between your own understanding of public information and the information itself.. It can give you the information in depth and in detail, but not without the active support and cooperation of those individuals whom you have elected to act as your "public servants".

The peoples' right to know is the most important freedom which we possess. It is everyone's responsibility that it be maintained.

Board Of Trustees--

IT has been brought to the attention of the News that Chilton County High School, Henry Adair School, and Clanton Elementary School do not have a Board of Trustees.

This is supposed to be a regulating body of any institution of learning, which advises the school board and the administrative heads of the school on matters concerning that particular school.

Such a Board of Trustees is not only legal in this State; it should be mandatory for the smooth functioning of the school and its activities.

Most schools in Chilton County have a Board of Trustees. They are elected by the patrons of the school which they serve.

It seems evident that the need, and the usefulness of a Board such as this, in many incidents regarding the education of our children, is beyond question.

Why then, don't the people think enough of such a body to elect one?

Test-Ban Wrong?--

THE John Birch Society takes the position that it is both immoral and stupid to enter into any treaty with criminals who have no respect for treaties.

The Communists say that promises, like pie crusts, are made to be broken: that they enter into treaties only for the advantages to themselves, and with no expectation of abiding by such treaties. And they have proved by their actions, in violating dozens of solemn treaties before the ink was hardly dry, that they are just as unscrupulous as they claim to be.

Amid the infinite confussion around us today, the only safe guide is the moral standard. The important question about any proposed action, by a man or by a nation, is not "Is it smart?" but "Is it right?" Entering into the test-ban treaty with the Soviet murderers is morally wrong. And for that very reason it is assuredly unwise.

Can't Do Nuthin'!--

AS a newspaper editor, we are very often put in much the same position, if not more so, as the proverbial politician who "can't do nuthin' right"!

Often times, it doesn't matter what we say, or how true it may be, or how honorable our intentions, it is, much like the actions of the politicians, frowned upon by at least someone.

But then, if we didn't have critics, how would we gain any perspective to determine whether or not we are doing something worthwhile, or just doing something!?

We, as a newspaper editor, are constantly chastized and railed at for what we don't do by some, and by what we do by many others. In other words, you can't please everybody!

If you ever wondered to yourself how a board, entrusted with the task of administering leadership to a public institution, would operate if all its members resigned; ask yourself also: "would I do the job?" Or: "Could I do the job as well . . . or better than it is being done at present?"

If your answer is "no" then you have no right to criticize what IS being done; particularly if it is being done honestly, and to the best ability of the individual whom you are criticizing.

Public service is a most unrewarding form of occupation. It pays little or nothing in material things; and, the greatest compensation is often times the scorn and ridicule of your fellows.

So, why does a man or woman seek a position of public service?

That's a good question!

Is it possibly because they feel they may be able to contribute, in some small measure, to the advancement of their community?

Is it because they feel they owe it to their friends and neighbors, to, in some small way, repay a similar sacrifice on the part of another who has gone before?

Perhaps another reason entirely; but, whatever the reason, we have great respect for the individual who is courageous enough to risk the wrath of his fellowmen, by serving them in a public capacity, wherein he receives no money for his services (or very little), and little or nothing else, except his own personal satisfaction of trying to help others, in spite of others.

Ladies War Against Illiteracy--

IT is a little known and astonishing fact that 2288 men and women in and around Chilton County cannot read a newspaper or fill out a simple employment application.

This information is according to to the Alabama Literacy Council, and points vividly to the problem, not only of education in this area, but also industrial expansion. These people are so-called "functional illiterates", but they include men and women over the age of 25 who have had no schooling, or who have not comlpeted the fourth grade.

It looks as though we are not only having trouble educating our youngsters; the time is fast approaching when we will have to educate a lot of our adults in order that they may earn and maintain a decent standard of living.

The Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs all over the State of Alabama have initiated a program whereby these people may learn to read in special classes so designed for the purpose, and sponsored by the Federation.

This, is unquestionably, a commendable, very useful, and needed project. More power to the ladies in their war against illiteracy and sub-standard living conditions.

Take Fight To Ballot Box --

Our Determination Strengthened Says Gov. Wallace This Week

The use of military force to integrate the public schools of Alabama last week brought the most potent instrument of force in the world, directed by the ruthless hand of the Attorney General, against the people of Alabama.

The Kennedys took personal command of their Alabama garrison. The federal courts, by injunction, removed every State Trooper from the job that I assignd to them-keeping the peace at various schools in this State.

For carrying out their duty in this regard they could have been individually and collectively inprisoned by the armed forces of the United States. The President then took over the remaining force, th National Guard, that I had at my disposal to keep the peace.

Mr. Kennedy, consumed by his doubtful re-election, took complete charge. The Kennedy forces lay the predicate for the jailing of the Governor of Alabama. Was this done because it has been announced that I might participate in some of the presidential primaries?

When we come to jailing political opponents we will have taken another long step toward a military dictatorship.

The cause of freedom and liberty, although imperialed once again by unwarranted and illegal action of the fderal government, is not lost.

I would call to the attention of citizens of the other 49 states of the Union the grave nature of the events that have occurred in Alabama. The Governor of this Sovereign State ,whose constitutional duty it is to enforce the law and preserve the peace, was denied the means with which to carry out that duty.

Similar federal encroachment can easily occur in other states. Everyone stands in danger of being crushed by military force when they disagree with the dictates of the central government.

Some elected officials of this state have worked in concert with our enemies. Every tactic in the book has been used to force integration on the people of Alabama, and it has been done at the peril of life, liberty, and property.

If our enemies - those who assail our stand for constitutional government because it is incompatible with their selfish dreams and ambitions — think that we are crushed, let them know now that their latest actions have only strengthened our determination to fight for our rights until we see our cause prevail. Again I say, we are standing up, and the heel of tyranny does not fit in the neck of an upright man.

We shall continue to resist judicial and executive oppression. We shall continue to take our cause to the people of the United States until they fully realize the eminent danger posed by arbitrary judicial action and self serving executive decree. We shall take our fight to the ballot box until those who promote and support the suppression of legal constitutional government are replaced by men who aspire to be servants of the people, rather than their masters.

Dear Sir:

I am with you one hundred percent when you say that you advocate giving Gov. Geo. C. Wallace a big "E" for effort. I think our Governor is doing a wonderful job. I hope the people not only in Alabama, but all over the nation will wake up and stand up for their rights as whites.

Your paper is one of the few newspapers in the state that seems to have guts to display good old southern common sense.

Keep up the good work and add my name to your mailing list. Please bill me at the above address.

We publish it, because we have read it completely, and it presents a few points of logic overlooked by many in our troubled times.

We do not necessarialy agree with all of Mr. Neff's statements, but we nevertheless recognize his right to say it.

The following is printed as a matter of contrast in the myriad of opinions on the racial situation in America today. We do not know whether Mr. Neff is a Communist, a Yankee sympathier, a Baptist, or a Turkish potentate. All we are dealing with is what he has to say in the following column

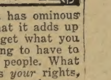
Comment from the Capital —



RIGHTS FROM WRONGS

by Vant Neff

Mob violence, rioting in the streets and wide-spread defiance of law and order are no novelties, certainly, in today's topsy-turvy world. We almost accept them as routine in such places as the Far East, say, or Africa.

But now, suddenly, we're confronted with an ugly new rash of civil disorder that's disturbingly different. This time, it's not happening 10,000 miles away. It's happening right here. In our country—the good old U.S.A.

What we're talking about is the way things are going in the civil-rights crisis. The Negro, in his struggle for equality, has lost patience with the courts. Now he's taking his problems out into the streets and mob action is a dangerous substitute for peaceful appeal.

We're very much in sympathy with the Negro's cause. And so are most thoughtful people. But, we're terribly afraid that these new tactics might change much of this friendly support into resentment. And friendly support from the whites is something the Negro needs to achieve his goals.

It seems pretty obvious that the Negro has good reason to be dissatisfied. Simply because his skin happens to be black, he comes out a poor second in housing, jobs, and schools. And not just in the South, but all over the country.

Imagine for a few seconds that you are a Negro. If you're hungry, you'd better think twice about where you go for a sandwich. A lot of lunch counters won't serve you — no matter how many medals you won during the war.

Need a haircut? You can run into trouble there, too.

And you can be sure that you'll get the same treatment from hotel desk clerks, employment agencies and transportation ticket salesmen.

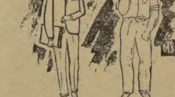
The phrase "second-class citizen" isn't empty rhetoric. It's an accurate statement of what it's like to be a Negro.

Unquestionably, the Negro has a right to demand that these injustices be corrected. After all, he's been kicked around ever since the Emancipation Proclamation, over a hundred years ago, and it's high time something was done about it promptly.

But there are right ways and wrong ways to fight racial discrimination. Contempt for law and order can lead only to new trouble — both for the Negro and the country.

Abuse of the right to picket is an example. When pickets block roadways and building entrances, they violate the rights of others to free passage. Moreover, they violate the law. Lawlessness breeds lawlessness, and the eventual result is violence and anarchy.

Responsible Negro leaders are aware of these dangers. Roy Wilkins, Executive Secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had this to say to a southern Negro audience: "We are not fighting white people. We are fighting for an idea . . . the idea of freedom. You don't have to be discourteous, or rude, or militant, or even stubborn. When we have won the fight for freedom, we must be prepared to live with white people."



WHICH ONE WOULD WIN YOUR SUPPORT ?

Other leaders, however, are less wise and more impatient. They want results — and right now! How? By "direct action." That includes mass sit-down demonstrations, a nation-wide campaign of civil disobedience, and even threats of violence.

One direct action advocate put it this way: "Until now the Negro has been discriminated against. The time has come for discrimination in favor of the Negro."

The statement has ominous implications. What it adds up to is this: "To get what you want, you're going to have to walk over other people. What really matters is your rights, not theirs. In other words, anything goes."

The viewpoint expressed is clearly irresponsible. But many Negroes feel that it's the only way. Their faith in the courts is fading. And they're tired of waiting.

Many white sympathizers aren't quite so sure. A recent poll among them shows that disenchantment has already set in. Typical comment was "Breaking the law is no way to win respect." Significantly enough, many of the ones who felt that way were the very ones who marched alongside Negro pickets and helped out the most.

Another development — and one that has many whites and Negroes out-and-out scared — is the growing strength of a lunatic fringe—the Black Muslim hate cult. What they preach is not Negro equality, but Negro dominance, and they're both anti-white and anti-Semitic. So far, they haven't been very active in the civil-rights struggle, but it's rumored that they're only waiting for the strategic moment. If they gain in numbers — watch out!

It's deplorable that peaceful and legitimate means have largely been abandoned. In the federal courts, for example, Negroes have won rights repeatedly. The growing power of the Negro vote offers other possibilities. And, persistent appeal to decency and fairmindedness is undoubtedly still the best weapon of all.

Let's face the cold hard facts. There's no quick, easy solution. The problem is far too touchy and far too complicated.

And it's going to take a lot of patience, understanding and enlightenment on both sides.

But won't it be wonderful when every man can stand on his own two feet and face the world squarely, without being slapped down because of his race or color.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

The explosive situation in the English Crown Colony of British Guiana should be a matter of grave concern to our government.

Evidence was released in Washington recently which indicates that Russian funds are flowing into this small South Amercan country to support the party of Jagan. Moscow's subsidy of Jaguiana's Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan-dirctly and through Cuba is a clear violation of the colonys new constitution.

While the British retain control of Guiana's foreign affairs and defense, the colony operates under a constitution granted in 1961, when Jagan was elected prime minister. Some of the middle class are already fleeing the country as Jagan, an admitted Marxist, consolidates his control.

"Cuban Friends"

In addition to funds that are flowing into Georgetown, the capital of British Guiana, from the Soviet bloc, Jagan has demonstrated increasing ties with Communist Cuba. Following a visit to Cuba in 1961, he said, "We have friends with rockets, guns and gold." Some 200 men from Guiana went to Cuba last year for training and indoctrination, and the nation, which is slightly larger than Alabama, reportedly has been the transhipment site for Cuban arms destined for Latin American revolutionaries.

Jagan and his wife, a former Chicago resident and now a member of the country's Senate, have had a turbulent tenure. His administration has been marked by violent riots, which are due partly to increased racial tension. Approximately 48 per cent of the colony's half-million people are East Indians, and about 33 per cent are Negroes. The white minority is composed largely of Portuguese.

British Guiana is strategically located on the northern tip of the South Aemrican continent between oil rick Venezuela—the Cuban Communist terrorists' top subversive target and the sleeping giant of South America, Brazil.

London's Problem

This disturbing situation is made more serious by the fact that the British have plans to make British Guiana fully independent. President Kennedy in a recent news conference correctly stated that this is a British problem, and it should be settled in London. At the sa time, however, the Executi branch of our government wou be negligent in its duty if it fail to call to the attention of t British the fact that a Co munis takeover in British Gu ana would endanger the freedo of the entire South Americ continent and increase the a ready tremendious burdens ca ried by the United States a its allies.

We will have the baptismal services in the church baptistry during the regular services next Sunday night, September 22. We recently learned that Mr. Jack Easterling who took pictures of the last baptismal service here, have shown them in the Chilton County Nursing Home. The nurses told the writer that they were great and very much appreciated by all of us.

We will get started soon on our church renovation work, and you who wish to have some part in the work, can hand your gift to Mr. M. Lloyd Mims or to the pastor and it will be placed along side the other gifts.

Mrs. Pauline Adams will undergo surgery Wednesday of this week at the Chilton County Hospital. We will be much in prayer for her. Mr. John Mark Easterling had a growth removed at the University Clinic in Birmingham last week, but returned home immediately. Mrs. Sadie Maddox was on the sick list last week end. Mr. Andrew Mims who has been a shut in for some time was rather sick last week and had the doctor several times. The church is sending him a nice flower this week.

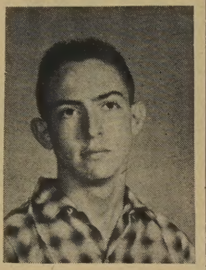
"Buddy" is the Jemison FFA Chapter's prize Angus bull which they recently showed at the Chilton County Fair, and which they intend to show at the South Alabama Fair in Montgomery next month.



PICTURED here is Tommy Shields, of Jemison, who has been honored as the second in the history of Jemison High School, to earn the coveted American Farmer Degree for outstanding work in the field of "organized and planned farming procedures."

Tommy will attend the National FFA convention in Kansas City, Mo., October 8-11, and receive his award.

Chinese Spareribs Barbecued With Canned Mushroom Gravy

The land of rickshaws, bamboo, and chopsticks is a land of elegant food. The art of Chinese cooking, thousands of years old, holds a prominent place in oriental culture.

Although Chinese dishes look strange and complicated, they can be simply and deliciously prepared using familiar canned convenience foods.

For this exotic dinner, start off with a clear soup—canned condensed consomme or boullion. Next come egg rolls (buy them frozen) with a hot mustard sauce. Serve lots of rice with the spareribs—finish up with tea and fortune cookies. You have an elaborate Chinese meal without any extra fuss.

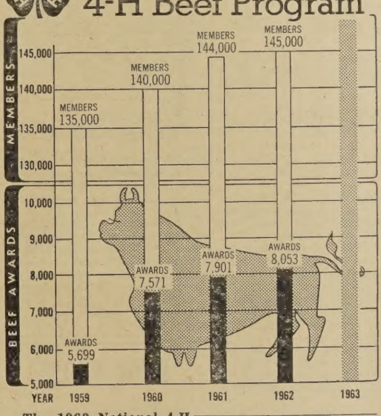
Barbecued Spareribs with Mushrooms

2 pounds spareribs
⅓ cup chopped onion
1 ½ teaspoons chili powder
1 large clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 ½ ounces) mushroom gravy
¼ cup ketchup
1 tablespoon vinegar

Cook spareribs in large amount of boiling water 1 hour; drain. Meanwhile, cook onion with chili powder and garlic in butter until tender. Stir in gravy, ketchup, and vinegar; cook over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring now and then. Broil spareribs 4 inches from heat for 30 minutes, turning and basting with sauce every 5 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

NOTE: If using hibachi, prepare spareribs and sauce as above. Place spareribs on hibachi grill, 4 inches from coals. Cook for 30 minutes, turning and basting with sauce every 5 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

5th ANNIVERSARY 4-H Beef Program



The 1963 National 4-H Club Congress and the International Live Stock show the first week in December are destined to be once-in-a-lifetime experiences for a 4-H beef project winner.

An all-expense trip to Chicago awaits the state's top prize winner. The boy or girl also will be considered for one of six $500 college scholarships presented to the highest ranking 4-H beef cattle producers in the nation.

This year marks the 5th anniversary of the beef program sponsorship by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company. During the last five years participation and awards won by 4-H'ers have increased markedly.

Extension Supervised

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, the program in 1962 attracted more than 145,000 boys and girls in nearly every state compared to about 135,000 in 1959. Enrollment is expected to show another increase when the 1963 figures are compiled.

Chance to Learn

The beef program offers 4-H'ers opportunities to learn and apply latest methods of breeding, feeding and marketing. Much of the original research and testing were done by the agricultural experiment stations.

The youths also practice judging, fitting and showing of animals, and demonstrate various aspects of livestock production and management.

Awards Not Easy

Progress reports, personal development and service to the community are considered when 4-H award winners are selected.

Three girls and 21 boys already have claimed scholarships and next December six more youths will join this elite group.

A Letter From County Agent Sellers To Chilton Farmers

To: All Chilton County Cotton Producers

Dear Friend:

I would like to remind you of a very worthwhile program that should be carried out this fall by every cotton producer in the county - that is, bush hogging or turning under all cotton stalks immediately after harvest.

If this practice is adopted on a countywide basis, or throughout a particular community, I feel that the population of boll weevils that over-winter in or near cotton fields will be greatly reduced. However, if only a few farmers do this very little good will be derived.

You will have to agree that this year, being similar to the year of 1955 which followed a very severe winter, the net income from cotton is going to be much higher than in normal years when boll weevil infestation is heavy. When insect control masures become necessary during the early fruiting season, costs range from $12.00 to $18.00 per acre (5 to 6 applications). Let's take a medium, say $15.00 per acre - for 8,000 acres the cost of controlling weevils for one season in Chilton County would be $120,000.00.

You might be interested to know that the county has a little over 8,000 acres of cotton planted, and it is estimated that the yield will be approximately one bale per acre. At a gross of $200.00 per bale, you can readily see the economic value of cotton in Chilton County ($1,600,000.00). If we can eliminate, or reduce the cotton insect damage and or cost of controlling these insects, our net profits will be greatly increased.

If you think well of this idea, please discuss destroying cotton stalks with your neighbors and make every effort to do this as early as possible after harvest is completed. Every day it is postponed after harvest, the better chance the weevils have of going into rest period for the winter months.

Your cooperation in this will be appreciated by each and every cotton producer in the county.

Very truly yours,
John D. Sellers
County Agent

Visitors Sunday were Mrs. Estelle Wilson and two daughters from Birmingham. Sunday evening, Rev. Forriester's mother from Atlanta, Ga. was in our service. A very cordial welcome is extended to these visitors and any others who wish to worship with us.

Rev. and Mrs. Forriester were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lenoir.

Some of the congregation attended the Autauga County Singing Convention at Billingsley on Sunday afternoon, and enjoyed some wonderful singing.

We will elect our church officers and leaders next Sunday for the next associational year.

Pray for the sick and shut-ins and visit them whenever possible. And please attend church services next Sunday.

Lomax Sacred Horp Singing Huge Success

The Sacred Harp Singing Convention at New Harmony Church (Lomax) last Sunday, was indeed a success.

A number of good singers from other parts of the County and State were most helpful and encouraging. Marvin Jackson, chairman, directed the opening song followed with prayer by Bro. George Williams. The committee Bros. Carlton Golden, Vester Oaks and Coleman Crocker performed their duties with accord and precision.

A nice lunch was served at the noon hour and we wish to thank everyone who contributed to making this a good day.

Secretary is Flora Oaks.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

STATE Superintendent of Education A. R. Meadows said this week, in a statement from Montgomery: "We need education for the long established and accepted goals of life but we need new emphasis on education to produce a higher economy to defend ourselves and to maintain and expand our cultural, economic, and political life." And he further stated: "The very best in every man, woman, and child is needed in Alabama to produce every dollar we can and to improve every possible brain cell for costly defsnse and to develop a culture to stand the stress and strain of the times.." We hope every teacher, preacher, storekeeper, and politician tacks this up on his wall, and every now and then re-read it for emphasis and digestion! If we would all take this attitude CONSISTENTLY, we wouldn't have any educational woes or misunderstandings!

DON'T forget that Levine's will be closed this coming Saturday, all day. (See adv. in this issue) "Doc" says to be sure and come by today or tomorrow to do your week end shopping for shoes and such!

THE foxes were running last Saturday night at Buddy Ellison's Lake south of Clanton. Leonard Wyatt says the hunt was a big success; and he also asked us to thank all those who came out and helped make the event a success.

LARRY Culpepper reminds us that the Jaycees will set up a "Peachy Tag Booth" in the Courthouse beginning next Tuesday. They will be selling "Chilton County Peach" tags for you to put on the front of your car. You can buy them when you buy your license plates for 1964. . . and for a heck of a lot less money. . . only $1.00 each.

PLEASE note on this week's Editorial Page that the News has at least four new reporters. We always get a great deal of fun out of the reports of the "Clubs" in the local schools, and we think the youngsters get quite a charge out of writing for the newspaper. Their expressions are sometimes unique, and we try to leave their copy as near as possible to exactly what they have written. You will note in the second article under the "Clubs" head on Page two, that there is a "Debra" and a "Deborah". No last name! We don't know who they are, but we figure that they will know. . . and maybe they'll inform our reporter, and then we'll all know. We plan to make a regular feature out of the "Club News" if the kids will continue to and bring it in. One thing though, Reporters: get it in to the office on Saturday, or not later than Monday, if you will. That will give us a better chance to really do it up right!

STUDENTS! Be sure to get in on the Big Essay Contest in the News. You can win a full year's free admission to the Clanton Drive-In Theatre, and a year's subscription to the Chilton County News. You have only until Friday, October 4th to get your entry into the News office, so hurry up now.. Only high school Senior Two and Three students inside Chilton County are eligible to participate. The winner will be announced in the October 10th issue of the News, and the winning essay will be published, one each week, following the completion of the Contest. Get your pencil and paper and put your brain into gear and WIN THOSE PRIZES! There will also be 2nd and 3rd place prizes, which will be announced next week!

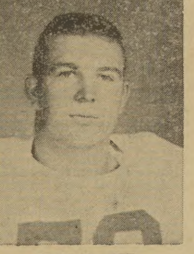
'Big John' First String Tackle At Auburn



JOHN McAFEE

JOHN McAfee, 200-pound tackle at Auburn University is now "first string" material. He is the "No. 1" right tackle for the Auburn Tigers.

John, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McAfee of Lawley, got his early training in the line at Plantersville in high school. He was playing in an All-Star game, which was one of his best, when two scouts from Auburn got a look at his style. From there, it was "War Eagle" all the way.

A heavyweight wrestling champion at Auburn last winter, John attributes some of his ability and quickness to that training under Swede Umbach, the wrestling coach.

So, Chilton County has a first-stringer on the all-time great Auburn Tiger team; and all indications are that he will do us real proud.

Well maybe not entirely Chilton County. . . Dallas takes some of the credit. . . but there's no denying it. . . John's a Chilton County cornbread fed boy all the way!

Judge White Makes Appeal to You

Re-Identify When You Buy Your Tag

Ladies and Gentleman, the Re-Identification Law passed in the Summer of 1962, was passed for the purpose of removing the names of all people that are dead, the names of all non-residents, that is those people that ar living permanently in another county or state and to re-locate or place voters in the beat and box where their place of residence is located.

If you did not re-identify on or before January 1st., 1963 your name was removed from the qualified voters list by the Chilton County Board of Registers. Now the law further provides that you can still qualify by re-identifying before any election. It appears that the next election will be held in early December of this year and I'm sure you will certainly want to vote in the Primary Elections next year and certainly by all means the General Election next year.

Now, if you have not attended to this matter, and since many of you have not, may I suggest that when you come ot the Probate Office to buy your Privilege license or your tag, please attend to this most important matter at that time.

One of my clerks in the Probate Office will be glad to assist you in the matter.

Now, Ladies and Gentlemen may I beg you to keep this notice in mind and may I leave this thought with you, "Never in my judgement in the history of our beloved country has the need for every true citizen voting next year. This is our only opportunity left to preserve our true American Way of Life."

If I can assist you in any way in this matter please feel free to call on me.

Your friend,

Judge of Probate

Garbage Disposal Areas Needed

Judge J. C. White wishes to announce that the Chilton County Board of Revenue and Control is anxious to establish garbage dump areas in every community throughout Chilton County if needed. The dumping of garbage on our county roads and riderways is not only fast becoming unsightly but is fast becoming a health hazard as well.

The Board needs the cooperation of every citizen in helping eilminate this unsightly menace. If the Board can find someone that has an area of land badly eroded or maybe land having a large ditch that needs filling up and would be willing to lease the area to the County to be used for a dumping area, then the County could take County equipment and cover the garbage with dirt once or twice each year and by so doing would serve a public need and at the same time the land would become improved.

Now, if anyone knows of such sites or if anyone possesses such an area, please notify your Board Member in your community, the County Road Engineer Mr. R. M. (Bob) Alexander, Jr., the County Sanitation Officer, Mr. Charlie Gay, or J. C. White, your Probate Judge.

Your cooperation in this most important matter will be greatly appreciated.

Your friend,
J. C. White, Judge of Probate and Chairman, Board of Revenue and Control.

Tigers Plagued By 'Indians' and 'Devils'

BIBB CO. DEFEATS CLANTON 8 - 0

By MIKE DENNIS

THE Chilton County Tigers suffered their second defeat of the season Friday night, Sept. 13 as the Bibb County Choctaws beat them 8-0 at Centreville.

The Tigers made a great improvement over the previous game with Columbiana by holding Bibb County to a scoreless first half.

The final score came in the fourth quarter when the Choctaws caught Richard Maddox behind the goal line for a safety.

There were several defensive standouts in the ball game: Francis Kane, Ray Mahan, Chipper Hay and Harold Lawrence were a few of the outstanding linemen. Bobby Powers, Rickey Wyatt, Mike Cox and Donny Barker played a good game as defensive backs.

The Dominion Of Man--

WE have found one of the surest cures for the ills of man's mind. It is the simplest cure on earth; but rather than taken by prescription, it must be learned and then practiced.

The autumn breezes suggest the power and the glory which no mortal man possesses. They whisper to the things of nature, and nature responds according to past example and practice. All nature joins with autumn in the solemn ritual of preparing for winter and the cold months ahead.

The animals do not bicker amongst themselves; and the trees and grasses of the field do not question the good or bad of the coming season. They have no doubt of the fact that the Almighty has everything under control; and they respond to the natural instinct of preparation for survival.

We saw a sign in a man's office the other day which read: "People are so busy at making a living, that they have no time to live!" Is this possibly the reason for man's discontent? Does he blame everybody else, including nature, for his failure to "live" in the world which God made for him?

God made man to have dominion over all the other things of this world. It seems to have gotten to the point where so many of us fail to take the time to think of the importance of this, and we forget how to "live".

"Living" is not "doing better than anybody else"; it is man's learned ability to take what he has, do the best he can with it, and enjoy the things in this world which God, in his wisdom, has put here for man to enjoy.

If you have forgotten, or never found, how to appreciate and enjoy the things of nature; my friend, you are not "living"!

Community Attitude--

JUST for the record, the second most important factor in a company's decision to locate a plant in an area is: "Community Attitude"! Does that amaze you? And it is second only to the important factor of what the potential of the particular market which the company serves will be.

You might say, then; that a community's attitude, say to a prospective rubber company which has plans of locating a new plant somewhere, is the most important thing in that company's decision, as far as anything which the community can do is concerned.

And then come the material things, such as: labor, physical setting, fuel, power, water, etc. Included in their decision as to "community attitudes" are such things as: favorable tax rates, and building codes; and a minimum of restrictive legislation. But, the all important thing in the decision seems to be the attitude of the community, as a whole! In other words, "do they want us? and, what will they be willing to offer to get us?"

The United State Rubber Company is locating a new, and completely modern plant on some 400 acres four miles southeast of Opelika in Lee County, Alabama. The $20 million plant will employ 450 to 500 workers and is scheduled to be in full operation by 1964.

How did Opelika and Lee do it? Well, they had a lot of professional help; but the primary factor seems to have been a favorable "Community Attitude"!

Alabama's State Fair--

THE big, always wonderful, Alabama State Fair will get underway in Birmingham on September 30th and run through October 5th.

Features of this year's contribution to the annals of State Fairs, will be: "The Flying Rocket Man", Molly Bee, Chuck "Rifleman" Connors, the Coronation of the Alabama Maid of Cotton by Chilton County's one and only Rebecca Bentley of Thorsby, and many other thrilling and unusual things to see and hear.

The big grandstand show is shaping up into an unusual attraction, and of course there will be the agricultural and industrial exhibits, and that standby, The bright mile-long Midway, that is a standard attraction of the Alabama Fair.

Take the kids, and have a good time for a change!

Good From The 'Ill Wind'--

IT has once again been proven that "it is an ill wind that blows nobody good"! The current racial and "civil rights" trouble that is ravaging the countryside, especially the South, his finally brought about something which can be construed as good -- no doubt about it! Tuesday morning we were in a local business establishment, and the proprietor had a bound book containing the Constitution of The United States of America. . . and he was studying it.. Now, there is a very definite proof that the present strife, is at least focusing the attention of the average American citizen on the things which he should always be concerned with.

Namely, his freedom!

Students: Enter And Win--

THE Essay Contest (front page) is designed and intended to promote business interest among our young folks. The News feels that if this, or any other community expects to grow and prosper it must have young folks. And young folks without a fair knowledge of the business community in which they live, are not much of an asset to the future of that community.

The News also feels that it would be good if mothers and fathers would encourage this sort of thing in the home. Certainly parents are aware of the importance of the business community to the growth and progress of the area. It is not, or it should not be, a totally adult pursuit to know your community.

We sincerely hope that many students in the Junior and Senior high school classes (11th and 12th grades) throughout Chilton County will enter this contest. It is something that we all could do a bit better than we presently do.

"Discrimination Against South" Says Bob Jones

Congressman Bob Jones (D.-Ala.) has registered a strong protest with officials of the Executive Branch regarding the Federal regulations requiring educational institutions participating in governmnet sponsored educational programs to submit written assurance that they do not discriminate.

In a statement denouncing this policy of Federal intervention, Congressman Jones said: 'I have made it clear that I stand solidly for the preservation of our Southern traditions and customs and bitterly resent further Federal interference with the admission policies of our schools and colleges".

"I have urged that this ill-advised regulation be withdrawn immediately and further I am introducing legislation to eliminate this executive abuse."

Jones further stated that, "Nothing could have been done to adversely effect the fine colleges and Universities of our State more than this unwarranted order." Jones explained that. "the excellent students and trainees enrolled under this program will fail to obtain educational opportunities that have been theirs and which has been operated so successfully in the past."

Jones further said that "this is another trespass upon State sovereignty and is an invasion upon the orderly operation of our schools and educational institutions."

Congressman Huddleston Demands Figures For "March on Capital"

Representative George Huddleston, Jr., today, demanded from the U. S. Comptroller General figures revealing the cost to the American tax payer for the so-called "Civil Rights Demonstration" held in Washington yesterday.

In a letter to Mr. Joseph Campbell, Comtroller General of the United States, Congressman Huddleston queried, "I would like to know at what cost to the Americas tax payer the special forces of the Metropolitan Police Force, U. S. Army, U. S. Marine Corps and the National Guard have been assigned to duty in connection with the so-celled 'March for Jobs and Freedom."

Alabama's Representative on the Armed Services Committee further protested by saying, "I think the cost of this operatien merits an investigation by the General Accounting Office."

When requesting this total, the Birmingham Congressman reviewed figures released earlier by the Defense Department that some 3,000 Army and Marine troops were to be moved into the Washington area from their Maryland and Virginia posts. To bolster this force some 30 helicopters were brought up from Fort Braggs, North Carolina.

Mr. Huddleston stated that "when the figures are all in for the cost of supplying these forces coupled with the expenses incurred by the City of Washington to complete the extensive preparations, we should see a "bill' of astronomical proportion." Last week Representative Huddleston had questioned the wisdom of the cost of such a demonstration by pointing out that the day would be "lost" for Washington merchants as well as for the many Government agencies who allowed thousands of employees to take annual leave in order to avoid this congestion.

Representative Huddleston concluded by saying "I feel that our tax payers are entitled to know th cost ef this demonstration which the Administration apparently supported and went great lengths to insure its success.'

MEASLES VACCINE

At long last there is vaccination against measles. Because over 90 per cent of all children will at some time have measles, doctors have been awaiting such a vaccine. Just how it will be accepted and utilized by the public is debatable.

Many parents look on measles as one of those childhood diseases that everyone should get and get over, then forget. Unfortunately, measles is not that simple as secondary complications often accompany the disease Bronchopneumonia, -otitis media .inflammation of the middle ear) and encephalitis (brain inflammation), are possible complications.

Nearly all cases of measles occur among children under 15 and particularly, afflict those between two and six years of age. Rarely do cases occur among adults.

There are two types of measles vaccine now available, and the physician will indicate which type is best for the indivdual child. The vaccine is administered to those children without a history of measles at nine months of age or as soon thereafter as possible. Because infants are born with some natural immunity to measles derived from the mother, measles vaccination need not be a consideration before nine moths of age.

Immunization against measles is especially recommended for those children likely to be susceptible to the complication of the disease. Such children include those with tuberculosis heart disease, asthma, and other chronic pulmonary diseases.

The general acceptance of measles vaccine calls for a determined educational campaign on the part of doctors treating children,

100 YEARS AGO

Gov. Thomas H. Watts Clarifies His Views On Reconstruction

One hundred years ago this week, Governor-Elect of Alabama Thomas H. Watts wrote to a friend "for the purpose of correcting an erroneous impression which has obtained in (Alabama) and the United States in regard to his political opinions."

Rumors had spread over the State during the Alabama gubenatorial campaign of 1863 that Watts would sacrifice Southern independence for re-unification with the North in order to obtain peace.

"He who is now, deliberately or otherwise, in favor of 'reconstruction' with the states under Lincoln's dominion," Watts wrote "is a traitor in his heart to the state of his residence and to the Confederate States, and deserves a traitor's doom."

Warming to his subject, the newly elected governor stated, "When the men of the South shall become such base cowards as to wish for such reunion, let us call on the women of the South to march to the battlefield, and in the name of the God of justice, bid them fight under the banner of the Southern liberty!

Watt's letter called attention to the resolution of the recently called session of the state Legislature, which passed unanimously, pledging all the men and resources of Alabama to prosecute the war until the independence of the Confederacy was fully established.

"If we are true to ourselves," he concluded, "true to the memories of the past, true to our homes and our firesides, and true to our God, we cannot, we will not be conquered! In any and in every event let us prefer death to a life of cowardly shame!"

A MILLION TELEPHONES?
Yes . . . in Alabama

The State's millionth telephone, recently installed in Huntsville the nation's Space Capital, now rings in the home of Dr. Wernher von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). This historic phone not only commemorates a milestone in telephone history, but it also symbolizes the cooperation of the telephone and space industries in furthering the growth of Alabama.

It took the telephone industry three-quarters of a century to reach the half million mark in the 50's. . . now, less than 10 years later, Alabama has its millionth telephone in service. The state now has more telephones than the countries of Mexico, Yugoslavia and Uruguay combined.

With this first million already history, the State's telephone industry is already moving toward the second million.

Alabama Farm Bureau Ranks Number Five Across Nation

A blueprint for action during 1964 and general policies in behalf of agriculture for the future were to be mapped here this week (September 23-25) by leaders of one of the nation's largest general farm organizations.

The Resolutions Committee of the 90,000-odd member Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, composed of 67 county presidents plus members of the state board of directors, was charged with drawing up recommendations for the consideration of delegates to the 42nd annual convention in Birmingham, October 27-29.

The Committee's report to a large extent will be a condensation of recommendations complied by County Farm Bureaus and statewide commodity groups, said M. C. Stallworth, Jr., Chairman. He explained that these independent county units and farmers interested in specific crops had been meeting throughout the summer and fall.

"Through this procedure, we can always be certain that Farm Bureau's policies are based on the grass roots thinking of the farmers," Stallworth said. "The same system works in our American Farm Bureau which bases its policies relating to national affairs on recommendations originating in the states."

The resolutions group also has invited other farm and non-farm organizations to appear at its general sessions to present views and ideas for which they are seeking support, Federation President J. D. Hays said in Montgomery. Hays emphasized that the proposed resolutions would be subject to approval, revision or rejection by the voting delegates at Birmingham.

"We could have a record attendance in Birmingham this year," the Federation President said. "The Chamber of Commerce, Jefferson County Farm Bureau, and city and county officials are going all-out to provide the accomodations necessary for such a large convention and sub-group meetings. The Alabama Council of Home Demonstration Clubs will be holding their 37th annual meeting at the same time, so a large crowd is assured."

Alabama ranked fifth in number of member families among state Farm Bureaus last year, and already has increased its membership by more than 7,000 for 1963, Hays reported.

Verbena HD Club Met With Mrs. Mable Gaines

Now that we have entertained out of town kin folks and they have returned to their homes happier and heavier, the "Deep Freeze" is packed with fresh frozen fruits and vegetables, the pantry shelves are groaning under their burden of canned fruits, vegetables, jellies, jams, preserves, pickles, relishes, chili sauce, etc., this weary correspondent has promised herself and her fellow club members that she will do a much better job of reporting the activities of the Verbena Home Demonstration Club than she was able to do during the busy summer months.

Our regularly scheduled meetings were well attended throughout the summer and our August picnic was such a delightful affair that we have decided to have covered dish dinners several times during each year. Nothing brings people together like the promise of a lot of good food and Verbena is noted for its good cooks.

The September meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Mabel Gaines, with the president, Miss Annie Lamar, presiding. The meeting was opened with the devotional, Luke 4:16-22, by Mrs. Mary Turney. Mrs. Oscar Howard read the story of the Hymn of the Month, "Take Time To Be Holy", and the group joined in singing two verses of the hymn.

The demonstration "Basic Dresser and Accessories" was given by the Agent, Mrs. Radford. There was a discussion and exchange of ideas by the club members and original ideas were introduced. Mrs. Howard read the account of our August meeting and called the roll which was answered by nine members... The qualifications of prospective officers for the new Club year were discussed and Mrs. Mary Turney was voted the Outstanding Club Member of this past year. The meeting was closed with the reading, in unison, of the Club Collect.

During the social hour, the hostess, Mrs. Gaines, assisted by Mrs. Ruby Howell, served delicious lemon layer cake and iced tea.

NEWS OF—
REFUGE

"Now the Lord is that spirit; and where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." II Cor. 3:17. "And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the spirit and of power." I Cor. 2:4.

The Apostle Paul seemed to be highly in favor of demonstrations as long as they were motivated by the Holy Spirit and power of God. If we follow up the idea in Paul's writings, we will be throughly convinced that we are in great danger when we come together. if our assembling was not prompted by the spirit of the Lord.

So, we just thank the Lord that the Holy Spirit was present with us last Lord's day, and I believe that we all came away well blessed. Numbers have nothing to do with God's presence, but our attendance was a good average.

We have only two church ordinances, and one was observed here last Sunday evening when Mrs. Martha Headley was baptized. Next Sunday evening we will observe the other ordinance when we have the communion service.

It was good to have more present at the Wednesday evening service last week than usual. Of course, that is not saying a whole lot, but more of our people should get out of the rush of life and go out of the rusn oi life and go out to God's house more often. It is not only good spiritually, to attend the service of the Lord, but the doctors say that a large per cent of our people would spend less time in their office if they would spend more time in God's house. The Psalmist said: "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine." If that is true, and the writer believes every word is so, we would receive a good treatment both spiritually and physically, if we would just take God at his word.

Mrs. Pauline Adams is recuperating nicely in the Chilton County Hospital.

Mrs. Lula Minor had a light fall and spent a couple of days in the Hospital recently.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mims of Oakland, California, in the arrival of young Timothy Roger on September 15th. The latest news have it that all is well with little Roger and the mother.

We will be looking for all the family next Sunday and Sunday night.

Soil Conservtion News

By Olin G. Fields

Sherman Motley, of Stanton Community, has completed a (earth fill) farm pond with assistance from ASCS. This pond was planned in his District Soil and Water Conservation Farm Plan. In addition he has started constructing a drainage ditch.

Curtis Bryant has constructed a surface field ditch 900 feet long.

L. G. Miller is in the process of clearing several acres of land to be planted to permanent grasses.

J. R. Thompson has cleared five acres and planted it to Bahia grass.

John Shelton of the Dry Valley community and Cooperator with the Chilton County Soil Conservation District, cut and baled the fourth cutting of hay off a 30 acre field this past week.

Crop Residue Use, a conservation practice that has been overlooked for a long time in Chilton County should be applied as soon as the past season's crops are harvested. In addition to the conservation of soil and water by incorporating the stalks and residue in the soil, or leaving them on the surface during that part of the year when critical erosion usually occurs, you also destroy the feeding and hibernation places of insects. Plan on destroying the stalks as soon as the crop is harvested on your farm.

Millard Reynolds, of the Stanton Community, is in the process of constructing a drainage ditch.

Loans Available To Chilton Farmers For Water Development and Soil Conservation

Loan funds are available to eligible Chilton County farmers who wish to develop water supply systems for irrigation, household use and livestock, reports Wallace J. Fox. chairman of the local Farmers Home Administration county committee.

Mr. Fox points out that these funds can be extremely useful in developing the water and land resources, helps prevent crop failures, boosts farm income and increase the value of local property.

Chilton County farmers may obtain water development and soil conservation loans to drill wells and otherwise improve water supply systems for irrigation, home use, and livestock; purchase pumps, sprinkler systems, and other irrigation equipment; acquire a water supply or water right. purchase water stock or membership in an incorporated water users' association.

Loans may also be used to construct and repair ponds and tanks ditches, and canals for irrigation; dig ditches and install tile to drain farmland; develop ponds and water control structures for the production of fish under controlled conditions; level land; carry out basic land treatment practices including liming, fertilizing, and seeding; subsoil or sod land.

Loans can also establish permanent pastures and farm forests: establish approved forestry practices on a farm such as pest control, thinning, and fire protection; build dikes, terraces, waterways and other erosion control structures.

Farmers pay 5 per cent interest on water development and soil conservation loans. according to Mr. Fox, except that the rate on loan funds for approved forestry purposes is 3 percent. Loans may be made payable over periods up to 40 years if necessary.

To be eligible for a water development and soil conservation loan. a farmer must be unable to obtain the necessary credit on reasonable terms from private and cooperative lenders.

Further details about water development and soil conservation loans map be obtained from the Farmers Home Administration office located in Room 135, Chilton County Courthouse, Clanton. Alabama.

Mr. Fox said that Farmers Home Administration also makes loans to purchase and develop farms, buy livestock and equipment and pay farm and home operating expenses, build and improve rural homes and essential farm service buildings, build housing for farm laborers, develop watersheds, and to meet emergency credit needs of farmers suffering from a natural disaster such as hail, flood, or drought.

Expect great things from Chevrolet again-for '64

Today...Jet-smooth Luxury '64 CHEVROLET

Chevrolet was luxurious before, but you should see it now. With smart new styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new series this year—the Impala Super Sports—with front bucket seats as standard equipment. (The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). And quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delcotron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-upkeep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options there are to choose from—that seems to be entirely up to you.

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

You've never seen anything like this totally new line of cars before. Chevelle is new in everything but Chevrolet quality. Chevelle is a good foot shorter than the big cars, so it parks easily. Yet the interior dimensions of its Body by Fisher provide a generous amount of head, leg and shoulder room. (Chevelle's trunk is big and roomy, too.) The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprisingly for Chevrolet, the new Chevelle offers a choice of engines ranging from an economical 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp V8 (optional at extra cost.) Choose the Chevelle you like best from the three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series, eleven models in all—at your Chevrolet dealer's. (Like this good-looking Malibu Super Sport, maybe?)

60th Wedding Anniversary

On September 24, 1903. Ella May Butcher and Iral Alva Hart were joined in Holy Matrimony in a simple ceremony in the bride's home, Maple Hill, Galesburg, Illinois, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends.

The uncle of the bride, Rev. William Rogers Butcher, performed the ceremony and the pastor Rev. Clarence A. Vincent, offered the prayer.

The Uncle performed the ceremony of marriage for the father and mother of the bride, also for her three brothers.

The honeymoon was postponed for a year and included a three month visit with relatives in and around Spokane, Washington, on Dec. 25, 1904 to March.

The trip out was by northern route and returning by Salt Lake City.

After some years of farming and occupation in several trades and industry, decision was made for life work in the Gospel ministry.

He took training in the Congregational Chicago Theological Seminary, 1911-1914. Mrs. Hart made her home with her husband at the Seminary during these years, except certain times when Mr. Hart did student ministerial work and lived on the field.

The years were spent as follows:

1914-1915, Pastor West Chicago Congregational Church.

1915-1922, Principal Lincoln Academy, Kings Mountain, N.C. Congregational American Missionary 12 grade school for Negroes. Mrs. Hart was matron and Preceptress|

1922-1927, Teacher Stillman Institute, Theological Seminary and High School work, Mrs. Hart having charge of the office, a school by Southern Presbyterian Mission Board, for Negroes.

1927-1929, Studied and taught at Piedmont College, Demorest, Georgia and was business manager. Mrs.. Hart was matron and preceptress of Commons Hall for girls and also did some teaching. This is a school for white people and is sponsored by the Congregational denomination. Mr. Hart received PhB. degree.

1929-1933, Mount Victory, Kentucky where he developed a Church and High School, sponsored by local Presbyterian.

1933-1935, Not in active service.

1935-1944, Dorcas, R.F.D. Crestview, West Florida. Here they worked in Congregational Home Missions and Church Extension. At one time had 8 preaching stations and churches.

1944-1957, Thorsby Institute, Thorsby, Alabama, a High School sponsored by Congregational people.

Thorsby Institute School was established at Thorsby to meet a need and was the only high school between Birmingham and Montgomery. Fifty years brought other free school and the Thorsby Institute School was no longer needed and so was closed and later was established as a County Public High School.

The 60th Anniversary finds them in the confusion of moving from "Music Studio" and the problem of "getting settled again." This prevents any idea of "open house" or celebration.

They say, "We are so happy that we can stay in Thorsby and among the fine Thorsby People."

Auburn 56 Cotton Being Grown For Production Of Pure Seed

Going For Seed!

Auburn 56 Seed Purity Maintained. Aubudn 56 cotton being grown for production of pure seed at the Foundation Seed Stocks Farm, Thorsby, is examined before harvest by superintendent G. T. Sharman, Jr., Cotton is one of several crops grown at the field unit of Auburn Univedsity Agricultural Experiment Station to provide foundation seed for farmers who produce certified planting seed.

THORSBY, Ala.,—On most cotton farms lint is the major product. Cottonseed, being worth much less, is of secondary importance.

But here at the Foundation Seed Stocks Farm, production of pure seed is the sole object of cotton production. This field unit of Auburn University Agricultural Experiment Station has the responsibility of supplying foundation seed of the popular wilt-resistant variety, Auburn 56 to producers of certified planting seed.

Like all cotton farmers, G. T. Sharman, Jr., superintendent of the Seed Stocks Farm, is pushing harvest to get cotton picked before the weather damage lowers quality of the crop. With harvest well along, a good supply of Auburn 56 foundation seed seems asured to meet the continuing demand for this top variety.

Popularity of the Auburn developed variety is illustrated by Alabama acreage grown for certification. This year there were 11,665 acres grown for certification and an additional 935 acres is being produced for registered seed, according to Dr. F. S. McCain, plant breeder at the Main Station, Auburn. Pure seed for planting this acreage is produced only at the Foundation Seed Stocks Farm.

A small supply of foundation seed of the once popular Plains variety is included in the unit's production. Acreage of Plains for certification has dropped to 1,448 in Alabama since the wilt-resistant Auburn 56 has grown in popularity. As explained by McCain and Sharman, this variety has been a top yielder on wilt infested soils through out the Cotton Belt. In addition to its wilt resistance, Auburn 56 has proved to be the best available variety for machine harvest in Experiment Station tests through out Alabama.

Producing pure cottonseed is only one phase of work of the research unit, a firmer Soil Conservation Service nursery that was given to Auburn University. The Seed Stocks Farm also produces foundation seed of oats, wheat, rye, corn, soybeans, crimson clover, sericea, vetch, and grain sorghum and Coastal Bermuda grass stolons. Research in many phases of soil conservation and crop production is cooperatively done by scientists of the USDA Agracultural Research Service and Auburn Agricultural Experiment Station.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

THERE will be a "Lion" in the streets next Monday night! Better watch for him!

PEOPLE hardly ever blame anything on themselves. Most of the ones who get the blame are preachers and politicians; but folks have a way of letting us newspaper people know how much we are at fault, too. A fellow the other day said to us: "Why don't you newspaper people ask the Federal Government about Cuba?"

Well, what about Cuba, you guys?

Evidently this fellow knows more about Cuba, and Communists than we do. . . because we don't know what to ask them about Cuba! Uh, how's the weather down there, fellows?

Seriously, we wonder about Cuba, too. But what can we ask the government about Cuba that hasn't already been asked? It may not have been satisfactorily answered, but it has been asked. . . you can bet on that..

It is our opinion that our congressmen in Washington should take care of this sort of thing (now, we blame the Congressmen). No, we don't blame them.. we expect them to look out for our best interests, and that includes the situation in Cuba..

For example: Our Congressman Armistead Selden, from the Sixth Congressional District (at large) has had a lot to say on the Cuban situation. We feel that he is competent in handling the interests of the people of this state with regards to that particular matter. If, for any reason, the Congressman feels that people should be aroused or awakened to the dangers of Cuba (if there be any) we will be the first to shout the warning and make like the town crier!

It doesn't seem logical to write about something you don't understand; and we admitedly do not understand the Cuban situation.

P.S. (To whom it may concern): Since our editorial ability is not 100 percent in this category, we hereby invite you to write on the Cuban situation, if you feel that you have something positive to contribute to the matter. Just mail it to "Across The Editor's Desk," care of the News, and we will publish it.. we do know something about that!

OUR four-year-old son Mark has been saying his prayers every night of his life, ever since we can remember. We have to help him, but he nevertheless does say 'em! He said something about "Soda Pop" the other night after we had tucked him in, and we decided we would probe a bit deeper and find out what it was he was talking abou. He said: "Daddy, when will I ever get that Soda Pop?" Well, we don't recall anything about Soda Pop in his prayers, so he and I backtracked a bit, and we found the phrase to which he was referring. The way we always thought he said it, was: "I pray the Lord my soul to keep. . ." It turned out, what he thought he was saying, was "I pray the Lord my Soda Pop."

SINCE we're accused of it anyway, we might as well try it! How's this for narrow-minded, short-sighted, barbaric, prejudice: The President says we might try a "moon venture" with the Soviets. And then, he and his representatives say: "But, we probably wouldn't ride in the same spaceship!" Now, you guys, we are terribly confused. . . you tell us that we are going to fraternize with other folks (whether we like it or not), and then you turn right around and do the very things you tell us we cannot do! If I'm going to be "privileged" to associate, mingle with, and possibly co-habitate with the Russians. . . why can't I ride to the moon in the same spaceship with him! That's base discrimination, fellows! And I for one, as a taxpaying, unmitigated idiot of this here free society, resent the devil out of it!

A thought just struck us: If we can't go, perhaps they will allow us to send a representative! Better plug up that loophole gentlemen; you might just be "popular" enough to get sent off. Strictly in the name of better foreign relations of course. . . far, far, relations!

WOODY Blalock returned last Wednesday from a trip to Evansville and Terre Haute, Indiana, as a guest of the Pioneer Seed Corn Co.. He flew up by jet. . . and flew back by gosh. . .. and he surely was impressed. He says: "They don't grow corn up there. . . they make it!" (Heck, we do that down here). Anyway, Woody says they grow it on vines; they grow it 20 feet tall; and they grow it with shucks around each grain! Indian style! Shucks, down here, we grow it Indian style (or any other style) and put glass around it! Woody was impressed with his trip; and he obviously learned a lot about hybrids and seed corns. . . which is what he went up there to do! From the description he gave us of what folks do up there. .. . it sounds like they've been sampling some of their own stuff.

He was just out there three days. . . which ain't bad!

New Telephone Directory For Clanton

Southern Bell's new Clanton telephone directory is being delivered this week.

The local post office began distribution of the new book an Wednesday and all subscribers should receive their copy by the end of the week.

Charles Nicholson, local telephone manager said, "you won't find a better yardstick of Clanton's progress than the new telephone directory, it indicates the growth of this area."

About 4,200 directories are being distributed in the Clanton exchange area this year which is approximately 150 more than was delivered last year.

The Telephone Company requests that you throw away your old directory and use the new one. By doing this you will avoid the mistake of looking in the old book and possibly getting a wrong number.

Nicholson also suggests that you look in the directory for a number before calling "Information."

Deputies Should Have Proper Uniforms

Chief Deputy Sheriff T. J. Lockhart, Mr. Millard Reynolds of Maplesville and Mr. Burton Mullins of Clanton, met with the Board of Revenue and Control to discuss the importance of having our deputy sheriffs properly identified with uniforms becoming law enforcement personnel. So many times in the past, offenders have not recognized members of our Sheriff Department for lack of identification. By having on easily and readily recognized uniforms, our deputies can do a better job and the public will benefit. To strangers whether they be violators of the law or persons needing assistance, they are entitled to know by whom they are being stopped for arrest or help.

In addition, the committee requested that the Board of Revenue provide the minimum requirements for the saftey and identification for 100 men in the police auxiliary and sheriff's posse. These men have received training to supplement our sheriff's force and our municipal police forces in Chilton County for natural and major disasters. This group has worked closely with our sheriff and police chiefs on many emergencies in the past.

Judge J. C. White, Chairman of the Board, requested that the committee present their essential gratitude and thanks of the Board of Revenue and Control to all of the fine men who have dedicated themselves to assist our law enforcement officials in always preserving law and order. The Board requested that the committee prsent their essential requirements for serious consideration.

The committee wishes to thank Judge J. C. White and Board Members, Mr. Sherman Motley, Mr. Acie Mims, Mr. A. D. Headley and Mr. Lonnie Cost, for receiving them so warmly.

Free Enterprise Day October 7th

Free Enterprise Day, a national event commemorating America's system of free enterprise, will be celebrated throughout the United States on Monday, October 7.

The purpose of Free Enterprise Day is to call attention to the great advantages of America's economic system and the American way of business life.

This will mark the second year that Free Enterprise Day is being celebrated in the U. S. but the first time it will be celebrated nationally. Last year, Free Enterprise Da ywas conceived and celebrated for the first time in Falmouth, Mass. It began when a group of independent businessmen in that city decided that one day should be set aside each year to honor America's economic system. The day selected was the first Monday in October each year.

Spearheading the first Free Enterprise Day celebration was an immagrant Rexall drug store owner in Fallmouth who first conceived the idea. He obtained the support of other businessmen in the city and the first Free Enterprise Day was celebrated on the main street of Falmouth with city wide enthusiasm.

The story about tre first Free Enterprise Day spread and this year thousands of cities and businessmen across the country will be celebrating the first Monday in October as Free Enterprise Day.

See Proclamation in this issue.

Fire Prevention Week

A Proclamation

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR OF CLANTON

WHEREAS thousands of Americans lose their lives each year from fires that could be prevented; and

WHEREAS great social and economic losses to our city result from the destruction of homes, business enterprises, industries and natural resources;;

THEREFORE, I Hollis Jackson, Mayor of Clanton do hereby proclaim the week beginning October 6, 1963, as Fire Prevention week.

I call upon all departments and agencies of the city government to participate actively in a campaign for improved fire safety. The Fire Department and the schools of our city can provide effective leadership in the activities of Fire Prevention Week, and I urge them to work with the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations for a successful program.

I earnestly request every citizen of the community to take part in relieving hazardous conditions and making our city a safer community in which to live and work.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereto set my hand and caused the seal of Clanton to be affixed.

DONE in the City of Clanton, this 16th day of Sept., nineteen hundred and sixty-three.

Hollis Jackson, Mayor

Fire Chief Calls For Care; Caution

Fire Chief Houston Nivens today announced the Fire Department's cooperation with other civic groups in using simple precautionary methods to prevent many damaging fires. The Fire Chief, discussing replacement costs, said that, "even in small fires, where the firemen are able to confine the flames to one room it costs property owners two to three times as much to refurnish the burned out areas as it did ten years age." The chief particularly emphasized the following points:

1. Great damage to our city is caused by rubbish fires. If we remove the rubbish from our cellars ,attics and closets, fire losses will come down and many alarms will be eliminated.

2. Buildings classified as conflagration hazards should be protected by automatic sprinklers.. Such installations will pay for themselves out of savings in insurance premiums and as a result our conflagration areas will be eliminated.

3. Basement fires are the hardest to fight. Firemen have difficulty fighting their way in and often do not know what the conditions will be when they reach the basement. Since a large percentage of all business fires originate in basements, if these also were protected by automatic sprinklers, our country's nearly one billion dollars in fire losses would be greatly reduced.

The Chief particularly emphasized the large number of fires caused from carelessness in handling matches and smoking. "Matches should be kept where small children cannot reach them and a liberal supply of ash trays throughout the house would reduce fires," the Chief said. He particularly emphasized that, "If you value your life, do not smoke in bed!"

Instructors Instructed On Instructing

Programmed Instruction Featured at Area Inservice Meetings

Teachers from Chilton County High School, Verbena, Henry Adair, and Enterprise met Tuesday afternoon, September 24th in the high school auditorium at Clanton to study programmed instruction. Mr. Jack Allen and Mr. Charles Murphree, representatives of Harcourt, Brace and World Company, discussed programmed instruction in the teach ing of English. According to Mr. Murphry, programmed instruction allows the individual student to proceed at his own rate of speed each earner actively participates, and each is challenged to develop all his caacities.

This method has proved very satisfactory in English grammar, mathematics, literature, spelling and science. The next area meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 26 when rogrammed instruction in literature will be studied.

Weekly Cotton Report

The volume of samples received decreased at the Montgomery classing office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the week ending September 28. Classing for the week totaled about 47,000 bales, and brought the total for the season to almost 282,000. One year ago Form 1 classing totaled slightly less than 233,000 bales. Grades for late season were down slightly and staple lengths were a little shorter, but both grade and staple lengths were above a year ago. Harvesting made good headway until late in the week when general rains brought picking to a halt.

Cotton grading Middling and better accounted for 40 percent, Strict Low Middling 22 percent; Low Middling and lower white grades 10 percent; and light spotted grades totaled 22 percent. For the same week a year ago, Middling and better totaled 25 percent; Strict Low Middling 25 per cent; Low Middling and lower white grades 14 percent and light spotted grades 28 percent.

Cotton praces held steady with prices for Middling and higher grades equal to or below loan levels, and lower grades are selling for 20 to 40 points above loan. At most locations, Middling and higher grades are moving into CCC loan, and in many sections, most qualities are being placed in the CCC loan.

Victory Over Polio

VOP Drive Begins October 20th

Details of a massive program to vaccinate better than 20,000 Chilton County residents with the newly developed oral polio vaccine were disclosed today by the Chilton County Medical Society.

The program, dubbed "Victory over Polio", is co-sponsored by the Clanton Lions Club. It aims at immunizing every resident of Chilton County against the crippling disease.

Immunization "clinics" will be set up in more than 15 schools located throughout Clanton and Chilton County.

Everyone in Chilton County is eligible for this feeding.

At a news conference held today Mr. W. E. Elmore, the hospital administrator and Secretary of the Lions Club, serving as the chairman of this drive, pointed out: "We are faced with a tremendous job of organizing a community-wide team to be made up of pharmacists, physicians, nurses, businessmen and individuals.

"By the time we get rolling," he said, "we hope to have close to 200 or 300 persons in the area playing important roles."

A similar immunization program is getting underway simultaneously in several other joining counties and throughout Alabama.

Even those persons who have been inoculated with the Salk injectable vaccine should take the Sabin oral vaccine.. Under present plans, the three various strains of the Sabin vaccine will be given in the order of their importance.

Thus, Type I, which is for the deadliest type of polio, will be given first, October 20, 1963; Type III December 1, 1963 Type II January 12. 1964.

The Medical Society has purchased the vaccine from the Wyeth Laboratories, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Elmore said that the sponsors are requesting donations of 25 cents to help defray part of the cost of the program.

Mr. Elmore emphasized that everyone will be given the vaccine at clinics, whether he contributes or not. This shortage would be made up by those contributing more than the 25 cents.

Dr. Rennings, who is the Society's President, explained that the tasteless polio vaccine is administered on a sugar cube.

"You chew the sugar cube and swallow it. Then, you're immune," he said. "That's all there is to it."

Dr. Johnson explained that there are three types of polio virus, and said that it is possible to be immunized for one type but suffer the effects of another.

For this reason, it is important for families to take all three types of the oral vaccine on the dates when they are offered, to become completely immune to polio.

"The Sabin vaccine has been given to more than 100 million persons throughout the world," Dr. Moore said, "and it has been given with complete safety."

Made by Wyeth at Marietta, Pa., the vaccine is among the first American produced oral polio vaccine to be used in general public immunization programs.

Shipped from Marietta to Montgomery, the 100 dose vials containing the frozen vaccine are packed in dry ice to prevent thawing during the speedy cross country flight. If the vaccine thaws, it must be used within 7 days in order to insure full potency.

Made with weak, distant coucsins of polio causing virus, the vaccine will not cause polio but fools the body's defense mechanism into making antibodies that will ward off any future infections by the real thing.

In March of this year, Surgeon General Luther L. Terry stated that the vaccine will be used not only to prevent polio but to stamp out wild strains of the virus which are present in the community.

The oral vaccine can do this experts believe, because its action takes plaue in th gastro-intestinal tract where polio viruses normally multiply.

Unlike the Salk vaccine available since 1955 the Sabin vaccine is swallowed.

Wyeth's oral polio vaccine is being produced as a liquid which may be taken in this form, or administered on a cube of sugar. For infants, it will be fed by dropper.

Our Strength Is In Congress--

WOULD you cut off your nose to spite your face?

If you are a Democrat, and you are nursing the idea of voting a Republican ticket come next election; that's exactly what you will be doing!

We can do without the Kennedy branch of the Democratic Party; but can we, in the South, do without the Democratic Party? If your answer to the first part of this statement is "yes"; and to the second, "no" then our problem seems to be "how to separate the two"!

The "independent" voter, proclaims that he votes for the man whom he feels can do the best job for the community, state or nation. That, in itself, is a noble philosophy! But, if it is a philosophy, then it is constant. And if it is constant, the next time voting time comes, what if there is no candidate who fills your bill? Will yo "go fishing" as the expression goes? What will you do when there is not a man running for office whom you feel you can support?

That is why the "independent philosophy" is unsound. There must be an organization to support a candidate for public office. Our time is so complicated that the "independent" candidate hasn't a chance. It isn't necessarialy desirable; but it is a fact!

So what do we do?

We try to purify, strengthen, clean up, and generally put into shape, an organization which we can conscientiously support, and one that will furnish for us a good, clean, honest, man for whom to vote.

It must be some kind of a political party!

And if you will read another of the editorials on this page, you will be able to determine which of the two major exisiting parties is "South-supporting", and which one is not!

To vote Republican or to vote "independent" in the coming election; means that we will risk losing our Democratic Representatives and Senators in the nation's Capitol! Can we afford to make this "cut"?

Regardless of the implications which you read as "facts" in the daily press and party propaganda sheets; "Kennedy" is not synonimous with Democrat". We state this as a fact, because we know we are a Democrat, and we know we disagree with "Kennedy"; therefore, there must be a difference!

"Kennedy" is one man in a political party of millions! Would "Kennedy" have acted and reacted any differently had he been running on the Republican slate? We think not.

And will a "Goldwater" or a "Rockefeller" act or react any differently than a "Kennedy"! No!

The only hope of the South, of Alabama; yes, of the Nation itself, is our representation in Congress. The South still has strength in the legislative branch of our Federal Government! It has none in the judicial branch; nor does it have any in the executive branch.

Our only hope as a free, progressive and independent nation, lies in the Constitution of the United States; and in the strength of our Democratic representatives in the legislative branch of our government! They are the true stronghold against oppression and dictatorship, because they are elected by the people, and they represent the people!

As our Chief Executive, "Kennedy" has let us down! As the judicial representatives of our government, the Supreme Court has "sold" the majority to a minority! The only strength left us, with which to fight for our rights, are our members of Congress! God help them in a task, the likes of which our forefathers never even dreamed!

"All Republican Leaders Oppose Racial Segregation"--

TAKE a second look at the heading on this editorial, just in case you think you read it wrong! It is a "quotation" by a Republican leader in the House of Representatives of the United States, and it is taken from the Congressional Record, dated September 23, 1963.

The Hon. Fred Schwengel, a Republican in the House of Representatives from Iowa, in making an answer to "charges" that the "GOP is lily white", put his foot right into his mouth as far as the Republican Party in the South is concerned.

Mr. Schwengel said in a speech from the floor of the House on Monday, September 23: "One of the best statements in answer to this charge (that th GOP is lily white) was prepared by Carl Shipley, the Republican chairman of the District of Columbia."

And Mr. Schwengel included the statement in his remarks: "All GOP national leaders are strong opponents of racial discrimination. From Senator Barry Goldwater, who is a member of the Urban League, to Governor Rockefeller, who is a member of the NAACP, all Republican leaders oppose racial segregation."

"It was GOP President Eisenhower who abolished segregation in the Nation's Capital, in interstate travel by bus and train, in schools on military posts, and among civilian employees at naval bases."

"It was the Republican administration of President Eisenhower that appointed approximately 644 Negroes to top positions above $6,000 a year in the Federal Government, established the President's Committee on Government Employees Policy to prevent discrimination, and opened all White House social events to Negroes for the first time in history."

Who Failed In The South--

WHEN it comes to actual votes in Congress on civil rights, which party is the one friendly to the Negroes (and white) antagonists who have this country in an uproar today?

You don't know for sure!

Then possibly the following statements, which, by the way, were taken from the Congressional record, will clear your mind a bit on this particular matter.

Out of 26 Senate votes a majority of Senate Democrats have voted against civil rights issues in every single case except 2 since 1933.

In two cases not a single Democrat voted favorably; in two others, only a lone Democrat joined a majority of Republicans seeking favorable action.

At the same time, and it is interesting to note indeed, in every single Senate vote except one, a majority of Republicans voted in favor of civil rights issues. In five cases they did so 100 percent.

And, in the House of Representatives, the Republicans have like-wise consistently outvoted the Democrats in proportion to their strength. Republicans voted from 68 to 100 percent in favor of the Civil Rights legislation on every single vote.

The Democrats have "failed" in 9 out of 20 votes to muster a majority vote in favor of the Civil Rights legislation.

Now! Did the Democratic congressmen and senators from the South fail the South when the Civil Rights legislation came along?

If you think they did; you'd better read this again!

Pure Hatred--

ARE you willing to accept someone else's prejudice as your own? If you are, then Heaven help our society!

If we lived in a nation where the individual had no freedom of choice, then there would be no so-called "prejudices" . . . everyone would think the same way. . . the way someone told them to think.

You can hardly walk down the street today, and enter into any conversation, whether it be about soft drinks, or about the nation's defense program, and not encounter some form of prejudice.

And prejudices grow numerically when times are troubled, and opinions are necessary.

One of us "hates" such and such a company because they have done something with which we disagree. Perhaps we are boycotting them and their product. Can you transfer that prejudice to another merely because you are his "friend"? Yes, that is very possible.

Another "hates" an individual (be he politician or milkman), and he tells us so in no uncertain terms. Are we weak enough to accept his prejudice as our own? Yes, that's possible, too!

Unless, we, as free American citizens continue to think for ourselves, and make up our own minds about others, we are lost as a nation. . . destroyed by a lot of "proxy prejudices" which we do not understand!

In short: don't hate. . . and if you must hate; don't use another's expressions and feelings to formulate that hatred . . . do it yourself. . . then you, and you alone, have the power to continue it, or to discontinue it!

Refuse to hate for someone else; and you will find that hatred starves on it's own greed for companionship!

A Ban On Jay Walking--

(Or. . . Watch That Pigeon!)

CLANTON may not be growing in numbers (a fact which we oft times doubt); but the automobiles are certainly coming hot and heavy.

Once again we observe that traffic on about eight or ten blocks in downtown Clanton on Saturday is practically "immovable". But, we don't think it can be blamed entirely on the automobile.

This past Saturday, for example, we noted particularly that pedestrians were crossing streets harem scarem and every which way. This not only makes it difficult for the motorist to drive with any kind of speed; but it seems to us extremely hazardous for the individual pedestrian.

We don't know just how carefully the parking meters should be checked; but it is our observation that enforced crossing at street corners (as opposed to "jay walking") should be considered by the City officials.

Someone may get killed or badly hurt; and also, it would relieve the flow of traffic greatly. It has now gotten to the point where it doesn't matter where the motorist is in the block, he must stop for a flow of pedestrians ever so often.

If Clanton is truly growing enough to have such a congestion of traffic, then we maintain that it should also be grown-up enough to enforce some rules and regulations regarding pedestrians.

And you know who will be the first "Jay Walker"?

George Huddleston Jr. Introduces Bill To Block Gesell Report

Congressman George Huddleston, Jr., today extended his fight against the so-called Gesell Report by introducing legislation to prevent the implementation of the report.

In so doing, Mr. Huddleston, Alabama's representative on the Armed Services Committee, supported Chairman Carl Vinson in his proposed amendment to the Uniform Code of Military Justice This amendment would make it a court martial offense for any person subject to this code who, based any consideration of race, color, or religion, seeks to direct or control any activity of any person subject to ths code, on poperty not owned or controlled by the Department of Defense.. In short, this would prevent any military establishment from interfering with the private lives of servicemen.

Representative Huddleston deplored this situation which results from the so called "Gesell Report" and recent directives issued by Defense Secretary McNamara prohibiting Armed Forces units from performing or paticipating in events which include segregated audiences.

Earlier Congressman Huddleston had blasted the Gesell Report in a speech on the House Floor. "These actions present a grave threat in trat they tend to bring our military leaders and our military forces into the politcal arena." Huddleston protested.

"We have assidously and jealourly maintained a separation between the civilian aspects of our government and the military aspects," Rep. Huddleston continued, "and I am going to press for passage of H. R. 8493 which would curb this undesirable and dangerous rend." It is expected that the House Armed Services Committee wil lschedule hearings on the legislaton in the near future.

YOUR HEALTH

HOME SAFETY

Home Sweet Home, that supposed pillar of sanctuary, is the site of more injuries each year than our nation's highways. On the average about 26,000 Americans are accidently killed in their homes each year; and four million are injured.

Most of these injuries and deaths occur through falls-particularly among older people. Of the 11,800 persons who died from falls in their homes in 1961, 10,100 were age 64 and over. .

For the most part, these falls among older people occur at floor level not from high places such as a ladder or roof; and in general, they are easily preventable. When you can answer yes to the following questions, then you have set the pattern for safety proofing your home against accidents of the aging.

Do you have scatter rugs, those bright and cheerful magic carpets of death fastened securely or provided with non skid backing,

Do you have handrails of a proper height and strength on all stairways and steps and by the bath tub and commode?

Do you have for yourself or for visiting old people a comfortable, safe, stable chair with sturdy arms that can support the weight of a person pushing himself to his feet?

Do you have a light switch by the bed and flashlights at all seeded areas, and are your lights bright enough to compensate for the dimmer vision of older eyes?

Do you know and, if so, do you make use of the knowledge that older people should sit a moment on the edge of the bed before rising, that they should stand still an instant after coming to their feet to prevent any accidents from possible dizziness?

Do you know that a clean, orderly house as free as possible of things to trip over, makes for the safest home for people of all ages?

"Rubber Stamp Congressmen"

Selma, Alabama

The Editor
Chilton County News
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

Those congressmen who have been rubber stamps for Mr. Kennedy are now getting pan-. icky over running state at large.

They had no hesitancy in sup-. porting Mr. Kennedy i the name of all the citizens of Alabama, but they fear facing all the voters. A state wide race means certain defeat for some of their number.

Tremendous bhind the scenes pressure is bing brought to bear on Gov. Wallace to call the special session of the legislature. If Wallace yields to this pressure and a redistricting bill is passed, those Kennedy men now pressuring him will quickly use their newly gained advantage to "cut his throat."

I urge you to wire Gov. Wallace and to contact your represenatives in the legislature. It is the wrong time to redistrict. Redistricting now will help reelect Mr. Kennedy.

Yours very truly,
-s- C. H. Morrow

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

The forces of our North Atlantic Treaty Organization, under the supreme command of U. S. General Lymas L. Lemnitzer with headquarters at Paris (SHAPE), and divided into four groups. These include the allied forces in Northern Europe commanded by British Geenral Sir Harold E. Pyman with headquarters at Oslo, Norway; the allied forces in Southern Europe commanded by U. S. Admiral James S. Russell with headquarters at Naples, Italy; the Mediterranean forces cdmmanded by British Admiral Holland-Martin with headquarters at Malta; and the allied forces in Central Europe under the command of French General Jacquot with headquarters at Fontainebleau, France.

During the past two weeks I have had an opportunity to visit several of these commands with members of Congress from 12 of the NATO countries. After a thorough briefing at SHAPE Headquarters in Paris on September 9th, our group left the following morning aboard a British Royal Air Force jet for Naples. There we spent four hours conferring with Admiral James S. Russell, Commander in Chief of the Allied Forces of Southern Europe, and members of his staff on the organization and mission of NATO's forces in this vital area.. Later the same evening we proceeded on to Cigli Air Base at Izmir, Turkey.

Southeastern Forces

Greece and Turkey provided more than 30 per cent of the military personnel of NATO's land foces although these two countries comprise only seven per cent of the population of the countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. With headquarters in Izmir, Turkey, and commanded by U. S. Lt. Gen. John Machielis, the military forces of Greece and Turkey are under the direct control of Allied Land Forces Southeastern Europe. While in Izmir the Parliamentarians' group was carefully briefed by the staff of General Michaelis and by Maj. Gen. A. H. Luehman, Commander of the 6th Allied Tactical Air Force. These briefings, coupled with the opportunity of seeing training exercises of Turkish troops with live ammunition, left most members of our group with the distince impression that Greece and Turkey are two of the most devoted members of NATO. Unquestionably any enemy will find these troops which number in excess of a half million, both well trained and tough.

Alpine Troops

After two days in the Izmir, Turkey area, we proceeded by plane and bus to Cortine d'Ampezzo, Italy. Nestled in the Italias Alps, Cortina is well known to winter sports enthusiasts as the site of the 1956 Winter Olympic games. There we were met and briefed by Italian General S. Bernabo, Commander of the Allied Land Forces stationed in Italy. Perhaps the highlight of the entire trip was a demonstration of mountain climbing under simulated combat conditions by Alpine troops under General Bernabo's command. The spectacle of troops climbing nearly vertical peaks with full combat equipment was almost unbelievable.

Leaving Italy on Saturday afternoon, September 14th, we flew to Oslo, Norway where on the following Monday we began the northern portion of our inspection tour.

Clanton FFA Met

The Clanton Future Farmers of America are enterinv their seventh year in the Community Livestock Improvement Program. This program is sponsored by Sears Roebuck Company and Dr. James Hicks in cooperation with the Alabama Future Farmers Association.

The Clanton FFA received its first bull from Cherry Hill Farm, Oneonta, Alabama in November, 1957.. This bull won grand champion at the South Alabama Fair.

Since entering this community Livestock program, tre Clanton FFA bulls have been on fifty one farms in Chilton County, bred 513 cows and have sired 46y calves. It has been estimated by the farmers using these bulls that their calves have averaged twenty five dollars per head more than the calves they were producing before using a good herd sire. As a result of this program, these bulls have bought into the county aproximately $12,545 iver and above what would have come into the county if the Clanton FFA had not provided this community service.

As a result of this program the Clanton FFA has won four purebred Hereford heifers from which they started an FFA herd. At the present time the chapter has seventeen read of beef cattle.

The purpose of this chapter herd is to produce good bulls and cows to sell to the farmers of Chilton County and to have good animals available for instructional purposes.

The Chapter recently sold its first bull from this herd to Mr. Lee Crowson, Route 1, Jemison, Alabama.

Recently the chapte has been advised by Mr. B. P. Dilworth, District Supervisor for Vocational Agriculture that the Clanton FFA Chapter would receive another bull this year to continue this program in the Clanton community.

Timely Tips By County Agent Sellers

By John D. Sellers
County Agent

1. If cattle have not grazed summer grass down close, mow to remove surplus growth so that reseeding crimson clover or ball clover will volunteer and grow.

2. Second growth sweet sorghum, Johnsongrass, or sorghum grass crosses contain prussic acid. Don't graze these fields after frost until leaves have had time to dry.

3. Millet can be safely grazed at any stage of growth.. It does not contain prussic acid.

4. Sweet sorghum cut for silage after frost may be fed to cattle without danger of prussic acid poisoning.

5. Start grazing crimson clover and rhygrass when it is about about 4 inches high and small grain when it is about 6 inches high. Don't overgraze.

Keep A Stand of Clover In Pasture

To keep a stand of white clover or reseeding crimson or ball clover in your pastures, do these six things:

1. Apply phosphate and potash according to soil test each fall. On heavy soils double the rate and apply every other fall.
2. Keep a good bee population to pollinate the legumes.
3. Remove cattle in spring to allow legumes to make seed.
4. Graze close or mow off surplus summer growth in October to permit legume seedlings to germinate and grow.
5. Practice good grazing management. Don't overgraze.
6. Control dock and other winter and spring weeds.

Graze winter pastures wisely. Get the most from your winter grazing crops. Don't graze too early and don't allow cattle to graze crops into the ground. Small grains should be about 6 inches high and crimson clover and ryegrass 4 inches high before cattle are turned in the field. It is best to have more than one field and rotate cows from one to the other.

You can "stretch" your winter grazing by grazing your cows or steers only two or three hours per day. Research has shown that dairy cows on limited grazing—one hour in the morning and one hour in the afternoon—will produce as much milk as cows on all day grazing.

New Cool Season Annuals

Here are a few statements prepared by Dr. C. S. Hoveland, Associate Agronomist, Auburn University Experiment Station, on several more or less new species and varieties of cool season annuals.

Warrior Vetch, developed by Dr. E. R. Donnelly at Auburn, can be grown in South Alabama on well drained soils. Excellent progress is being made in breeding a reseeding vetch for pastures

Frontier, a non-reseeding variety of crimson clover with outstanding vigor and much better winter production, was released by the Mississippi Experiment Station.

Ball Clover acreage continues to increase. The excellent reseeding ability of this late spring clover, even under hard grazing makes it popular. Ball clover tolerates poor drainage much like white clover. Ball has been advertised as a low fertility clover and it will live under these conditions. However, for good production, adequate lime and fertilizer are essential.

Mike Clover is being planted on a small acreage in Alabama Two serious problems limit the usfulness of this clover.. First its reseeding ability is not satisfactory on grass sods. Secondly, mike clover is extremely susceptible to damage by the alfalfa weevil.

..Arrowleaf Clover is a productive late spring clover with good drouth resistance, reseeding ability, and seed production. Some problems have been encountered with inoculation of arrowleaf clover. The arrowleaf plant introduction now in production in Alabama (P.I. 233816) has been just as early and more productive than the Amclo variety released by the Georgia Experiment Station (P.I. 234310).

Gulf ryegrass is a new variety with excellent resistance to crown rust. Common rysgrass forage yields and quality are often severely reduced by this disease in south and central Alabama.

Increase Yields and Decrease Production Costs Says Sellers

Proper Use Of Fertilizer And Lime

Great opportunities are a challenge in Chilton County according to County Agent John D. Sellers, if Lime and fertilizer are used correctly.

We have many challenging opportunities in right use of lime and fertilizer to increase yields and reduce producton costs:

1. Very high acre yields of cotton, corn, small grain, sorghum, hay, temporary grazing and permanent pasture can be made with the right use of fertilizers and lime - and the production cost will be lowered, according to Experiment Station tests.

2. Farmer experiences also show that high acre yields, such as 1½ to 2 bales of cotton or 100 bushels of corn can be made on a whole farm basic. Yields of 4 to 8 tons of Coastal Bermuda hay have been made in numerous instances. We have hardly touched our yield potentials.

The Land Use Problem - Most anywhere you go in Chilton County, you see acres of branch, creek or bottom land now in scrub trees and brush that could be income producing land if put into pasture. There is a tremendous acreage of abandoned and often eroded and gullied hillsides and uplands which can be converted to income producing land by establishing sericea, coastal bermuda and other plants. However, right use of lime and fertilizer is necessary.

Every acre that will produce crops, pastures or trees should be in a sound land use program. A really down to earth hard drive for the next four years to achieve this objective could improve Chilton County agriculture and help raise the farm income tremendously. Right use of lime and fertilizer is the key to achieving this potential.

Use Leaves For Compost

Yet, they're viewed with disguest—by those who have to do the raking. But to those who're intersted in ornamental plants, these leaves are the best source of organic compost provided by Mother Nature. County Agent Sellers suggest to the home gardner, as well as the vegtable gardner to consider incorporating these with all other plant residues around the home into a compost bin.

To make organic compost, you need a bin 10 feet square and six feet deep. This size bin is large enough to produce from two to 2½ tons of well rotted compost a year, provided the bin is kept full.

When filling the bin, put from 10 to 12 inches of leaves on the bottom, then wet them thoroughly with water. After you've covered the leaves with one inch of top soil, sprinkle four to five pounds of 4-12-12, 8-8 8, or other complete fertilizer over the soil.

Repeat thse steps until the bin is full. Leave a depression in the center of the pile so rain will soak down through the mass. During dry periods, add water to speed up leaf rotting. Usually it takes from 12 to 18 months to decompose leaves to a good garden compost.

It's a good idea to leave a removable board at the bottom of the compost bin. Then, the well rotted material can be pulled out through this opening and used. Fresh material is then added to the top.

NEWS OF—

REFUGE

We should always be grateful for the privilege of going out to the house of the Lord. Thousands of years ago, people were glad when the time came for the privilege of meeting together for fellowship. One said: "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into th housee of the Lord."

Plans are well under way for the beginning of the work on the church building. A building committee was selected and we will be hearing more from them in the near future. A great majority of the pledges are in to finance the work, but your gift will also be needed before the task is finished. We are not in the begging business, but we want all of our people and friends to know what we are doing and if they wish to have some part, they may feel free to do so.

Paneling and celotex will be used for the interior and asbestos shingles will be used for the exterior. The over head ceiling will be let down about two feet.

The Henry Mims Family Reunion will be held here the Second Sunday in October as usual. Friends and relatives are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Junior Minor are the proud parents of a fine baby boy that was born Monday night at the Chilton County Hospital. He weighed 6 lbs. and 4 ounces. They have named him Randall Keith. Both mother and baby are doing fine.

Mrs. Lula Minor passed away Tuesday morning of this week at 7:55 at the Chilton County Hospital. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 O'clock at the Refuge Baptist Church with the Revs. M. Lockhart and Grady Cleckler officiating.

We will be looking for you at church next Sunday.

Re-Identify When You Buy Your Tag

Ladies and Gentleman, the Re-Identification Law passed in the Summer of 1962, was passed for the purpose of removing the names of all people that are dead, the names of all non-residents, that is those people that ar living permanently in another county or state and to re-locate or place voters in the beat and box where their place of residence is located.

If you did not re-identify on or before January 1st., 1963 your name was removed from the qualified voters list by the Chilton County Board of Registers. Now the law further provides that you can still qualify by re-identifying before any election. It appears that the next election will be held in early December of this year and I'm sure you will certainly want to vote in the Primary Elections next year and certainly by all means the General Election next year.

Now, if you have not attended to this matter, and since many of you have not, may I suggest that when you come ot the Probate Office to buy your Privilege license or your tag, please attend to this most important matter at that time.

One of my clerks in the Probate Office will be glad to assist you in the matter.

Now, Ladies and Gentlemen may I beg you to keep this notice in mind and may I leave this thought with you, "Never in my judgement in the history of our beloved country has the need for every true citizen voting next year. This is our only opportunity left to preserve our true American Way of Life."

If I can assist you in any way in this matter please feel free to call on me.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

THIS is not a testimonial. We were just curious to know if anyone had ever found a good use for old tobacco cans. We smoke a pipe; and we have been saving tobacco cans for some time now, and they're beginning to get in the way. We hoped maybe some of our readers could help us out with a good "helpful hint" so we could get some good use out of 'em! So far, all we've got out of 'em is tobacco.

DIDN'T someone, somewhere win something from a bunch of "Yankees" last week? From the conversations we hear around town, a bunch of "Yankees" got the socks beat off of them last week. So, what's all the fuss about.

SUNDAY, Mark's Mom cooked him a birthday cake. He was four-years old. Monday, Mark came into the house for lunch and asked: "Momma, can I hafe some of that four-year-old cake?" We always thought she was a pretty good cook!

For reasons obvious to the fost naive of our readers. . . WE still do. Mark just hasn't learned what it takes to get a "five-year-old" cake!

THEY say women are like horses and 'old chickens'! They are always 'clucking' at you about something; and they're always saying "neigh"! (There goes out birtrday cake!)

HEARD a fellow ask another if the fellow he was with (a Reublican) had converted him. He said, "No! - Kennedy converted me!" We knew there was something about that fellow Kennedy all along. . . he's a Republican!

THERE'S nothing like public opinion to set things straight! We "short-changed" somebody in our recent front page article about John McAfee. We said "Big John" was a product of Plantersville; but after several telephone calls to the contrary, we hasten to state that John played his high school football (four years of it) for Maplesville High. We didn't mean to slight anyone. . . we're proud of John; and we know the folks in Plantersville as well as Maplesville are equally proud of, and for, him. Glad to set the record straight.

THE City of Clanton has a new, and shiny red firetruck, delivered last Tuesday — road (and siren) tested Wednesday. You will see a picture of it in the News next week!

The only thing it doesn't have on it is a Ladies restroom and a Dalmatian!

IF you don't believe it takes "guts" to ge a reporter — consider our sports reporter Mike Dennis: He hasn't had the opportunity to repirt a winning game all year; but he's still in their pitching. No wonder Mike; t's supposed to be football!

And what about editors with a "sense of humor"?

CHECK us if we're wrong; but we think you will find something about Clanton Drive-In Theatre o every page of this issue of the News! You will also find hundreds of bargains from Local Merchants who are helping celebrate the Theatre's 14th Anniversary. It just goes to show what cooperation in the business community can accomplish.

We'd like to take this opportunity, to personally thank each individcal businessman: and the merchants collectively for their help in making this issue possible. And you readers out there: Trade at Home with these folks; they'll be much obliged to you!

"Nannie" Culver Grows Bumper Crop

Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama
Gentlemen:

This summer Nannie Janie Culver of Route 5, Clanton is more independent than ever. Even though she has been using a walker for the past four years, her accomplishments have been simply amazing. Not only does she keep a fine orderly house, cooking and baking, all by herself, she also harvested a fine crop of pears, apples, crabapples, tomatoes, canteloupes, and watermelons. (See attached picture.) Mrs. Culver will be 85 on Halloween, but her spirit is ever young. She canned and preserved a good deal of her crop and the rest was presented to friends and relatives.

The payment is part of an estimated $7,200,000 tax bill to be paid by Southern Bell to the State of Alabama and to the counties and municipalities of the state for the year 1963, exclusive of income, social security and excise tax payments to the federal government.

Wetumpka Comes Up River, Drowns CCHS

BY MIKE DENNIS

THE Clanton Tigers were beaten here last Friday night by the powerful Wetumpka Indians. Wetumpka is considered by many people to be the best team in our conference.

The first Wetumpka score came in the first Quarter on a 68 yard run. Wetumpka took advantage of a Chilton County fumble on the 20 yard line as Jimmy Rushing took a pass from John Enslen for the second score.

Wetumpka's power dominated the second half by scoring twice in the third quarter and twice in the fourth quarter.

Cecil Wade was the outstanding player on defense for Clanton. Ricky Wyatt was the leading ground gainer for Clanton.

Chilton County High's Homecoming will be tomorrow night as they meet Dadeville. Let's all come out and support the Tigers.

A group of interested Citizens from the Clanton Civic Clubs met in the City Hall at 7 p.m., Oct. 1, 1963, with an impressive group of Girl Scout leaders in their attractive green uniforms to make final plans for construction of the future home and meeting place, a 44 ft. by 22 ft. hut.

Mayor Jackson and City officials selected one of the more attractive areas in the City Park and has pledged their support in this project.

The hut plans were put into blue print order by Mr. James S. Patterson and have been approved by the South Central Alabama Girl Scout Council.

The masonry constructed hut will have an atttractive fireplace and gas space heaters. A range refrigerator with sink area will be provided for cooking projects and refreshment preparation.

The Girl Scouts are making a desprrate strive to get established and this hut is one of their greatest needs at this time as they have no meeting place, after two years.

Don't be surprised if you are contacted for a donation that you may be recognized in the original construction.

When you drive by the City Park, don't be surprised if you see, We Small Girls growing up.

A Message To Proposed Girl Scout Leaders In Clanton

Just what does it mean to be a Girl Scout Leader?

That is something you will discover for yourself, for leadership of girls is a very personal thing. It can mean the shining faces of girls eagerly planning their activities with you; the determined look of a teenager tackling a difficult project; a small hand slipping gently into your at camp fire time; a sense of awe and dedication during a flag ceremony. Leadership can bring the joys of kinship with girls, the stimulation of new adult friends. the sincere thanks of parents, the satisfaction of performing a worthwhile service.

Forming clubs is nothing new for girls. If you look back a moment, you may recall a gay but short lived "Secret Seven Society" or "Happy Thoughts Club." Enthusiasm dwindled as finances became difficult or interest of the members became too varied, and the Club broke up. Does it sound familiar?

Girls still get together to do all sorts of things in groups which they cannot do alone. With or without elections some girls become group leaders. Smaller subgroups form within a group. But, too often and too soon, the whole bright idea may become just one of those childhood memories.

The Girl Scout program builds on young girl's natural interests in clubs and helps make it something more lasting and worthwhile through the addition of adult leadership. Many good ideas which would otherwise die in the planning can be carried out under the guidance of troop leaders.

You may bring things to your leadership job. You bring the sum total of everything you have been—your experience and skills and talent. Perhaps you have a way with plants, or a flair for cooking, or an interest in folk music, These can be shared with girls. You can also bring a desire to learn new things with girls.

The most valuable thing you can bring to Girl Souting is a belief in girls and a willingness to accept ther giggles and foibles along with their refreshing enthusiasm.

The girls' focus is on adventure and activities; your focus is on girls. The Handbooks for girls are filled with suggestions, all carefully chosen to help girls learn the values in the purpose of Girl Scouting.

The Leaders Notebooks are filled with suggestions to prepare you for Leadership in any of the four age levels of Girl Scouting. Brownies 7 and 8 years old. Juniors 9, 10 and 11 years old. Cadettes 12, 13 and 14 years old. Seniors 15, 16 and 17 years old.

Courses are being held throughout the year to prepare you to become a leader.

Many, many girls want to be Girl Scouts, and we want them to join us, but without leaders, these girls are being deprived of something they want desperately to become a part of.

Perhaps you can do your part. Won't you try? Perhaps you would like more information on the Girl Scout Program. I am at your service.

Rita G. Elmore
Neighborhood Chairman
Chilton and Autauga Counties

Something To Take Pride In; Now And In Years To Come

This, the third year of organized Girl Scouting in Clanton, finds the girls under the leadership of some of the outstanding civic minded mothers here.

This year a new program is being put into effect, with new Handbooks for the girls, and new Leaders' Notebooks for the leaders. These books will serve as an unsurpassed book of reference and record.

Each age level in Scouting have it's own Handbook. It will serve as a reference to the girls as they work on earning their many badges and meeting the Challenges in Girl Scouting. Having a Handbook is a requirement for each girl, since it will also serve as an official record of her activities in Scouting.

The books are available through the Leaders until October 12, 1963. After this date the books can be purchased through stores in Montgomery and Birmingham.

The splendid leaders giving so much of their time to this program are to be admired for their great undertaking, and this time next year when they have their "Hut" in the local park, you will see Girl Scouts really in action.

The Leaders are blessed with a nice new book, assisting them to such degree that time is about all required of these lovely ladies.

Stronger "Teeth" Now In Lien Law To Help Collect Bad Debts

The Alabama Hospital Association has been working a full capacity the past two weeks furnishing the hospitals in the state with information on the recent changes in some of the laws pertaining to the medical facilities and doctors of the state.

One of the "Strongest" laws passed in some years was passed to assist in collections for all assist in collections for all reasonable charges for care, treatment and maintenance of sick and injured.

This is not a new law according to Mr. Elmore, administrator, Chilton County Hospital, but now has more "TEETH" or stronger means by which the medical facility is able to force colletions.

This law has not been widely used in Chilton County for most people make an effort to pay their acounts. But, the law is available to make Liens on property and could be used in those cases when necessary.

The Hospital Association has made available forms for this purpose and it is expected wider use wil lbe made of this provision trrough out the state.

Due to this more positive collective action, to be used through out the state, it is suggested each on review their hospital and doctor insurance coverage to avoid any future embarrassment and loss of property in payment of honest and just debts due or past due to medical facilities.

Hospital To Benefit From Recent Law Change

The Chilton County Hospital and other hospitals in the State of Alabama were officially notified on September 23, 1963, of changes to Workmen's Compensation Law, HB 1274: Sections 277, 283 and 293. These changes were effective October 1, 1963.

These changes are beneficial to both the injured and to the hospital offering services to the disabled. The worker is covered for a longer period of time and an increase of benefits. These changes will assist the Hospital as the employer shall pay a larger part or in most cases for all hospital and doctor services rendered during the period the injured is unable to earn an income.

According to the Business office manager of Chilton County Hospital some of the smaller local business houses have failed to full fill their obligations in some past cases. But, due to the recent passage of these changes the employer will be expected to meet the full or required part of the $2,400 liability.

These changes will require a number of employers to review their insurance coverage.

Attention has been invited specifically to the fact the law was changed to increase medical, surgical and hospital service limit from $1,800 to $2,400 and time from disability was increased from one to two years.

EDITORIALS

You Could Get Shot--

QUITE a number of reports have come in lately of "Peeping Toms" and prowlers. Enough, in fact, to be considered alarming by some standards in a small community.

Why so many?

We don't know!

We don't even know why there has been one. . . except that whoever takes his life into his own hands by trespassing on someone else's property, especially after dark, is mentally unbalanced. Crazy, in other words!

It is a perverted mind, that makes it's "master" think he will see something which he feels he would like to, but cannot see?

Is it a perverted mind, that makes not cope with society and is seeking "attention"?

Or is it a teenager (as has been reported in some cases who is just "mixed up" about things in general?

As we said, we don't know!

But, a message to the offender, in case he is reading this: Have you thought of the consequences of invading another persons privacy to the extent of "trespassing"; or "breaking and entering", or worse, perhaps?

Have you balanced well the possibility that you could cause great harm, and embarrassment to others, including members of your own family?

And last, but to our way of thinking, most important: Have you considered well the possibility that you could get your head shot off while "messing around" someone else's property after dark?

It is our opinion that you should weigh these things; and then determine for yourself: "Is it worth the effort and the risk"?

So We're Told--

THEY tell us around and about that there is absolutely nothing to the idea of the Democrat nominees for office next year being hand-picked instead of elected in a Primary election.

We could have told you that there would be nothing to that. . . as soon as the people heard about it!

It's an absurb idea!

14 Years Of Growth--

THIS week (and incidentally this issue of the News) marks the 14th Anniversary of the Clanton Drive-In Theatre in Clanton.

Every year for 14 years the Theatre has improved until today, it is an example of the very finest in this kind of family entertainment. We would not hesitate for one minute to put "our" Clanton Drive-In Theatre up against the best in the land. That is a tribute to the ingenuity and hard work put into this business by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson and their loyal team of employees.

The industrialist can say that it is a very fine industry for our community.

The school teacher can say that many films shown here are educational for our youngsters.

The businessman can say that it brings many dollars into this community each year, in one form or another.

The mothers and fathers of this community can take the entire family out to see good, clean, wholesome entertainment on most any night of the year.

We're proud of "our" Clanton Drive-In Theatre; and we, here at the News, wish it much success in the years to come!

The "Magic City"--

In our opinion he is about as crossed-up and misinformed as anyone free to use a typewriter or penstaff that we have ever had the misfortune to come across.

We have read his columns on several occasions, and he not only is unsympathetic with the South's attitudes and customs (which is his privilege), but he usually does his level best to misinterpret and misquote anyone who says anything in favor of the South.

He said in a recent column: "Southern congressmen say, "Birmingham is not the true south. . . it is a wild town'!"

We'd like to know which southern congressmen said that. For the information of Mr. Spivack and the congressmen, Birmingham is exactly representative of the feeling of the South. And anyone with any gumption will know that we do not refer to the bombings and racial trouble going on there at this time.

We refer to Birmingham! We know the people! They are southerners to the last one. They are proud of their heri--tage, and they are proud of their Citv.

We resent the likes of one Robert Spivack disparaging the good name of the people of Birmingham, by calling it a "wild town". We wonder, too, just how much time he has spent among the people of Birmingham. If not much, he needs to. . . he might learn something about real southerners! In fact, real, and gentle, people!

Whose Brain Is Washed--

PRESIDENT Kennedy seems to think that all Alabama would accept total integration, were it not for Governor George Wallace!

The President is wrong again.

George Wallace is the "voice of the southern people"; and he is doing the things which most southern people want done. Namely, he is fighting for the freedom and rights of all men everywhere, and he's doing it pretty nearly by himself.

A great majority of the people of the State of Alabama believe in their Governor. This we believe very strongly.

He, in effort, is the leader in a cause to create justice where there is none; and the renewal of liberties and rights where they have been taken away or ignored.

Mr. President: George Wallace is putting voice to the things which we believe. He is, in our opinion, standing up for the rights of freedom-loving peoples everywhere.

And if you think we've been brainwashed. . . well, we think you have!

Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu--

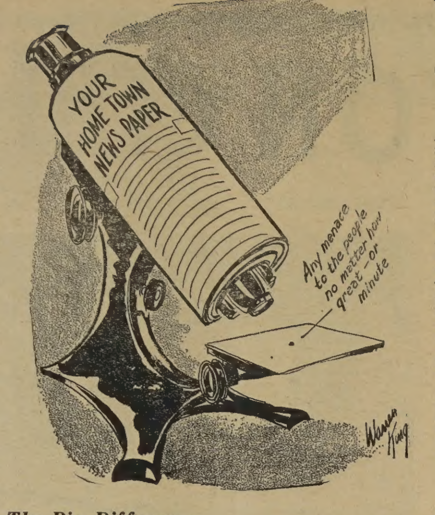
And that, in itself, is probably the fault of the United States officials who "exposed" her to our form of government.

This bit of enlightenment is probably of very small concern to anyone in Chilton County, Alabama; but is it? This woman appears to us to subscribe to the theory that "the end justifies the means"; and Democracy is something you sit on the mantle to show to your friends! She appears to believe that first you must have a goal and then you set out to attain it; and if it means cutting off your nephew's head or your uncle's beard, then so be it..

We just wonder, how many people here in Chilton County realize how much damage such a person can do in the name of Democracy, the very thing upon which we base our society and high standard of living..

We don't know very much about the Buddhists. . . what we are concerned about are the Christians!



YOUR HOME TOWN NEWS PAPER
Any menace to the people no matter how great or minute

The Big Difference--

THE week of October 13-19 is National Newspaper Week.

It is an observance which we cannot ignore, because it concerns the subject very dear to our hearts.

We contribute newspaper space, much time and energy, to literally every community project which shows itself of value, in order that we, your newspaper, may deserve our place in this community.

We do it gladly, and with great pride.

It is not only our responsibility to represent this community to the best of our ability it is our privilege.

Many times we are chastized, boycotted, and maligned for our efforts in behalf of our community. But we take it in stride. . . as a natural hazard yhich cannot be sidestepped, and we develop a thick outer layer of skin yhile seeking diligently to maintain an understanding and sympathetic inner feeling which will help our community to grow and prosper.

The way is rough. . . not smooth; just as with any other way which has merit and is aimed at improving the society in which mankind finds himself.

We pause this week, in our hectic routine, to reflect on exactly what our task in life is. It humbles us that we must represent so many people in so many ways, and still come out in the end with the same goal attained.

We put on our newsprint armor; and with pen in hand, we find ourselves one of the front-line fighters in the never-ending struggle to preserve the freedom of this democracy.

We expect to fight corruption; and we will be the watchdog of the treasury; exposing any menace to this community's well-being.

In short; we represent the people of Chilton County; and we intend to give it all we've got!

And the best of it all is: If you don't like the way we're handling things; you can let us know "Across The Editor's Desk." You'll find space for your opinions, each week, on our local Editorial page.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

The House of Representative passed by an overwhelming vote last week a bill authorizing -1.5 million as the United States' share of developing a battlefield memorial and tourist center on the historic island of Corregidor located in Manila Bay.

Having been a member of the Corregidor-Bataan Memorial Commission since 1957, I introduced this legislation earlier this year, and I also handled it during the floor debate. The bill provides for the development of historic Corregidor Island into a war memorial site in honor of the over four million American veterans who fought in the Pacific Theater with their Filipino allies during World War II.

The memorial proposed is a modest one, and the government of the Philippines has agreed to the plan and donated the land site. Under the provisions of the bill passed last Tuesday by the House and sent to the Senate, the historic Malinta Tunnel and other areas of the island, which have fallen into a state of ruin, will be restored. Histiric markers and twin flag poles to fly the Philippine and American colors will be erected. A small pavilion or tourist center will be built containing an auditorium and a place for the display and storage of historic documents.

Joint Project

Although the United States Congress initiated the memorial project, the Philippine government has already begun clearing and restoring the island as a token of their good faith in the joint project. The Filipino government has agreed also to be responsible for arrangements for guards, for tourist transportation to and from the island, and for sharing with the U.S. in the production of a documentary film depicting the struggle for freedom on Bataan and Corregidor The government of the Republic of the Philippines has authorized an appropriation of the peso equivalent of $1.5 million for its share of the undertaking. The State Department has said that the Filipinos have agreed to accept the responsibility of maintenance and upkeep of the memorial.

Presently there is no fitting memorial or monument to pay tribute to the over four million American veterans who served in this vital area or to the brave Flipinos who fought by their side. While we have erected was memorials in the European area which have cost in the neighborhood of $40 million, the United States has spent only about $4.5 million for memorials in the Pacific area--this expenditure going primarily for a memorial cemetery in Manila and another in Honolulu. To commemorate the service and sacrifice of the men who died at the fall of Corregidor and Bataan in 1941-1942, the men who died in the campaign to recapture the Philippines, and those veterans who fought in Pacific waters or in island jungles is the purpose of this legislation.

Wide Support

As evidenced by the vote last week in the House, the bill received overwhelming bipartisan support. General Douglas MacArthur, Generals Kruegar and Keeny, as well as Admiral Nimitz, have given the memorial effort their full support. The Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, and the Defenders of Corregidor and Bataan have strongly endorsed the memoiral bill.

In a letter to the chairman of the Bataan-Corregidor Memorial Commission, Gen. MacArthur said this of the proposed memorial: "It is indeed a worthy purpose. For no soil on earth is more deeply consecrated to the cause of human liberty than is that of the island of Corregidor and adjacent Bataan Peninsula."

The memorial, as provided in the bill which I sponsored, serves the purpose outlined by Gen. MacArthur—a tribute to the gallant American and Filipino allies who fought and died in the Pacific area. But the memorial will serve an additional purpose. It will be a symbol of the bond of friendship between the Republic of the Philippines and the United States. It is to be placed not in Arlington National Cemetery or in a Washington park--on Asian soil as a lasting monument of friendship between the two countries.

We Already Have Enough "Civil Rights"; Says Sparkman

Senator John Sparkman (D., Ala.) in interviews over Southehrn radio and elevision stations during the week end chose the gridiron season to charge both political parties with making a political football out of racial relations.

Sparkman pointed out that federal laws are already on the books to protect the civil rights of all citizens. Specifically, he cited Title 18, Sec. 241; Title 18, Sec. 242; Title 42, Sec. 1983; and Title 42, Sec. 1985, subsection 3 of the United States Code as providing ample protection against civil rights violations. The Alabama Senator called attention to these laws in a reference to his attempts to prevent coninuation of the Civil Rights Commission o nthe U. S. Senate floor. Sparkman contended that the Civil Rights Commission duplicates the activities of the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department.

Sparkman asserted that the Civil Rights Division is functioning under existing laws enacted "to protect the rights of all citizens regardles of race or color."

In response to a question from an interviewer, Sparkman noted that Title 18, Sec. 241, provides a fine of not over $5,000 or imprisonment of not more than 10 years, or both for persons who conspire to deprive any citizen of rights secured to him under the Constitution or laws of the United States.

Referring to Title 18, Sec. 242, Sparkman pointed out that a fine of $1,000 or 1 year imprisonment or both is provided for the deprivation of any rights or for subjecting persons to different punishments, pains, or penalties on account of color or race.

"Title 42, Sec. 1983 and Title 42, Sec. 1985, subsection 3 of the U. S. Code, provide that persons whose civil rights have been violated can bring civil actions--either of law or suits in equity to recover damages," Sparkman stated. "Moreover, they can bring civil actions to prevent any anticipated denial of any right of any citizen guaranteed by the laws of the United States and the Constitution.

"I firmly believe that these statutes constitute enough law to provide not only punshment but also civil damages for any person who feels that he has been denied his civil rights by the efforts of any persons," Sparkman said.

American Legion Recognizes News

Mr. R. M. Tucker
Chilton County News
Clanton, Alabama
Dear Sir:

The American Legion of Alabama is most appreciative of your very fine support of its community service programs during the past year. Your cooperation has been a contributing factor in the acceptance and the implementation of these programs which mean so much to our American way of ilfe.

Today our great country faces one of its most critical periods in history. Throughout the world there is disturbance and unrest in many of the small and large countries. Most of this The American Legion believes is brought about through the world wide communistic movement. The American veteran has fought for freedom since 1776 and the American Legion today, as it has for the past 45 years, continues to teach, true Americanism to our senior citizens but our most concern is the teaching of true Americanism to the youth of our nation who will, in a vary short span, be the leaders of our communities, states and nation.

We ask your continued help to us in the coming year and your all-out support of our four basic principles of National Security, Americanism, Child Welfare, and Rehabilitation. Your past cooperation has been helpful and genuinely appreciated.

With kindest regards from all of us, I am

Sincerely yours,
Alton S. Wright

Huddleston Raps VA For Disclosure of Gov's. Records

PRESSES FOR INVESTIGATION OF UNWARRANTED DISCLOSURE

Congressman George Huddleston, Jr called on the Veterans Affairs Committee, U. S. House of Representatives, to thoroughly investigate the recent disclosure and publicizing of Governor George C. Wallace's Veterans disability records..

In his request directed to Representative Olin E. Teague, Chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee, Alabama's Representative on the Armed Forces Service Committee said, "Not only am I protesting this action, but so are thousands of veterans throughout the country who feel that this is a most outrageous action".

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon cited Governor Wallace's disability record in a speech in the Senate on September 5, 1963.

Earlier Representative Huddleston demanded a full investigation from the Honorable John S. Gleason, Jr., Administrator of Veterans Affairs, asking, "under what authority this record was released, knowing full well that Senator Morse had no legitimate reason for obtaining the same."

Congressman Huddleston pointed out that Subsection 8 of Section 3301, Title 38, U. S. Code, Veterans Benefits states, "The Administrator may release information, statistics, or reports to individuals or organizations when in his judgment such release would serve a useful purpose."

Continuing in his letter to Representative Teague, Huddleston explained, "I want to know if Administrator Gleason did make a finding that this disclosure would serve a useful purpose, and, if so, what useful purpose. Was it for the purpose which the results of this disclosure bear out to—publicly embarrass and intimidate Governor Wallace?

"The fact that George C. Wallace is a Governor of a State is of no consequence. What is of consequence is that Wallace is an honorably discharged disabled veterans of World War II. I feel that although it was Governor Wallace's rights which were abused in this case, the next time it could well be those of some other veteran. Every honorably discharged veteran in our country has a stake in this deplorable disclosure of a veteran's confidential records," Huddleston concluded. .

Huddleston told Teague that America's veterans wanted to know: (1) By what authority the records were disclosed; (2) What useful purpose the Administrator found would be served by the disclosure; (3) What appropriate action the Committee should take to prevent a recurrence of such a deplorable incident.

ANSWER ON WALLACE'S VA RECORD "UNSATISFOCTORY"

Congressman George Huddleston, Jr., today called the regsponse he received from the Veterans Administration "unsatisfactory" in reply to his demand for an investigation over the disclosure and publicizing of Governor George C. Wallace's Veteran's disability record.

Immediately following the public disclosure of Governor Wallace's VA record by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, Rep.. Huddleston pressed for a complete investigation by VA Ad- J. S. Gleason, Jr., and the House Veterans Affairs Committee. Mr. Gleason replied to Huddleston by use and he stated, "an examination by the Veterans Administration has failed to unearth any request for such information from Senator Morse, or any transmittal of such information to him."

Congresman Hudleston acknowledged the receipt of Mr. Gleason's letter by saying, "your explanation does not answer the question that I have raised". The Alabama Representative continued by pointing out that "in order to publicize the Veterans disability record of Governor Wallace, Senator Wayne Morse had to obtain this record directly from the Veterans Administration officials or through a third party. Records kept along with your files will indicate when and to whom Governor Wallace's personal and confidential file, or a part thereof, was made available".

Probing further, Huddleston said, "I want to know who obtained this information, whether it was Senator Morse or a third party, and, if so, who, and also I want to know who in the VA was responsible for the release of this record".

"This is the information I desire", Huddleston deanded, and he asked to be furnished with the same. Earlier Rep. Huddleston deplored this disclosure by declaring the "not only am I protesting this action, but so are thousands of Veterans throughout the country who feel that this is a most outrageous action."

In registering his concern, Huddleston charged that "every honorably discharged Veteran in in our country has a stake in this disclosure of a Veteran's confidential record".

Tetanus Deaths Unnecessary, Says AMA Health Official

Puncture wounds are a common cause of tetanus.

Despite the outpouring of new "wonder" drugs, man's ancient enemy, tetanus, has not yet succumbed to a cure.

Even so, death from tetanus, or "lockjaw" as it is commonly called, is "almost entirely unnecessary," says Raymond L. White, M.D., Director of Environmental Medicine for the American Medical Association.

"As a disease, tetanus is completely preventable," Dr. White noted. "The only reason it persists is that people fail to get immunized, or fail to maintain their immunity. Out of sheer neglect, three-fourths of the people don't have the protection they need.

"If it weren't for medicine's continual concern over the possibility of tetanus—if practically every time a physician saw a wound he didn't take precautions against tetanus—the disease would rank much higher among human killers."

Tetanus is caused by a deadly poison emitted by certain bacteria which contaminate certain types of wounds—especially puncture wounds, or wounds with imbedded dirt.

The bacteria itself cannot survive long enough in the open air to infect wounds. But its seeds or spores can.

Tetanus spores are usually produced by bacteria growing within the air-free intestinal tracts of mammals, including man, and reach the ground in animal manure. Within the intestines, bacteria cause no harm to their host, other than to serve as factories for the production of spores.

Once on the ground the spores, which are unaffected by air, and are borne great distances on the wind, can survive for as long as 11 years. Besides cultivated land, they are commonly found in household dust and the grime of city streets. Some have even been detected in hospital operating rooms—tracked in on street shoes.

The spores in some sections of the country are nearly as common as dirt, and await only the right kind of wound to start their chain of infection.

Because of its peculiar nature, tetanus has never been a mass killer like some infectious diseases. It is, however, a vicious enemy, killing 60 per cent of those it strikes.

Development of immunity against tetanus, says Dr. White, requires a series of inoculations—three injections four weeks apart, followed within six to twelve months by a booster dose. To maintain this protection, additional booster shots are necessary every four years.

"Protection," he said, "should begin early in life—one to two months after birth—for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities.

"But adults need protection too. With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spore of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make better use of our good sense, get immunized and keep immunized."

M. Lloyd Mims of the Refuge Community is in the process of construction a farm pond for livestock water and fish production. The ASCS is assisting in the cost. SCS is providing the technical assistance.

Allen Kohl of the Mars Hill Community has applied for a Soil and Water Conservation farm plan and has started his plan with the construction of a farm pond for fish production and recreation. The forage and woodland programs will get under way in 1964.

Marvin Oats, a cooperator of the Chilton County Soil Conservation District has brought his Soil and Water Conservation farm plan a little closer to completion by clearing and seeding seven more acres to fescue. Between now and next spring he plans to clear and seed an additional 15 acres to bahia grass.

Hoyt Freeman, also a cooperator of the Chilton County Soil Conservation District and a neighbor of Mr. Oats, has done a very good job of brush and weed control by spraying.

James Veazey of the Isabella Community has seeded his cropland to a winter cover crop: 8 or 9 acres were seeded to vetch and 3 or 4 to button lover. The button clover will be allowed to mature seed this next spring and used as a green manure crop the next two years. At the end of 1965 the entire 12 acres will be in a reseeding cover crop.

Charles L. Gilbert has completed his Soil and Water Conservation farm plan in the Rocky Mt. Community and has applied for a plan on the farm he just recently purchased in the Sardis Community.

October 6-12, 1963, has been proclaimed as Soil Conservation District Week. With a little desire, time, and effort, challenge yourself and see what you can do to establish or improve a conservation practice on your land..

IT'S YOUR WELFARE

Q. What kinds of aid are there?

A. There are six kinds of aid, or categories, in Alabama. They are as follows: Old Age Pensions, you must be 65 or over.

Aid to Blind - you must be blind and at least 1 6years old.

Aid to Permanently and Totally Disabled - you must have a permanent impairment (sickness or disability or incapacity) that makes you completely disabled. Age limits are 18 to 65.

Aid to Dependent Children - they must have lost at least one parent's support due to death, disability or absence.

Temporary Aid - you must face a sudden critical emergency, usually due to disability.

Medical Assistance for the Aged - you must be 65 or over, not receiving an old age pension. and need hospital care for acute illness major injury.

Of course, there are other regulations and requirements you must meet. You can get them from the Pensions and Security office.

Q. Can't I Dray a Pension at 62?

A. You cannot get an old age pension from the Department of Pensions and Security until you are 65. It is old age benefits under Social Security that you can get at 62 under certain conditions.

Q. What is the difference between an Alabama old age pension and social security?

A. These are two different programs administered by two different agencies. The old age pension program under the Alabama Department of Pensions and Security is financial assistance based on need for people 65 and over who qualify. Social Security for older persons under the United States Department of Health, Education, and Welfare is sometimes referred to also as old age benefits or a pension. It, however, is a plan of payments for people who worked in "covered" jobs or who have been dependent on "covered" workers.

Social Security benefits are not based on need but on the amount to the credit of the former worker from payments made by him and his empolyer, within specified limits.

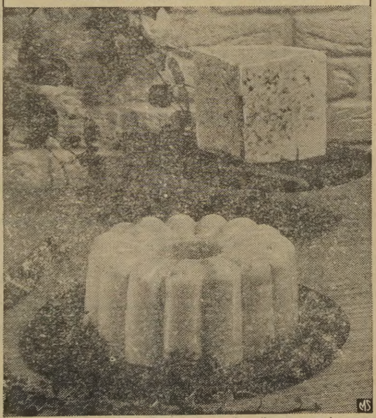
CHEESE MOUSSE FOR BUFFETS



A touch of glamour, a dash of excitement, a strong urge to serve a buffet dish that gives the onlooker pause to stand and admire before cutting into the festive mold . . . perfect description of this watercress and Danish Blue Cheese mold with granulated gelatine as its base.

In addition to making use of "convenience" foods, this salad mold is one of those especially welcome recipes that may be changed at will. Give a clever cook a good sound recipe that has the right proportions of liquids, solids and thickening agents and she can add a pinch of this, a bit of that, a little more of one ingredient and a little less of another and presto! — there's an entirely new flavor combination.

For example, in this recipe, the watercress may be changed to parsley, the heavy cream to sour cream, the pimientos to chopped ripe or green olives. But don't change the cheese! For this tangy, zesty Danish Blue Cheese has a smoothness, a texture and a flavor that makes it the favorite of cheese lovers the world over.

There's one question that continually pops up . . . Will cheese keep? Yes, indeed it will.

Any cheese keeps well. Here is what to do. Wrap the cheese in a damp cloth, cover with metal foil and refrigerate. When ready to serve, remove wrappings and let cheese stand at room temperature for half an hour. Cheese will keep indefinitely when stored properly.

DANISH BLUE CHEESE SALAD MOUSSE

1 envelope gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Few drops onion juice
½ pound Danish Blue Cheese, crumbled
¼ cup pimientos, cut in thin strips
1 cup finely cut watercress
1 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon dry mustard

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add boiling water and seasonings; stir until dissolved; chill until syrupy, but not set. Beat until light and fluffy.

Whip the cream, add the lemon juice and mustard; blend into mixture. Pour into 5-cup ring mold (well-oiled).

Chill in refrigerator for 4 to 6 hours, or until ready to serve. Turn out on serving dish, garnish with greens. Fill center with radish roses and short stalks of celery. Serves 6 to 8.

MEDICAL RELIEF PROGRAM NOT WORKING

by Ivan A. Nestingen
Under Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare

Three years ago Congress approved a Medical Assistance for Aged (MAA) program to try to help the medically needy among our nearly 18 million people 65 and over.

It was hailed by some, including the American Medical Association, as the bridge for the serious gap between the low incomes of most older people and their increasing need for costly medical care.

Under the Kerr-Mills law which set up the MAA program, it was left to each State to decide whether it wanted to put a program into effect for its citizens. Then, if it did, the Federal Government would provide part of the money — ranging from 50 to 80 percent — to pay the cost of providing the care.

Also, it was left to each State — within its own financial ability — to decide how much and what kind of medical care it would provide its older people.

The Kerr-Mills law set only one major limitation on how a State operated its MAA program. It could not pay for care for anyone who wasn't considered "medically needy." The law said a "medically needy" person was one whose income and resources were too high to qualify for regular Old-Age Assistance payments, but still too low to cover the costs of any needed medical care.

Unfortunately, after three years of trying to make MAA work on a Nationwide basis, the program has been, at best, only mildly successful. And, there is no reason to believe the situation will ever improve much.

This can easily be seen from two facts. In the two and a half years since the program got under way, half of the States had not set up MAA programs for their older citizens. And, in most of the States where MAA has been established, the programs are very limited.

For example: In a number of the States, the care available is limited to a very short period of hospitalization. Tennessee and Kentucky, for instance, provide only up to 10 days' care and then only in case of an acute illness and not for a chronic condition.

— Half of these States do not provide care to any of their older citizens if their yearly income is more than $1,200. About half do not provide MAA where the yearly income of a couple exceeds $2,000.

— About two-thirds of the States do not provide MAA if a single person's liquid assets exceed $1,000 or if a couple's assets exceed $1,500.

— All but one of the States limit the cash value of life insurance a person may hold and still receive medical assistance. Four disqualify persons if the cash value exceeds more than a specified amount — as low as $500 for a couple in New York State.

Ivan A. Nestingen

— Thirteen States make MAA payments only after it has been found that close relatives are unable to pay for medical-care expenses which the older person cannot pay himself.

Furthermore the MAA programs in the States are proving to be — in the words of the New York Times — "an administrative monstrosity." This is no wonder. Each State has a separate administrative problem. And, there is need for annual or biannual appropriation of funds by each State and the Federal Government.

And, of course, there is the need to check up on each person applying for caré to see if he meets the income limits and is truly "medically indigent." As a result of this administrative work, we find that six States are spending at least 25 cents of every dollar spent under MAA for administration rather than to pay benefits.

Tennessee spent 60 cents to administer its program in 1962 for every dollar it paid out in benefits. Louisiana, Kentucky, and Oregon all spent nearly 30 cents on administration for every dollar it paid in benefits in 1963.

Thus, there can be little doubt some better way must be found to assure today's and tomorrow's older citizens with a means of getting needed medical care.

To deal with the urgent need for a program, President Kennedy has urged Congress to extend the social security system to provide health insurance to people 65 and over.

Under the President's plan, you would pay a small amount into social security while you're working and you would be entitled to hospital, nursing home, home health care and diagnostic services after you reach 65.

This is not "socialized medicine." It is the American way. The government itself will not provide any services whatsoever and would not interfere with the practice of medicine or the relationship between doctor and patient. Like Blue Cross, the proposed program would merely provide the means through which the contributions of worker and employer — about 25 cents a week for an average worker — would pay for hospital costs in retirement.

Your Congressman wants to know how you stand on the bill to provide hospital insurance for older Americans through Social Security. Write to him. Also, for further information, write the National Council of Senior Citizens, 1627 K St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

Water and forest playgrounds around man-made Kentucky Lake, largest of the TVA's inland seas, attract motorists from six states. Driving down from Louisville, we started a Magic Circle tour in Pennyrile Forest State Park, a sylvan hideaway with trails leading to sheltered picnic spots, a hand-chiseled stairway down a cliff, rustic lodges, abundant wildlife.

The route curves west to Princeton with its elegantly landscaped mansions and modern Caldwell County Court House. Both highway and railroad share the roadbed across Kentucky Dam, which backs up the 184-mile lake, gay with sails, water skiers and fishermen.

Kentucky Dam Village is a showcase for the state's unexcelled park system with ultra-modern motel-type units, stores, craft shops and a sporty 18-hole golf course. We continued to Murray, proud of its Murray State College campus and the new pentagon-shaped glass dormitory complex.

Ft. Donelson National Military State Park in Tennessee—one of the most fascinating of Civil War battlefields—is where General Ulysses S. Grant first attained fame; massive earthworks are still perfectly preserved and seven cannons rest in historic silence. Showplace of Clarksville, a market center for tobacco and livestock, is Austin Peay State College which holds a cherished candlelit Hail and Farewell graduation ceremony.

Back in Kentucky, a 351-foot obelisk set in a park in Fairview honors the birthplace site of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy. Final stop is at Hopkinsville, a thriving city with lots of bounce—they manufacture a million precision springs there daily! A few miles south at Fort Campbell Reservation, home of the 101st Airborne Division, the public may view the frequent mass parachute jumps.

Keeping Down Inflation

ON this, the observance of the 14th Anniversary of the Clanton Drive-In Theatre, the management is proud of the fact that some of their employees have been with them since the first night they opened on October 15, 1949. Tere are also other employees who have worked at Clanton Drive-In for 8, 10 and 12 years.

The management, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jackson, asked that we remind our readers that these are not only employees, they are also their friends.

And speaking of friends, Mr.. Jackson said: "14 years ago, we opened for business. During this time, we have shown many tickets and through the entrance of the theatre, have passed many thousands of people. . . the finest people in the world, our friends and our patrons."

He continued: "We wish to thank everyone whose courtesy good will, and loyalty, has helped us to stay in the theatre business."

To which we might add: One of the finest theatres in the entire United States, and one which everyone we know is proud to point to with pride when showing our community to their visiting relatives and friends.

And as to costs of admission and such; the Clanton Drive-In is in much the same position as the Chilton County News with regards ot subscription prices: "The price of pictures has doubled in the past 14 years." And the price of newsprint has more than doubled in the past 14 years.

It still costs only 60c to go to the Clanton Drive-In; and it costs only $3.00 to get the Chilton County News into your home each week for a full year.

A combined statement from Mr. Jackson and your Editor: "We are working day and night to keep down inflation!"

Wednesday night will be our regular Wednesday night prayer service. Each one come, that we may join together in asking God for the needs of our church, community and country.

Thursday, night we have our organized visitation program. Each member is urged to come and help visit that our church might continue to grow.

Our sympathy goes out to the Killingsworth family in the loss of their loved one, who was killed in a truck, train accident on Saturday. Let's remember that family and those that are sick in our community as we pray.

Re-Identify When You Buy Your Tag

Ladies and Gentleman, the Re-Identification Law passed in the Summer of 1962, was passed for the purpose of removing the names of all people that are dead, the names of all non-residents, that is those people that ar living permanently in another county or state and to re-locate or place voters in the beat and box where their place of residence is located.

If you did not re-identify on or before January 1st., 1963 your name was removed from the qualified voters list by the Chilton County Board of Registers. Now the law further provides that you can still qualify by re-identifying before any election. It appears that the next election will be held in early December of this year and I'm sure you will certainly want to vote in the Primary Elections next year and certainly by all means the General Election next year.

Now, if you have not attended to this matter, and since many of you have not, may I suggest that when you come ot the Probate Office to buy your Privilege license or your tag, please attend to this most important matter at that time.

One of my clerks in the Probate Office will be glad to assist you in the matter.

Now, Ladies and Gentlemen may I beg you to keep this notice in mind and may I leave this thought with you, "Never in my judgement in the history of our beloved country has the need for every true citizen voting next year. This is our only opportunity left to preserve our true American Way of Life."

If I can assist you in any way in this matter please feel free to call on me.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It is a matter of record that over 80% of the nations' independent business proprietors, voting through the National Federation of Independent Business, want a reduction in federal spending to accompany a tax cut.

* * *

So immediately, there arises the question, "where can expenses be cut?"

* * *

C. W. Harder

While of course the most drastic leak is the foreign give away programs which have already cost over $100 billion and which are being attacked by men like Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, there are thousands upon thousands of leaks from the U. S. Treasury.

* * *

It would probably take a finely printed book several feet thick to list all these leaks, but Rep. Homer Abele of Ohio recently reported on a few.

* * *

For example, the Federal government, which means the taxpayer, is shelling out $17-500 for a study on alcohol preference in rats.

* * *

This could be real big. For centuries mankind has really not known if rats prefer bourbon, scotch, brandy, rum, or some other beverage. And perhaps out of this study will come definitive proof as to just how dry a martini rats really prefer. And who knows that this study is being made in the nick of time, before dissatisfied rats of the nation unite in a mass protest.

Then Rep. Abele points to an item of $16,800 being spent on termite social behaviour.

* * *

Already this will astound some taxpayers who have never realized that termites have any social manners, especially when eating up buildings.

* * *

Then he also found an expense of $29,300 being spent for a study of the mammal fauna of the highlands of Ethiopia. It is presumed this study is confined to animal fauna, but this point is not clear.

* * *

Then there is $64,500 being spent on the behavior and ecology of the wandering albatross.

* * *

This is a larger figure than the other items quoted, but it is presumed that this is due to fact that these albatross do wander, thus will require much more travel expense to follow them around as they wander.

* * *

Some $15,200 is being spent to study society in ancient Babylonia, $36,800 to study social behaviour of ants which is presumably being done to learn why they are so fond of other people's picnics, $16,900 being spent for a revision of earthworm classifications, doubtless programmed under the slogan "Get to Know Your Earthworms Better," and so on down a long list.

* * *

All is paid for by taxes.

* * *

Inasmuch as all ancient Babylonians are long gone dead and not needing jobs, money extracted from business for such matters would be better left with business to create new employment for the present living unemployed.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

The Showplace Of Central Alabama Celebrates 14 Years Of Service To Chilton County and Surrounding Counties

An Exclusive
By BOB TUCKER

SOME 30 years ago, Joe A. Jackson, then working at the glamourous Alabama Theatre in Birmingham, Alabama, said to himself, "If I ever go into business for myself, it's going to be first class!"

And today, this year marking the Clanton Drive-In Theatre's 14th year of success in Clanton, Joe A. Jackson can look from any direction at his "dream" business and say without boasting, "It's first class!"

The Clanton Drive-In, owned and operated by Joe Jackson and his wife Myrtle, is second to none in the United States for class (in the most literal sense of the word), and is the largest drive-in movie theatre in the U.S.A. in a city with a population of less than 10,000 persons.

All Not Roses—

All their success in business has not been a bed of roses, although you would not recognize that from looking at the grounds or the theatre and it's buildings. It looks like a "bed of roses" But hard work, know-how and long hours have gone into building this into one of the showplaces of the south and certainly the most interesting and most well-kept place of its kind in the nation.

Not Good Enough—

Talking with Joe Jackson. you very quickly realize that second-best in anything he does is not good enough. It must be tops or it don't do. He takes great pride, and apparently gets satisfaction from doing things well. He pleases his patrons by giving them the very best there is for their money; and if the best is not available on the market, then Joe Jackson will invent a better way to do it.

Custom-Built—

Practically everything to do with Clantin Drive-In Theatre is custom-built to the satisfaction, and immediate need of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson. They make innovations of all descriptions to insure quality in their services, as well as in their spotless clean Snack Bar. From "all-meat" hot dogs to popcorn popped in cocoanut oil and barbecues and sandwiches made of the very best ingredients money can buy, nothing is overlooked to give the people of Central Alabama entertainment and relaxation which they can enjoy anytime as much as they like.

No detail is to small to warrant the attention of the management and this is the thing which has made the business the success that it is. Constant improvement, an adsolcte lack of deterioration, and additional conveniences as they are needed keep the folks coming back to the Clanton Drive-In Theatre again and again.

"Where The Family Goes"—

A slogan, proudly worn for several years now, is "Where The Family Goes", and this writer takes this opportunity to publicly say something we have already said privately to Mr. Jackson. We have been familiar with the Clanton Drive-In since it's creation, and in the 14 years of it's existence, it has always shown movies of the very best taste, suitable for family consumption. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have never and will never, run movies in their theatre which are morally unsuitable for the descent people of this community.

WE do not mean to imply that all the movies shown at the Clanton Drive-In are tops in our own opinion. We have seen some pretty poor ones up there. They were still in good taste. And talking with Mr. Jackson, it is clear that "good" movies are becoming increasingly difficult to come by. To use an old reliable phrase: "They just aren't making them like they used to," says Mr. Jackson. And he means quantity as well as quality.

He feels that "his" industry, which is the theatre business, should appeal more to the public with blamour and "special" attention to the wants and wishes of the trade which is mostly attracted to outdoor theatres. . . the family trade.

"Everytime I get the chance," says Mr. Jackson, "I try to get in my two cents worth about family type movies." "Jungle pictures, dog pictures, and those which appeal to every member of the family, are what we need more of." "We book every family movie we can, and they are the ones which pay off." And, we might add, they are the ones which are of unquestionably good taste.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have been to California on several occasions, to New Orleans, New York City and even to Hawaii seeking new ways to better serve the people of Central Alabama. They keep a close touch with the industry of which they are a part.

They are giving the movie industry something which it sees very little of these days, and that is good taste in every facet of their business. There is no room for immorality or bad taste in their operation.

A Few Unknown Facts—

Some things you probably didn't know about the Clanton Drive-In Theatre: The speaker which you hang on your window is the best on the market. They cost $10.50 apiece.

There are 57 tons of steel in the tower upon which the screen is mounted.

There are 459 "car stalls" on the lot. The Theatre has 14 full time employees.

The screen tower is 100 feet high. The place, besides being worked and kept-up 365 days of the year, is annually given a a paint job. They were just finishing painting the tower when we went through the grounds recently; it took 29 gallons of paint for the tower alone.

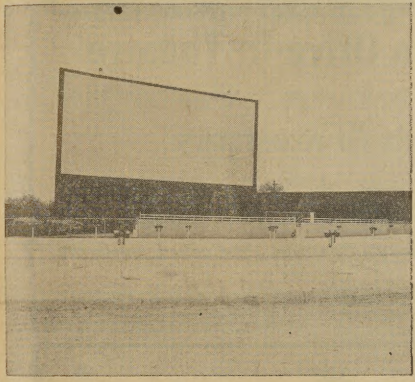
The greatest impression one gets from the over-all picture that is the Clanton Drive-In Theatre is cleanliness. Everything is one hundred percent clean. We challenge anyone to find anything dirty or out of order. The food is prepared in the cleanest possible manner; cold things are kept cold, hot things are kept hot, and perishables receive the greatest of care and attention.

"First Class—

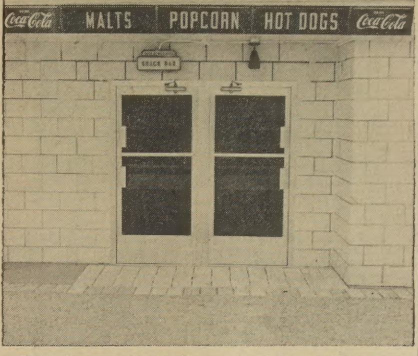
From the ice machine which makes the ice to go into your coke, to the two giant projectors which show you the best movies available anywhere, the Clanton Drive-In is tops; it is first class, it is an instituton of whch the people of Central Alabama can be justly proud. Prices are reasonable and quality, though not obvious or gaudy, is always present; and all that it took to bring this to being was dedication, hard work and a "dream" of one Joe A. Jackson to have a business of his own that was "first class"!

We'd say without hesitation: He has done just that!

ENTRANCE to the Clanton Drive-In Theatre is profusely decorated with greenery and flowers which bloom the year 'round.



HERE you see the big, big screen, where, according to the management, "the best movies available anywhere are shown each evening."



THE entrance to the pipular "Snack Bar where the very best and cleanest in food and drink are served nightly.

AND here you see the inside of the "Snack Bar" which is open all during the show and which also houses the projection booth and the restrooms for your convenience.

DEAR 4-H JANES

Another 4-H year has started and Mr. Futral, Mr. Mims, Mrs. Lane and I have met with nineteen clubs so far. There seems to be much interest in these clubs. We will be meeting with other club all duirng the month to organize.

When visiting with Joy Dell and Martha Jo Adams in Maplesville, I heard about the cake below. These two girls say, "It was a lot of fun looking all the ingredients up." Why don't you try it. The cake is delicious.

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

(This series of questions about Social Security is compiled from the questions sent to the Selma Social Security Office from Chilton County and answered by David G. Adams, Field Representative. Any questions that you want to ask may be sent to: Social Security, c/o Chilton County News, Clanton, Ala.)

Q. Is it true that I must pay social security on my father who works for me in my shop?

A. Yes. Parents who work for their children in a regular business are covered by Saciol Security. This started in 1962.

Q. Why should a married woman who works have to pay the Social Security tax? She can never draw from her Social Security Account, can she?

A. Yes she can get retirement and disability checks. She also gets valuable protection for her children, and dependent parents at her death.

Q. How long can a disabled child draw monthly cheks when his father retires or dies?

A. There is no age limit if the child was permanently and totally disabled before the 18th birthday. I know of one case where the disabled "child" is in his sixties!

1963 Hunting Season

On many occasions we have wirtten about the fishing opportunities to be found in the rivers, fresh-water lakes and along the Gulf Coast of Alabama. Now that the hunting season is almost on us, I visited the Department of Conservation, located in the State Capitol, and gathered some information on this equally attractive sport.

I was amazed to learn just how many hunting areas there are in this State, not to mention the thousands of acres of private lad loaded with game. Because of favorable weather conditions this year a bumper crop of quail, dove, waterfowl, deer, squirrel and rabbit are expected.

Here are some of the management areas and the counties they cover. In North Alabama you winn find managed hunting areas in Lauderdale, Franklin, Colbert, Limestone, Jackson, Winston, Marshall, Walker and Cleburne Counties. In Central Alabama the following counties are included: Bibb, Hale, Perry, Coosa, Clay hand Taladega. In Sout Alabama there are seven counties in managed hunting areas - Clarke, Washington, Mobile, Butler, Covington, Geneva and Barbour.

For complete information on these areas I would suggest you write to the Alabama Department of Conservation, Game and Fish Division, Montgomery. Those folks will send you a color brochure and map outlining each one, along with this year's hunting rules.

Space doesn't permit listing all the hunting seasons and bag limits, but here are a few of the more popular. The deer season will open in most sections of the state on November 9 and close on January 1, 1964. In some areas it will again open on March 20, 1964, and close on April 20 for a Spring season. The bag limits are one a day and three a season. Bob White Quail: November 20 to February 29 with a bag limit of ten a day and ten in possession. Squirrel: North of Highway 80 the season is from October 15 to January 1 and south of Highway 80 it is from November 1 to January 15, 1964. The limit is eight a day and eight in your possession. Rabbit: October 15 through February 20. Limit is six a day. The Dove season is going to aagin be divided this year.. The first part of the season will be October 1 through November 9 and the second part will be December 12 through January 10. Hunting will be permitted from 12:00 noon until sunset and the limit will be ten a day and ten in your possession.

Hunting is a great sport and thousands of Alabamians will participate in it during the coming months, so keep the rules of the game in mind and always use caution. Hunting ilceses are $3.00 State, $1.00 County. Non-resident ilcenses cost $10.00 for a seven day permit or $25.00 for an annual permit.

Record Budget Approved For State Department of Pensions

A record $123.5 million operating budget for the Department of Pensions and Security for the 1963-64 fiscal year was today approved by the State Board of Pensions and Security. Included are $92.7 million Federal and $30.8 million State funds.

Compared with 1962-63 expenditures estimated by Commissioner Ruben K. King at about $115 million, the new budget shows an $8.5 million increase, of which $6 million is Federal and $2.5 million, State funds. The State funds budgeted include $1.5 million estimated revenue from two new tax sources - that on liquor firms operating in Alabama and that on certain road contracts, as well as $1 million of a new $3 million conditional appropriation from the General Fund. Other State funds in the budget include continuing revenues earmarked for pensions and security purposes and the nearly $8.48 million absolute General Fund appropriation, King told the Board.

King reported also that the number of applicants for, and recipients of, public aid has climbed steadily over the past two years. He added it is quite difficult to predict the number who will be eligible in the months ahead. The budget provides for some additional increases in case load with a total of about 153,000 a month, of which 111,000 would be old age pensioners, At present payments are made to nearly 148,000 cases of which about 107,000 are the aged. Payments shown in the budget would not represent actual figures for any single month during the year.

The Board reviewed agency activities and problems, focusing special attention on plans for additional staff approved at its August meeting. New Federal regulations also necessitate a special Quality Control staff, it was noted that only 6.18 percent of the budget is allocated for administration.

King outlined procedures followed for in-service training and staff development, for intensive interpretation of agency policies, and for implementation of service amendments to the Social Security Act, as well as other usual agency responsibilities.

He reported on a special ADC project in Dallas County and a grant from the Children's Bureau to enable the Department of Pensions and Security to study the adoption of older crildren. The Child Welfare Division is receiving a larger number of children for permanent planning and has licensed additional facilities to serve children.

Other Board members, in addition to the Chairman, Governor Wallace are: James Record, Huntsville; Mrs. Mildred E. Lambard, Birmingham; William M. Clarke, Mobile; Hugh Kirkland, Newville Grant Whiddon, Newville; and Mrs. Mary Ella Reavis, Birmingham.

Bargain Publicity At The Fair

(Reprinted from The Alabama Journal, Montgomery, Sept. 30, 1963)

"When the Alabama World's Fair Commission decided last fall that the state could not raise the $1.500.000 needed to finance a pavillion advertising Alabama at the two-year extravaganza, it appeared the end of the matter.

The millions of visitors to the 1964-65 fair would retain the national picture of Alabama as a state of racial trouble and violence, of rednecks and run-down farms, of backwardness and failure to emerge from the 19th Century - as depicted in national press.

The cost was high, Gov. Patterson and Gov.-elect Wallace agreed in a joint statement that the state could ill afford the expenditure in view of the pressing needs of education, highways, old age pensions, mental hospitals and other programs suffering from a shortage of funds.

We could not afford to put our best foot forward, however much the publicity would have meant to the state in national and international edification about the good things in Alabama!.

But the opportunity, given up by Dr. Hugh MacGuire's proposal for dead, has been resuscitated to erect a fairgrounds model of his Atomedics hospital, now under construction here, which has already attracted considerable attention in this country and abroad

Atty. Gen. Flowers has ruled that the State Department of Publicity and Information is legally free to contribute a suggested $10.000 toward the construction of the revolutionary hospital.

That wouldn't go very far, barely beyond erecting an appropriate plaque identifying the hospital with Alabama. Since ths is to be Alabama's only participation in the fair, $100,000 — for two years of publicity - would hardly seem extravagant, compared with the $1,500.000 the state originally considered spending.

Since the Atomedics exhibit will be operated without additional cost to the state, a $100.000 contribution would be less than $1,000 a week for the duration of the fair. Where can the state buy advertising like that?

The advanced achievements of the University of Mississippi's medical college have done much to demonstrate that there is some light in the dark subcontinent. The Atomedics display could do even more for Alabama..

It need hardly be said that, against the background of recent violence,. Alabama can use all the favorable publicity it can get. The Atomedics exhibit would perhaps serve better in this respect than an expansive display of the kind originally contemplated.

Other states will have massive, boring demonstrations of their place in the sun. A single, highly advanced symbol that not everybody in Alibama is occupied with fusing dynamite bombs may well attract more genuine interest and impart a more lasting impression than the garish cornucopias of other states.

The state should increase the contribution, even if it means curtailing other national advertising."

NECESSITY OF SALT

Salt is as necessary to human life as water. The chemistry of the human body calls for a salt concentration in the blood to be kept constant.

In those parts of the world where the population lives chiefly on meat or fish the year round salt is no great problem as the meat and the fish supply enough salt. Salt deprivation is a problem in vast areas of the world where meat is scarce and people live primarily on a vegetarian

The three billion people on earth today consume an estimated 80 million tons of salt a year. In some areas, people live on an average of about two grams per day per person; whereas in the United States, the per capita use of salt is 280 grams a day.

Much salt comes from the sea, estimated at 30 million tons a year. The ocean has been for thousands of years and still is the main source of salt. Salt is also mined from huge deposits in this and other countries.

In the United States, large quantities of salt are produced from natural salt lakes, from rock salt and by drilling into deep underground salt deposits where water is pumped in and brine pumped out. Salt is also obtained from solar pans on the Califorina coast where water is evaporated from natural brine by the sun.

A Tribute To The Lady In The Lunchroom

National School Week Proclaimed—

The National School Lunch Program is the largest food service in the nation, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It now serves one out of every three children in the nation's schools.

The program is an amazing network of thousands of small enterprises donated by local citizens for the benefit of their children. Put together, these small enterprises are a 1¼ billion dollar food industry, serving 2.7 billion lunches a year..

Food used in the National School Lunch Program has now reached a value of well over $800 million annually. According to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service which administers the program nationally, four-fifths of this food--almost $650 million worth is bought by the schools in their own local market areas.

Total foods used in the national lunch program annually represent a train of 137,000 cars—reacring a length of over 1,000 miles. This represents over 10 percent of the total U. S. food sold through food service outlets.

In recognition of the lunch program's value and achievements, the Congress in 1962 requested the President to issue annually a proclamation calling for observance of National School Lunch Week. For 1963, it is the week beginning October 13 with the theme "School Lunch Serves the Nation—Through Food for Learning."

Three basic requirements for school participation i nthe National School Lunch Program are that the lunchroom be operated on a nonprofit basis, that free or reduced-price lunches be provided for children determined by local officials to be unable to pay the full price, and that the lunches served meet the basic Type A pattern.

The Type A lunch, as compared to the average a la carte lunch, meets from a third to a half of the recommended daily dietary allowances and includes as a minimum, a protein rich food, generous servings of fruits and vegetables, bread, butter or fortified margarine, and a half pint of milk.

The National School Lunch Program teaches children to develop sound food habits, eat a wider variety of foods, and practice good table manners.. The lunch operation helps to make a wholesome, appetizing lunch available to the nation's children every school day.

NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH WEEK Oct. 13-19

Sixteen million school children buy economical, nutritious noon meals at school every day under the National School Lunch Program, through which the U. S. Department of Agriculture provides about 20 percent of the total cost in cash and food. In recognition of the efforts of local citizens who run the program in 68,000 schools across the Nation, the President has proclaimed National School Lunch Week, October 13-19, during which school and community activities will point up the contributions of school feeding to the health and well-being of tomorrow's citizens.

HEART DISEASE—

Watch The Child With Sore Throat

One way to prevent heart disease, particularly among children, is to take care of sore throats.

This puzzling warning was sounded this week by the Alabama Heart Association.

The association cautioned parents that half of all heart disease among school age children is caused by rheumatic fever and that a neglected sore throat may be the way it starts.

With both school days and cooler weather well under way, the sniffle season is at hand and sore throats may be on the increase ,the association points out.

Not all sore throats can cause rheumatic fever, of course. The dangerous type is "strep sore throat", the result of infection by certain types of streptococcal bacteria. Some other types of streptococcal infections also may be followed by rheumatic fever, but they are less common than strep sore throat.

Rheumatic fever can cause permanent damage to the lining and valves of the heart, producing the condition called rheumatic heart disease.

The streptococcus infection doesn't, of itself, cause rheumatic fever. But somehow it seems to set the stage for the appearance of rheumatic fever in some people. NEWS OF—

REFUGE

Mr. Vernon O. Elmore, pastor of the Baptist Temple, San Antonio, Texas, calls our attention to the well known refrain: "I can be a good Christian without going to church." Mr. Vernon stated: "A person might as well claim that he can be a star player for the New York Yankees baseball team without showing up for the game." It would also be like a man who would have you to believe that he loved farm life ,but could not stand the smell of fresh plowed ground. We can not love the Lord without loving the things that he loved. In Ephesians 5:25 "Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it."

We had a good day last Sunday and everybody seem to enjoy themselves greatly. The building committee set plans for a meeting this week to work out details fo rthe beginning of the work on the church.

The Henry Mims Family Reunion will be held here this Sunday, and all friends and relatives are cordially invited to come and bring a covered dish. Regular servies will be held as usual, but lunch will be spread under the trees with plenty of tea and coffee. It will be a good time for the family and friends to meet together with plenty of good eats, fun and fellowship. We will be looking for you.

Our sympathy goes out to the friends and relatives of Mrs. T. N. Minor who passed away a fow days ago. She was a member of this church for more than 40 years. Her husband was a deacon here.

Our Wednesday evening prayer meeting and Bible study is growing in number and interest. Come and bring your Bible and enjoy yourself. We spend only about 40 minutes, but we feel that it is well spent.

We are expecting a full house next Sunday. Come and be with us.

The Sin of Righteousness
By Edgar A. Guest

I cried it from the housetops, Lord! I told by brothers sin! And when he tapped upon my door I would not let him in. I gave myself to righteousness , I labored for the law and hurled my shafts of bitterness against every wrong I saw

I stood alone in anger, Lord! And, oh, the years were long! My eyes wer eblind to beauty and my ears were deaf to song. I carried hatred in my heart for evil high or low, Til every man who blundered once, looked on me as a foe.

I did my bitter duty, Lord! I fought with all my might, I never spared a man whom I could bludgeon down in spite. So much I hated wickedness, so much I loved the good. I never bothered much a wrong or with a sinner stood.

The gracious Lord made an answer: "From the silence of the grave comes not a word from anyone you pitted or forgave. How then shall I forgive you now who lived on earth so long, and had not love for any man who blundered into wring?

Sparkman Attacks Proposal To Reduce State Representation

A proposal by the U. S. Civil Rights Commission to reduce Congressional representation of States which do not measure up to federal standards for qualifying voters has come under fire from Senator John Sparkman (D. Ala.,).

In interviews taped earlier for broadcast over Alabama radio stations today, Sparkman in response to a question about the Commission proposal labeled it as ridiculous.

"While it is true that one of the Civil War amendments to the Constitution provided that a State could have its membership in Congress reduced, the Constitution also provides that it is up to the State to determine voter qualifications," Sparkman said. "Certainly the federal government has no just right to come in and open up the polls ti anybody and everybody whether they meet the State qualifications or not.

"I wonder who would judge as to whether or not the State was complying," he declared. "It is a ridiculous thing and of course it is not going to be done."

Mr. Baton Will Judge At South Alabama Fair

Don Sartell, internationally known as Mr. Baton, will be chief judge at the Miss Majorette of Alabama Pageant, to be held at the South Alabama Fair in Montgomery, Oct. 12th. Mr. Sartell is founder and president of the National Baton Twirling Association, and is the publisher and editor of National Magazines, Drum Major, and Young and Beautiful. Mr. Sartell is also director of the Miss Majorette of America Pageant and the National and Bugle Corps contest.

Majorettes from all sections of Alabama will compete in the Miss Majorette of Alabama pageant, and the winner will compete for the Miss Majorette of America title at the Winter Carnival in St. Paul, Minnesota in January, 1964. Mr. Sartell will also judge in the National open contest to be held after the Miss Majorette Pageant. In the National open contest, Baton Twirlers from all over the Nation have been invited to compete.

Mrs. Shirley Ross of Montgomery has been named director of both contest.. Mrs. Ross says the Miss Majorette of Alabama will be judged in three age divisions, Juvenile, Junior, and Senior, and will be selected on her beauty, charm, grace, twirling and strutting ability. Mrs. Ross has related that they haven't been able to contact all the twirlers in the State, so if anyone would like information, they can write or call the Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, the South Alabama Fair, or Mrs. Ross.

A Salute To Clanton Drive-In Theatre On Their 14th Anniversary!

100 YEARS AGO

"FIGHTING JOE" WHEELER

One hundred years ago this week, one of the most colorful figures of the war, Maj. General Joseph Wheeler, led his Confederate cavalry in the beginning of an extensive raid into Tennessee to cut off the communications of Federal forces under Maj. General W. S. Rosecrans.

Although born in Georgia, Wheeler is closely identified with Alabama both during and after the war. Many Alabama regiments served under his command and at the close of the hostilities, Wheeler was to settle in the Tennessee Valley, serving Alabama in Congress for eight terms. He is Alabama's general of two wars as he was a brigadier-general in the Spanish American War as well.

Promoted to the command of the cavalry in the Army of Tennessee at the early age of 26, Wheeler, who well deserved the name, "Fighting Joe," is reported to have fought in approximately 200 engagements and 800 skirmishes.

He began his colorful career as commander of the 19th Alabama infantry in the Battle of Shiloh and was soon after appointed to the command of the cavalry of the rmy of Mississippi.

Brig. General Phillip D. Roddey of Moulton, Ala., led his cavalry of the army of Mississippi raid against Rosecrans' communications in Tennessee. The two worked closely in the defense of North Alabama during much of the war.

Other Alabama heroes associated with Wheeler include Brig. General William Wirt Allen of Montgomery and Colonel James Hagan of Mobile, who were both among officers mentiined for bravery in Wheeler's report of his pursuit of Sherman in Georgia in 1864.

Allen, a Princeton graduate, lawyer and planter, commanded a brigade of six Alabama cavalry regiments and some Georgia troops during the Sherman raid and Hagan, an Irish-born Mobile businessman, led the Third Alabama Cavalry regiment.

A Little Bit O' Tuck . . .

By BOB TUCKER

WE have observed for the past several weeks that we have a breed of chickens at our house that are a cross between a "laying hen" and a "gamecock".

They are the only chickens we ever saw that crow 24 hours a day. The four or five roosters in the flock work on shifts, and we have almost learned "who" works which hours. We know for certain, the one who works "our" shift (that's time to get up) because he can't crow — in fact, he sounds about like we feel that time of day — like something's hung in his throat.

He's game — he just ain't "cocked"! He's going to be "shot" if he doesn't either learn to crow, or shut up. The hens do their part, too — they "lay" arund all the time.

One of 'em's setting now, and we don't know what's going to come of it; but we wouldn't be a'tall surprised if it isn't four more roosters that can't crow. If there's anything we can't stomach it's a faulty-crowing rooster; unless of course, he's on the table!

MR. Elmore, at County Hospital, said to tell you kids in the first through the eighth grades that if you are going to make a Polio Poster and try to win the $10 in the Contest; that you'd better have them in his hands at the Hospital no later than 5:00 P.M. Friday, October 18th. That's right about now, kids. Hurry!

— V. O. P. —

ANY of our advertisers who are skeptical about whether or not our subscribers see the paper each week should have our telephone when we're a day late with the News. This week for example, we had a mechanical failure (that's a nice way of saying a pz*! ?pqxzv *!? jxzv Linotype machine- for two days. The day we're to hit the mails, which is Thursday, someone has to sit on the phone all day long explaining to our subscribers — God bless 'em all! What happened was, after that edition we put out last week, Old Betsy just thought we were pushing her to hard for her age, and she decided to show us a thing or two. And you know what. . . she did!

Sorry for any inconvenience, folks. We are trying to get back on schedule right this minute, so keep those subscriptions coming; keep your powder dry (and your fingers crossed).

— V. O. P. —

APOLOGIES to old John Sellers, the County Agent. He called us on the phone last week and gave us a notice about a County Hog Growers School, and we overlooked the publishing of it. We hope it was a success: and if it wasn't, we hope it was because we didn't publish the notice.

OUR sources tell us that the official word is that the contracts will be let for the Wilsonville Road, between Chilton and Shelby Counties, in the November letting of contracts by the State. This is good news to many hereabouts who have been wondering what the holdup was on this particular project. We are glad to see the State come through on this one for Chilton County.

DON'T dare miss the Remodeling Sale now in progress at Clanton Home & Auto Supply here in Clanton. James Langston and "Pep" Lecroy have been completely re-modeled and you should see the difference! There's a whole bunch of "free" stuff, too. See the adv. in this issue.

— V. O. P. —

HERE'S a challenge for you students of "high finance": We put down 25c and a nickel to buy a can of tobacco (24) and six penny pieces of candy. Joe Smith didn't have the candy, so we decided on a nickel bar instead. We turned to Joe, who was preoccupied at the cash register, and we laid another penny down and said, "we owe you another penny don't we, Joe." Then it dawned on us that 'twas he who owed us a penny, and we said so! Joe looked up at the penny we had just laid down and said (as only he can say it) "Here's you a penny right here!" If you can figure out what happened, we'd like to know. We don't know how much we are „out"; but somebody made a mistake — and it wasn't Joe Smith! One penny, or two; for two cents we'd forget the whole thing!

Kenny Dale Seriously Injured on Motorbike

SUNDAY evening, about 5:30 o'clock, Kenny Dale, son of City Policeman James Dale, was struck by a bread truck while riding his motorbike. They live on 9th Street North in Clanton.

The accident occurred just north of the Quick Freeze plant on Highway 31. The two vehicles collided head-on.

Young Kenny, 14, sustained fractures in both arms, a fracture of the leg and severe cuts and abrasions around the head and face. Driver of the truck was James Harris, Clanton, route man for the Tip Top bread company.

According to Chief of Police Wallace Foshee, the accident was unavoidable. The youngster is in County Hospital recuperating.

James Dale, who was on duty at the time of the accident, answered the call. He was alone in the squad car, and did not know it was his son, until he arrived on the scene. An employee of the News, Kenneth Mims, drove officer Dale to the hospital. He was visibly shaken up by the shock. Martin ambulance had already taken young Kenny to the hospital when the officer arrived on the scene.

Produce For Children's Home

The produce for the Children's Home at Troy will be assembled at the peach shed in Clanton on November 12th (Tuesday), from 7 A.M. until noon. Since it will affect everyone of the 54 churches in the Association as well as friends from other churches, who always have a part, we are urging that all fruits be well packed and that all food and feed material be well sacked or wrapped.

Let every committee evaluate and itemize a list of produce brought and hand in same at the truck at the peach shed.. This will facilitate matters greatly since we will only load until the noon hour on the above date. There was nothing brought in last year after the noon hour. Hence, the reason for leaving immediately following the noon hour this year. Please bear this point in mind.

The churches and friends of the Home gave $2,600.00 in cash and produce on the above occasion last year.

What Color Is A Firetruck?

SOMEONE yelled "Fire" Tuesday morning, and Clanton's brand spanking new, red firetruck jumped into action; with Johnny Smith at the wheel!

"The fire wasn't much, but the truck certainly performed well," said Smith. The fire was a lady's ironing board which had burned up; and a passerby, seeing all the smoke, called the Fire Department. It was a good thing too, because there was nobody home. The fire was in the colored housing section in West Clanton.

Also on hand for the presentation were the members of the City Council, and members of Clanton's Volunteer Fire Department.

'Wetter Water' for Putting Out Hotter Fires Is Here

Our City officials announce the arrival of the City's new fire truck and equipment which is "Modern as Tomorrow". The Fire Equipment was delivered by L. P. Harless Company of Birmingham, Alabama and the Truck by Carlisle Truck and Tractor Co., Clanton, Alabama.

Some of the exclusive features of the triple combination apparatus is that it fights fires "on the move" with high pressure super-fog guns as well as straight streams. This made possible with the front mount Bartan-American UA type pump that has 750 gallon per minute capacity from draft or will pump up too 1000 gallons per minute from the hydrant. The booster or storage tank goes with the truck every time it moves, carries 750 gallons of water.

Now, have you ever heard of "Wetter Water?" Our new truck is equipped with a pyrablender that produces wetter water. By opening a valve, and making wetter water, this makes the fire extinguisher quality in the fire extinguishing quality increase by approximately five times. In other words, it makes the truck equivalent to a 3,750 gallon tanker.

The "Red Hose" or reel hose as Modern Fireman describe it, can be reloaded by the push of a button.

The portable extinguisher is the new powder type. The first for the City of Clanton Fire Department.

You should be able to sleep better at night now that we have this equipment and our Fire Department headed by Houston Nivens, Chief; Gene Gore, assistant Chief; and firemen Ress Driver, Howard Driver, Billy Joe Driver, Luther Culpepper, Cecil Ellison, Fonzie Coe, Henry McKey, Honrie Little, Bobby Easterling, Cecil Carter, Lewis Culver, Ed Langston, Don Plyler and Johnny Smith.

Our firemen are to be commended for their efficient work and devotion to duty.

Swing a Blow at Polio, Sunday

POLIO, the dread crippling disease that strikes both children and adults, is on it's way out in Chilton County.

But, your help is needed!

Helpng also, to make this possible, is the oral vaccine to be given by the Chilton County Medical Society on Sunday October 20th; December 1st and January 12th.

The only thing necessary to "Kill Polio" is that EVERYONE take the vaccine.

The Sabin vaccine is easy to take.

Two drops are placed on a cube of sugar, which you eat.

If you can't eat sugar, two drops are placed on your tongue The vaccine is tasteless and odorless. There is NO discomfort, no ill after-effects, and — the children like it — NO SHOTS!

Since there are THREE types of polio vaccine, be sure you get al three on the above mentioned dates. The first will be given NEXT SUNDAY.

You are strongly advised to take the Oral Vaccine even if you have had Polio shots. This is essential for Victory Over Polio!

Alabama has had 44 cases of Polo in 1963. This means that more people have been exposed and are carriers or will have a case if not protected by the oral vaccine. This is another reason why all ages should receive all three feedings — young and old!

Remember: V.O.P. begins with Y.O.U.!

Medical Society Ready For 20 Thousand

The Chilton County Medical Society conducted its monthly business meeting in the Hospital Dining Room at 6 p.m., October 8, 1963 with a 100% attendance. The medical group was honored with the attendance of two of the local Dentists, Dr. Curtis Baker and Dr. Joe Gowan.

The main subject was to put the Polio drive over the top with over 20.000 persons of the county receiving the feeding of Type 1 on Sunday, October 20, 1963 at 12 to 4 p.m. The 15 schools selected are listed below. All the stations will be staffed with adequate professional personnel.

The Doctors drew names and will attend the following stations: Cooper School, Dr. Rennings; Jemison School, Dr. Joe Moore; Thorsby School, Dr. Dumas; Henry Adair School, Dr. Johns; Maplesville School, Dr. Johnson; Isabella School, Dr. Charles Moore; Verbena High, Dr. Baker; Clanton Colored, Dr. Foshee; Maplesville Colored, Dr. Gowan; Mineral Springs, Enterprise, New Convert, Verbena Colored, Jemison Colored and Chilton County Training School will be covered by Doctors from the Chilton County Dental Association and the local Pharmacists to be selected later this week.

This is one of the largest health programs ever undertaken in Chilton County. There are 8 other counties accomplishing this same program on trese dates.

Only through the combined efforts of the Medical Societies, Mr. Gordon Conway at the Board of Education, Clanton Lions Club, and approximatelf 200 other good citizens is this program made possible. Through this volume only is it possible to offer this service at 25c per feeding.

Everyone is urged to take these 3 feedings whether he contribute or not, this shortage would be made up by thise contributing more than the requested 25c.

Watch For Those Goblins!

The UNICEF Goblins are on the march again and as Halloween approaches they are busy with milk cartons, UNICEF emblems, and their cries of "Trick or Treat for UNICEF!" For several years the Clanton areas has been visited by UNICEF Goblins from the various Churches, and the idea of Church cooperation in this venture has spread to many of the other communities in Chilton County.

To prepare you for the annual "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" we would like to cite the following facts: Since UNICEF came into being 17 years ago it has supplied the funds to vaccinate over 148 million children and young adults against tuberculosis; over 17 million mothers and children have been cured of yaws, a disease of tropical sores; almost 9.7 million mothers and children victims of trachoma, have been saved from possible blindness; almost 700,000 children and mothers have been treated for leprosy; and in 1961 alone, about 30 million mothers and children were protected from malaria, and 5.5 million children benefited from supplementary feeding programs. In addition, many millions of children benefited from the over 160 daries and milk drying plants and the over 19,000 maternal and child health centers which UNICEF has thuh far helped to equip.

UNICEF is a fund which knows no barriers of race, creed, nationality or politics. In the name of children it posses international frontiers in a common, united effort to bring the milk and other protein food essential to growing children. As Halloween approaches, please encourage your youngsters as they prepare to "Trick or Treat for UNICEF." A milk carton with the UNICEF emblem is waiting for your contributions!

Victim of Hog Attack Improving Nicely

MRS. E. H. Boles of Route 2, Clanton, who was seriously and painfully injured by an enraged hog Friday, October 4th, is improving to the satisfaction of her physicians.

She is in St. Margaret's Hospital in Montgomery.

Her injuries, mostly to her arm which was badly mangled, and her hip, are healing fairly well. She has to be treated every day to further close up her wounds.

The vicious attack came late Friday as Mrs. Boles was trying to free a caught pig from a fence. She thought the sow which attacked her was in another pen. No report has been released on the rabies test run on the hog.

Nearing Completion. . .

THE Explorer Scout Hut in Enterprise Road in Clanton is fast nearing completion, according to B. L. Adams, shown above with Dr. W. T. Parker of the Clanton Lions Club, and leader of the Explorers.

The Hut will be completed in the very near futrre, and will be dedicated to the late Joe Hayes, a loyal member of Scouting, and one who went a long way in a short time.

SUNDAY is V.O.P. Sunday in Chilton County! Check the schedule of places where you can get your "Sugar" and take the family. Help out in the V.O.P. Drive next Sunday afternoon.

Can You Spare The Time?

IF this page looks different to you. . . it is!

If it looks unique. . . it is that too, we hope.

But, we hope most of all, that you will look at this page, commit its content to memory. . . and come next Sunday. . . be at the right place at the right time.

You have probably already noticed that this page takes the exact position of our usual Editorial Page. We did it that way on purpose.

After considering various and sundry ideas for editorials this week, the News came to the definite conclusion that there was only one really important event taking place this week, which deserved editorial comment.

And that is the V. O. P. Drive from 12:00 until 4 P.M. next Sunday, October 20th.

We want very much to impress upon each of our subscribers and readers, the importance of every one of us taking the Sabin Oral Vaccine. If we are to conquer Polio in Chilton County -- which is what we propose to do -- it will take the cooperation of each of us.

Not mother, or the kids, Dad. . . you. . . especially you!

It will only take a few minutes of your time; and we have been assured that from the millions of "doses" of this Vaccine already administered, nobody has suffered any ill effects from it.

You take two drops of the Vaccine on a lump of sugar. . . and you swallow it. That's all there is to it. . . period. . . you're through!

What could be more simple. . . what could be more beneficial to you and your family?

As we said; the News feels that this effort is of enough significance and importance to devote our entire editorial page to it this week. We sincerely hope that it is of enough importance to you and your family, that you go to the V. O. P. Station nearest your home next Sunday.

If you have a quarter, that's all it will cost you to insure your life against the possibility of crippling Polio. If you don't have a quarter. . . bring yourself, and take advantage of an opportunity that has never existed before in your life. . . and may not exist again. . . in your life!

Swing a blow at Polio next Sunday. We will see you at the schoolhouse!

NEWS OF—

REFUGE

Our services over the week end were interesting and well attended. If you were not present, you most likely missed a great blessing.

The Henry Mims Family Reunion was also held here with all the immediate family present. Of course there were other relatives here which represented a rather large group.

The occasion of the re-union had its beginning on the 50th, wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Mims some 31 years ago. When the re-union is held next year, it will be in a few days of the one hundredth birthday of Mr. Mims who died in the month of May, 1951. Mrs. Rebecca Ann Mims passed away in the month of September, 1934.

The building committee announced Sunday night that material would be brought in the the early part of the week and the work on the church would begin Monday night of this week. There are several who work on their jobs, but are anxious to help on the church work at night. You will be hearing more about this matter oas the days go by. The rough part of lowering the overhead will be the first work, and by the time you read this news, it will probably be done. The church is planning to do the work mostly by its members, but friends can also have a part in more ways than one.

Mr. Dewey Minor is to undergo surgery again this week in St. Vincent Hospital in Birmingham. It will not likely be serious and will probably be back at home by the latter part of the week.

Mr. A. N. Mims is not doing well at all and is completely confined to the home and in bed most all of the time. The family would appreciate the interest of your prayers in the behalf of Mr. Mims.

Mr. John Mark Easterling, the star fisherman of the community had a rather interesting catch just recently when he snagged 25 pound yellow cat. Well, when John fails to hang 'em others will trail behind.

"Speed The Light" Day For Local Assembly

Sunday, Oct. 20, will be National "Speed The Light" day for the Assemblies of God youth. The theme for this year's program will be „Urgent". Through Speed the Light, vehicles of transportation, literature, printing equipment and radio equipment is furnished for foreign missionaries. Last year the youth gave a record breaking $374,000.00 for this ministry of mobilizing the missionary.

The Temple Christ's Ambassadors will be high lighted in the Sunday night service at 7 o'clock. They will be presenting the Speed The Light program in skit, songs and film. The high point of the service will be the showing of the color, sound film entitled "Cry of The China Seas". The film portrays the battle against Communism in Southeast Asia. The look of joy on the face of a man who has, at last, received a home and land, will not soon fade from your memory, nor will the cry of innocent victims slain in Communism's ruthless advances. This is the Cry of the China Seas.

■ Counties sharing in Pulpwood purchases during 1962

ATLANTA, GA.—Pulpwood, the raw material of the pulp and paper industry, was harvested in 90 per cent of the South's counties during 1962. On the accompanying map, prepared by the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Association, Atlanta, the blacked-out area covers those counties which shared in supplying $500 million worth of wood to the South's pulp and paper mills. Pointing out that this indicates the extent of the pulp and paper industry's importance to communities throughout the region, SPCA General Manager H. J. Malsberger said also that the South produced 60 per cent of the nation's total harvest of pulpwood in 1962. "Production in this region," he added, "was greater than that of any single foreign country or of any area of comparable size in the world."

Local Schools Join In Observing Lunchroom Week

The 1,486 schools in Alabama that daily serve nutritious lunches to more than 383,761 elementary and high school pupils will be observing a week of special significance to them October 13-19 -- Alabama School Lunch Week. Dr. A. R. Meadows, State Superintendent of Education said the observance is in keeping with proclamations by President Kennedy and Governor George Wallace of the secind annual national commemoration of the school lunch role in keeping the Nation strong and healthy.

Dr. Meadows said the activities will be aimed at showing how the school lunch program serves Alabama and the Nation by safeguarding the health and well being of the children who will be tomorrow's citizens, and at the same time helping to expand markets for farmers and the food industry.

"School Lunch Week also gives us an opportunity to pay tribute to the local school officials, teachers and interested citizens whose interest, guidance and hard work make the program possible. The lunch program is a unique coiperative endeavor by Federal, State and local people," Meadows said.

Inasmuch as nearly 80 percent of the foods used are purchased locally, school lunches contribute significantly to the State's economy. A total of $24,565,388 was spent in this State last year for food, equipment, and services for the State's school lunches. Preparing these lunches are some 5,000 employees in Alabama who are paid a total of $5,046,480 in annual wages.

The school lunch prigram was established nationally by the National School Lunch Act of 1946, for the dual purpose if helping to provide nutritious lunches for children at school and providing outlets for agricultural food products. Actually, American origins of the school lunch program date back over 100 years although by 1900 only a handful of school lunch programs were in operation. Major emphasis to program need and growth developed after passage of the Act by the Congress 17 years ago.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Fairly recently that part of the nation which takes an active interest in the maintenance of the American democracy was quite shocked when Senators J. W. Fulbright and Joseph Clark made a bitter attack on the American legislative processes. It was their published viewpoint that the authority of the legislative bodies of the government should be curtailed, and more power given the administrative branch. This, of course, would eventually lead to dictatorship.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Shocking as this proposal is, it is possible to see why men of the utmost goodwill would be inclined toward such a radical viewpoint out of sheer sense of frustration.

* * *

A case in point is the current handling in the U.S. Senate of the measure known as Senate Resolution No. 30, which would upgrade the present Senate Small Business Committee by giving it the authority to introduce legislation directly to the floor of the Congress. Independent business would thus be on a par with labor.

* * *

Early in the session Senator Winston Prouty introduced this measure, along with 33 senatorial co-sponsors. Since that time 22 additional senators have gone on record as favoring the measure. The total stood at 55 until the death of Senator Kefauver, but even now there is a total of 54 of the 100 senators committed, or more than enough to pass the measure.

However, under traditional procedures, the measure is now with the rules committee, and cannot be voted upon until the chairman of the rules committee reports the measure out.

* * *

Congressional procedures were adopted to prevent a vociferous minority from stampeding through the Congress unwise legislation before it could be studied.

* * *

But this wise safeguard is often used to defeat the will of the majority, which negates the basic principles of a democratic form of government.

* * *

In the case of Senate Resolution No. 30, there is majority agreement that independent business, as nation's largest employer, needs the benefits that will accrue from the Senate Small Business Committee having legislative authority.

* * *

There is no government reorganizational matter involved here. The Senate Small Business Committee is a permanent committee, and an actively functioning one insofar as the investigative and hearing work is concerned. All that is required is to permit this committee, after it has made its study of an issue, to send a bill to the floor of Congress for a vote, rather than refer it to another committee where it can be buried as is being done to Senate Resolution No. 30.

Yet despite the fact 54 senators have gone on record saying this reform is badly needed to aid the economy, a single senator is able to prevent them from voting for it. This illustrates lucidly a serious sickness of the American democracy.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fleetside pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-deadening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half- and three-quarter-ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate leaf springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

The right engine. Chevrolet never has been in better position to give you the type and size you need for maximum efficiency. Today there are many different capacities of gasoline and diesel Chevrolet truck engines—fours, sixes, V8's.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with full-width rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as 5 or 6 years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information or for a demonstration.

CHILTON COUNTY NEWS

Thursday, October 24, 1963 VOLUME XLI Clanton, Alabama SINGLE COPY 10c Number 43

By BOB TUCKER

PERSONALLY, we think the V. O. P. Drive was a mighty fine success, even though we didn't have a 100 percent turnout. Those if you who didn't take the Sabin Vaccine last Sunday are inviting possible trouble. We urge you to go by by the County Hospital some tmie this week (see schedule this page' and get your "lump"!

AND by the way, a special thanks is due to the County Civil Defense Rescue Squad. They were on duty Sunday at everyone of the V.O.P. Stations in the County doing what they could to help. Their radios helped to keep supplies where they were needed, and things ran smoothly in general.. While we're at it, we think the members of Lions Club deserve special recognition for sponsoring this effort; and another bouquet to the nurses and the Ladies Auxiliary for their support and assistance. Then, positively we will have to mention the Boy and Girl Scouts. . . they helped, too; Thanks, everybody!!

OUR apologies to William Comer and the Tip-Top Bread Company. We erroniously reported last week that James Harris was driving a Tip Top truck when he was involved in the accident with the Dale boy. Our report was in error; Harris was driving ris own auto when the accident occurred.. The News is happy to make this correcion, and apologies for the misunderstanding.

BEST wishes to our friend Leon "Bulldog" Kemp, Who is in the West End Baptist Hospital in Birmingham.. "Bulldog" was in North Alabama visiting relatives, and doing some hunting; the doctor up there advised him to go to the hospital. Hope he finds, and corrects the trouble speedily, and renews his activity on 2nd Avenue at Kemp's!

MEMBERS of the County CD Rescue Squad saw a film Monday night on "mouth to mouth" resuscitation.. We know what that is: When your wife gives you a cuff in the mouth, instead of a kiss on the cheek. Anyway. . . both are sometimes helpful. .. .. just like the film the fellows saw!

HAVE you ever seen 7,344 bars of candy at one time? Maybe Marion Wood has; but most of us see 'em one or two at a time. The Band Boosters and members of the CCHS Band are going to sell that many bars of candy in the next two weeks. . . with your cooperation, that is. You see, they plan to sell them to you! It's for a worthy cause (naturally). Band needs $1400 ho they can accept an invitation to Mardi Gras in New Orleans in February of next year. Lamar DeLoach and Woody Blalock; directors of the effort say: "If you like chocolate, you'll love BB. . . (and that's Band Boosters, just in case there are any wise guys out there-. The BB Chocolate Sale begins today. . . stock up for Mardi Gras.

DO you know fhat, "Number two, ham; hold the peas, give me 'taters. . ." means? Ask Agnes down at the Dixie; she can tell you; maybe!

Verbena To Have Carnival

IF you want an evening of fun and entertainment, just come to Verbena High School, Tuesday, October 29th, beginning at 2:30 P.M. for a grand old fashioned Halloween Party.

There will be hayrides for the young at heart, food for the hungry, and a good time for all. Visit the "Country Store" for bargains: the "Candy Shop" for sweets; just to mention a few of the attractions.

Ala. Baptist State Convention Nov. 12

All the churches of the Chilton Unity Association are looking forward to the Alabama Baptist State Convention which will convene in Birmingham. on Tuesday through Thursday, November 12-14 at 9:00 a.m. each day, Every pastor and members especially the workers in the churches should plan to attend at least part of the sessions of the conference and of the convention, which is very convenient to all the Churches in Chilton County. The pastor's Conference will meet Monday, November 11, 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. The printed programs indicate that a great inspiring convention for all Baptist will be conducted. Every church should make it possible for their pastor to attend the conference and the convention in Birmingham this year.

Nearly 17,000 Take Polio Vaccine Sunday

CHILTON County citizens turned out en masse on Sunday October 20, to receive the Polio (Sugar) Vaccine.

There were 16,907 receiving the Sabin Oral Immunization of Type I. Though this number is not considered a "tremendous success" by the Medical Association; it, nevertheless is considered by most to have been very satisfactory.

To bring the total to the desired number of 20,000. facilities have been made available at the Emergency Room of the Chilton County Hospital to feed those who wish, all this week through Sunday at 10 P.M., October 26.

Mr. Elmore, hospital administrator, has established the hours from 1 P.M. to 10 P.M. October 21st through 26th.

This is the only planned program to "make up", of the three-series vaccine. The Association is doing this only because Type I (the vaccine given last Sunday) is the most deadly type of polio of the three.

Type 3 will be given at the regular stations on December 1, and Type 2 on January 12. The hours on those dates will be the same as those last Sunday — 12 noon until 4 P.M.

Countywide, the Station in Clanton recorded the greatest number protected Sunday, with 5,528 persons being ,'fed".

Mr. Elmore said. "There was no waiting in line after the first twenty minutes.

Collections (quarters) were below those expected, but efforts will be made to overcome this shortage at the December 1 and January 12 feedings.

Mr. Elmore calls this "another step of progress for Chilton County!"

So You Wish You Were A Newspaperman!

SOME fellow jokingly accused us of "crying in our Coca-Cola last week;" but he doesn't know the half of it.

We personally detest excuses; but it looks as though we will have to make a few this week again..

You see (get out the crying towel please) we have a machine here at the News (one of two) that costs in the neighborhood of $12,000. . . which ain't bad if you're the First National Bank. So, parts for this "lovely machine" come pretty steep. And, we need some parts.

We think we will be back on regular schedule by next week. Meanwhile, we would appreciate your indulgence, and assure you that our crew is working overtime trying to get everything back in line.

Apologies and sincere thanks to our correspondents in Isabella, Jemison, Thorsby, Providence, Mt. Carmel and any others which may have been omitted this week.

Our "Woman's Page" editor Mrs. Verna Bean always catches the dickens when we are short with her copy. Please direct your insults at ye olde Editor, and not to Mrs. Bean; she kept her part of the bargain!

Silent prayer will be welcomed and appreciated!

Trick or Treat Tuesday Night For UNICEF

ON Tuesday evening, October 29th, at 5:30. the Youth of the Clanton Churches will take part in the nationwide "Trick or Treat for UNICEF". This means that the boys and girls of Clanton will visit your homes and ask for your contributions to UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund.

We would like to emphasize several things which you need to keep in mind when you are called upon to "Treat UNICEF".

1. Give money to NO child, no group unless they carry a milk carton plainly marked with the UNICEF emblem. Just any milk carton will not do: the carton MUST have the UNICEF emblem with the picture of a mother and her child.

2.. Each area of Clanton is supposed to be visited only one time during the evening of Tuesday, October 22nd. If, by any chance, you are visited the second time, or if someone tries to collect money for UNICEF on any day other than the 29th. you should question the children before you give them a contribution for UNICEF.

Groups from outside the Clanton area should be working in their own communities and should not be soliciting from Clanton people who have already been visited.

3. Do not give the UNICEF collectors any candy, fruit, or cookies. They are not asking for treats to fill their own stomachs. They are asking for money so that they may help in the campaign to treat the hungry children of the world.

4. Please remember that your coins perform miracles when they are donated to UNICEF.

1c will buy five cups of milk; 5c will protect five children against tuberculosis; $1.00 will treat one child for leprosy.

5. In other areas of Chilton County there may be groups of children who will collect for UNICEF on October 30th and October 31st. The Clanton area, however, will be visited only on Tuesday, October 29th.

The children of the world thank you; they are praying that your contributions this year will reach an all-time high.

County Hospital Admits Over 2,000 Patients In Past Year

The two previous years have been the most successful in the history of the hospital since Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Littlejohn, the first patient, was admitted at 8:30 A.M., August 1, 1955.

Mr. Elmore, administrator, had this to say this week: " The Citizens of this County are rightfully proud of the seven fine doctors located here. some of whom have a practice dating back a quarter of a century.

"This experience and knowledge of our doctors is only matched in a limited number of counties in the State. With these assets, fewer patients are having to be referred for treatment to other hospitals away from home."

Through the past successful operation, a number of major improvements have been possible. To name a few:

Construction of 30-bed nursing home wing — Lawrence Hall — construction of a laundry capable of producing clean linens and uniforms for 250 beds; a new food service of heated and refrigerated food carts.

Six new oxygen refrigerated tents; the newest type of Delivery Table and lamp; a positive pressure breathing machine and an increase of necessary inventory in excess of $125,000.00.

All these and numerous other improvements have been made during the past year.

One of the newest anesthesia machines using Fluothane is on order and should be received soon. This will enable the anesthetist to cause rapid recovery as directed by the surgeon. There will be no more long sleeps, if not directed by the surgeon, after surgery. Some patients have been permitted to walk from the operating room.

This hospital is blessed in having a trained anesthetist and a dietitian qualified and a member of the American Dietetic Association and many more equally qualified employees.

The personnel has now expanded from the original 35 to 90 or 120 receiving monthly pay checks.

Some of the work accomplished in the period of October 1962 through September 1963 is:

Patients admitted, 2,173, staying 12,385 days. Birth 372. Operations 456. Electrocardiographs (EKG) 226. Fluroscopic examinations 256. Laboratory reports on patients not in hospiatl 639.. Meals served 61,000.

This past few months the patient load has been below average but expected to pick up with the onset of the bad weather. etc.

New CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe (foreground) with Malibu Super Sport Convertible

Only this could come between Chevrolet and Chevy II.

The Chevelle is a highly polished car on a trim 115-inch wheelbase. Remarkably agile and easy to handle and park. But it's roomy inside, with many of the comforts you'd expect in a bigger car.

Its ride comes from the people who developed the Jet-smooth kind. Its four engines—V8 or 6—carry that irrepressible Chevrolet spirit all the way up to 220 hp*. Its lively, graceful styling and Body by Fisher craftsmanship make its modest price all the more remarkable. And it comes in three series and eleven models—wagons, sedans, sport coupes, convertibles.

Want to check further? Consider this your invitation for a real hood-raising, door-slamming, seat-bouncing, wheel-turning time of it at your Chevrolet dealer's.

NEWS OF—

REFUGE

A friend tells the story of a woman who wrote her husband;: "Clem, I would be glad to come back to you if we could work together and pull togetrer. But if we are going o work against each other, two are weaker than one."

There is nothing more facinating than to see a group of people working and pulling together in tre Lord's work. It is amazing to see what can be accomplished wren even a small group work together. Dozens of people pulling against each other is far weaker than only two working together.

Our building program is moving along nicely. It was certainly isteresting to see numerous workers as they came together here last week. Much work has been done and a substantial gift was received from one who has already given generously.. Maybe you are also one whose job is such that you cannot join us in the work of building, but you are blessed financiallv and would like to be of help. All right, brother, the door is open and you will not be spending money, but making an investment that time will not erase.

Our pastor has been authorized by the Chilton-Unity Association again this year to supervise the loading of the produce for the Baptist Chillren's Home here in Clanton at he peach shed on Tuesday, November 12. from 7:00 a.m. until noon.

A Helping Hand--

WORD cmes to us from the folks at the Gates of Opportunity School for retarded children here in Clanton, that Alton Gentry and the Cloverleaf Dairy people have helped them considerably in their program to teach and train exceptional children.

Mr. Gentry and the Dairy have furnished orange juice to the school children every day for the past several weeks. The County Association for Retarded Children would like to take this means to thank these folks for their generous efforts in behalf of our children who are trying to become productive members of society; and who are handicapped at the start.

This "helping hand" is most appreciated.

Selden Voted "No"--

"On September 25, the House of Representative passed by a vote of 271 to 155 a measure that provides for a tax reduction of 11 billion dollars. While I realized that a tax cut understandably has great appeal, I did not feel that I could vote in good conscience for it. To reduce taxes when our national debt is greater than at any time in United States history, when the federal budget is in the red by many billions, and when the Administration is advocating new programs which would increase federal spending is, in my opinion, an unwise move for the Congress to make.

Unquestionably, the taxpayers of this country need relief from tax burdens they have been carrying for more than two decades. Yet, to give this relief without first reducing federal expenditures does not exhibit the fiscal responsibility that I believe Congress owes to the people of our country. There was nothing in the legislation that passed the House that coupled a tax cut with a guaranteed reduction of federal spending. Neither was there such a guarantee provided in the much heralded but misleading motion to recommit which was defeated. Under the terms of the motion to recommit, a budget estimate of $97 billion submitted by the President would bring about a tax cut. A supplemental request, however, could then increase the budget far beyond the $97 billion mark

While I realize my views are in the minority, I am convinced that the only fiscally responsible way to bring about a tax reduction at this time is to reduce either first or simultaneously, federal spending. In my opinion, it is not in the best interest of the people of the United States to put the cart before the horse in this connection."

Help Save Our Woodlands--

Forest fires have risen sharply in dry Alabama woodlands during the past two weeks, according to State Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley.

In Central Alabama (six counties) there are approximately 1,870,000 acres of timber and woodlands. This is a mclti-million dollar source of revenue that can be wiped out completely by fire.

The conservation official attributed the increased fire rate to dryness, low humidity, higher wind velocity and more people using the wooded areas. Kelley cautioned wood-users to be "especially careful" with matches, cigareates and campfires. He reported an increase in both the number of woods blazes and acreage damaged by the fires.

Kelley pointed out that annual rain fall was 5 to 10 inches below normal for most areas of the State and recent "spotty showers" had not "appreciably" altered the situation. An expected increase in outdoorsmen using the forests and an extension of the drought could cause the fire rate to ',skyrocket," he said.

State Forester J. M. Stauffer revealed that the fall fire toll was heaviest in north Alabama. Fire losses for the two week period were reported averaging 500 acres a day. Stauffer called on those who go into the woods to "use extreme care" to prevent further fire outbreaks.

Charles Kelley, Game and Fish Chief, asked hunters to be careful with inflam.. mable objecas in all dry wooded areas.

And the News joins Mr.. Kelley in this appeal. Be careful in the woods . . . very careful!

Watch For Those Goblins!

The UNICEF Goblins are on the march again and as Halloween approaches they are busy with milk cartons, UNICEF emblems, and their cries of "Trick or Treat for UNICEF!" For several years the Clanton areas has been visited by UNICEF Goblins from the various Churches, and the idea of Church cooperation in this venture has spread to many of the other communities in Chilton County.

To prepare you for the annual "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" we would like to cite the following facts: Since UNICEF came into being 17 years ago it has supplied the funds to vaccinate over 148 million children and young adults against tuberculosis; over 17 million mothers and children have been cured of yaws, a disease of tropical sores; almost 9.7 million mothers and children victims of trachoma, have been saved from possible blindness; almost 700,000 children and mothers have been treated for leprosy; and in 1961 alone, about 30 million mothers and children were protected from malaria, and 5.5 million children benefited from supplementary feeding programs. In addition, many millions of children benefited from the over 160 daries and milk drying plants and the over 19,000 maternal and child health centers which UNICEF has thuh far helped to equip.

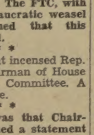
UNICEF is a fund which knows no barriers of race, creed, nationality or politics. In the name if children it posses international frontiers in a common, united effort to bring the milk and other protein food essential to growing children. As Halloween approaches, please encourage your youngsters as they prepare to "Trick or Treat for UNICEF." A milk carton with the UNICEF emblem is waiting for your contributions!

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

It would seem thatevery time the Federal Trade Commission gets into the field of advertising, it displays a vast ignorance of what is going on in the world. It is perhaps fortunate that there exists Senate and House Small Business Committees that can show up the error of the FTC ways.

* * *



C. W. Harder

Recently the FTC came out with a big blast aimed at the practice of groups of independent merchants running joint ads in newspapers advertising the same items at the same price. The FTC, with the usual bureaucratic weasel wording, warned that this might be illegal.

* * *

This somewhat incensed Rep. Joe Evins, chairman of House Small Business Committee. A study was made.

* * *

The result was that Chairman Evins issued a statement telling small businessmen to ignore FTC on this matter.

* * *

And now the Senate Small Business Committee, under the chairmanship of Senator John Sparkman is going quite thoroughly into this whole matter of cooperative advertising practices, and it can well be that out of this investigation will come some revelations that will turn red the faces of FTC chair warming legions.

* * *

The principle of cooperative advertising has been a long established principle in American marketing. While a manufacturer will use national advertising to point out the merits of his products, that does not tell the consumer where such products can be bought.

* * *

Thus, as a part of the entire marketing effort, the individual retailers have been given a small allowance, based on their purchase amounts, to advertise themselves as places where these products can be bought, so the consumer does not have to hunt around. Under the law, the allowances are supposed to be equal on a pro rata basis.

* * *

But, as evidenced by the nationwide surveys conducted by the National Federation of Independent Business, this honest and above board procedure has been subverted to engage in all kinds of hanky panky.

* * *

Money collected for cooperative advertising is supposed to be spent on legitimate newspaper advertising. But a few big detailing outfits have put pressure successfully to collect the advertising money, but never spend it on advertising, using it instead to enhance their profit picture or cut prices below independent competition.

* * *

This is not true with all big retailers. Many are most careful to see that every dollar collected for advertising is spent for advertising. But there are bad apples in the barrel.

* * *

With few exceptions, the FTC has never lifted its collective bottom off executive chairs to find out what is going on.

* * *

Thus, it is possible, that between them, the House and Senate Small Business Committees will dig up enough disclosures to cause these chair-bound investigators to wear out shoe leather instead of trouser bottoms.

Produce For Children's Home

The produce for the Children's Home at Troy will be assembled at the peach shed in Clanton on November 12th (Tuesday), from 7 A.M. until noon. Since it will affect everyone of the 54 churches in the Association as well as friends from other churches, who always have a part, we are urging that all fruits be well packed and that all food and feed material be well sacked or wrapped.

Let every committee evaluate and itemize a list of produce brought and hand in same at the truck at the peach shed.. This will facilitate matters greatly since we will only load until the noon hour on the above date. There was nothing brought in last year after the noon hour. Hence, the reason for leaving immediately following the noon hour this year. Please bear this point in mind.

The churches and friends of the Home gave $2,600.00 in cash and produce on the above occasion last year.

M. Lockhart, Rep.

One-Night Confab On November 4th

Words are not efficient enough to express the importance of the One-Night Conferences to be held for the benefit of the church officers and uommittees, Monday, November 4, 7:00 p.m. at the West End Baptist Church Clanton. Who should attend? The church Clerk, Treasurer, Ushers, Trustees and following committees, budget, nominating, and pulpit. Any church who does not have any or just some of the above officers or committees elected and serving in the church please ask enough men and women to attend and represent the church at each conference. Competent leaders of the conferences will be present to present the proper literature and lead in the instructions of the duties and responsibiilties of the leaders in these important places of service is the church. The conferences will last for about one hour.

Local 'Witnesses' Attend Convention

The Clanton delegation of Jehovah's Winesses completed their role as delegates last Sunday, October 20, when the group's fall circuit convention closed in Meridian, Mississippi.

According to William E. Robinson, local presiding minister, the assembly attracted delegates from many parts of Alabama and Missishippi. Peak attendance reached 640 last Susday. when James A. Hinderer, district director of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, delivered a special public talk on the subject. "The Bible Triumphs in a Sciestific World."

According to Robinson. Hinderer said, "The Bible alone provides answers for life's problems, improves social. moral and spiritual life necessary for peace and happiness." He further added ,"Everlasting life is a possibility for you, not by science, but by God's way. The Bible gives promise of restoring paradise conditions soon and everlasting life in perfection."

In addition to Hinderer's climaxing talk, other highlights of the gathering were a baptism for new ministers and a model ministry school..

Over 100 witnesses freely volunteered their services and a very successful meeting was enjoyed.

Robinson commented "The Clanton group attended the Meridian convention in order to increase the efficiency of our ministrial work. Each Witness engages in a door to door visitation program for the benefit of their neighbors."

All meetings at the local Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Highway 31 Lomax Community will return to their regular schedule. The public is invited to attend..

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

(This series of questions about Social Security is compiled from the questions sent to the Selma Social Security Office from Chilton County and answered by David G. Adams, Field Representative. Any questions that you want answered may be sent to: Social Security, C|o Chilton County News, Clanton, Alabama).

Q. I am working for a church and want to pay social security. How can I do it?

A. For your work to be coved by social security., the church must file a tax waiver certificate along with a list of names of the people who want social security. Those employees who do not want it will not be covered. But all new employees (and any former employees who go back to work for the church) will be covered under this arrangement. The forms for electing social security coverage can be obtained from the District Director of Internal Revenue.

Q. I am 67. I worked through June of this year and made well over $1200. I retired in July. Since I made over 1200 this year will I be able to collect any of my social security retirement payments?

A. Yes, you can. You always get a check for any month you are over retirement age and do not make $100 in wages or work in your business. From what you say, it sounds like you can collect from July on. .

Q. Not long ago you said everyone over 62 owes it to himself to see about social security. I went to see about mine in 1958, and I didn't have enough work credit. Why should I bother to look into this again.

A. The law has changed several times since 1958. The amount of work credit you need to get checks is now much less. You may have enough work credit under these new, easier rules. There are many people like yourself who get checks. But they have to claim them. In most cases we don't even know where they live until they come in, a letter, postcard or telephone call is usually all we need to get things started for them.

Report from Washington

BY

Alabama Congressman

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

On Wednesday of last week, a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee resumed hearings concerning the two-month visit of 59 so-called American students to Castro's Cuba.

Last week's session by the Un-American Activities Subcommittee was a continuance of the hearings of September 12th and 13th which turned into near riots when an unruly mob of bearded and unkempt beatniks invaded the hearing room and participated in pre-planned demonstrations and disorderliness. At that time, many had to be forcibly ejected from the hearing room and the building. Some in the group were among those who toured Cuba, while others were either Communists or Communist sympathizers.

In its session last Wednesday, however, the House Un-American Activities Subcommittee established the fact that the Castro government has large sums of money in several binks in Canada, where the tickets for the 59 students were purchased. It further established that a member of a known Communist-front organizaion cashed in several unused tickets with two airline companies after the students had left for Cuba.

Illegal Visit

These so-called students publicly announced their intention to go to Cuba many months before the trip, but they found their way barred by a U. S. State Department ban on travel to Cuba. Determined to go under any circumstances, they used the backdoor method through Communist Czechoslavakia and arrived in Cuba on June 30th. At each stop along their route they were emphatically advised by U. S. embassy officials that their actions were clearly in violation of U. S. laws and that they could upon their return to the United States be subject to federal prosecution. While they were in Cuba, I personally contacted the Secretary of State to urge that he recommend to the Justice Department that action be taken in this matter, and I am pleased that, as of this date, several have been indicted by a federal grand jury in New York, and others are currently under investigation.

Propaganda Gimmick

I think it is important to emphasize that this tour of Cuba was not an innocent trip by curious, impartial students. It was a propaganda gimmick, cosceived and paid for by the Cuban Communists, which reape untold propaganda harvests for the Castro regime.

In March of this year, the House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs, of which I am chairman. after extensive hearings into Castro Communist subversion in the Western Hemisphere, specifically recommended that the United States seek the complete diplomatic and economic quarantine of Communist Cuba by other nations of the hemisphere..

Yet, this blatant defiance of U. S. law is making it difficult for the United States to influence other governments to enact bans on travel to Cuba. Failure to act forcefully against the participants of this unlawful visit will not only lead to similar trips to Cuba plansed by Pro-Castro organizations, but our efforts to secure the cooperation of other Latin American countries to fight Communist subversion and infiltration will be seriously hampered.

Le us hope that proper action will be taken, and certainly my efforts will be directed accordingly.

THORSBY NEWS

By Mrs. Estelle Hayes

Fall Festival Held At Thorsby

The Fall Festival held at Thorsby High School last Saturday night was a huge success. The children attended with as much enthusiasm as if they were going to the State Fair. Each room sponsored a money making project such as dart throwing, ring toss, and grab a bag games. Sandwiches, coffee and cold drinks were sold. Credit should go to the teachers and mothers who put their time to making the sandwiches and hot dogs, etc.

The cake sale was a special event. Some of the most delicious and beautiful cakes were donated by the mothers of the first and second grades, and some were sold before they got to the cake table Saturday night. Another outstanding event was the baby contest sponsored by the fourth and sixth grades. Little Judy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams was the winner. Judy was so pretty in her cranberry velvet dress and the runner up was Rodney Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Price, handsomely dressed in a dark suit and bow tie.

Jan Childress and Ardie Folk, second graders, won the King and Queen Contest. Jan was a beautiful queen and Ardie a handsome king.

This is an annual event sponsored by the Thorsby P.-T.A. who wishes to thank all who made donations of time and money to make this a success. Many donations came from Clanton merchants.

Nature's majesty provides the backdrop for an exciting Magic Circle auto jaunt around northern California which fittingly begins in Santa Rosa at Luther Burbank Memorial Gardens, a shrine to America's botanical wizard. At Bodega Bay we turned north on the Shoreline Highway to Fort Ross, built by the Russians in 1812 to protect a monopoly chartered to trap and export prized sea otter pelts. The oddly shaped Russian Orthodox chapel has been faithfully restored.

A natural freak common only to this area is the Pygmy Forest, where the highest full-grown tree is but three feet tall. We parked the car at Fort Bragg and took a 40-mile fun ride to Willits on "The Skunk", a one-car, self-propelled train which bounces and twists through dense redwood groves and tunnels.

Highlights of the memorable drive up the Redwood Empire Highway are Richardson Grove's fallen tree which has been changed to a visual textbook; Humboldt Redwoods State Park's Founder's tree, 346 feet high and probably 2,000 years old; and the Avenue of the Giants, a colossal collection in a forest of cathedral-like beauty.

Eureka has a rich lumbering heritage and its prize is the William Carson House, a Victorian gingerbread mansion built by the timber baron in 1884. The route doubles back to Scotia for a tour of a big redwood mill and its museum of early logging relics. The countryside becomes a pastoral land of vineyards around Asti, where we photographed El Carmelo Chapel, shaped like a huge halved wine cask, and toured a local winery.

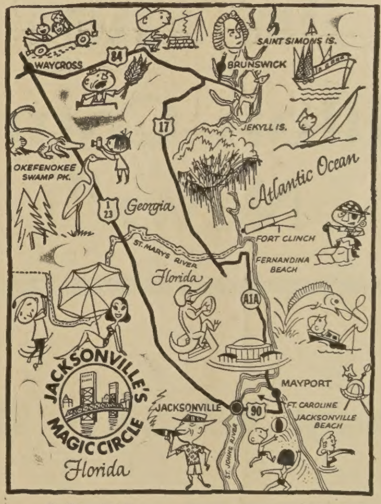
Life is good in Fort Worth, booming Texas metropolis which proudly remains "Cowtown", however cultured her citizens may be. A good place to start a Magic Circle tour is at the sprawling pens and packing plants of the stockyards for which the city is famous. Slender skyscrapers, shiny and a-shimmer with oil money, rise around the 1873 Tarrant County Court House, a Victorian relic.

Other showplaces include the Museum of Western Art dominated by the works of Frederic Remington and Charles M. Russell, the Children's Museum and planetarium, ultramodern Art Center, and imposing Will Rogers Coliseum—all in Amon Carter Square; Casa Manana, theater-in-the-round; Forest Park and its zoo; Texas Christian University's stately campus; Carswell Air Force Base and the plant where supersonic bombers are manufactured.

The route south is through rich cattle country where fenced spreads roll to the horizon and Herefords, heavy with good Texas meat, gaze stodgily at your car as it glides along the smooth road.

Visitors still enjoy the therapeutic values of the "crazy water" at Mineral Wells, a famous spa since pioneer days. For outdoor enthusiasts there is a side trip west to the land of Possum Kingdom — rugged country for fishing, boating, camping, hunting or scenic drives, where the Morris Sheppard Dam across the Brazos River has provided a deep lake.

Weatherford, the watermelon capital, has a farmer's market which is a cornucopia ablaze with earthy colors; other attractions are the Chandor Gardens and Railroad Museum. The return is through Decatur, dairy and agricultural center, and Denton, noted for its roses and two fine colleges — North Texas State and Texas Woman's University.



By Edward Collier

Florida's sunny, friendly Jacksonville welcomes the motorist with photogenic bridges, palm-lined streets gay with flowers, hard-packed beaches, deep-sea fishing, missile-modern structures such as the new ebony and green trimmed City Hall, and a mammoth cigar factory boasting almost human machines.

The Magic Circle auto tour starts at the Jacksonville Sports Center with its Gator Bowl, site of the New Year's pigskin classic, and handsome new Coliseum. Continuing on, the tour includes a spin over the hard-packed sands of Jacksonville Beach; picturesque Mayport and its fishing fleet; and Fort Clinch State Park, an old 1850 brick stronghold.

Crossing the Georgia line to Brunswick, there are stops at the "Golden Isles" resorts. St. Simons has Ft. Frederica National Monument, a bastion built in 1736 by Gen. James Oglethorpe. Jekyll Island State Park, a millionaires' retreat in 1900 with 20-room Edwardian "cottages," has pine forests teeming with deer and clean beaches.

The return route is highlighted by Okefenokee Swamp Park, a vast wilderness wonderland of cypress-choked, inky waters, mysterious floating islands and a natural zoo including American black bear, otter, raccoon, sandbill cranes, egrets and the great blue heron.

By BOB TUCKER

WE thought Lamar DeLoach had already put on his mask for Mardi Gras when he came by this week, but someone told us that was his natural look. Man, were we embarrassed! Anyway, Lamar told us that the CCHS Band and members of the Band Boosters Club had already sold some 1500 bars of chocolate since last Thursday. And somebody told us that a bar of that 50c chocolate was equivalent to sixty cents worth of regular chocolate, when you weighed them on the right scales. So, it's a bargain, besides helping a good cause.. And you can take it from us. . . if you like chocolate, you'll go for this treat. They want to get rid of more than 7,000 bars of tris candy by next week, so look out. . . or a Band Booster will get you!

LATEST lyrics: (cried mornfully) "The roof is shot. . .. It's raining all over me. . . I need a mop." Now that's got class!

Oh yeah. . . the vittles . . . they'll be $1.00, and from past experience, it's more than you can eat.

THE A.A.U.W. will meet with Mrs. W. F. Haywood at her home on Thursday, November 7th, at 7:00 p.m. Helping her to serve the group will be Mrs. R. R. Sutley and Mrs. A. B. Foshee.

In the past two years she has won twenty five trophies and nineteen medals in Alabama, Georgia, Florida and Louisiana. All Hunting Seasons Closed In County And Over State

MONTGOMERY—State Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley today closed all hunting seasons "indefinitely" in Alabama effective at sunset October 31 (today) in a move to "reduce fire hazards in bone dry forests."

Kelley acted after forest fires had raged for three weeks in drought-hit woodlands. The seasons will be re-opened when rain restores normal fire conditions in forests.

Kelley said the statewide closing would be rescinded if a general rain eases the situation.

The conservation official had previously closed 32 counties when local officials made formal requests for closing. "Half the State is already closed to hunting." the conservation official said, "and the siege of forest fires continues." He said the woods burning situation called for "strong precautionary action."

Kelley assured hunters that days will be added for native game hunting at the close of the season to "compensate" for time lost from closing the season. The pledge, he said, did not apply to migratory game bird hunting, which is regulated by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Kelley added, however, that he had appealed to this agency's regional office for an extended season on migratory game birds.

Charles Kelley, State Game and Fish Chief, observed that the closing move might be a "blessing in disguise" to most hunters. He explained that present hunting conditions were "undesirable" because dogs have difficulty tracking game in the ultra dry woodlands. Sportsmen may benefit, he said, by being able to take game when hunting conditions improve.

Texas cotton burns On Clanton siding

MONDAY evening about 7:30 the Clanton Volunteer Fire Department answered a call to the L&N siding just south of town to fight a burning boxcar loaded with 100 bales of cotton, believed to have come out of Texas.

According to reports, the volunteers fought the fire until about 11 P.M. before they had it under some control.

Cotton bales are very difficult to extinguish and reports are that the cotton was totally destroyed or damaged beyond any practical use.

The firemen were called out again about noon Tuesday. The same fire had broken out again, but was quickly brought under control.

The fire, originally was discovered by trainmen enroute thru Clanton. The car was taken off the train and it proceeded on to its destination. No damage, other than the one car and the cotton, was reported.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Not too many years ago there was set up in government a new department with full cabinat rank known as "Department of Health, Education & Welfare." In a comparatively short space of time, this department has become a "catch-all" for a large share of the "weirdies" and fantastic ideas.

* * *

C. W. Harder

Before the advent of this department, whenever some bureaucrat, or employee of a bureau got too far out into left field in his thinking, there was always considered the possibility of transfering him over to the National Labor Relations Board. Now, the Department of Health, Education & Welfare is able to absorb many.

* * *

* * *

Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa the other day made a statement which indicates how costly these things can become to the taxpayer. The Public Health Service, which as an independent agency performed valuable public service, was put under control of this department.

* * *

The Congressman pointed out that in 1946 the Public Health Service received less than 1 million dollars for research. Now, reports Rep. Gross, the $1 million has grown to $400 million. Department of Health, Education and Welfare press agents trumpet this money is spent "only for research of highest merit."

For example, a professor in the exclusive girls "daisy chain league" college of Bryn Mawr has been given $48,702 for research on "learning in fish."

* * *

Undoubtedly, word got to somebody that fish are found in schools, so immediately there developed an insatiable desire to find out what fish learn in their schools, what curriculum is followed, and perhaps whether the level of study prepares the lady fish for entrance to Bryn Mawr, and perhaps the boy fish for Harvard. Perhaps it will be found fish schools are segregated.

* * *

Then some university professor in Peru tapped the till for $359,672 for a study on the process of aging at sea level and at high altitudes. Presumably after this more than a third of a million dollars of American taxpayer's money is spent, startling results will be announced. They will probably find many women, either in a svelte swim suit on the beach, or wearing stretch pants on mountain ski slopes, strive to look at least ten years younger than their actual age.

* * *

Then there is the case of the $11,448 given to a University of Arizona professor for an "investigation of information contained in echoes!"

* * *

Possibly something g-o-o-d could come of this project. Perhaps the professor will be able to explain why the continual message sent to Washington "the people want government to spend less," always seems to echo back from Washington saying "the people want government to spend more."

Gov. Announces Construction Of Clanton-Wilsonville Road

Governor George C. Wallace today announced plans for construction of the Wilsonville-Clanton Road. Governor Wallace said the project is being brought about through the fine cooperation of Senator J. T. McDow; Representative Grady Heflin, Chilton County and Representative John L. Cates, Shelby County.

The long awaited, vitally needed righway will connect Wilsonville with Clanton and Interstate 65.

The first 10 mile segment of construction is included in the call for bids for the November 15 contract letting.

State Highway Director Ed N. Rodgers said the remaining sections of the roadway will be placed under construction as soon as right of way and plans are available.

Governor Wallace said this road will not only serve the communities' traffic needs, but will be an important factor in shaping the growth of the Chilton-Shelby County area.

Weekly Cotton Report

Cotton market activity continued light over the territory served by the Mongomery classing office of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Cotton classed this week was slightly lower in grade and shorter in staple length than the previous week.

Classing for the week totaled 12,495 bales as compared with 20,870 the previous week. Strict Low Middling accounted for 50 percent of classisg, Low Middling 18 per cent, Midling 12 percent, the light spotted grade 6 per cent and light gray grades 6 percent. The predominant staple length was 1 inch at 49 percent, and 42 percent stapled 1-1|32 inches. About 5 percent of the samples were reduced in grade because of grass.

Demand for current ginnings continued light and prices offered by shippers were about unchanged. The best demand was for Strict Low Middling and lower graes, 1 inch and 1 1.32 inches. Prices for these qualities ranged from $1.00 to $3.00 above loan levels. A large majority of producers are placing their cotton under the CCC loan.

Harvesting is nearing completion over this territory. The increased use of mechanical pickers and favorable harvesting weather conditions enabled producers to harvest a record yield in record time.

Not For Kennedy--

THE Democrats in Chilton County, by and large, are not "for Kennedy"; just as they are not "for Goldwater" or any other Republican Presidential nominee.

It stands to reason, then; that they must turn their attentions to the local scene; the State political dampaign and, most important, the County offices to be filled next year.

A lot of people are not "for Kennedy"; which in itself, is not much of a statement to make, considering his betrayal of the South and the people of the South. So you're not for Kennedy. . . so what!

Since we believe in Constitutional Rights, and local self government; and since our elected officials and representatives are fighting for this very cause; it is reasonable to state that the most important battles to be fought in the coming political campaign, are here on the home front.

There is no sense fighting for something in which you do not believe. It is ridiculous to assume that a man can very strongly support a principal or a cause in which he finds no solace, and no progressive good. It is better to fight for a "smaller" cause, though just as important; if it is one in which you can really put your faith and support.

Local political races are shaping up. It is the opinion of the News, that the battle fought. . . and won. . . on the local level, are the ones which are going to be decisive when the big issues come to light, and the people can have a say.

A foundation of good, solid, self government at home, can be the winning factor in many battles when the larger fight looms into view. If we are to fight for our rights in Washington, we must first establish a strong home front, and depend upon our representatives in Washington for a while. Our time will come. And when it does, we will be ready, with good Democratic men in office to hold our morale, and our principles high; to reiterate the views of free people everywhere, that government should be of, by and for the people, first, last and always!

It's Halloween--

ASIDE from the pitfalls and ill effects of Halloween (such as Trick-or-Treating and overeating) this is a most beautiful time of the year.

Autumn could be described as the mellowing of the Summer. It gives us the distinct impression that Summer isn't dying; it is just fulfilling its purpose in the role which Mother Nature has bestowed upon it.

We haven't had such a beautiful Autumn and Fall in many moons; and, aside from the drought we have been experiencing, we'd say most people are enjoying it.

And now a cold front is moving in... which signals the approach of Old Man Winter. And his role seems to be the "finishing off" of everything that survived through the Fall. He swings a mighty punch; and there is not a one of God's creatures alive who does not respect his fiercce breath.

Halloween's upon us! Tonight is the night for witches, goblins, and spooks. We hope the youngsters (and a few of their elders) will keep in mind the fact that it is supposed to be a time of celebrating and fun. . . not vandalism and destruction.

You can have a good time on Halloween -- and so can others -- if you'll have it at your own expense!

Aunt Martha--

DO you know who "Aunt Martha" is? Well, she's the character in the News advertisement for the past two or three weeks, and from all indications, she is strictly a character. . with a Capital "C"! Aunt Martha knows more about the newspapering business than she gives us credit for knowing. . and therefore you shouldn't be surprized if she comes up with some facts and figures which you have never seen before. She's a doll, though. . and with all her faults, we love her. Look for her comments on the News. . in the News!

Poor Old Tom--

WE started wondering, just why folks named 'Tom" catch it so bad!

It seems like it all started back with old "Doubting Thomas"; and folks have been looking sideways at "Toms" ever since. Old "Tom" of Christ's day, didn't know what he was getting all his "namesake's" in for!

Take the Piper's son Tom. . . he was a bad guy from the start. He stole some farmer's pig; and then, thief like, he "run away". The farmer caught him, though, and beat up on him; and Tom was disgraced (and so was the Piper) when he was seen running down the busiest street in town, crying and yelling.

That didn't help public relations with regards to "Tom" and folks started referring to invaders of privacy as 'Peeping Toms".

Bad matters went to worse; and conduct unbecoming a gentleman was referred to by Grandma as "Tom foolery"! Nowadays, if you're caught at it, you're a "Tom fool idiot"; and if you say something with which your listener disagrees, it's liable to be "Tommyrot".

They even named a rhythm instrument (upon which some folks beat out their frustrations) a "Tom-Tom". And we don't suppose there has ever been a more maligned or kicked-about fellow than the "Tom Cat"!

Where will it all end? "Tom" is getting a pretty raw deal, generally speaking but come next month, we know an old "Tom" who's headed for the chopping block, and he ain't never done nothin' to nobody. . . except gobble, and get fat!

It's a rough life. . . especially if you're a "Tom"!

Why Not A Community Center--

EVERY time we look at Clanton's City Park, we wonder why somehow or other, we cannot swing the deal and have us a Community Center, located smack dab on the City's property which is the City Park.

Dances could be held there. Indoor games for winter days, and for those who either don't like outdoor sports, or cannot participate in them, could be enjoyed by many.

A place could be reserved therein for the older folks, who cannot find anything to do with their time, and would like to play a game of checkers or bingo or something of the sort. Private parties, under supervision of a reliable individual or group could be enjoyed by many who cannot find anywhere to have such events. . . privately.

The main thing though, is that such a place, if properly planned and carried out, could be used by all of our citizens, just as is the public library, and the City Park; and could add greatly to the appeal of our City, as well as to it's appearance and it's character.

Somebody should get behind this movement. . . it offers great possibilities; and the News thinks it could mean a great deal to the cultural development of our community.

Trade At Home--

ANYONE who doesn't know that the News has been supporting Trading At Home for many, many years. . . doesn't read the News!

A lady asked us the other day to, "Say something in the News about folks going out of town to do their shopping."

Lady, we can talk until we are blue in the face. . . and though still believing may have persuaded a few. The News has and is willing to lead the way for support of Trading At Home. . . but it's like any other salesman's job: "You gotta make calls, if you're gonna get results". The merchants are going to have to collectively and individually ASK their patrons to Trade At Home (in those exact words) instead of out of town.

And anyone who says "Not many people are trading away from home" . . . are not looking at many people!

Representative Bob Jones Defends Rural Electric Adminstration

Dear Editor:

In recent months a good deal has been written about the program of the Rural Electrification Administration. Unfortunately, much of what has been written unfairly attacks the REA program and distorts its purpose and accomplishments. As a longtime supporter of REA, I would appreciate an opportunity to set the record straight.

It has been charged that REA is a law unto itself. Actually, Congress, under the Rural Electrification Act, set the terms for making REA loans. This included purposes, maximum repayment period, and interest rate. Congress also defined the areas to be served and described both farm and non-farm population as eligible for service with REA financing. Congress also decides the amount of REA loans that can be made each year.

In the 28 year history of the REA program, the legality of not a single REA loan of any type has been successfully challenged. No Government agency has a better record.

Critics of REA have made reference to bills pending in Congress to "correct" alleged defects in REA operations. I should ilke to point out that these bills are not supported by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association or by any of the state rural electric associations, which are interested in legislation helpful to their member cooperatives. Nor, are any of these bills backed by REA.

The bills in question generally call for the changes in REA that are advocated by the commercial power lobby, which can hardly be termed a friend of rural electric cooperatives.

The rural electric cooperatives of Alabama are doing a job that the commercial power companies refused ot do. They brought electric service to the thinly settled areas bypassed by the companies Now that these farm areas have, is some instances, become more heavily populated, power companies would like to take them over. If the cooperatives are forced to surrender these better paying territories, there will be fewer members left to share the cost of maintaining service on each mile of line and the rates will go up. It seems to me that the cooperatives are entirely within their rights in insisting on holding territory they have developed. They are not taking anything away from the power companies.

It is being charged that REA and the rural electric cooperatives are seeking to establish a great electric empire under Federal auspices. The cooperatives generate only about 1 percent of the electricity produced in the United States. Is this empire building? Congress wisely provided for generation and transmission loans to the cooperatives so that rural people, farm and non-farm, would not have to cope with high costs or service restrictions imposed by hostile power suppliers.

Certainly, the rural electric cooperatives are not sending the private power companies to the poorhouse. Last year was the best ever for power company net income. Generally, net incomes were up about 10 percest over 1961.

Criticism is being voiced again about the 2 percent interest rate on REA loans to the cooperatives This 2 percent money helps the rural electric cooperatives to provide to all who desire it in their areas the kind of quality electric service taken for granted by town and city dwellers. The cooperatives must have this help to overcome four problems inherent in their operations: low density of population, light electric loads, isolation from one another which prevents the pooling of facilities, and exposure to pirating of customers or territory.

In 1960, a mile of electric cooperative line produced an average of $414 in revenue. But a mile of power company line produced an average of $6,580 in revenue.

The REA program has established a yardstick for adequacy of service and reasonable rates that benefits both town and country people. Also, it has created a $1 billion a year market for electrical appliances and equipment that has boosted business and provided new jobs all over the nation.

This program deserves the support of all citizens.

Sincerely,
Bob Jones

Citizen Praises Library Program

October 21, 1963

Dear Editor,

"I would like to take this means to speak a kind word for the Clanton Public Library; to thank you editors for the fine writeups concersing it, that have appeared in our County papers from time to time; and to 'just talk' about things in general, in and around Chilton County.

The library is one of the many blessings Chilton Countians and those in the surrounding area can count as we approach the month of Thanksgiving Season this year.

Whether ones interest is historical, artistic or only a hobby there will certainly be a selection there that will be of help in gaining more knowledge and understanding on the subject and can be had just by going by the Library and registering and obtaining a card.

I understand that the Library has been a 'demonstrator' for the past eighteen months, but has proved to be so beneficial that those responsible for its being in our midst, are placing it here on a permanent basis now.

We are, indeed, fortunate to have this public service located at Clanton, to meet the needs of our people and also being extended to rural areas by the use of the Bookmobile.

We are most fortunate too, in having Mrs. B. E. Reeves as our librarian.

The exact information being sought may not always be immediately available, but the librarian can often suggest a lead tht, if followed up, can give satisfying results.

Mrs. Reeves has been most helpful to me a number of times as a patron of the library, and having many and varied interests (and the mastery of none) I have checked out books on quite a few subjects and found all of them to be very enlightening and instructive.

Those who have not yet taken advantage of this wonderful service should do so, by all means.

Speaking of blessings, which we too often take for granted; even the necessary things of life as well as the simple; one has only to ride around over our country roads about midmorning on a week day to be erminded of the many and numerous things we have to be thankful for at this time.

We did just that one day last week, driving slowly along the rural roads and were greatly rewarded by the beautiful scenery and while observing the farmers as they went about their yearly task of gathering in the Fall crops.

Some were busy picking green peas for the market. Fresh yellow squash were still hanging on the vines, seemingly undamaged by the drought that is prevalent all over Alabama now.

We have been bountifully and wonderfully blessed this year, of all years, and we should take time to count them up as we near the end of this harvest season.

Others may enjoy the Florida and California sun and citrus, but give me Alabama in October, with its Indian Summer and golden harvest of corn, sugar cane and sweet potatoes. A time when everything and every heart seems to be at peace with the world, in these parts.

The most beautiful time of the year, with spring coming in second.

Spring is lovely and just what the word implies — a time when every living thing seems to wake up and spring back to life, after a long winter's sleep.

But, Fall and Indian Summer, in Alabama, with its leaves all touched up in a glorious array of color is "A Special Gift of God".

A lifetime citizen,"

Private Schools In Birmingham

Dear Sir,

Forced integration of the Birmingham Public School system seriously disturbs the mothers of children going to these schools.

We are concerned with the terrible social consequences, also we are aware that integration will destroy the opportunity for children of both races to learn.

We observed the destruction of a city and schools in Washington, D. C. Its schools were ruined by integration, and we want no part of it.

We are determined that our children will have a good education in the bet of American prinhiples and beliefs. One that will develop character, industry and initiative.

Consequently, we have opened a private school, Hoover Academy, an elementary school to serve the Graymont area and any other elementary students. We need you to join us.

Please send a contribution that some child may attend the school that otherwise might not.

Contributions are deductible. Make check payable to Hoover Academy C|o Graymont Parents for Private Schools, Box 1094. Receipt furnished, if requested.

Thank you in advance.

Very truly yours,

ARMISTEAD SELDEN

This past week we observed the first anniversary of a crisis that brought the world to the threshold of nuclear disaster.

The crisis that had been building for weeks reached the point of explosion one year ago October 22 when President Kennedy announced a blockade of Cuba.

His action was hailed as an historic turning point in the Cold War. Our stand was praised by our friends, and our firm resolve at a time of supreme crisis gained for us new confidence from the nations of our own hemisphere. While the people of the United States reognized the risk were great, we knew the stakes were even greater.

It was a year ago this past week that the President revealed a clandestine and swift buildup of Soviet missiles less than 100 miles from our Florida coast. The Russian's prococative threat to world peace caught the United States by surprise indicating that our intelligence and surveillance had not been adequate. Yet today--only one year later--the only "policy" statements we can obtain from the Administration on Cuba is that reconnaissance and economic sanctions are continuing.

Although the Cuban missile crisis reached a climax in October of 1962, the dangers inherent in a Communist base in the Western Hemisphere were present long before Kruschev placed his rockets on Cuban soil. Those dangers remains today because we failed to finish the job we so boldly undertook last fall.

Firmer Policy Needed

In this nuclear age, major risks should not be made for minor stakes. A year ago we faced up to the ultimate risk. Surely we did not risk all out war only to gain the right of aerial reconnaissance over Castro's Cuba. While surveillance is a necessity, it is to substitute for policy in meetin gthe threat posed by the existence of a Communist Cuba.

The United States must adopt a firmer policy toward the present Cuban goversment, and toward its hemispheric network of subversive activities. Until we do, the volatile countries of Latin America will continue to be plagued by Cubas based subversion, democratically elected governments will be subjected to constant pressure, and continued condition of political turmoil and economic instability will encourage additional military coups.

Although the Kennedy Administration made some moves earlier tris year is an effort to counter Cuban based Communist subversion, their efforts to date have not been adequate. There are indications that the Administration has now returned to a policy drift and wait the same policy which produced almost disasterous results before last October 22.

Unfinished Business

Fidel Castro and his Kremlin supported government remain the unfinished business of the hemisphere. Our hour of decision last October produced an initiative that has since slipped from our grasp. Today, we are again on the defensive in our hemispheric battle against the forces seeking to communize the world. Increased Castro-Communist subversion is gnawing into the hemisphere. Cuban incited terrorist activities that rage in Venezuela and other Latin American countries have even occurred this year in Canada.

Our security and that of the Free World was so important to us just a year ago that we went to the brink of nuclear war. An examination today of the Administration's present policy toward Cuban based communism indicates that a stepped up effort is necessary if we are to ever eliminate this cancer from the Western Hemisphere.

Vacation fun is in store for every member of the family in the Pocono Mountains, easily reached on the Pennsylvania Turnpike's northeast extension. Highlights are Hickory Run State Park with its lake and beach, 13,000 wooded acres for camping and hiking, and vast waterless "lake of boulders"; the resort area around Mt. Pocono with plush hostelries and rustic retreats for golfing, riding, swimming, boating and fishing; Lake Wallenpaupack, largest in the region. Fine native American craftsmanship can be found on a side trip to the Dorflinger Glass Works in White Mills.

Victorian houses and antique shops contribute to Milford's quaintness, as does the old stone jail which looks more like a fine residence. The town's most notorious forebear was Tom Quick who became an avid Indian executioner after seeing his father killed. The story goes that he slew 99 and on his deathbed in 1796 pleaded for one more to score 100.

Driving is pleasant south along the Delaware River, and side road arrows invite you to photogenic waterfalls such as Bushkill, which also has a popular summer straw-hat theatre. Scenic climax is at Delaware Water Gap where the river breaks through the mountain. Stroudsburg's most historic dwelling is the 1795 Stroud Mansion featuring a fireplace in every room. At the Wild Animal Farm just south of town ecstatic youngsters feed lambs and fawns with a nursing bottle.

Bethlehem was named as the result of a 1741 Moravian Christmas Eve service; appropriately, a great star shines from South Mountain at Yuletide. Year-round showplaces are the wooded campus of Lehigh University, famous for its annual Bach Festival, and the great steel mills that bear the city's name. Final stop is at Allentown, whose downtown area takes on a festive look in summer with 500 flowering lamp standards.

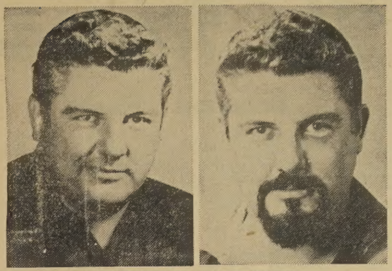
WANTED BY THE FBI



EDWARD HOWARD MAPS

Edward Howard Maps, "beatnik," firearms expert, college graduate, artist and sculptor, who is charged with brutally slaying his wife and four-month-old daughter, is one of the FBI's "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives."

Firemen attempting to extinguish a blaze in Maps' Stroudsburg, Pennsylvania, home on January 21, 1962, found the infant dead of smoke inhalation, and Maps' young wife dying of a fractured skull and cerebral hemorrhage. At least ten fires had been set in the home and the gas oven was turned on.

Maps was missing but allegedly telephoned two neighbors shortly after the crimes were discovered, threatening one with being "next." A Federal warrant charging Maps with unlawful interstate flight to avoid prosecution for murder and arson was issued on January 23, 1962, at Scranton, Pennsylvania.

Generally known as an artist and sculptor, he is a nonconformist who shuns ordinary footwear, going barefoot in the summer and wearing sandals without socks during the winter. A sloppy dresser of unkempt and untidy appearance, he was discharged from the Marine Corps as a schizophrenic.

A white American, born on June 29, 1922, at Passaic, New Jersey, Maps is 5' 8" tall, weighs 170 pounds, has a ruddy complexion, broad shoulders, a barrel-chested build and is unusually strong. His eyes are brown, he has bushy, curly graying-black hair and sometimes wears a full beard and mustache.

Consider Maps armed and extremely dangerous. Please immediately notify the nearest FBI office of any information concerning his whereabouts.

Savory Apple-Sausage Casserole Topped With Cornbread Wedges

As it comes from the oven, this casserole gives forth the fine fruity fragrance of apples, the meat aroma of browned sausages, the invitation of fresh, hot cornbread. Well it might . . . for it offers the three favorites, canned apple sauce, sausages and cornbread combined in one savory new dish.

First, the apple sauce with a good piece of butter, brown sugar and lemon juice to dress it up. Half the browned sausages are put right in with the apple sauce, the cornbread batter poured on top and the whole baked. Then the remainder of the browned sausages are laid on top, and back into the oven the dish goes. So you have sausages below deck and on top, with a gentle bubble of apple sauce coming up in the center and between the cornbread wedges . . . all most flavory.

4 cups canned apple sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup water
1 pound tiny sausages (about 14-16)

1 cup flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup cornmeal
2 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
½ teaspoon instant onion
1 cup milk

In a greased 3-quart casserole, combine apple sauce, sugar, salt, butter, lemon juice and water; place in hot oven 400 degrees, to heat while preparing remainder of recipe (about 15 minutes).

Prick sausages well, place in cold skillet; add hot water to cover and bring to a boil. Drain, then brown. Arrange half the sausages on top of apple sauce in casserole; reserve remaining sausages for use later in recipe.

Sift flour with baking powder and salt; stir in cornmeal. Cut in shortening. Mix egg, onion and milk; stir all at once into dry ingredients. Use a wet spoon to drop cornbread mixture on top of apple-sausage mixture; cover, using a doubled piece of heavy foil if necessary. Return casserole to hot oven and steam for 20 minutes. Remove cover and place remaining browned sausages in spaces between cornbread. Return to hot oven for an additional 15 minutes baking, uncovered. Makes 8 servings.

Produce For Children's Home

The produce for the Children's Home at Troy will be assembled at the peach shed in Clanton on November 12th (Tuesday), from 7 A.M. until noon. Since it will affect everyone of the 54 churches in the Association as well as friends from other churches, who always have a part, we are urging that all fruits be well packed and that all food and feed material be well sacked or wrapped.

Let every committee evaluate and itemize a list of produce brought and hand in same at the truck at the peach shed.. This will facilitate matters greatly since we will only load until the noon hour on the above date. Canned fruits will be valued at 50c per quart and preserves and jellies will be valued at 75c per quart. Other produce will be valued according to market price as near as possible.

There was nothing brought in last year after the noon hour. Hence, the reason for leaving immediately following the noon hour this year. Please bear this point in mind.

So fire-safe that insurance rates are far lower...
concrete construction for rural schools

Every rural school—even those miles from the nearest fire hydrant—can enjoy rock-bottom insurance rates and maximum safety for its students. The reason is modern, fire-resistant concrete construction.

Moody School contains 29,170 square feet in 17 classrooms, multipurpose assembly room, kitchen, administrative offices and library. The structure was completed in 1961 at a cost of $261,982 ($8.90 per square foot; $513.68 per pupil).

The insurance rate—even in this rural location—is 5.6 cents per hundred on building, 9.3 cents on contents and 3.2 cents for extended coverage. For total insurance of $300,000 on the building and $9,600 on contents, the annual premium is just $183.90!

Add long life and low maintenance, and it's easy to see why more and more communities are choosing concrete for their new schools.
